Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

Quite frankly, we have done that. We have provided — subject, of course, to control by the legislature — for a great degree of scope, you might say, in this area of intergovernmental relations. It is the feeling of your committee that if we are to stem the tide of constant federalization, we have to first clear the way at the state level so that problems can be solved at the most appropriate level of government which exists here in the state. By that I mean problems which can be solved by 2 cities or 2 villages or 2 townships, in the opinion of your committee, should be solved there. Other problems, of course, require countywide solution. And still others require statewide solution or solution between 2 or more other states. But certainly we do feel that we should not impose any roadblocks; that such roadblocks as are found necessary as time goes on, in the interest of good state government, should not be imposed here by this constitution. If at all, they should be imposed by our legislature. And so, quite frankly, this is a very broad grant of power to the citizens, to the local units of government and, of course, to the legislature to keep the way clear so that we can solve Michigan problems in Michigan.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman, I now yield to Mr. Jones who will give more details on this.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, since the matter of intergovernmental cooperation is becoming an established fact in many areas of the operation of state government, I would urge the delegates to support this proposal since it does recognize this fact and also recognizes that it will become more common rather than less common.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Gover.

MR. GOVER: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I just wanted to ask a question of Mr. Jones or Mr. Millard.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If either of the gentlemen wish to answer.

MR. GOVER: Part of the explanation on this section — I wondered if they compared it with the local government section, Committee Proposal 88, section b, to see if there was any conflicting language between the 2 proposals. That local government section b, is almost the same except it doesn't let the local units of government enter into a contractual agreement with foreign countries. We thought in that committee — it seemed to be the consensus of opinion there — that it was better for the state to enter into the contractual agreement with a foreign country than it was for the local units of government to do the same. I wondered if you folks had any thoughts or discussions on that in your committee.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. Gover, if you don't mind, I'd like to yield to Mr. King. I think he has more information on this matter.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. King.

MR. KING: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Gover, fellow delegates, yes, we did consider Committee Proposal 88 and we do realize that in some areas we are duplicating their efforts. It was the thought of the committee that style and drafting would probably want to combine those parts of the 2 articles which are repetitious and come up with one consolidated article. Quite frankly, we would feel that the problem is of significant importance so that it deserves separate and distinct attention. We do go further than the local government section in that we do provide, as you have pointed out, for cooperation between local units of government, other states and one other country.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Secretary, are there any amendments on the desk?

SECRETARY CHASE: None, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If not, the proposal will pass.

Committee Proposal 128 is passed. The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on emerging problems, by Mr. Millard, chairman, Committee Proposal 129, A proposal to describe legislative authority over state public lands.

Following is Committee Proposal 129 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. THE LEGISLATURE SHALL HAVE A GENERAL SUPERVISORY JURISDICTION OVER ALL STATE RECREATIONAL AND FOREST LANDS, SHALL REQUIRE ANNUAL REPORTS ON SUCH LANDS FROM ALL AGENCIES HAVING SUPERVISION OR CONTROL THEREOF, AND SHALL FORMULATE RULES FOR THE SALE, RENTAL, OR OTHER DISPOSITION OF SUCH LANDS. THE LEGISLATURE MAY, BY A RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY A 2/3 MAJORITY OF BOTH HOUSES, DECLARE ANY PART OF SUCH LANDS TO BE A "PRIMARY STATE LAND RESERVE"; THEREAFTER NO SUCH PRIMARY STATE LAND RESERVE MAY BE SOLD, LEASED, OR OTHERWISE ALIENATED OR DISPOSED OF EXCEPT UPON THE AUTHORITY OF AN ACT OF THE LEGISLATURE.

Mr. Millard, chairman of the committee on emerging problems, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 129:

This proposal is intended to emphasize the immense importance of the recreational and forest lands of the state of Michigan and to establish certain policies for the preservation and conservation of these resources for the benefit of all the people of the state.

At the present time, state recreational and forest lands of the state of Michigan amount to some 4,250,000 acres, a piece of land equal to nearly 12 per cent of the entire area of the state of Michigan at large. The federal government, on its part, holds another 2,500,000 acres of land in national forests, an additional 7 per cent of the acreage of the state. A block of recreational and forest lands of this size constitutes, in the large, a public resource of the very first magnitude and one whose preservation and proper utilization in the public interest is imperative to the general health, safety and welfare of the people of the state for generations to come.

At the present time, the control of state recreation and forest lands is lodged for the most part in the state department of conservation, subject only to certain restrictions imposed by the legislature. There is no intent on the part of this committee to imply any criticism of the state department of conservation, which appears to have acted generally in the public interest. However, it has become apparent that it is in the public interest to emphasize the ascendant interest of the people in state recreational and forest lands and to provide some means whereby the legislature may earmark certain lands as a primary state land reserve. Were the present proposal adopted, such a reserve, after being so earmarked by a 2/3 vote of the legislature, could not be sold, leased, or otherwise disposed of except upon the authority of an act of the legislature.

The language of the proposal deliberately avoids any conflict or controversy over the question of the federal right of eminent domain. The federal government, legal research makes clear, possesses to some degree the right of eminent domain over state owned lands. (See, for example, U.S. v. Gettysburg Electric Co., 160 US 668, Adirondacks Railroad Co. v. New York, 176 US 335, and Oklahoma v. Atkinson, 313 US 508.) There also will doubtless be instances in which the legislature of the state of Michigan will willingly pass the necessary enabling legislation for cooperation with the federal government's acquisition of state lands. If the federal government should persist in the acquisition of lands against the wishes of the legislature and other state agencies, there is nothing in the present language which would pose any constitutional or legal roadblock thereto. However, the committee believes that the present proposed language might pose a policy roadblock in such circumstances, in that it might cause federal authorities to think twice before exercising any powers of eminent domain which they might possess in a given instance. The result would at least be to add some assurance that the appropriation of the lands in question was in the public and national interest.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, your committee on emerging problems took a great deal of interest in this particular proposal. We had several public hearings. We heard several delegates and we received lots of communications. The subcommittee handling this particular problem was chaired by Judge Pugsley, who will now give an analysis of the reasons and what this particular proposal will accomplish.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Judge Pugsley.

MR. PUGSLEY: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, at the outset, I would like to call to your attention a map which I think most of you have received—I hope all of you—which has a picture of the lands owned by the state of Michigan and also of those which are under the control and under the ownership of the federal government. I personally was quite impressed and somewhat surprised when our attention was called to the large acreage of land owned by the state of Michigan under the supervision of the department of conservation. And let say here at the outset, that as we ran into this matter, we were very much pleased to receive splendid cooperation from the department of conservation which told us the acreage of state owned land throughout the state.

We also had brought to our attention a proposal which had been introduced by 2 of the delegates of this convention who will no doubt have something to say to you—one of them at least—concerning the interest of the people of the state of Michigan in the land holdings throughout the state. The matter was very carefully considered and reviewed by the research department and I think that I can probably bore you less and inform you better by calling to your attention the printed report which has been given to you, which was prepared in part by the research department. I quote, "This proposal is intended to emphasize the immense importance of the recreational and forest lands of the state of Michigan"—and I may say parenthetically, the entire real estate holdings of the state, and particularly and especially those which relate to recreational and forest lands. These are of sufficient importance, I believe, to the welfare of the state of Michigan to make it worth our while to establish certain policies for the preservation and the conservation of these resources for the benefit of all of the state of Michigan.

We are indebted to the proponents of Delegate Proposal 1344, which many of you, I think, have already reviewed and which will be called to your attention perhaps later.

At the outset, I wish to call particularly to your attention that at the present time the state recreational and forest lands of the state of Michigan amount to some 4,250,000 acres, a piece of land equal to nearly 12 per cent of the entire area of the state of Michigan at large. The federal government on its part holds another 2,500,000 acres of land in national forests, an additional 7 per cent of the acreage of the state. A block of recreational and forest lands of this size constitutes, in the large, a public resource of the very first magnitude and one whose preservation and proper utilization in the public interest is imperative to the general health, safety and welfare of the people of the state of Michigan for generations to come.

At the present time, the control of state recreation and forest lands is lodged for the most part in the state department of conservation, subject only to certain restrictions imposed by the legislature. There is no intent on the part of this committee to imply any criticism of the department of conservation which appears to have acted generally in the public interest. May I add here, also parenthetically, that it is felt by this committee that the interest of the people of the state of Michigan and the volume of land involved is sufficient to justify, if not to demand, some recognition in the constitution which has not heretofore existed.

However, it has become apparent that it is in the public interest to emphasize the ascendant interest of the people of the state in the recreational and forest lands and to provide some means whereby the legislature may earmark certain lands as a primary state land reserve. Were the present proposal adopted, such a reserve, after being so earmarked by a 2/3 vote of the legislature, could not be sold, leased or otherwise disposed of except upon the authority of an act of the legislature. Our attention in this connection was called to the fact that a few years ago the federal government became interested in creating a national park at Isle Royal. And we learned from the conservation department that when this was done, the legislature authorized the taking over of that land by the federal government by a vote of 2/3 of the members of the legislature, so there is some precedent in what has heretofore taken place in this proposal in that regard.

The language of the proposal deliberately avoids any conflict or controversy over the question of the federal right of domain. There also will doubtless be instances in which the legislature of the state of Michigan will willingly pass the necessary enabling legislation for cooperation with the federal government's acquisition of state land. If the federal government should persist in the acquisition of lands against the wishes of the legislature and other state agencies, there is nothing in the present language which would pose any constitutional or legal roadblock thereto. However, the committee believes that the present proposed language might pose a policy roadblock in such circumstances in that it might cause federal authorities to think twice before exercising any powers of eminent domain which they might possess in a given instance. The result would at least be to add some assurance that the appropriation of the land in question was in the public and national interest.

I repeat that this proposal is not offered in any spirit of criticism, either of the acts that have been passed by the legislature or of the work that has been done by the conservation department. But inasmuch as we as delegates to this convention realize that we must look to the future and to the preservation and utilization in the best way possible of the resources of the state, we believe that this acreage of land and the incidental uses connected therewith are sufficient to justify and really to make it quite the proper thing for us to do to recognize this in a proper constitutional amendment. I wish at this time to turn this matter over to one of the delegates and members of our committee who has been very much interested in the matter, Delegate Roscoe Bonisteel.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Bonisteel.

MR. BONISTEEL: Mr. Chairman, I don't know exactly the procedure here, but I understand there is a proposed amendment and I think it might be well that the proposed amendment be submitted at this time before there is any further discussion of the proposal.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Jones and T. S. Brown offer the following amendment to Committee Proposal 129:

1. Amend page 1, after line 16, by adding a new paragraph to read as follows:

"The state forests and recreation lands exist for the benefit of all people and shall be managed so that the people have maximum use of these lands consistent with sound principles of conservation. The legislature and state agencies charged with the management of the aforesaid lands shall plan for expanded utilization of said lands so as to meet the recreational needs of an expanding population."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I feel that this amendment, which is before you on the wall, is a necessary adjunct to this proposal, because I feel that somewhere in this proposal dealing with state lands, especially the forests and recreation areas, we should set forth a broad statement of policy as to how these lands should be managed and for whose benefit these lands should be managed. I also feel, as this amendment points out, we should call the attention of the legislature to the fact that the matter of providing additional recreational area is a pressing need in this time when our population is rapidly increasing. In a world that is beset by problems of technological change, atomic, nuclear warfare possibilities, and also further complexities of modern civilization, our people do need adequate space to get outdoors and to put some of their thoughts at ease. At this time, I should like to yield to a fellow delegate and member of the committee on emerging problems, Mr. Brown. I also would like to request the yeas and nays on this amendment, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The yeas and nays have been requested. Is the demand supported?

Sufficient number up. The Chair would like to ask the committee to come to order. Delegate Brown.

MR. T. S. BROWN: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, actually Committee Proposal 129, in essence, says that the state, as Judge Pugsley indicated, without indicating by implication or otherwise, that the conservation department has been lax in its duties in regard to state lands, Committee Proposal 129 says that the state shall have further control over these lands and shall specify that degree of control, but it does not say for whose benefit. And I think if our proposals all the way down the line in the emerging problems committee are to be consistent in that they are all supposed to direct and exhort certain action in the future which is beneficial for all the citizens of the state of Michigan, then we must include the recipient of these benefits and this added control given to the legislature. And that end, I think is met by the adoption of the Jones-Brown amendment. It is in no way in derogation to the committee proposal and I think it is perfecting in the sense in which it is submitted. I therefore move its adoption.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on the amendment as offered by Delegates Jones and Brown. Delegate King.

MR. KING: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I would like to direct a question, through the Chair, to Mr. Brown, if I may.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If the delegate cares to answer.

MR. KING: Mr. Brown, you indicate that this amendment indicates for whose benefit these state parks and recreation lands exist. Actually, what the amendment says is for all people. I'm not sure whether you're a state's rights man or federalist or internationalist. Would you define for us just whom you include in the term "all people?"

MR. T. S. BROWN: I would say in answer to your question, sir, that, generally speaking, when we speak of people in this constitution, we're speaking of citizens of the state of Michigan. I don't know if I would want to limit it to that because we do have a lot of outside visitors every year which accounts for a lot of income for the state. But I would say, primarily, we are concerned with developing the resources of our state for the benefit of the citizens of our state.

MR. KING: I would certainly agree with that, Mr. Brown. I would suggest that that kind of a perfecting amendment can be made to the committee language. I would certainly support it if that would be your desire. But it seems to me that this language goes quite a bit further off in a different direction.

MR. T. S. BROWN: If there is any question about the actual terminology, I think we can resolve our difficulties very easily. I can't speak for Mr. Jones, but I think that our intention can be expressed in other words. As a matter of fact, this particular amendment could even be expressed as a substitute for the committee proposal. I would not be adverse to any such compromise in this matter if the end could be stated. In other words, what we are driving at is that we should state the recipient of these benefits which the legislature is given this additional control over.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Brown, are you changing the language of your amendment?

MR. T. S. BROWN: We would be willing to if we could have just a few moments here on it. If there is some difficulty—I should like all the members of our committee to be in accord on this, if possible.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: I will recognize Chairman Millard. Maybe you and Mr. Jones can do something about it while Mr. Millard is speaking.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, this amendment was submitted to our committee as a substitute proposal and was not adopted. In fact, there was only one vote for it. Therefore, the committee did not adopt this language and did not adopt it as a substitute. We felt that the proposal, as we submitted it, covered the purposes that the committee was formed for and that this was only surplusage; it was just a statement of principles that were already inherent in the people and, therefore, we did not adopt it. For my own self, I would oppose this amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Yeager. Just a minute, Mr. Yeager. Mr. Brown, do you have language that you want the people to speak to rather than the present language?

MR. T. S. BROWN: Yes, sir.

CHAIRMAN ELLIOTT: All right.

MR. T. S. BROWN: I think we can meet both of the objections that have been raised to this at the primary suggestion of Delegate King, and that would be to strike the first sentence of the amendment and in the second sentence insert the word "state" before "population" so that the second sentence would read:

The legislature and state agencies charged with the management of the aforesaid lands shall plan for expanded utilization of said lands so as to meet the recreational needs of an expanding state population.

And just simply add that additional sentence to the committee report.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Jones, do you support that change? Mr. Jones concurs. The Chair recognizes the amendment as changed. Mr. Yeager.

MR. YEAGER: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, the original purpose of our getting into this area at all, in my judgment—I think most of the members of the committee would bear me out—is that we were interested in the legislative jurisdiction over state lands which happen to be defined as state recreational and forest lands in the proposal. I don't know of any other kind of lands except the state lands which state buildings are on, which we wanted to specifically exclude.

As I recall what we did in committee, we were interested in the rule, sale, rental and disposition of said lands. Now, I don't see anything wrong with this particular amendment except that it changes the entire original idea of what the committee was attempting to do with this proposal in the first place. As I said, the amendment that has been introduced here—there's certainly nothing wrong with it but it is completely different in idea from what we originally intended. I don't think the committee intended to get into the area of recreation and, as I say, while the amendment really does nothing to the committee proposal, it certainly is not germane to the proposal. I would therefore oppose the amendment as it's been offered.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I have 2 suggestions. Again, for the sake of the record, I want to refer to this map that has been furnished to us. On its face, it's very misleading. To my personal knowledge, the picture presented of Alcona county belonging, apparently, $\frac{3}{4}$ or more to the state of Michigan, is grossly in error. At least half of that area is privately owned and a good part of that is used for agricultural purposes. This map, so far as that area is concerned, shows the outer boundaries of the state or federal lands, but certainly, the impression should not be left that all the lands included within those lines are federally or state owned.

I, like Mr. Yeager and Mr. Millard, do not think any useful purpose would be served by adding to the original proposal any part of this proposed amendment that would raise serious doubts as to the right of the legislature to sell any of these lands. It practically directs the legislature to preserve all of them for recreational purposes and while I recognize the need for looking to the future for recreational purposes, some of these lands certainly could be salable and usable for other purposes. And for fear that the addition of this language would be used to raise doubts as to the authority of the legislature in that respect, I shall have to vote no.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on the amendment as now offered by Delegates Jones and Brown. The yeas and nays have been demanded. Mr. Brown.

MR. T. S. BROWN: Because of Judge Dehnke's remarks, I feel we must now get into the nub of the matter which, I think, in essence, is—and I think Mr. Jones will agree with me—that we are concerned in this area of conservation with conserving the natural resources for the benefit of all of the people. Now, I realize this is a broad statement, but we say that in juxtaposition to the philosophy which argues for private entrepreneurs taking certain state leasehold interests and certain rights in state lands and federal lands, to some extent depleting the natural resources without the people of the state of Michigan getting the benefit therefrom, and leaving the land in a lesser condition than that in which they found it. Now, this, I think, is the primary thing that I am concerned with.

I recognize, and I think our fellow delegates from the upper peninsula, regardless of party affiliation, will recognize the fact that a large part of the problem in the upper peninsula today is due to the fact that in the absence of regulation, certain private interests in the last century despoiled the land, left it vacant and barren and created many, many problems which we are still today unable to solve and rectify. And I think that the primary responsibility in regard to conservation is to conserve. It is not necessarily to place the matter of sale or disposition in the hands of the legislature as opposed to the department of conservation but it is mainly to conserve. Otherwise, you are not conserving for anyone except special interest groups. And I suggest that the term "conservation" is referable only to the people and not to private interests.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on the amendment, as revised. The yeas and nays have been demanded. The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment now reads as follows:

1. Amend page 1, after line 16, by adding a new paragraph to read as follows:

"The legislature and state agencies charged with the management of the aforesaid lands shall plan for expanded utilization of said lands so as to meet the recreational needs of an expanding state population."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. The vote is called for. Have all those who care to, voted? The secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: None, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If there are none, it will pass.

Committee Proposal 129 is passed. We now will take up an exclusion report. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. Chairman, those exclusion reports are taxation reports. I would suggest we defer those until this evening.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: I move the committee rise.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Millard has put the question that the committee rise. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails.

[Whereupon, the committee of the whole having risen, Vice President Romney resumed the Chair.]

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Delegate Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration certain matters on the general orders calendar of which the secretary will give a detailed report.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration Committee Proposal 127, A proposal for a section on atomic energy; has adopted a substitute therefor and recommends that the proposal as substituted do pass.

For substitute as adopted by the committee of the whole, see below.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Committee Proposal 127, as substituted, is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 127 as substituted and referred to the committee on style and drafting:

Sec. a. The legislature may provide for the safety and regulation of atomic energy and such other sources of energy as may be developed in the future for the general welfare of the people of the state.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has also had under consideration Committee Proposal 128, A proposed section on intergovernmental agreements; and Committee Proposal 129, A proposal to describe legislative authority over state public lands; reports that it has considered these 2 proposals, has adopted no amendments thereto and recommends their passage.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Committee Proposal 128 and Committee Proposal 129 are referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 128 as referred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 2824.

For Committee Proposal 129 as referred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 2825.

SECRETARY CHASE: This completes the report of the committee of the whole, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: If the delegates will give the secretary their attention, the secretary has a statement to make that would simplify our procedure some. Mr. Chase.

SECRETARY CHASE: Several times this afternoon and on other occasions, delegates have risen and requested the right to explain their vote in writing. The secretary would like to call to your attention the last sentence of rule 65, which provides:

Any delegate is privileged to explain in writing his vote on record roll call votes. The written explanation shall be included in the journal if presented to the secretary before the next session of the convention.

So all the delegate needs to do is present his reasons in writing to the secretary without asking leave for it.

I have the following announcement: the committee on administration will meet at 11:30 tomorrow.

We have this announcement: Delegate Wynne Garvin's mother passed away this morning. A flower collection of 25 cents each, for those delegates wishing to do so, is being taken in the vice presidents' office.

Mr. Kelsey wishes to know if there are any early morning golfers who are interested in a 6:00 a.m. game; please contact him.

The committee on legislative powers will meet in room H tomorrow at 8:00 a.m. T. Jefferson Hoxie, chairman.

There will be a meeting of the full committee on judicial branch Thursday immediately following the morning session in room B. Robert J. Danhof, chairman.

We have the following requests for leave: Mr. Wood asks to be excused from the latter part of Thursday's session; and Mr. Bentley asks to be excused from the sessions of Thursday afternoon and evening.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Without objection, it is so ordered. Delegate Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. President, I move we recess until 8:00 o'clock.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Those in favor say aye. Opposed?

The motion prevails; we will recess until 8:00 o'clock tonight.

[Whereupon, at 6:05 o'clock p.m., the convention recessed; and, at 8:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

The convention will come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

During the recess, Mr. William Hanna filed a request to be excused from this evening's session.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Without objection, it is so ordered. Delegate Yeager.

MR. YEAGER: Mr. President, I move that the convention resolve itself into committee of the whole for the purpose of considering 2 final items on the order of general orders.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Those in favor will say aye. Opposed?

The motion prevails. Delegate Yeager will preside.

[Whereupon, Mr. Yeager assumed the Chair to preside as chairman of the committee of the whole.]

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: The committee will be in order. The first item of business is an exclusion report. The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on education, by Mr. Bentley, chairman, Exclusion Report 2005, A report recommending the exclusion of section 11 and section 12 of article XI.

Following is Exclusion Report 2005 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee on education recommends that article XI, section 11 and section 12, of the present constitution be excluded from the new constitution.

Mr. Bentley, chairman of the committee on education, submits the following reasons in support of Exclusion Report 2005:

The committee on education recommends that jurisdiction over section 11 and section 12 of article XI be transferred to the substantive committee on finance and taxation. The committee feels that whether or not revenue deriving from these sections shall continue to flow into the primary school interest fund depends upon the action the committee on finance and taxation takes in regard to the primary school interest fund as related in section 1 of article X.

The committee on education sees no need to continue these sections in this article on education.

On December 21, this exclusion report was introduced by the committee on education. It was then referred to the committee on finance and taxation. In Journal 124 for April 18, at the bottom of page 1020, you will find a report from the chairman of the committee on finance and taxation, Mr. Brake, reporting back this Exclusion Report 2005, with the following statement:

The committee on finance and taxation concurs with the committee on education recommending the exclusion of section 11 and section 12 of article XI to the new constitution. D. Hale Brake, chairman.

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: Are there any amendments to the exclusion report? Hearing none, it will pass.

Exclusion Report 2005 is passed. We are now at the position of the question on miscellaneous provisions and schedules' Committee Proposal 67. The secretary will give us a report on the previous action.

For last previous action by the committee of the whole on Committee Proposal 67, see above, page 2598.

SECRETARY CHASE: Committee Proposal 67 was considered in committee of the whole on April 18. The committee amendments recommended by the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule were adopted. Then an amendment by Messrs. Stafseth, Danhof, Allen, McCauley, Leppien, Seyferth, Karn, Staiger and Binkowski was adopted which reads as follows:

1. Amend page 1, line 5, after "Sec. a.", by striking out the balance of the section and all of section b and inserting "In the exercise of the power of eminent domain, private property shall not be taken by the public nor by any corporation for public use or purpose without the necessity being first determined and just compensation therefor being first paid or secured in such manner as shall be prescribed by law. The just compensation to be paid shall be ascertained by a jury of 12 freeholders as in other civil cases in a court of record or by not less than 3 commissioners appointed by a court of record as prescribed by law."

This was adopted on a division vote of yeas, 61; nays, 56.

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: The Chair would ask Mr. Erickson if he wishes to make a statement.

MR. ERICKSON: It might be well to just make a short statement now. This subject of eminent domain — it might be well to think of it in terms of condemnation, because that's really what it is. I just want to mention that this was handled by a subcommittee of 5 in the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule. Four of these committee members were from Detroit and one from Ypsilanti. Four were attorneys and one layman. And before appointment to this committee, I talked to each of these people and they assured me that they could look at this problem objectively. We also had concurrent jurisdiction with the committee on local government, and I feel that this committee was looking after the interests of the

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Referred to the order of second reading of proposals.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on style and drafting, by Mr. Cudlip, chairman, submits Report 119 of that committee, reporting back to the convention Committee Proposal 128, A proposed section on intergovernmental agreements; with the recommendation that the style and form be approved. William B. Cudlip, chairman.

For Committee Proposal 128 as reported by the committee on style and drafting, see below, page 2906.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Referred to the order of second reading of proposals.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on style and drafting, by Mr. Cudlip, chairman, submits Report 120 of that committee, reporting back to the convention Committee Proposal 129, A proposal to describe legislative authority over state public lands; with the recommendation that the style and form be approved. William B. Cudlip, chairman.

For Committee Proposal 129 as reported by the committee on style and drafting, see below, page 2908.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Referred to the order of second reading of proposals.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on style and drafting, by Mr. Cudlip, chairman, submits Report 121 of that committee, reporting back to the convention Committee Proposal 67, A proposal to amend article XIII, sections 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5, pertaining to eminent domain, of the present constitution; with the recommendation that the style and form be approved. William B. Cudlip, chairman.

For Committee Proposal 67 as reported by the committee on style and drafting, see below, page 3035, under date of May 1.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Referred to the order of second reading of proposals.

SECRETARY CHASE: That's all the—

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Second reading of proposals. The convention has under consideration Committee Proposal 15. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The next pending amendment to Committee Proposal 15 is submitted by Judges Mosier, Shaffer, Pugsley, Dehnke, Gadola and Leibrand:

1. Amend page 3, line 7, [section 13] after "law.", by inserting a new paragraph to read as follows:

"In all civil actions in circuit courts a verdict shall be received when 10 jurors shall agree."

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendment. Judge Mosier. The convention will kindly be in order so that the speaker may be heard.

MR. MOSIER: Mr. President and fellow delegates, this proposed amendment will deal with a procedure in the trial of cases in circuit court. This provision is sponsored by Judges Shaffer, Pugsley, Dehnke, Gadola, Leibrand and myself. The purpose of this is to aid the courts, reduce expense to litigants and the necessity for retrial of cases where juries are unable to agree.

It has been the history of our jurisprudence in Michigan that cases are heard by juries of 12. We have a statute which provides for that. We also have a statute that provides for the receiving of verdicts, and that statute says that when any jury shall be impaneled to assess any damages, if they cannot agree after being kept together for such time as shall be deemed reasonable by the court, such court may discharge them and issue a precept for a new jury, or order another jury to be drawn, as the case may require. And the same proceeding shall be had before such new jury as might have been had before the jury so discharged.

The amendment that is proposed is to aid in that situation where juries have been unable to agree and it was necessary to retry the case by the same parties, usually the same lawyers, usually the same witnesses, a second trial at the expense of the parties, and at the expense of the public. I have received letters from many trial judges throughout the state and I have yet to find one trial judge or even a lawyer, who does not feel that this amendment is a step in the right direction. It prevents the usurping of the judgment and will of 10 of the 12 jurors by 2 jurors. In our society today most things are decided by elections wherein a majority is sufficient, and most statutes are passed by a plain majority—in some cases a 2/3 majority is required—but our law has been such as to require in Michigan that the verdict, to be received, must be a unanimous verdict. Now this amendment, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, applies only to civil cases, so please do not confuse the trial of a criminal case with the trial of a civil case. This amendment is only in civil cases.

I have a letter from Judge Raymond Smith from Holland, who says this:

I have considered for some time that it would be a step in the right direction if the clerks of Michigan could accept a 9 to 3 verdict in civil cases.

A letter from Judge Sweet from the Kalamazoo circuit says:

I would not be averse to verdicts upon which at least 9 members of a 12 member jury can agree and feel that this might possibly result in less compromising and enable the jury to return the verdict without protracted deliberation.

I have a letter from Judge Weideman of the Wayne county circuit, in which he says:

It is my personal opinion that no one would be harmed if we would take a verdict of 10 out of 12. When 10 jurors agree upon a verdict, I believe we can assume that it would be a fair one. By holding a jury to a unanimous verdict, I believe that grave injustices are sometimes done. By making it necessary to secure a vote of 10 jurors, it is my opinion that the rights of both parties would be safeguarded.

A letter from Judge Raymond Fox says:

I feel that a very strong case can be made out for permitting a verdict in civil actions with less than 12 affirmative votes. I think the number should be probably about 9.

Then he says:

A verdict is a compromise between those who would give a substantial sum and those who are voting for no cause.

A letter from Judge Zick says:

I believe that a verdict should be permitted in a civil case by the action of 9 jurors.

In Ohio that rule has been in effect for some time.

I have taken this up with Mr. Joiner, and he advises me that there are 23 states that have a rule similar to the rule that I am asking this convention to adopt, in which verdicts are allowed in civil cases, ranging all the way from 8 to 12 to 9 to 3 and 10 to 2. I have a letter from Judge Morris Davis. He says:

I certainly do favor a constitutional provision that a circuit court be empowered to accept a verdict by a vote of 8 jurors in a civil case.

A letter from the executive judge of the Wayne county circuit, Judge O'Hara. He says this:

It would seem to me that many cases would be saved one way or the other if a verdict could be rendered by 10 of the 12 jurors sitting. After all, this does represent well over 80 per cent of the jurors and almost anything else is controlled by either a majority or at most by a 2/3 or 3/4 vote. I see no reason why we should have to have a unanimous decision of 12 people when they have divergent views. There isn't any question but what one stubborn person can become an expensive luxury to one or other of the litigants. It lessens the necessity for retrials where we have disagreements to contend with.

I have letters from bar associations who have adopted resolutions favorable to this provision. I have the word of Chief Justice Dethmers that such a rule is proper and we should have had it years ago. I submit this matter to the convention and if you have any questions, I am sure that any of my cosponsors would be glad to answer.

was serving in an advisory capacity or a capacity not for remuneration other than expenses. That is, quite frankly, my personal opinion, though. Does that answer your question, Mrs. Judd?

MRS. JUDD: Thank you, Mr. King. Mr. President, could I ask Dr. Pollock if, in view of this answer, he thinks that this proposed amendment which he and I have jointly sponsored, is necessary?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Dr. Pollock.

MR. POLLOCK: Mr. President, Mrs. Judd, yes. I think, if the committee has no objection, it would be a whole lot clearer if we could positively provide that the constitution was not intended to interfere with such interstate service by any local or state official in the state of Michigan.

On the commission on which I have served, the commission on intergovernmental relations in Washington, we had 2 appointments which were made by the president, one, of a New York state senator and one of a Texas legislator to this commission, and in both cases, the attorney generals in those states ruled that they could not be members of this federal intergovernmental agency. I think everybody wants to promote this kind of co-operation, and I just want to be sure that nothing in the constitution prohibits it.

While I am here, I would also like to say that I hope no inter-jurisdictional difficulties between local government and this committee will arise, because we presented our proposal originally to local government and they took out of it that portion which related to local relationships and left hanging this very important question which the emerging problems committee has now fortunately presented to us, namely state-local, state-state, and state-foreign, all of which may be very important in the future. I suggest, Mrs. Judd, that you ask that the amendment be introduced, if the committee has no objection to it.

MRS. JUDD: Thank you, Dr. Pollock. Could I ask the secretary to read the amendment? Is it possible to get it on the board? It is kind of difficult to follow.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Pollock and Mrs. Judd offer the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "thereof.", by inserting

"Any other provision of this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or any municipal corporation or other subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body as a representative of the state or any municipal corporation or other subdivision or agency thereof, or for the purpose of participating or assisting in the consideration or performance of joint or cooperative undertakings or for the study of governmental problems, and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature by statute may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate."

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mrs. Judd.

MRS. JUDD: Mr. President, this is a provision which I think will give the committee on style and drafting quite a field day. It really is very wordy, and I would hope that they can improve it, but these are the words from the council of state governments.

I would like to point out that the reason why it is important that people who hold office should be able to serve on these intergovernmental committees is that that is why they are valuable, and therefore, they should be able to do both things. Now, there is nothing in here that says they shall not receive another salary, except that the last sentence does give the legislature power to impose any restrictions or limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Now, Mr. President, may I ask Mr. King whether he thinks that is adequate to prevent an additional salary, and if not, I would suggest that he propose any changes.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. King.

MR. KING: Mr. President, Mrs. Judd, fellow delegates, I fail to see what, in that amendment, would prevent an additional salary. Would you point that out if you think there is something there?

MRS. JUDD: Only that it does leave to the legislature power to impose restrictions.

MR. KING: Well, I would only say that once again we have a conflict and before we leave this proposal, I would like to go back to the conflict that Mr. Elliott is satisfied to leave up to style and drafting, because I am not sure I am; but once again, this would be in conflict with Committee Proposal 120, and I think that if Committee Proposal 120 reflects the thinking of this convention, that perhaps something could be added at the end to the effect that remuneration for such positions shall not exceed expenses; something to that effect, I think, would make the 2 quite compatible. Would you have any objection to that sort of language?

MRS. JUDD: None at all.

MR. KING: I will prepare an amendment along those lines, then.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mrs. Judd.

MRS. JUDD: Well, I don't know what is the next procedure, whether we wait for Mr. King's amendment —

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. King, are you preparing — Mr. Allen? We are talking on the amendment, now, offered by Dr. Pollock and Mrs. Judd.

MR. ALLEN: While Mr. King is preparing his amendment, may I ask Mrs. Judd a question?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mrs. Judd.

MR. ALLEN: Mrs. Judd, do you think that your proposed amendment is going to get tangled up with somewhat similar language, but not exactly the same, at the tail end of Committee Proposal 88, particularly in view of the action which was taken on second reading on this section, and is in our journal at page 1006, Journal 123, where, under the Hanna amendment, members of the legislature were specifically taken out? My offhand impression would be, if yours passes, style and drafting better just knock out that last paragraph in Committee Proposal 88, because you say everything that that says plus a little more.

MRS. JUDD: I don't have Committee Proposal 88 in front of me, and I am not quite sure what you are referring to.

MR. ALLEN: This was the provision —

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Allen, Mr. Leppien has a motion he would like to make.

MR. LEPIEN: Mr. President and fellow delegates, just a brief remark before I make the motion. It seems to me that we have a problem here that cannot be resolved on this floor. Therefore, I move that the emerging problem proposal be placed at the foot of the calendar for second reading.

PRESIDENT NISBET: You mean at the foot of the calendar for second reading for emerging problems?

MR. LEPIEN: No, legislative powers, which is the next one up, isn't it?

PRESIDENT NISBET: We have one more proposal —

MR. LEPIEN: I mean at the end of legislative powers.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Leppien that Committee Proposal 128 be put at the foot of the calendar, following legislative powers, in order that the matter may be resolved. Those in favor of that motion will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails, and the Chair would suggest that the people involved get together and have this smoothed out by that time.

Committee Proposal 129.

[Vice President Hutchinson assumed the Chair.]

SECRETARY CHASE: Committee Proposal 129, A proposal to describe legislative authority over state public lands.

Following is Committee Proposal 129 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 2825.):

Sec. a. The legislature shall have [a] general supervisory jurisdiction over all state OWNED [recreational and forest] lands USEFUL FOR FOREST PRESERVES, GAME AREAS AND RECREATIONAL PURPOSES[.]; shall require annual reports [on] AS TO such lands from all [agencies] DEPARTMENTS having supervision or control thereof[,] and shall BY GENERAL LAW PROVIDE FOR THE [formulate rules for the] sale, [rental] LEASE, or other disposition of such lands.

The legislature [may,] by a resolution concurred in by [a] 2/3 [majority] of THE MEMBERS ELECTED TO AND SERVING IN [both houses] EACH HOUSE MAY FROM TIME TO TIME[,] declare any part of such lands to be a ["primary] state land reserve["]; AND MAY REMOVE LANDS FROM SUCH CLASSIFICATION [thereafter no such primary state land reserve]. NO LANDS IN THE STATE LAND RESERVE may be sold, leased [,] or otherwise [alienated or] disposed of except [upon the authority of] BY an act of the legislature.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. President and members of the convention, this proposal was passed by the committee of the whole and went to style and drafting, where several changes were made in the wording as you can see from the proposal on your desk. That in caps has been made by style and drafting, and where the words are stricken out, that has been done by style and drafting. However, I have gone over this with the chairman of the subcommittee, and we do not feel that there have been any substantial changes by style and drafting. Therefore, we would approve their language and ask that the proposal be adopted in that form.

However, for an explanation of the purposes of this proposal, I would like to yield to the chairman of the subcommittee who handled this. We had a lot of hearings on it, and Judge Pugsley has made a lot of personal investigations with regard to this matter. I yield to Judge Pugsley to give his analysis of the purposes and scope of this proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Judge Pugsley.

MR. PUGSLEY: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I do not believe that a lengthy explanation of this matter is required. I called to your attention when this matter was presented that we have, in the state of Michigan, a very large acreage of state lands, 4¼ million, approximately, in addition to about 2¼ millions of acres which are under the control of the federal government. I also tried to make it clear that this proposal is not offered in any spirit of criticism of the supervision and, in the main, quite excellent work that has been done by the conservation department.

This proposal does introduce one feature which has not been the practice in the past, namely that of requiring the several agencies who have the handling of state lands to make annual rather than biennial reports to the legislature, as has been their practice in the past. I think the resources that we have in these lands and their importance to the state of Michigan, and especially in the field of recreation and forest preserves is one of sufficient importance to justify our recognition of it in the constitution, and I believe that we are compelled in this matter to give recognition to the fact that the legislature should constantly keep these resources in mind and, from time to time, make such rules and regulations and pass such laws as are necessary to preserve this valuable resource for the interest of the public. I believe there is much merit in this position, and I firmly recommend the adoption of this proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I rise to oppose Committee Proposal 129, and I do so for the following reasons: in the first place, I feel this proposal is unnecessary because the legislature and the department of conservation over the past several years have been dealing with matters relating to the sale and transfer of state lands in a satisfactory manner; secondly, the provisions in this proposal neither add nor detract from the power which the legislature has anyway; and thirdly, this provision imposes an additional burden on state agencies by requiring annual rather than biennial reports. Therefore, I would urge this proposal be defeated. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the adoption of Committee Proposal 129. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of Committee Proposal 129, the yeas are 81; the nays are 33.

MR. POLLOCK: Mr. President, yesterday we moved to postpone reconsideration of the vote on Committee Proposal 22. Is it now in order for me to move that that now be reconsidered along with any amendments thereto?

MR. POLLOCK: I move now that we reconsider the vote by which Committee Proposal 22 was passed, and any necessary amendments thereto.

For the vote on the passage of Committee Proposal 22, as amended, see above, page 2794.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the motion of Dr. Pollock, made on yesterday, to reconsider the vote by which Committee Proposal 22 passed. The Chair recognizes Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: I wish to rise in support of Dr. Pollock's motion. This is an important subject. The vote was close, and I urge we support his motion for reconsideration.

measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next [ensuing] general election.

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[.]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. 5. ISLAND AREAS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE CONTIGUOUS BY LAND TO THE COUNTY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

I think, too, that if we wanted to be very critical and analytical about some of the things that are happening right here in this convention, we could point out that we have violated the state labor laws affecting women constantly throughout the length and breadth of this convention, because women have worked more than 9 hours a day and more than 10 hours a day, and I believe the state statute speaks out and is opposed to women working those hours. So we have not reduced ourselves to this childish prank and jest and so on.

It is true that a lot of women should be at home as one of the brothers back here just said, but a lot of them don't have homes to go to—not unless they are working—and the intent and purpose that was behind "sex" being included was not for women who have great inheritance to share or stocks to share and so on. It was for women who work for a living and those who work for a livelihood, and I think that that would be the sense and the seriousness of the inclusion of the word "sex" in the equal protection section that we voted against yesterday.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Have you any further amendments on the desk?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: No further amendments.

MR. VAN DUSEN: In that event—

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the passage of the article.

MR. VAN DUSEN: If there are no speakers seeking recognition—does Mr. Hoxie seek recognition?

MR. HOXIE: Well, I just wanted to make a motion that the Chair had the privilege of recording his vote in the journal. (laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Well, the Chair would have voted against the amendment, if that is what you meant (laughter) if his vote had been seasonably demanded.

MR. VAN DUSEN: If there are no speakers, Mr. President, I will just sit down and let you put the question.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the passage of article X. All those in favor of the passage of article X, as amended, will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

Nays—1

Yeager

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of article X, as amended, the yeas are 125; the nays are 1.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A majority of the delegates elect having voted in favor thereof, article X, as amended, is passed.

For sections 3, 4, 5 and 6 of article X as passed, see above, page 3069.

Following is section 1 of article X as amended and passed:

Sec. 1. The disabilities of coverture as to property are abolished. The real and personal estate of every woman, acquired before marriage, and all real and personal property to which she may afterwards become entitled shall be and remain the estate and property of such woman, and shall not be liable for the debts, obligations or engagements of her husband, and may be dealt with by her as if she were unmarried. Dower may be relinquished or conveyed as provided by law.

Following is section 2 of article X as amended and passed:

Sec. 2. Private property shall not be taken for public use except in a court of record and without just compensation therefor being first made or secured in a manner prescribed by law.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): Any announcements?

SECRETARY CHASE: Yes. I have the following request: Delegates Dean Doty and Sterrett ask the whereabouts of their small blue delegate handbooks with their names thereon. These have been circulating for the past 2 weeks for signatures. (laughter) They would like to have their books returned.

The committee on administration will meet tomorrow at 12:00 noon. Walter DeVries, chairman.

The public information committee will meet at 8:00 o'clock this evening in room C. Ink White, chairman.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mrs. Butler.

MRS. BUTLER: Mr. President and fellow delegates, some time ago Mr. Bonisteel spoke to the convention about the Michigan historical society of which he is president. He thought and the historical board thought it would be very nice if each of the members of the constitutional convention would for this year be a member of the Michigan historical society. Our time is getting very short and so I thought tonight I would suggest that either Mr. Bonisteel or I would be very glad to take your money to make you a member of the Michigan historical society for this year. I am not an officer; I am just his henchman.

SECRETARY CHASE: I have the following requests for leave: Mr. Rush asks to be excused from the sessions of Wednesday afternoon and of Thursday; and Mr. Anspach asks to be excused from the first part of the morning session on Friday, May 11. He agreed to speak at a conference at the University of Michigan at 9:00 a.m. on that date.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Without objection the several requests will be granted. Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: I move this convention adjourn.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Miss Donnelly moves that the convention do now adjourn. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails and the convention stands adjourned until tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 5:50 o'clock p.m., the convention adjourned until 9:00 o'clock a.m., Wednesday, May 9, 1962.]

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this consti-

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight persons, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following four regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Nwaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the apportionment commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and officers of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this

1 state from the governor, except notaries public,
2 from the legislature, or from any other state
3 authority, during the term for which he is elected.

4 Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any 5 state officer shall be interested directly or in-
6 directly in any contract with the state or any 7 political subdivision thereof which shall cause a
8 substantial conflict of interest. The legislature
9 shall further implement this provision by appro-
10 priate legislation.

11 Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be 12 privileged from civil arrest and civil process dur-
13 ing sessions of the legislature and for five days
14 next before the commencement and after the 15 termination thereof. They shall not be ques-
16 tioned in any other place for any speech in either
17 house.

18 Sec. 12. The compensation and expense al-
19 lowances of the members of the legislature shall 20 be determined by law. Changes in compensation
21 or expense allowances shall become effective only
22 when legislators commence their terms of office
23 after a general election.

24 Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat
25 of government on the second Wednesday in Janu-
26 ary of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each
27 regular session shall adjourn without day, on a
28 day determined by concurrent resolution, at 29 twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint 30 resolution pending at the final adjournment of 31 a regular session held in an odd numbered year
32 shall carry over with the same status to the 33 next regular session.

34 Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected
35 to and serving in each house shall constitute a 36 quorum to do business. A smaller number in 37 each house may adjourn from day to day, and 38 may compel the attendance of absent members in 39 the manner and with penalties as each house may 40 prescribe.

41 Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legisla-
42 tive council consisting of legislators appointed in 43 the manner prescribed by law. The legislature
44 shall appropriate funds for the council's opera-
45 tions and provide for its staff which shall main-
46 tain bill drafting, research and other services
47 for the members of the legislature. The council
48 shall periodically examine and recommend to the 49 legislature revision of the various laws of the 50 state.

51 Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise pro-
52 vided in this constitution, shall choose its own
53 officers and determine the rules of its proceedings,
54 but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a
55 majority of the members elected thereto and
56 serving therein from discharging a committee
57 from the further consideration of any measure.
58 Each house shall be the sole judge of the quali-
59 fications, elections and returns of its members,
60 and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of

1 all the members elected thereto and serving
2 therein, expel a member. The reasons for such 3 expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with 4 the votes and names of the members voting upon
5 the question. No member shall be expelled a
6 second time for the same cause.

7 Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may 8 establish the committees necessary for the effi-
9 cient conduct of its business and the legislature
10 may create joint committees. Each committee
11 shall by roll call vote record the vote and name
12 of all action on bills and resolutions taken in 13 the committee. Such vote shall be available for 14 public inspection. Notice of all committee hear-
15 ings and a clear statement of all subjects to be 16 considered at each hearing shall be published in 17 the journal in advance of the hearing.

18 Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of 19 its proceedings, and publish the same unless the 20 public security otherwise requires. The record
21 of the vote and name of the members of either
22 house voting on any question shall be entered 23 in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the 24 members present. Any member of either house
25 may dissent from and protest against any act,
26 proceeding or resolution which he deems injuri-
27 ous to any person or the public, and have the 28 reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

29 Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in 30 joint convention and all votes on appointments
31 submitted to the senate for advice and consent
32 shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

33 Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open
34 unless the public security otherwise requires.

35 Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the con-
36 sent of the other, adjourn for more than two 37 intervening calendar days, nor to any place other
38 than where the legislature may then be in session.

39 Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and 40 may originate in either house.

41 Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The 42 People of the State of Michigan enact.

43 Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one
44 object, which shall be expressed in its title. No
45 bill shall be altered or amended on its passage
46 through either house so as to change its original
47 purpose as determined by its total content and 48 not alone by its title.

49 Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or 50 amended by reference to its title only. The section
51 or sections of the act altered or amended shall 52 be re-enacted and published at length.

53 Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a 54 law at any regular session of the legislature until 55 it has been printed or reproduced and in the pos-
56 session of each house for at least five days. Every 57 bill shall be read three times in each house be-58 fore the final passage thereof. No bill shall be-
59 come a law without the concurrence of a majority
60 of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Sec. 36. No general revision of the laws shall be made. The legislature may provide for a compilation of the laws in force, arranged without alteration, under appropriate heads and titles.

Sec. 37. The legislature may by concurrent resolution empower a joint committee of the legislature acting between sessions to suspend until the end of the next regular legislative session any rule or regulation of an administrative agency promulgated when the legislature is not in regular session.

Sec. 38. The legislature may provide by law the cases in which any office shall be vacant and the manner of filling vacancies where no provision is made in this constitution.

Sec. 39. In order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency only, resulting from disasters occurring in this state caused by enemy attack on the United States, the legislature may provide by law for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices; and enact other laws necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations. Notwithstanding the power conferred by this section, elections shall always be called as soon as possible to fill any vacancies in elective offices temporarily occupied by operation of any legislation enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 40. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission which, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof. The legislature may provide for an excise tax on such sales. Neither the legislature nor the commission may authorize the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages in any county in which a majority of the electors voting thereon shall prohibit the same.

Sec. 41. The legislature shall not authorize any lottery nor permit the sale of lottery tickets.

Sec. 42. The legislature may provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts, and confer power and authority upon them to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.

Sec. 43. No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes, or regulating the business thereof, shall be enacted, amended or repealed except by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 44. The legislature may authorize a trial by a jury of less than 12 jurors in civil cases.

Sec. 45. The legislature may provide for indeterminate sentences as punishment for crime and for the detention and release of persons imprisoned or detained under such sentences.

Sec. 46. No law shall be enacted providing for the penalty of death.

Sec. 47. The legislature may authorize the employment of chaplains in state institutions of detention or confinement.

Sec. 48. The legislature may enact laws providing for the resolution of disputes concerning public employees, except those in the state classified civil service.

Sec. 49. The legislature may enact laws relative to the hours and conditions of employment.

Sec. 50. The legislature may provide safety measures and regulate the use of atomic energy and forms of energy developed in the future, having in view the general welfare of the people of this state.

Sec. 51. The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern. The legislature shall pass suitable laws for the protection and promotion of the public health.

Sec. 52. The conservation and development of the natural resources of the state are hereby declared to be of paramount public concern in the interest of the health, safety and general welfare of the people. The legislature shall provide for the protection of the air, water and other natural resources of the state from pollution, impairment and destruction.

Sec. 53. The legislature by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint an auditor general, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of eight years. He shall be ineligible for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as auditor general and for two years following the termination of his service. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. The auditor general shall conduct post audits of financial transactions and accounts of the state and of all branches, departments, offices, boards, commissions, agencies, authorities and institutions of the state established by this constitution or by law, and performance post audits thereof.

The auditor general, his deputy and one other member of his staff shall be exempt from classified civil service. All other members of his staff shall have classified civil service status.

Article V

Executive Branch

Sec. 1. The executive power is vested in the governor.

Sec. 2. All executive and administrative offices, agencies and instrumentalities of the executive branch of state government and their respective functions, powers and duties, except for the office of governor and lieutenant governor and the governing bodies of institutions of higher education provided for in this constitution, shall be allocated by law among and within not more than 20 principal departments. They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. When a single executive is the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, he shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate and he shall serve at the pleasure of the governor.

When a board or commission is at the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, the members thereof shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The term of office and procedure for removal of such members shall be as prescribed in this constitution or by law.

Terms of office of any board or commission created or enlarged after the effective date of this constitution shall not exceed four years except as otherwise authorized in this constitution. The terms of office of existing boards and commissions which are longer than four years shall not be further extended except as provided in this constitution.

Sec. 4. Temporary commissions or agencies for special purposes with a life of no more than two years may be established by law and need not be allocated within a principal department.

Sec. 5. At no time shall an examining or licensing board of a profession include less than a majority of members of that profession.

Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

The governor may initiate court proceedings in the name of the state to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. This authority shall not be construed to authorize court proceedings against the legislature.

Sec. 9. Single executives heading principal departments and the chief executive officers of principal departments headed by boards or commissions shall keep their offices at the seat of government except as otherwise provided by law, superintend them in person and perform duties prescribed by law.

Sec. 10. The governor shall have power and it shall be his duty to inquire into the condition and administration of any public office and the acts of any public officer, elective or appointive. He may remove or suspend from office for gross neglect of duty or for corrupt conduct in office, or for any other misfeasance or malfeasance therein, any elective or appointive state officer, except legislative or judicial, and shall report the reasons for such removal or suspension to the legislature.

Sec. 11. The governor may make a provisional appointment to fill a vacancy occasioned by the suspension of an appointed or elected officer, other than a legislative or judicial officer, until he is reinstated or until the vacancy is filled in the manner prescribed by law or this constitution.

Sec. 12. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the armed forces and may call them out to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion.

Sec. 13. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies in the senate or house of representatives. Any such election shall be held in a manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 14. The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and limitations as he may direct, subject to procedures and regulations prescribed by law. He shall inform the legislature annually of each reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, stating reasons therefor.

Sec. 15. The governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

Sec. 16. The governor may convene the legislature at some other place when the seat of government becomes dangerous from any cause.

Sec. 17. The governor shall communicate by message to the legislature at the beginning of each session and may at other times present to the legislature information as to the affairs of the state and recommend measures he considers necessary or desirable.

Sec. 18. The governor shall submit to the legislature at a time fixed by law, a budget for the ensuing fiscal period setting forth in detail, for all operating funds, the proposed expenditures and estimated revenue of the state. Proposed expenditures from any fund shall not exceed the estimated revenue thereof. On the same date, the governor shall submit to the legislature general appropriation bills to embody the proposed expenditures and any necessary bill or bills to provide new or additional revenues to meet proposed expenditures. The amount of any surplus created or deficit incurred in any fund during the last preceding fiscal period shall be entered as an item in the budget and in one of the appropriation bills. The governor may submit amendments to appropriation bills to be offered in either house during consideration of the bill by that house, and shall submit any bills to meet deficiencies in current appropriations.

Sec. 19. The governor may disapprove any distinct item or items appropriating moneys in any appropriation bill. The part or parts approved shall become law, and the item or items disapproved shall be void unless re-passed according to the method prescribed for the passage of other bills over the executive veto.

Sec. 20. No appropriation shall be a mandate to spend. The governor, with the approval of the appropriating committees of the house and senate, shall reduce expenditures authorized by appropriations whenever it appears that actual revenues for a fiscal period will fall below the revenue estimates on which appropriations for that period were based. Reductions in expenditures shall be made in accordance with procedures prescribed by law. The governor may not reduce expenditures of the legislative and judicial branches or from funds constitutionally dedicated for specific purposes.

Sec. 21. The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be elected for four-year terms at the general election in each alternate even-numbered year.

The lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be nominated by party conventions in a manner prescribed by law. In the general election one vote shall be cast jointly for the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor nominated by the same party.

Vacancies in the office of the secretary of state and attorney general shall be filled by appointment by the governor.

Article IX

Finance and Taxation

13 Sec. 1. The legislature shall impose taxes suf-
14 ficient with other resources to pay the expenses of 15 state government.

16 Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be 17 surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

18 Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the 19 uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and 20 tangible personal property not exempt by law. The 21 legislature shall provide for the determination of 22 true cash value of such property; the proportion 23 of true cash value at which such property shall 24 be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after 25 January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a sys-
26 tem of equalization of assessments. The legislature
27 may provide for alternative means of taxation of 28 designated real and tangible personal property in 29 lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax
30 other than the general ad valorem property tax
31 shall be uniform upon the class or classes on 32 which it operates.

33 Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-34 profit religious or educational organizations and 35 used exclusively for religious or educational pur-
36 poses, as defined by law, shall be exempt from 37 real and personal property taxes.

38 Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the 39 assessment by the state of the property of those
40 public service businesses assessed by the state
41 at the date this constitution becomes effective, and 42 of other property as designated by the legislature,
43 and for the imposition and collection of taxes
44 thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be
45 assessed at the same proportion of its true
46 cash value as the legislature shall specify for 47 property subject to general ad valorem taxation.
48 The rate of taxation on such property shall be 49 the average rate levied upon other property in this 50 state under the general ad valorem tax law, or,
51 if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable
52 to the property of each business enterprise assessed
53 by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem
54 taxation levied upon other property in all counties
55 in which any of such property is situated.

56 Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this 57 constitution, the total amount of general ad valo-
58 rem taxes imposed upon real and tangible per-
59 sonal property for all purposes in any one year
60 shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the

1 assessed valuation of property as finally equalized.
2 Under procedures provided by law, which shall
3 guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax
4 limitations for any county and for the townships
5 and for school districts therein, the aggregate of 6 which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of 7 such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter
8 altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified
9 electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu 10 of the limitation hereinbefore established. These 11 limitations may be increased to an aggregate of 12 not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation,
13 for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one
14 time, if approved by a majority of the electors,
15 qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this 16 constitution, voting on the question.

17 The foregoing limitations shall not apply to 18 taxes imposed for the payment of principal and 19 interest on bonds or other evidences of indebted-
20 ness or for the payment of assessments or con-
21 tract obligations in anticipation of which bonds
22 are issued, which taxes may be imposed without 23 limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes im-
24 posed for any other purpose by any city, vil-
25 lage, charter county, charter township, charter
26 authority or other authority, the tax limitations
27 of which are provided by charter or by general
28 law.

29 In any school district which extends into two 30 or more counties, property taxes at the highest 31 rate available in the county which contains the 32 greatest part of the area of the district may be 33 imposed and collected for school purposes through-
34 out the district.

35 Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate
36 or base shall be imposed by the state or any of 37 its subdivisions.

38 Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a
39 sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than 40 four percent of their gross taxable sales of 41 tangible personal property.

42 Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales
43 and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed di-
44 rectly or indirectly on fuels sold or used 45 to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on 46 registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment
47 of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusi-
48 vely for highway purposes as defined by law.

49 Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on 50 retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible 51 personal property shall be used exclusively for 52 assistance to townships, cities and villages, on 53 a population basis as provided by law. In de-
54 termining population the legislature may exclude 55 any portion of the total number of persons who 56 are wards, patients or convicts in any tax sup-
57 ported institution.

58 Sec. 11. There shall be established a state
59 school aid fund which shall be used exclusively
60 for the support of public education and school employees' retirement systems, as provided by law. One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money

1 shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50
2 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank.
3 Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall 4 show the amount of state money so deposited as 5 a separate item in all published statements.

6 Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law
7 for the annual accounting for all public moneys,
8 state and local, and may provide by law for interim
9 accounting.

10 The legislature shall provide by law for the 11 maintenance of uniform accounting systems by 12 units of local government and the auditing of 13 county accounts by competent state authority
14 and other units of government as provided by law.

15 Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and 16 adjustment of claims against the state shall be 17 prescribed by law.

18 Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings,
19 audit reports and other reports of public moneys
20 shall be public records and open to inspection. A
21 statement of all revenues and expenditures of pub-
22 lic moneys shall be published and distributed
23 annually, as provided by law.

24 Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each
25 pension plan and retirement system of the state
26 and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual
27 obligation thereof which shall not be diminished
28 or impaired thereby.

29 Financial benefits arising on account of service
30 rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during 31 that year and such funding shall not be used for 32 financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

57 by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted
58 in each polling place and furnished to news media

68 If the proposed amendment is approved by a
69 majority of the electors voting on the question,
70 it shall become part of the constitution, and 71 shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of 72 the constitution at the end of 45 days after 73 the date of the election at which it was ap-

Sec. 10. The members of the state board of education provided for in Section 3 of Article VIII of this constitution shall first be elected at the first general election after the effective date of this constitution for the following terms: two shall be elected for two years, two for four years, two for six years, and two for eight years as prescribed by law.

The State Board of Education provided for in the constitution of 1908 is abolished at twelve o'clock noon January 1 of the year following the first general election under this constitution and the terms of members thereof shall then expire.

Sec. 11. The provisions of this constitution providing for members of boards of control of institutions of higher education and the State Board of Public Community and Junior Colleges shall be implemented by law. The law may provide that the term of each member in office on the date of the vote on this constitution may be extended, and may further provide that the initial terms of office of members may be less than eight years.

Sec. 12. The provisions of this constitution increasing the number of members of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University and of the Board of Governors of Wayne State University to eight, and of their term of office to eight years, shall be implemented by law. The law may provide that the term of each member in office on the date of the vote on this constitution may be extended one year, and may further provide that the initial terms of office of the additional members may be less than eight years.

Sec. 13. The initial allocation of departments by law pursuant to Section 2 of Article V of this constitution, shall be completed within two years after the effective date of this constitution. If such allocation shall not have been completed within such period, the governor, within one year thereafter, by executive order, shall make the initial allocation.

Sec. 14. Contractual obligations of the state incurred pursuant to the constitution of 1908 shall continue to be obligations of the state.

For the retirement of notes and bonds issued under Section 26 of Article X of the 1908 constitution, there is hereby appropriated from the general fund each year during their life a sum equal to the amount of principal and interest payments due and payable in each year.

Sec. 15. The legislature by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house may provide that the state may borrow money and may pledge its full faith and credit for refunding any bonds issued by the Mackinac Bridge Authority and at the time of refunding the Mackinac Bridge Authority shall be abolished and the operation of the bridge shall be assumed by the state highway department. The legislature may implement this section by law.

Sec. 16. This constitution shall be submitted to the people for their adoption or rejection at the general election to be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962. It shall be the duty of the secretary of state forthwith to give notice of such submission to all other officers required to give or publish any notice in regard to a general election. He shall give notice that this constitution will be duly submitted to the electors at such election. The notice shall be given in the manner required for the election of governor.

Sec. 17. Every registered elector may vote on the adoption of the constitution. The board of election commissioners in each county shall cause to be printed on a ballot separate from the ballot containing the names of the nominees for office, the words: Shall the revised constitution be adopted? () Yes. () No. All votes cast at the election shall be taken, counted, canvassed and returned as provided by law for the election of state officers. If the revised constitution so submitted receives more votes in its favor than were cast against it, it shall be the supreme law of the state on and after the first day of January of the year following its adoption.

against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that the report be adopted. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The report is adopted. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, in compliance with our rules, I think it would now be necessary to take a roll call vote on the amendment to the constitution changing the date.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment recommended in the report is as follows:

1. Amend the schedule, section 15 [formerly section 16] (column 2) line 11, after "held on the" by striking out "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962.", and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will call the roll. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye as your name is called. Those opposed will vote no.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause)
PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con. con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

Sincerely,
Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger, White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

For document incorporating following changes, see below, page 3355. Page numbers in report refer to document pages.

1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.

2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."

3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.

4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

CONSTITUTION
OF THE
STATE OF MICHIGAN

as finally adopted
by the Convention
August 1, 1962

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE II

Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

ARTICLE III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision thereof, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The People of the State of Michigan enact.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he disapproves, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full regular session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

The inability of the governor or person acting as governor shall be determined by a majority of the supreme court on joint request of the president pro tempore of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives. Such determination shall be final

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

No other oath, affirmation, or any religious test shall be required as a qualification for any office or public trust.

Sec. 2. The terms of office of elective state officers, members of the legislature and justices and judges of courts of record shall begin at twelve o'clock noon on the first day of January next succeeding their election, except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The terms of office of county officers shall begin on the first day of January next succeeding their election, except as otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 3. Neither the legislature nor any political subdivision of this state shall grant or authorize extra compensation to any public officer, agent or contractor after the service has been rendered or the contract entered into.

Sec. 4. No person having custody or control of public moneys shall be a member of the legislature, or be eligible to any office of trust or profit under this state, until he shall have made an accounting, as provided by law, of all sums for which he may be liable.

Sec. 5. The classified state civil service shall consist of all positions in the state service except those filled by popular election, heads of principal departments, members of boards and commissions, the principal executive officer of boards and commissions heading principal departments, employees of courts of record, employees of the legislature, employees of the state institutions of higher education, all persons in the armed forces of the state, eight exempt positions in the office of the governor, and within each principal department, when requested by the department head, two other exempt positions, one of which shall be policy-making. The civil service commission may exempt three additional positions of a policy-making nature within each principal department.

The civil service commission shall be non-salaried and shall consist of four persons, not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party, appointed by the governor for terms of eight years, no two of which shall expire in the same year.

The administration of the commission's powers shall be vested in a state personnel director who shall be a member of the classified service and who shall be responsible to and selected by the commission after open competitive examination.

The commission shall classify all positions in the classified service according to their respective duties and responsibilities, fix rates of compensation for all classes of positions, approve or disapprove disbursements for all personal services, determine by competitive examination and performance exclusively on the basis of merit, efficiency and fitness the qualifications of all candidates for positions in the classified service, make rules and regulations covering all personnel transactions, and regulate all conditions of employment in the classified service.

No person shall be appointed to or promoted in the classified service who has not been certified by the commission as qualified for such appointment or promotion. No appointments, promotions, demotions or removals in the classified service shall be made for religious, racial or partisan considerations.

Increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission may be effective only at the start of a fiscal year and shall require prior notice to the governor, who shall transmit such increases to the legislature as part of his budget. The legislature may, by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, waive the notice and permit increases in rates of compensation to be effective at a time other than the start of a fiscal year. Within 60 calendar days following such transmission, the legislature may, by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, reject or reduce increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission. Any reduction ordered by the legislature shall apply uniformly to all classes of employees affected by the increases and shall not adjust pay differentials already established by the civil service commission. The legislature may not reduce rates of compensation below those in effect at the time of the transmission of increases authorized by the commission.

The appointing authorities may create or abolish positions for reasons of administrative efficiency without the approval of the commission. Positions shall not be created nor abolished except for reasons of administrative efficiency. Any employee considering himself aggrieved by the abolition or creation of a position shall have a right of appeal to the commission through established grievance procedures.

The civil service commission shall recommend to the governor and to the legislature rates of compensation for all appointed positions within the executive department not a part of the classified service.

To enable the commission to exercise its powers, the legislature shall appropriate to the commission for the ensuing fiscal year a sum not less than one percent of the aggregate payroll of the classified service for the preceding fiscal year, as certified by the commission. Within six months after the conclusion of each fiscal year the commission shall return to the state treasury all moneys unexpended for that fiscal year.

The commission shall furnish reports of expenditures, at least annually, to the governor and the legislature and shall be subject to annual audit as provided by law.

No payment for personal services shall be made or authorized until the provisions of this constitution pertaining to civil service have been complied with in every particular. Violation of any of the provisions hereof may be restrained or observance compelled by injunctive or mandamus proceedings brought by any citizen of the state.

Sec. 6. By ordinance or resolution of its governing body which shall not take effect until approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon, unless otherwise provided by charter, each county, township, city, village, school district and other governmental unit or authority may establish, modify or discontinue a merit system for its employees other than teachers under contract or tenure. The state civil service commission may on request furnish technical services to any such unit on a reimbursable basis.

Sec. 7. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeaching civil officers for corrupt conduct in office or for crimes or misdemeanors, but a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein shall be necessary to direct an impeachment.

When an impeachment is directed, the house of representatives shall elect three of its members to prosecute the impeachment.

Every impeachment shall be tried by the senate immediately after the final adjournment of the legislature. The senators shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try and determine the impeachment according to the evidence. When the governor or lieutenant governor is tried, the chief justice of the supreme court shall preside.

No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the senators elected and serving. Judgment in case of conviction shall not extend further than removal from office, but the person convicted shall be liable to punishment according to law.

No judicial officer shall exercise any of the functions of his office after an impeachment is directed until he is acquitted.

ARTICLE XII

Amendment and Revision

Sec. 1. Amendments to this constitution may be proposed in the senate or house of representatives. Proposed amendments agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house on a vote with the names and vote of those voting entered in the respective journals shall be submitted, not less than 60 days thereafter, to the electors at the next general election or special election as the legislature shall direct. If a majority of electors voting on a proposed amendment approve the same, it shall become part of the constitution and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved.

Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this constitution by petition of the registered electors of this state. Every petition shall include the full text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by registered electors of the state equal in number to at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected. Such petitions shall be filed with the person authorized by law to receive the same at least 120 days before the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition shall be in the form, and shall be signed and circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law. The person authorized by law to receive such petition shall upon its receipt determine, as provided by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signatures on the petition, and make an official announcement thereof at least 60 days prior to the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon.

Any amendment proposed by such petition shall be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was filed, to the electors at the next general election. Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of the constitution which would be altered or abrogated thereby, and the question as it shall appear on the ballot shall be published in full as provided by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted in each polling place and furnished to news media as provided by law.

The ballot to be used in such election shall contain a statement of the purpose of the proposed amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

If the proposed amendment is approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question, it shall become part of the constitution, and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved. If two or more amendments approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter and at such times as may be provided by law, the question of a general revision of the constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If a majority of the electors voting on the question decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, at an election to be held not later than six months after the proposal was certified as approved, the electors of each representative district as then organized shall elect one delegate and the electors of each senatorial district as then organized shall elect one delegate at a partisan election. The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat of government on the first Tuesday in October next succeeding such election or at an earlier date if provided by law.

The convention shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings and judge the qualifications, elections and returns of its members. To fill a vacancy in the office of any delegate, the governor shall appoint a qualified resident of the same district who shall be a member of the same party as the delegate vacating the office. The convention shall have power to appoint such officers, employees and assistants as it deems necessary and to fix their compensation; to provide for the printing and distribution of its documents, journals and proceedings; to explain and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

No proposed constitution or amendment adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the electors for approval as hereinafter provided unless by the assent of a majority of all the delegates elected to and serving in the convention, with the names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

Means to You

Article X

PROPERTY

Married women.

Sec. 1. The disabilities of coverture as to property are abolished. The real and personal estate of every woman acquired before marriage and all real and personal property to which she may afterwards become entitled  shall be and remain the estate and property of such woman, and shall not be liable for the debts, obligations or engagements of her husband, and may be dealt with and disposed of by her as if she were unmarried. Dower may be relinquished or conveyed as provided by law.

This is a revision of Sec. 8, Article XVI, of the present constitution. The first sentence is new language which declares that "the disabilities of coverture as to property are abolished." Added to the section is the concluding sentence: "Dower may be relinquished or conveyed as provided by law."

Eminent domain.

Sec. 2. Private property shall not be taken  for public use without  just compensation therefor being first made or secured in a manner prescribed by law. Compensation shall be determined in proceedings in a court of record.

This is a revision of Sec. 1, Article XIII, of the present constitution which, in the judgment of the convention, is sufficient safeguard against taking of private property for public use. Further provisions relative to eminent domain and procedures appearing in Sections 2, 3, 4 and 5, Article XIII, of the present constitution have been eliminated.

This section clearly indicates that proper procedures for the acquisition of private property for public use are to be determined by the legislature and that compensation for such property must be determined in proceedings in a court of record.

Homestead exemption.

Sec. 3. A homestead  *in the amount of not less than $3,500 and personal property of every resident of this state in the amount of not less than $750, as defined by law, shall be exempt from forced sale on execution or * other * process of any court. Such exemptions shall not extend to any lien thereon excluded from exemption by law.*

This section is a condensation of pertinent provisions in the four sections dealing with exemptions in Article XIV of the present constitution. The homestead exemption minimum figure is increased from a maximum of $2,500 to a minimum of $3,500 and personal property minimum is set at $750 instead of the $500 specified at present. The power to increase the exemptions is left with the legislature but in no case may they be lower than the minimums stated.

Escheats.

Sec. 4. Procedures relating to escheats and to the custody and disposition of escheated property shall be prescribed by law.

This is a new section recognizing the authority of the legislature to determine procedures relating to escheats and disposition of escheated property. It covers certain of the provisions in Sec. 20, Article VI, of the present constitution.

State lands.

Sec. 5. The legislature shall have general supervisory jurisdiction over all state owned lands useful for forest preserves, game areas and recreational purposes; shall require annual reports as to such lands from all departments having supervision or control thereof; and shall by general law provide for the sale, lease or other disposition of such lands.

The legislature by an act adopted by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house may designate any part of such lands as a state land reserve. No lands in the state land reserve may be removed from the reserve, sold, leased or otherwise disposed of except by an act of the legislature.

This is a new section recognizing the public interest in state-owned lands and reposing in the legislature general supervisory jurisdiction over them. It provides that the legislature may, by two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, designate any part of these properties as a state land reserve. No lands so designated can be removed from the reserve, sold, leased or otherwise disposed of except by an act of the legislature.

Alien rights.

Sec. 6. Aliens who are  residents of this state shall enjoy the same rights  and privileges in property as citizens of this state.

No change from Sec. 9, Article XVI, of the present constitution except for improvement in phraseology.
