Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

ONE HUNDRED FOURTH DAY

Wednesday, March 21, 1962, 9:30 o'clock a.m.

PROCEEDINGS

PRESIDENT NISBET: The convention will please come to order.

Our invocation this morning will be given by the Reverend P. T. Calvin Johnson of the All Saints Evangelical Lutheran Church of East Detroit.

REVEREND JOHNSON: Lord God, today as representatives of the people of our state, remind us that we are first of all the representatives of Thy truth known within our highest and best.

Because we cannot speak but what we have received, keep us open to receive wisdom and insight by whatever channels they come to us. Give us humility to listen as well as courage to speak. Help us to state our differences with integrity and honor yet with alertness to see that the fullness of truth is not the monopoly of any one person or party. In debate and conversation filter our speech from the words that only becloud and do not clarify, and when our words are done, move us to act as fearlessly as we have tried to speak honestly.

Now having bowed our heads, enable us to bow our minds and wills to today's demands in the name and spirit of Him who came, not to be served but to serve and to give Himself for those in every need. Amen.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The roll call will be taken by the secretary. Those present, please vote aye. Those present, please record your attendance by voting aye. Have you all recorded your attendance? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record your attendance.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

Prior to today's session, the secretary received the following requests for leaves: Mr. Anspach, from today's session, as he is ill with a cold; Mr. Higgs, from today's session, as he is still tied up in federal court; and Mr. Douglas, indefinitely, because of illness in the family.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, the requests are granted.

SECRETARY CHASE: Absent with leave: Messrs. Anspach, Bledsoe, Bonisteel, Douglas, Greene, Higgs, Hood, Mahinske, McAllister, Mosier and Page.

Absent without leave: Messrs. T. S. Brown, Hodges, Krolikowski and Norris.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, the delegates are excused.

The president is in receipt of the following communications from the governor:

Mr. Jones, we are very happy to welcome you as a delegate to the convention. (applause)

Reports of standing committees.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Millard, for the committee on emerging problems, introduces Committee Proposal 125, A proposed constitutional provision with respect to the conservation of the state's paramount interest in the air, waters and other natural resources of the state; with the recommendation that it pass.

Frank G. Millard, chairman.

For Committee Proposal 125 and the reasons submitted in support thereof, see below, under date of April 18.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Referred to committee of the whole and placed on the general orders calendar.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on rules and resolutions, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, reports back to the convention Resolution 83, A resolution relative to sessions on Friday; with 2 amendments, recommending that the amendments be agreed to and that the resolution, as thus amended, be adopted.

The following are the amendments recommended by the committee on rules and resolutions:

1. Amend the resolving clause, after the word "That" by striking out the following language: "we, the undersigned delegates to the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962, hereby resolve that upon the adoption of this resolution,".

our community. I think that it is safe to say that the city fathers have given tacit approval to the highway department plan; and the downtown Flint corporation, comprised of civic leaders and a full time organization has given specific approval. For my own part, I would trust in the good faith of my government and the highway department, the regulated public utilities and the public institutions and support the Stafseth amendment.

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: The Stafseth amendment is before us. Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: I will be very brief here.

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: We have 2 minutes, Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Then I will have to be brief. When you come right down to it, this boils down to one proposition: are you or are you not going to permit these people to have a right to be heard before you take their property? Despite all the language that we have in here otherwise, this is all it amounts to. There is absolutely no protest from the state highway department as to whether they will use juries or commissioners. There is no protest from the local and the county governments. There is really no problem as far as the public utilities are concerned. They have been given the language of this proposal. They thought that they were in trouble. We explained to them what we thought and what our intent was. We haven't heard from them since, either pro or con, and as far as the federal proposition is concerned, the state can still condemn under the federal procedures. Mr. Danhof throws in this red herring about exposing secrets and so forth. This has absolutely nothing to do with the federal condemnation procedure. In fact, under the federal procedure, at least, even though the people don't have a hearing, they get the money before the property is taken. This is something that we are not in a position to touch, this federal procedure, but the state is in a position to use it if they feel that this proposal may slow them down, and I would say that the committee proposal as opposed to the amendment, if it does nothing else, it gives these people a place to be heard, somebody to hear them and somebody to appeal to in the event that they feel they are being aggrieved. There is absolutely no guarantee that there will be a hearing before necessity is determined under the amendment, and for these reasons I would oppose the amendment.

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: The question is on the Stafseth amendment. A division has been ordered. As many as are in favor will vote yes. As many as are opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Stafseth and others, the yeas are 61; the nays are 56.

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: The amendment is adopted. The time allocated for this portion of the committee of the whole has expired and the Chair would simply announce that there are some other amendments to be considered by the committee of the whole to Committee Proposal 67 but at this time the Chair will change chairmen for the purpose of considering 5 proposals from emerging problems.

MR. MAHINSKE: Point of information, Mr. Chairman. In view of the action just taken by the committee of the whole, I would say offhand that the balance of the committee proposal falls. There is absolutely no provision for the opening of private roads and, conceivably, we may be in trouble in the other 4, in fact, the other 5 committee sections here, and I think that you better put this thing over for at least a couple of weeks so this thing can be straightened around, because it is completely undone, everything now.

CHAIRMAN YEAGER: Mr. Mahinske, the Chair would simply advise that the balance of the proposal has been placed at the foot of the calendar and will be considered when we come back into this part of the committee of the whole. At this time, the Chair will relinquish its position to Mr. Elliott who will preside during the consideration of emerging problems proposals.

[Whereupon, Mr. A. G. Elliott assumed the Chair to preside as chairman of the committee of the whole.]

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The committee will come to order. The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 1 on the calendar, from the committee on emerging problems, by Mr. Millard, chairman, Committee Proposal 125, A proposed constitutional provision with respect to the conservation of the state's paramount interest in the air, waters and other natural resources of the state.

Following is Committee Proposal 125 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. THE STATE HOLDS A PARAMOUNT INTEREST IN THE AIR, WATERS, AND NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE STATE, IN THE INTEREST OF THE HEALTH, SAFETY, AND WELFARE OF THE PEOPLE. THE LEGISLATURE SHALL ENACT APPROPRIATE LEGISLATION TO PROTECT THE AIR, WATERS, AND OTHER NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE STATE AGAINST POLLUTION, IMPAIRMENT, OR DESTRUCTION, SO THAT THE INTEREST OF THE PEOPLE MAY BE PRESERVED.

Mr. Millard, chairman of the committee on emerging problems, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 125:

Of late years there has been a growing awareness, in this state and in our country at large, of the prime importance of preserving our water resources, of protecting air and water against pollution, and of adopting comprehensive public policies to protect natural resources against thoughtless wastage and spoliation generally. Among the newer states, Alaska and Hawaii both have comprehensive statements. Some dozen states have strong constitutional provisions on water conservation, notably California, which by constitutional amendment has adopted a very strong "paramount public interest" provision, which severely modifies the older doctrine of riparian rights. Minnesota, by legislative doctrine and by court decision, has developed a very strong "public interest" theory of water use and conservation. Air pollution has as yet received no specific recognition in state constitutions, but the rapid development of the problem and of public concern therein indicates that the time has arrived for Michigan to take cognizance of it.

The proposed section submitted herewith is merely declaratory and has no automatic self executing quality. The wording has been examined by Professor William Pierce of the law school of the University of Michigan, who asserts that the section would not alter existing water law in any respect, either in riparian rights, meander lines or otherwise. Nor would the declaration of a public paramount interest in the air interfere with the traditional common law doctrine of the control of air space above real property. Nor would existing vested rights in property holders of the various forms of "natural resources" be in any fashion disturbed.

The consequence of adoption of the provision, in short, does not lie in any alteration of existing law.

Adoption of the provision would appear to have 2 possible beneficial results: first, it calls upon the legislature to take appropriate legislative action to guard the public interest in water, air, and other natural resources. The legislature retains, in fact, full discretion to act or not to act, as it wishes, but the responsibility of the legislature for evolving public policy in these matters is emphatically emphasized. Second, it seems probable that in the event of a conflict in the courts over the extent of the police power of the state in the area of natural resources, the courts might well be inclined more strongly to support the "public welfare" and "police power" interpretation of the law. With the growing interest of the public in the general welfare aspects of conservation, such a judicial trend would be altogether desirable.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Millard, the chairman of the committee on emerging problems.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, the committee on emerging problems wants to thank the committee for allowing us to get on this evening. The committee has had several propositions under advisement. As you know, the emerging problems committee is looking into the future. We are not trying to correct any mistakes of the past. We are only trying to give the power or call attention to some of the problems that might arise in the future. The committee proposal just read by the secretary, 125, will be explained. There is a committee amendment. It will be explained and handled by a member of our committee, Delegate Hatch. I would yield the floor to Delegate Hatch.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Ladies and gentlemen of the committee, this is a new subject entirely and the Chair wishes that you would direct your attention to Delegate Hatch.

MR. HATCH: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I would direct the delegates' attention to Journal 104, page 794, which contains the committee's report with respect to this proposal. Rather than to take the time of the committee to read the committee report verbatim, I would like to point out that this particular proposal is not a self executing proposal, but in the spirit in which our committee was formed, namely to deal with emerging problems, it recognizes that we in Michigan do have and undoubtedly will continue to have problems in connection with air pollution, water pollution and the development of our natural resources. I want to make it perfectly clear that this amendment is merely declaratory. It has no automatic self executing qualities. The wording has been examined by Professor Pierce of the Michigan law school, who asserts, and the committee asserts and intends that this section would not alter existing water law in any respect, either in riparian rights, meander lines or otherwise. Nor would the declaration of a public paramount interest in the air interfere with the traditional common law doctrine of the control of air space above real property. Nor would existing vested rights of property holders in the various forms of "natural resources" be in any fashion disturbed.

I would point out at this time, before going into the committee amendments, that this proposal, to my mind, is rather unique. It is unique in the sense that it has something for the urban areas, in that we recognize the problem of air pollution. It has something for the outstate areas where our streams are becoming polluted and are polluted, and I will say that it has something for the upper peninsula, in that we recognize that our natural resources must be conserved against impairment and destruction. The secretary has on his desk, I believe, a committee amendment, which I would like to offer at this time.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Secretary, will you read the committee amendment, please?

SECRETARY CHASE: I ask the pardon of the chairman of the committee and the members of the committee. We do not seem to have the committee amendment. Mr. Millard, do you have a copy? We had a file of these amendments that were left here and the file has disappeared.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Secretary that amendment was distributed to all the members of the committee of the whole, and there is the copy that I received. I have torn it out of my book.

SECRETARY CHASE: Thank you, sir. Mr. Millard, on behalf of the committee on emerging problems, offers the following amendment:

1. Amend line 14, after "destruction," by inserting "and to regulate the development and use thereof,"; so that the language will read, beginning in line 11:

The legislature shall enact appropriate legislation to protect the air, waters, and other natural resources of the state against pollution, impairment, or destruction, and to regulate the development and use thereof, so that the interest of the people may be preserved.

MR. MILLARD: I yield to Mr. Hatch for explanation of this amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Hatch.

MR. HATCH: Mr. Chairman, this proposed amendment is suggested as a means of emphasizing the right and responsibility of the legislature to develop, as well as merely to conserve, natural resources. The amendment was suggested to our committee by Mrs. Judd and Mrs. Cushman, and we feel that it does spell out, in a better fashion, what the intent of our committee was, and we urge its adoption.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair will recognize Mr. Hutchinson to speak on the amendment. The Chair assumes, Mr. Jones, that you did not want to speak on the amendment inasmuch as you didn't—all right. Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, the introduction of this amendment, to my mind, makes this presentation the most sweeping, totalitarian concept that could ever be put into a constitution. This thing reads to me like this: that the state owns the air I breathe and directs the legislature to protect the air against destruction and to regulate the use of the air I breathe, so that the people may be preserved. I can't imagine a thing more sweeping or totalitarian and I oppose it with all that is in me.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Sharpe.

MR. SHARPE: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask Delegate Millard a question, if possible.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If the delegate cares to answer.

MR. SHARPE: This states that the state holds a first interest in natural resources. Did you consider the oils and gases as part of these resources?

MR. MILLARD: I will yield to Delegate Hatch who had this proposal under his control.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Delegate Hatch.

MR. HATCH: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Sharpe, by a paramount interest, we do not mean that the state holds title to the natural resources of the state. As I pointed out in my earlier remarks, this section is not intended, in any way, to affect the existing titles or the existing laws with respect to the ownership of the air, the water, and the natural resources of the state, including oil.

MR. SHARPE: Paramount does mean first, isn't that correct, or top interest or first interest or — what is your definition for paramount, Mr. Hatch?

MR. HATCH: Well, I would say that it would mean that the state does hold a superior interest in the air, waters, and natural resources in connection with the health, safety, and welfare of the people, as opposed to any individual.

MR. SHARPE: Mr. Chairman, could I ask Senator Hutchinson his definition of paramount?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If the delegate cares to answer.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, the dictionary here that we were just using defines the word as "supreme."

MR. SHARPE: Supreme. I guess that answers my question as well as I can expect it to be answered.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Yeager.

MR. YEAGER: Mr. Chairman, if I may take a little different role for a moment, as a member of this committee I am really very flabbergasted at the attitude and the statement that Mr. Hutchinson has made in regard to this particular proposal. We had some testimony before our committee on this question of air and water pollution, and air and water pollution is becoming one of the most severe problems that faces our civilization today. This committee is supposed to be a committee on emerging problems, and this is not only an emerging problem for the future, it is a problem that is with us right now.

The testimony given to us, particularly in the area of air pollution would, in effect, curl your hair, because the amount of filth and debris that is floating in our air today, without any kind of sufficient regulation, is a terrible situation, and I don't see, from his point of view, what is so totalitarian about it. If we don't have pure air to breathe we won't be here too long a time, and I support, with all the feeling that is in me, this committee proposal.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair would like to urge the delegates to speak to the amendment, first, if they would, and the Chair now recognizes Delegate Stevens. Delegate Dehnke, the Chair has you on the list. Delegate Stevens, your remarks are to the amendment?

MR. STEVENS: Well, I don't know whether I am on the amendment or not. I just want to ask a question.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Well, let's try it. To whom do you wish to direct your question?

MR. STEVENS: To Mr. Hatch, please, through the Chair, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: All right, Mr. Stevens.

MR. STEVENS: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Hatch, in line 12, it says, "concurrent in by 2/3 majority of both houses." What do you mean by 2/3 majority?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Stevens, what proposal—

MR. STEVENS: I think I am on—I must be—I don't have—I didn't get that one; thank you. I would like to ask that question of the chairman of the committee when we come to it. (laughter)

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Stevens, the Chair will put you on the list. (laughter) The Chair would like to ask the secretary if it is possible to post these amendments on the wall.

SECRETARY CHASE: This amendment, apparently, Mr. Chairman, was reproduced and the delegates are all presumed to have copies of it. I do not have one other than the one I have here at the desk.

MR. HOOD: Mr. Secretary, did you read the amendment? I think we lost it over here in this little cozy section. We lost the reading, if you did read it.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Millard, on behalf of the committee on emerging problems, offers the following amendment:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 2603.]

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, if it is in order, I would like to make some statements on behalf of the second vice chairman, Mr. T. S. Brown, and much of it relates to the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes the delegate.

MR. JONES: Mr. Brown says:

Please excuse my absence this evening, as I have an urgent business appointment in Grand Rapids which I cannot forego. The work of our committee on emerging problems has been fruitful. If the original frontier novelist, James Fenimore Cooper, were here at this convention, he would find inspiration for 3 of his most familiar novels. To some of our actions projecting an obsolescent form of government, he would be able to write, The Last of the Mohicans; through the destruction of some of our more cherished institutions, he would be able to write, The Deerslayer, spelled D-E-A-R; through the work in some of our committees, and especially that of emerging problems, I suspect he would be able to write, The Pathfinder.

In the main, the problems we are about to consider point the way, however haltingly, for the legitimate state interests and the future problems of the people and of our state.

In regard to Committee Proposal 125 and the amendment, although merely declaratory, it does institute the obligation of conservation in the interest of the people, and I therefore urge its support and the support of the accompanying Millard amendment.

We all realize that our great upper peninsula was despoiled through private entrepreneurs during the last century without thought of the future consequences for the people of this century. Therefore, a positive rather than a merely defensive posture in regard to matters of conservation is of the utmost importance to guarantee that this type of mass exploitation and spoilage shall not again occur.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I would like to ask a question of Mr. Millard. The explanation on page 794 to which we have been referred reads:

... the section would not alter existing water law in any respect, either in riparian rights, meander lines or otherwise. Nor would the declaration of a public paramount interest in the air interfere with the traditional common law doctrine of the control of air space above real property. Nor would existing vested rights in property holders of the various forms of "natural resources" be in any fashion disturbed.

My question, Mr. Chairman, to Mr. Millard is whether that same comment would be extended to the language which it is now proposed to add?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: This amendment came before our committee and we, after much discussion, did not think that it in any way interfered with the committee proposal as originally put out on the floor. However, as Mrs. Judd is here, who was the one who appeared before our committee, and she has already asked for recognition, I would like to now yield to Mrs. Judd to explain this amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mrs. Judd to answer the question of Judge Dehnke.

MRS. JUDD: I think, Mr. Chairman, Judge Dehnke's question is more a legal one and I am not sure that I am qualified to answer that question directly. I would like the privilege of having something to say on this later, however. Perhaps the judge would like to ask this of a lawyer.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Does the judge have any further question?

MR. HATCH: Mr. Chairman, would Judge Dehnke yield to me for a moment to comment with respect to his question?

MR. DEHNKE: Yes.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Hatch.

MR. HATCH: I think it is fair to say that certainly there was no intent on the committee in suggesting or recommending this amendment to, in any way, change the intent of the committee with respect to the language you have read.

MR. DEHNKE: I think that answers the question, Mr. Chairman. Thank you, Mr. Hatch.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mrs. Judd.

MRS. JUDD: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, you may recall that earlier in the history of the local government committee in October, a subcommittee, a group of us who were concerned with natural resources, did some work and then, knowing it wasn't related to local government, we transferred our materials and the results of our inquiries to the committee on emerging problems. We were very pleased with the proposal that came out from emerging problems but we thought that it lacked one emphasis that we had found in most other provisions and that is the emphasis not only of protecting and saving natural resources but also of regulating their use for the benefit of the people, and I would like to read to you just a paragraph from the testimony of Mr. Gerald Eddy, the director of the Michigan department of conservation, on this point. Now, you will notice, parenthetically, that the word "conservation" does not appear in the committee proposal. He says:

Orderly development of natural resources is implied by the word "conservation." Two or 3 generations ago, conservation generally meant the rigid protection and preservation of some resource brought near the point of extinction, a perhaps necessary but rather sterile practice. It was soon realized, however, that resources have value only as they are useful to man. Thanks to development of scientific and technical knowledge during the past 3 or 4 decades, conservation has become a dynamic concept, sometimes defined as use without abuse, or as use of resources for the greatest good of the greatest number.

You will note that the phrase doesn't say the state is going to develop all these resources, but the phrase is to regulate the development for use. In other words, it is not particularly our interest to save existing trees in the forest for future generations but to so regulate the handling of the forest by a private owner that there will be a continually renewing natural resource, and you can apply this principle to almost any other natural resource. I am sure we thought of it as a harmless addition.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Finch.

MR. FINCH: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, I would like to address a question to Mr. Hatch.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If the delegate cares to answer.

MR. FINCH: What is your definition of "natural resources?"

MR. HATCH: Well, I don't have a pocket dictionary here with me, Mr. Finch. However, to my mind it includes the forest, the minerals, oil underlying the lands of the state, the natural elements which are part of the state of Michigan. I don't know as I can define it precisely for you.

MR. FINCH: This would be minerals and elements that might be found in the soil, such as potash or magnesium, nitrogen, some of the rest of those?

MR. HATCH: I assume it would.

MR. FINCH: Would this be interpreting, then, that the legislature could enact appropriate legislation that would tell me that I could raise wheat this year on my ground and not next year or that I should raise corn this year and let it lay idle for 3 years or something of this nature?

MR. HATCH: I think the federal government has pretty well preempted that, haven't they?

MR. FINCH: Not totally, not to this extent. I can see in this last section here where the state of Michigan could get into this field and direct our every move. At the present time we do have a certain amount of freedom left in the federal government. I am questioning whether we would have any left if this were enacted.

MR. HATCH: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Finch, I think it is safe to say that the committee does not intend to grant the legislature or the governing bodies of our state subdivisions any more power by this section than they already have.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mrs. Cushman.

MRS. CUSHMAN: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I would like to quote from the testimony of the Michigan farm bureau, possibly the last source that I might ordinarily quote from, but in this area I thought they had some very good testimony before this constitutional convention when they said:

Farmers, probably more than anyone else, recognize the need for the proper use and conservation of our natural resources.

You note they use the words "use" there —

The very nature of farming demands respect for our soils, water supplies, woodlands, and other God given resources. Farmers learned long ago that the use of soil and water conservation techniques will not only result in better returns, but will leave the land in better condition for future generations.

I think that we have to recognize here that, quoting again from Mr. Eddy of the department of conservation:

The natural resources of the state are fundamental to our existence. They constitute the sole basis for the general economy, for our individual livelihood and well being, and for our enjoyment of leisure. Our future progress hinges upon the orderly development of these resources, with an eye to improved yields from renewable resources — forests, fish, game, all the living products of land and water — and to the most efficient and waste free utilization of nonrenewable resources — such as ores, fossil fuels, brines, water, et cetera — whose natural abundance was fixed when the earth was formed.

Here again we find the emphasis on 2 things: the wise conservation, the wise development and the wise use of the natural resources with which we have been so richly endowed but which we may be in very grave danger of losing unless we do take proper care of them. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Perras.

MR. PERRAS: Mr. Chairman, through the Chair I would like to direct a question to Mrs. Judd, if I may.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If Mrs. Judd cares to answer.

MR. PERRAS: Mrs. Judd, you said something about the state regulating the growth and cutting and sale of timberlands. Did you mean on private lands or did you mean just on state owned property?

MRS. JUDD: I simply meant that the state encourages the renewal of forests and, of course, on state owned property the state develops it itself.

MR. PERRAS: But would there be a chance — why I am concerned, I am a tree farmer and I think Francis Finch is, and so is Charlie Figy. I was wondering if by putting this in here, at some time in the future the state could come to us and tell us how we are going to sell this timber or to regulate the growth or sale of that, if that could be possible.

MRS. JUDD: I wouldn't think so. I would think it would be an educational process, mostly. Maybe Mr. Figy could answer that. He was on this committee.

MR. PERRAS: I would like to have that cleared up, if I can, so I can vote properly, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Does Mrs. Judd yield to Mr. Figy to answer the question?

MRS. JUDD: Yes.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Figy.

MR. FIGY: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I surely hope that nobody will come in and tell me how to sell my timber or my trees. However, I surely did have natural resources in my mind when I started out to plant 56,000 of them. I think we needed to protect our industry. We needed to develop this land and I am perfectly willing to take the risk of someone coming in and telling me what I have to do with it later.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Farnsworth.

MR. FARNSWORTH: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, just a question to Mr. Millard, if I could.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: If Mr. Millard cares to answer.

MR. FARNSWORTH: Mr. Millard, a moment ago we learned that the state would have supreme interest in the air that Senator Hutchinson would breathe. I believe that was the statement. Now, speaking to the Judd amendment, I believe it is to add "and to regulate the development and the use thereof." In your opinion, Mr. Millard, would that mean to the next constitutional convention that we have, that the state would pass regulations to regulate the use of the air by the members of the constitutional convention and members in the committee of the whole?

MR. MILLARD: You mean if this convention is a natural resource? I can't see how your question is material but I do say this: that I was a little bit surprised myself when Senator Hutchinson inferred that the state had an ownership in all of these things. I think that — but I am talking to the proposal now and not to the amendment — but, in answer to the amendment, I think that that has been very well explained, that all it does is to give the power to regulate the development in the future of the use of our natural resources. We have to have some protection against the waste of our natural resources. We do that now. Our legislature does have control over the natural resources, the use of them, and I feel that in the future that this is more or less just a memorializing of the legislature, that they have the right, the power. We are not giving them any power. They have that power. We are just telling them to look out into the future for our natural resources, the air and the water, and to make some regulations so that they will not be used up for the other generations that are to follow.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair will recognize Mr. Sharpe.

MR. SHARPE: Mr. Chairman, I was trying to look up some words in Webster's dictionary and I didn't expect you to call me quite so soon. However —

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Would you like to pass?

MR. SHARPE: No, but I probably should. Thank you, Dr. Pollock. I appreciate that. Next time you get on the floor I will remember this. Mr. Millard, the concern here in this language is: might the legislature prohibit me from, some time in the future, pumping water out of my private lake to irrigate my cornfield?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Sharpe, I believe that the state would have the right to regulate the use of water. In some of the western states they have that right in their constitution, and by statute they regulate the amount of water that can be withdrawn from a stream as it goes down and might go through your farm. We in Michigan are very fortunate these days that we have the amount of water that we have, but some day in the future it may be that some riparian owners are taking more water than they should. I think Mr. Figy pointed out to our committee on one occasion where there was such a place in the state of Michigan at the present time where some riparian owners were taking more water than they should have. I believe that the conservation of water is one of the problems in which the state might take primary interest, and I might use the word "paramount" interest.

MR. SHARPE: Let's get back down to the words "impairment or destruction" and we will go back to the oil and gas resources —

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair would like to ask Mr. Sharpe to direct his comments to the amendment, and we will then discuss the balance of the proposal at a later time.

MR. SHARPE: What would you like to have me do?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The amendment is to add the words "and to regulate the development and use thereof," and if you can confine your remarks to that general area, we will appreciate it.

MR. SHARPE: I will pass and ask for another trip.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Fine. Mr. Bradley.

MR. BRADLEY: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I think the statement of Delegate Hutchinson did cause a considerable shock and this shock has evidently produced almost a state of inaction in this committee at the moment. I suggest that we are stoned for the moment by the misreading of this language. It is being interpreted at the moment as though it was to read, "The state holds the paramount interest in the air, water and natural resources." It does not say that. It does not contrast the state's interests with that of private ownership, nor does it assert that the state's interests include private ownership. It merely says that the state holds a paramount interest, therefore a very high interest, in these matters. It goes on to say that this interest is in the health, safety and welfare of the people. It is a classic definition of the police power. I think that if the balance of the proposal, including the proposed amendment, is read in that light, it seems far less formidable than otherwise.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, Mr. Millard has stated in this amendment, "regulate the development and use thereof;" this, in common with the rest of the proposal, does not give the legislature any power it does not have, and, indeed, has not had probably since the beginning of our state, and therefore, from a legal standpoint, it obviously doesn't add anything to the constitution. Its purpose, however, as is stated, is sort of a memorial — and since the word "shall" is used — a command to the legislature to carry out the intent of the committee, and I am sure of the convention, to preserve, in the interest of sound conservation, the resources of this state. However, the wording of this proposal has already raised some serious fears in the minds of some of the members of the public, that it goes a good deal farther than that committee intent — particularly this amendment to it — because literally it would appear to command the legislature to regulate the development and use of all of these resources and to do so at once. As a matter of fact, in capsule summary, it appears to command the legislature to enact a statewide zoning ordinance.

Perhaps some day that type of legislation might be a wise thing. However, I don't think we are in a position to write language which can be reasonably construed to demand that at once, or to tell them to do any particular type of that broad gauge regulation of development and use at once. For that reason I would think, and without being at all contrary to the intent of the committee, that it would, on balance, be best not to put this into the constitution.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Figy.

MR. FIGY: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I presume we are to talk on the amendment only at this time?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: We would like that, yes.

MR. FIGY: I would like to reserve the right to talk on the proposal later, if you please, but I will make some reference to the amendment. In my work in Washington, it was my privilege to work with the commissioners of agriculture all over the United States, and if you want to know what a water problem is, you should talk to some of these people from the central western states. Many times these men have said to me, "What are you doing in Michigan to protect your water, that valuable water that you have?" And I had to say we were doing nothing about it. One good commissioner of agriculture, after making a trip down through the southwest, said that the state of Arizona could feed the nation if they had the water. I am wondering if we might be facing that sometime in the future. If I had thought we were going to get into this discussion, I might have brought up here for you figures showing the amount of water that is needed to produce an automobile, to produce anything that you might have and you might use every day. I think it is important that we do something to protect our water and our other natural resources.

I might say something about the timber which is our natural resource which was brought up by Mr. Perras a while ago. I need not tell you, Mr. Perras, you remember as well as I do, that not so many years ago the lumber interests came in and cut over all of our white pine that we prized so highly, and we are told that now we are a white pine state. We would like to and I am one that is willing to submit to some control, if you please, to save this timber and this natural resource, rather than have someone come in at a later date and rob us of every bit of it and leave our land barren where it would grow nothing, where it is worth nothing on the tax roll; it develops no resources, no value, no returns for the people in the area in which it is cut over. I think it is important that we do protect our natural resources at some cost to ourselves.

MR. HATCH: Does Mr. Figy yield to me?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Figy.

MR. FIGY: Yes.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Hatch.

MR. HATCH: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Figy said that he wished that he had some figures here that he could cite. I do happen to have some of them and in light of some of the comments that I have heard on the floor that Michigan does not have a water problem, I would like to take this time to read part of the statement made by Milton P. Adams of the water resources commission of the state. He states that:

There is already evidence from a large part of industrial Michigan that its waterways are not adequate to sustain continued industrial growth. Although limited reserves yet remain, in the form of possibilities for improved waste treatment, southern Michigan streams are one after another rapidly coming into full capacity use for waste assimilation. Beyond that capacity, further waste loading can only turn the streams sick and septic, serviceable neither for economic or recreational purposes. In theory, an important potential for increasing the waste assimilation capacity of streams exists in the few remaining sites where reservoirs could be built to store seasonal excess waters and release them to bolster lower summer flows. The outlook is not promising for construction of these reservoirs within the little time remaining before their sites go the way that others have gone — into residential, commercial or other high value development.

Exhaustive studies by the senate select committee on national water resources disclose that water use in the United States now approximates 300 billion gallons per day. But present water use trends will bring the figure up to 600 million gallons by 1980 and 900 billion by the year 2000. Total annual runoff of the country, by no means well distributed in time or location, averages some 1,100 billion gallons. Except as savings can be made through such drastic measures as vegetation control or saline water conversion, this amount is fixed and must serve as the resource base for all future water needs. Obviously even the 1980 prediction can be fulfilled only by widespread and repeated reuse of waters that are now required to serve but a single purpose.

The impact of modern water uses even on a resource as apparently plentiful as ours is brought home by a few examples of per unit product demands: to manufacture a ton of polished steel takes 65,000 gallons of water; to refine a barrel of high test gasoline takes 1,000 gallons of water; to make a ton of explosives takes 200,000 gallons of water. Domestic uses have shot upwards with the housewife's enthusiastic acquisition of automatic washing machines, dishwashers and garbage disposals and with the modern insistence on daily or oftener baths, green lawns and clean autos.

But most demanding of all is the requirement of water to dilute and assimilate wastes. Here it is hard to ascribe a per unit figure. A rapid, broad, shallow stream is greatly more efficient than a deep, slow stream, but the volume of water needed under the best circumstances is very large.

At the same time when Michigan's industry and municipalities were attaining their present stature, water use for recreation—insisting on water cleanliness above all—has been growing strongly. And also at the same time and competing earnestly for the same water yet another use—irrigation—has come vigorously into the picture.

The growing competition among these and other uses—more recently expanded by the waterskier, the artificial lake developer, the marina builder—have convinced many people in the state agencies, the universities, and private organizations that an improved set of ground rules is indispensable for the continued development and utilization of our water resources. This idea is not new but dates at least from first water rights conferences among technicians and officials some 15 years ago. The situation sets no deadline, no sudden penalty but instead is one of insidious, inconspicuous worsening. The casual observer doesn't detect the year by year slackening of stream flow, as one consumptive use after another exacts its toll.

Failure to enact any water rights legislation was rationalized by a state senator a few years ago when he said, "I don't hear of any problem from my constituents. My people don't seem to be worried about water."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate King.

MR. KING: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I rise just briefly to say that I heartily support and endorse this amendment. It is extremely important, I think, that we look ahead. This committee, the committee on emerging problems, was commissioned, you might say, by this convention and by President Nisbet to look forward, to look ahead, and these problems, if they are not apparent today, believe me, will be apparent during the lives of your children and grandchildren.

One hundred thirteen years ago, in 1849, there was a gold rush to California. At that time they were concerned about just finding gold. Natural resources were plenty. Today Senator Hutchinson could visit the golden state, he might cry out for someone to regulate the pollution of air or he might be just crying as a result of the smog that he has to put up with day in and day out, not being able to see the sun until noon on some days.

I suggest that this is a problem and a very, very definite problem, and the only time and the right time to attack the problem is right now. After all, we live on this earth for a certain number of years, but I think we are duty bound to pass on to our heirs at least as much as we have received, as we inherited. We don't own the land, not in the sense that we can do anything we want with it. It might be a darn good idea if people regulated some of the forests in the state and their own personal lands, as Delegate Flgy has pointed out. These things have far reaching implications on watershed, water levels miles away from where you grow your trees or where you don't grow your trees. Nobody is suggesting any interference with what we know to be private enterprise or private industry and I don't think anybody wants that, nor are we creating any new powers that the legislature doesn't already have here. We are merely directing their attention to a very serious, long range problem, and if you don't think it affects you, maybe you are right, but think about your children and your grandchildren and your great grandchildren, because believe me, it surely will affect them.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Goebel to speak on the amendment. He passes. The Chair recognizes Delegate Cudlip to speak on the amendment.

MR. CUDLIP: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I want to speak on the amendment. The words after "destruction," in line 14, are as follows, "and to regulate the development and use thereof, so that the interest of the people may be preserved." I think all of us, certainly myself, laud this high ideal, and I think we do have problems, but I am not sure we are attacking them correctly by putting this in the constitution. This whole area is one that is known as the police power of the state, anything to protect the health, morals, and welfare of the state, the large area of law, and the legislature has that power in full. When it is exercised, cases arise, they are measured by provisions of the constitution of Michigan, speaking of this state, and the federal constitution. It is a very delicate area. And to put in language like this which would be, as we lawyers say, in pari materia with other provisions of the constitution disturbs me. It is not that the idea isn't fine. We know it is. But we don't want to create problems here either.

To regulate the development and use of the natural resources of this state, which means everybody's property, including that owned by the state, means that the legislature is almost ordered here to start looking around and passing a lot of laws as to where you put your mine, how you develop your chemical plant, and you talk about an economic climate for Michigan, I think a lawyer from outside, Chicago or Philadelphia, would get a look at this and he'd wonder whether he wanted his client to come into Michigan. These things are all being done today by the legislature and by the communities. Detroit, for example, and Trenton, Wyandotte, have many laws about river pollution, and many laws and ordinances about air pollution. There are laws galore with respect to safety measures in mines and how you shall mine, and so forth. What troubles me is that placing this in the constitution is almost a direction to the legislature—and if it isn't, it is meaningless—to make some laws regulating the use and development of all the property in Michigan, no matter by whom it is owned, and I think it is dangerous.

If natural resource is going to be defined as property owned by the state, such as our parks and so forth, well and good. I am just fearful of this language. I think intelligent businessmen and others reading this constitution, if this goes in it, are going to the polls and vote no. They will see in this, because of the way it is worded, a germ of socialization. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment as recommended by the committee. All those in favor will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The amendment is not adopted. Are there any other amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Shackleton and Sharpe offer the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 8, after "holds" by striking out "a paramount" and inserting "an"; and in line 9, after "state," by inserting "because of its concern"; so the language would then read, "The state holds an interest in the air, waters, and natural resources of the state, because of its concern in the interest of the health, safety, and welfare of the people."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Shackleton to speak on the amendment.

MR. SHACKLETON: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, Delegate Sharpe raised the question about the word "paramount." He is concerned about it and so am I. According to the dictionary it means "superior" or "supreme," and if you follow those down, supreme means "highest in authority, dominant, overruling any other provision," and superior means "too great or firm to subdue, or affect." That certainly would mean, then, it would be over any deeds that any citizen might have or any corporation might have to any of its property. By taking out "paramount" and inserting "an," it still shows that the state is interested in these resources that have been mentioned, and to clarify it farther by inserting "because of its concern," there can be no question but it isn't overruling and overpowering the rights of corporations and individuals.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Figy.

MR. FIGY: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I didn't know that brother Shackleton had the same kind of a 15 cent dictionary that I have, but my wording reads about as his does. Let me read to you some of the things it says: paramount interest is "superior to others, eminent or chief; the highest in rank of authority." I am wondering what we might be faced with in the future with fallout and air pollution, water pollution and all of the other things that we might be confronted with in the life of this constitution, if we are not justified in calling attention to this in the constitution. We say "the state holds a paramount interest. . . ." it is a first interest, if you please, ". . . in the air, waters, and natural resources. . . ."

Are we, as individuals, going to do something about fall out? Are we going to do something, as individuals, about water pollution? Are we going to do things as individuals about natural resources? I don't think we can do it. We must have the state or some leadership to develop and protect these things.

Therefore, I think it is proper that we have in here that the state holds a paramount interest, and I want to say I think Delegates Millard and Hatch will agree with me, that it was not our intention to set up any rigid rules along this line, but we did think, with the proposals that came in here along this line we needed to give recognition to this problem. We thought we were making only the declaratory statement calling the attention of the people of the state of Michigan to the importance that is involved here. So, therefore, I do defend and I want to support the proposal and hope you will vote for it.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Hatch.

MR. HATCH: Mr. Figy has stated my position on this. Personally, I feel that if there is great concern over the word "paramount," I don't think that the amendment actually changes the intent of the committee, but our purpose in using this language was to point out that there is a paramount problem here and will be a paramount problem here unless something is done about it. I will oppose the amendment and would urge the committee to defeat it.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I don't think that Mr. Shackleton and Mr. Sharpe really understand what is meant by "paramount interest." If anybody should have the chief interest in the welfare of its citizens it certainly is the state, and the state acts through its legislature. I think that Senator Hutchinson tried to shock us to believe that interest meant ownership of property. It does not. It just means that they have a concern. The state is concerned about the air, water, and natural resources of the state, and I certainly think that paramount adds a great deal to this amendment. I would call your attention to the fact that there are several states that have these constitutional provisions. California has a very strong "paramount public interest" provision. Minnesota has a strong "public interest" theory of water use and conservation. So that this is nothing unusual, and we are only using words that call attention that the state is vitally interested. It is totally interested, more than any one citizen. It has the chief and supreme concern in the natural resources and these should be protected. I think that the committee proposal should stand the way it is and I certainly ask you to vote against the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Goebel to speak on the amendment.

MR. GOEBEL: Mr. Millard covered my point.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate McLogan to speak on the amendment.

MR. McLOGAN: Mr. Chairman, I want to speak just briefly on the amendment. I oppose the amendment because I think it waters down the strength of the committee recommendation, and I want to speak for just a moment on the matter of water and point out that Michigan, of all states, does stand at the forefront in the matter today of the availability of water. Certainly it is our greatest single asset. It also is the greatest need today for industry.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. McLogan, would you hold that comment until we get to the main proposal and speak on the amendment?

MR. McLOGAN: Yes.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair will recognize Mr. Leppien.

MR. LEPIEN: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, the committee on emerging problems, over and over tonight, have assured us that what we are attempting to do by this proposal is to bring this to the attention of the legislature. The word "memorialize" has been used over and over again. They are not directing them to do something. They are simply telling them that they are to look at it and do something if need be. On that basis I urge the adoption of this amendment, the Shackleton-Sharpe amendment, because it does take out the doubt about the ownership and puts in there that the state does have an interest to look after this problem as they come.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Norris.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. Chairman, speaking with regard to the amendment, I think what this sentence actually does is merely invoke the standard of the police power with regard to air, water, and natural resources, saying that the health, safety and welfare of the people, that is the standard of the police power, may be invoked in order to protect the interest of the public in air, water and natural resources.

With regard to the relation of this formulation to private property, I can only suggest that the standards of substantive due process would protect the individual owner of certain resources against any unreasonable infringement upon their interests. What you have here under the standard of substantive due process is a protection against arbitrary or unreasonable conduct in the state in relation to this, and this amounts to an enjoiner to the legislature to deal with these problems, mindful, however, of the limitations of the police power.

I would suggest, Mr. Chairman, and I was at this end of the hall to talk to Mr. Millard, that perhaps the proponents of this amendment might have their point recognized if the word "public" were added after the word "paramount" so that there would be the concept of a public interest here that is sought to be protected and there wouldn't be, therefore, any danger to their assessment of a danger to private property. I would hope that that might meet the problem, Mr. Chairman, and I offer that. Failing that, I would suggest that we vote down the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I would also urge you to defeat the amendment that is on the wall before you and retain the word "paramount" because this does emphasize to the people in our state that we should be very much concerned about the natural resources of this state, also the purity of the air and our water. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Heideman.

MR. HEIDEMAN: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, though the ownership of private property is one of our old constitutional rights, right from the beginning in the federal constitution and in the state constitution, the right of the state to take private property for a public purpose and at a just price has been recognized and by this is recognized the paramount interest of the state, in spite of the fact that the ownership of private property is a constitutional right. And so, this is not really saying anything that isn't or hasn't been so from the very beginning of American constitutional development.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment as offered by Mr. Shackleton and Mr. Sharpe. The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs Shackleton and Sharpe offer the following amendment:

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: All those in favor of the amendment as offered by Mr. Shackleton and Mr. Sharpe will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

DELEGATES: Division.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: A division is demanded. Is there sufficient number up? Sufficient number up.

MRS. CUSHMAN: I request a roll call.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on a record roll call. Is the demand seconded? It is not supported. All those in favor will vote aye and those opposed will vote no. The secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment by Mr. Shackleton and Mr. Sharpe, the yeas are 37; the nays are 68.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The amendment is not adopted and the secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Iverson offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 8, after "Sec. a.", by striking out "The state holds a paramount interest in the air, waters, and natural resources of the state, in the interest of the health, safety, and welfare of the people."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Iverson to speak on his amendment.

MR. IVERSON: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, it seems to me we have spent about enough time on this and everyone seems to be concerned about the use of the words "paramount" and so forth. I have filed the amendment to strike out the first sentence and it seems to me, as a statement of principle, everything is contained in the second sentence. I urge the adoption of this amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Kuhn.

MR. KUHN: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I wholeheartedly endorse the amendment by Mr. Iverson. To me, I would be more than scared about the word "paramount" and the first sentence. I think it goes way beyond our thinking tonight and we must think about 50 years from now and who might be interpreting this, and I worry about the property rights of the individual and so many other rights, that it is imperative that we vote yes on the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment by Mr. Iverson. The Chair recognizes Mr. Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I rise to urge the defeat of the amendment that is on the wall for the simple reason that in the first sentence we set forth the fact that the natural resources, the air and water of our state, are of primary concern to all the people, and without this the rest of it becomes direction to the legislature. Therefore, I urge its defeat.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mrs. Hatcher.

MRS. HATCHER: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I rise in opposition to this amendment and certainly in support of the committee's recommendation. For a long time I have been a very strong advocate and believer in the importance of preserving the natural resources of the state of Michigan and also of the United States of America. I would like to just cite one example of what happened many years ago, and I think some people refer to it as a give away program, on the question of the off shore oil that was off the shore of Texas as well as California. I am sure that this would never happen in the state of Michigan, and I believe that the committee has seen fit to put this type of paramount language in this particular proposal in order that it would not happen in Michigan, and for that reason I think that the amendment to this proposal is certainly out of order and I urge the defeat of the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mrs. Cushman.

MRS. CUSHMAN: I, too, would like to rise to oppose this particular amendment, mostly on the grounds that when we have taken this out the thing that we have got left is putting the emphasis entirely on the protection of air, water and other natural resources of the state, which is fine as far as it goes, but I don't think it goes anywhere near far enough.

I might cite to you a little story of what happened in New York state where they had a provision in their state constitution, which is considerably more detailed than ours, which protected the resources of the state of New York against impairment or destruction, and when they came to try to put a ski trail down a particular mountain, they found it was impossible to do it under their constitution because they had forgotten to say anything about the development and use and they had to pass an amendment to the constitution in order to put a ski trail down the mountain. I hope that this sort of thing wouldn't happen here. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee, Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, the committee on emerging problems spent several hours going over this proposal. We had research go over it, as has been told to you by Mr. Hatch. This proposal was okayed by Professor Joiner, Dr. Kelley, and also Professor William Pierce of the University of Michigan law school. We feel that the proposal is in proper form, that it does exactly what it says it does; it memorializes the legislature. It brings to their attention some of the things that might happen in the future.

We strongly urge that you vote down this amendment, and I understand that there will be an amendment put in that will put the word "public" between "paramount" and "interest." If that is offered, then I think the committee will support that amendment and that might take away any fears that some of the delegates might have in regard to the word "paramount."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Yeager to speak on the amendment.

MR. YEAGER: Mr. Chairman, I rise to ask for the defeat of the amendment. I am very surprised at the proponent because he is usually in the position of supporting amendments of the committee. The committee spent a considerable amount of time, as Mr. Millard indicated, on this, and we feel that the wording is adequate. Research felt it was adequate. And I urge that the amendment as proposed by Mr. Iverson be defeated.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment as offered by Mr. Iverson. All those in favor will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The amendment is not adopted.

DELEGATES: Division.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: A division is asked for. Sufficient number up? Sufficient number up. All those in favor will vote aye and those opposed will vote no. While we are waiting for the delegates to return for voting, the Chair would like to point out that this is the first of 5 proposals and there are 3 amendments before the Chair at this time. We have now been on this proposal for 1 hour and 10 minutes. The secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Iverson, the yeas are 37; the nays are 66.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The amendment is not adopted, and the secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Norris offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 8, after "paramount" by inserting "public"; so the language will read, "The state holds a paramount public interest in the air, waters, and natural resources of the state..."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Norris.

MR. HATCH: Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Hatch.

MR. HATCH: In order to conserve time, I have talked with some of the committee members and they feel that they would be willing to accept this amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Norris.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the statement of Mr. Hatch. I only would suggest again the reminder as indicated by Mr. Millard, that 2 states have this language, and in a comparable provision, and the public interest is the standard for the location of the police power. I urge the support of the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Mr. Figy.

MR. FIGY: Mr. Chairman, I think Mr. Norris and Mr. Hatch have expressed my opinion. I have no objection to inserting the word "public."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment. The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee, Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: As chairman of the committee I have talked with some of the members of the committee. I think that they are willing to accept this amendment. I urge the committee to adopt it.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment as submitted by Mr. Norris. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Hutchinson offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, by striking out all of the proposal after the enacting clause.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, at the beginning of this debate I tried to shock you because I feel that the matter before us is extremely important. Now, please don't misunderstand me. I am not opposed to the conservation of natural resources. I understood the chairman of the committee, Mr. Millard, to say that it is the intent of the committee to simply memorialize the legislature, but nevertheless you say in this proposal, in line 11, "The legislature shall enact appropriate legislation to protect the air, waters, and other natural resources of the state . . ." and in previous times whenever you have used that word "shall" you say that is a mandate. Sometimes you have even gone so far as to say: well, you know you can't mandamus the legislature. You have gone so far as to say that if a member of the legislature would fail to perform as you say he "shall" he would be in violation of his constitutional oath. Some of you have gone that far. Now, if it is the intention of this proposal simply to memorialize the legislature, the use of the word "shall" goes too far.

The insertion of the word "public" before "interest" cures nothing. What you say now is the public interest, that is to say, the state's interest. Of course, the state only has a public interest. It is the only interest that the state would have. You haven't cured anything here. The public interest is paramount and Mr. Norris says: well, all this is a statement of the police power. But it is in shockingly broad language. I call your attention to the fact of the conjunctive use of the word "or" between "impairment" and "destruction" in line 14. Remember that you are writing a constitution, and remember also that while, perhaps, I hope, this is not at all self executing, that just what Mr. Cudlip said is so true; this is a statement in the constitution of Michigan to be read with other constitutional provisions. I don't think that it is going too far to say that as an illustration of how far this statement goes that the state holds a public, paramount public interest in the air I breathe and the water I drink. It holds a paramount public interest in that and the legislature shall enact appropriate legislation to protect the air against — you say against pollution. Well, that is all right. But you say also against destruction without pollution. I am glad that you didn't include that "or regulate the development and use thereof," because that would have been — you couldn't have conceived a more totalitarian, socialistic concept than that. In fact, this is purely and wholly that.

We have spent enough time on this and I think that it is time for the members of this committee to decide whether you want to have this thing like this in the constitution or not. I don't want to have it in. I am afraid of it. I am sure that there are many, many thousands of people in Michigan, and perhaps millions of them — I hope there will be millions of them — that will be so disturbed about a provision like this in the constitution that they will simply say, "Well, this simply creates a socialist state and I am not for it."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Prettie.

MR. PRETTIE: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I rise in support of the Hutchinson amendment. We have heard, during this prolonged debate, the chairman of the committee, Mr. Hatch and Mr. Figy say that this does not confer any power that does not already exist. It is redundant of existing police powers, as has been pointed out. It is merely pious words. The memorializing of the legislature in mandatory language, in my humble opinion, adds nothing to the constitution and weakens many of the vital provisions where we have used the mandatory language "shall." I hope you will adopt this Hutchinson amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate King.

MR. KING: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I think we have heard a lot of statements made which, to my way of thinking, don't make a great deal of sense; but that is up to you, not up to me. But, let me say this: the natural resources of this state or of any state are of extreme importance to anyone. I have here the constitution of the state of Alaska, the clause article VIII, natural resources. Single space typed, you will notice, 3½ pages long. Now, what do those people know up in Alaska that we apparently don't know here? Apparently they know the value of natural resources. They haven't been spoiled. They haven't been ruined. It is the great asset of the great state of Alaska, and those people know it and they certainly are to be commended for putting it down in writing to preserve, not just for people who live in Alaska, but, I suggest, for you delegates right here, because fortunately Alaska is one of the states of the union. If you don't feel an obligation to yourself, feel an obligation, as I said before, for your children, your grandchildren and your great grandchildren and all the citizens of this great country and of the free world, because if it is not natural resources that will keep this world free and keep it from socialism and communism, then I don't know what it is.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I rise to support the Hutchinson amendment. As I remember my textbooks, there are at least 2 kinds of natural resources, transit resources and fixed resources. Here, in free water and oil and gas and even fish and game are examples of transit resources, in the sense that they are here today and gone tomorrow. One day on one man's domain and the next day on the domain of another. As to such transit resources, the state undoubtedly has and always has been recognized as having an interest, in many cases a paramount interest, but from the statements that have been made here on the floor, it would appear that it was the intent of the committee that Committee Proposal 125 would go beyond these transit resources. It might well extend to such so called natural resources as metallic ores in the ground or growing timber on private lands. Land itself is oftentimes referred to as a natural resource.

Now, Delegate King has read to you on this floor a statement from the newly adopted constitution of Alaska. I am not familiar with the state of Alaska but I have a strong impression that probably about 98 percent of the land that comprises Alaska is public domain anyway, so they are not legislating private property out of business.

I consider that Committee Proposal 125 might well be construed to eliminate many forms of private property, private ownership, that have from time immemorial been considered as private property. I support the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee, Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: I am just a little bit surprised at the vehemence of Senator Hutchinson. I don't know how he gets so worked up over this, to call this a socialistic document. If there was ever a conservative in the convention, it is the chairman of the committee, and most of the committee, and that they call us all socialists or trying to indoctrinate socialistic doctrines into this constitution is a little bit shocking and embarrassing to me. I say here right now that this proposal is not socialistic. As I have stated time and again, it is something that I think should be brought to the attention of the legislature and the people and I urge you to defeat this amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I also rise to urge the defeat of the Hutchinson amendment. We were successful in killing 2 previous amendments by almost a 2 to 1 vote. I hope we can bury this one. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Turner.

MR. TURNER: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I agree with Mr. Hutchinson wholeheartedly. This is the most sensible amendment of all. There is an old saying that the tail can wag the dog, and if we keep giving government more strength, the day will come when the state will be shaking its people.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Yeager. May the Chair point out to the members of the committee that we have 6 speakers on this present amendment.

MR. YEAGER: I don't plan to talk over an hour, Mr. Chairman. I am equally shocked, with Frank Millard, the chairman of this committee, at Mr. Hutchinson's reaction to this particular proposal which says that the legislature shall enact appropriate legislation to protect air and water and other natural resources of the state against pollution, impairment or destruction in the interest of the people. All day and during the course of the business here that we have had today, we have opened Pandora's box at least 10 times, and I am about to spring it open again because I want from Senator Hutchinson, if he would be kind enough to answer me, what his definition of socialism is. He has called this proposal socialistic and I would like to know if he would care to answer what his definition of socialism is.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I am sure that Mr. Yeager knows what I refer to and what he understands to be, and I hope what most people understand to be, a doctrine of socialism. This is a doctrine. It is a totalitarian doctrine where the state asserts power over every activity of its people as individuals. It is a destruction, and a complete destruction, of individual liberty and it is also state ownership, state regulation, state control of not only natural resources but industry and all. Well, it means a production.

I submit to you, Mr. Yeager, that the language of this proposal is broader than you and the committee apparently appreciate and that it is so broad, Mr. Yeager, that I agree with Mr. Finch: the chances are that you can completely control the elements of the soil.

MR. YEAGER: Well, I would submit, Mr. Hutchinson, what you have defined is fascism; that socialism has to do with economics and this is not particularly an economic problem. We had very accurate and, I think, very good testimony before our committee on the severe problems facing this state now and in the near future, and in the far future, on the question of air and water pollution and the dissolution of our natural resources in this state. I say to you, that a proposal which directs the legislature to enact legislation to protect those vital elements of our civilization is neither fascistic nor is it socialistic, and I certainly urge the defeat of the Hutchinson amendment. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair would like to point out that we have been an hour and a half and would like to have a committee proposal in which we could regulate some of the pollution. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman, in line with your suggestion, I would like to just suggest to the committee that one of our precious natural resources is time, and we have been squandering it for the last hour. I would urge upon each of the delegates a little bit of self discipline so that we can proceed through the balance of emerging problems.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and delegates, I think tonight we have spoken often but right to the point, for the most part, and I don't think that time is so important that we have to scale down on a matter as important as this, as long as we adhere to that policy.

What bothers me, for one, about this is not the objectives of it. I fully agree with those, that the state has a responsibility, and I would like it better if it said "responsibility." Delegate King has been kind enough to lend me this copy of what is stated in the Alaska constitution. There is nothing in here about "paramount" or any such word.

It is the policy of the state to encourage the settlement of its land and the development of its resources by making them available for maximum use consistent with the public interest.

That is just one example.

The legislature may provide for facilities, improvements and services to assure great utilization . . . of fisheries, wild life and waters.

Another one:

No person shall be involuntarily divested of his right to the use of waters, his interest in lands or improvements affecting either, except for a superior beneficial use for public purpose, and then only with just compensation and by operation of law.

If the committee will word its proposal in language comparable to that, I will support it wholeheartedly.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Norris.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I believe the words that were expressed by Judge Dehnke are, in quintessence, found in this particular formulation as well. He refers to a superior public interest as language found in the Alaska constitution and we are talking about a superior public interest in this particular area.

I think basically we have 2 propositions: does this particular formulation belong in a constitution? I submit that it does. A constitution is a design for government, an ordering of values. It sets forth here a value upon the health, safety and welfare of the people in terms of preserving the air, water and natural resources of the state, and I think that we do proclaim by this constitution a high value on these matters, and it is germane to our concern.

Secondly, the question of Mr. Hutchinson's amendment: it seems to me he is, in the semblance or guise of defending individual liberty, also defending a constitutional right to pollute or to impair or to destroy air, waters or other natural resources. I don't think he wishes to take that position. I am sure he is sympathetic with the idea of conservation, but in order to get conservation, in order to place an enjoiner upon the legislature to move ahead in the next several decades with regard to the kinds of problems that this convention foresees, this particular kind of language is necessary, and it seems to me that the Hutchinson amendment ought to be defeated and we ought to merge, move ahead with this particular formulation, and I would urge the defeat of the Hutchinson amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Burton Richards.

MR. J. B. RICHARDS: Mr. Chairman and delegates, I am not certain how much you folks know about what has happened and is happening in the state now concerning air, water and natural resources. I think if you were to look in the statute books you would find a great many things that pertain to this. I think that if you were to be a farmer and were to take a look at this and if you would have looked at the last vote, you would see where the farmers stand. I think maybe if you would take a look from where we stand, we have to go through many difficult things to produce for you the kind of food that you like to eat, and you can understand that these are the things that we use on our farm, except water — and this we have been working on, to develop some plans for water resources. But the things that we use on our farms are definitely under control.

If you folks think that this is something that is brand new, forget it. This is so old that your legislators can tell you that this is not needed, that this is legislative because it is already, almost all of it, enacted into laws, and that there are more laws being developed along this line. It just seems to me we are telling the legislature to do something that they are interested in, that they have been working on for many, many years, and we are acting like we think they are a bunch of boys who don't know what they are doing. I assure you that they have been working on these propositions for years and they are probably doing it more intelligently than we will do if we accept this proposal. So, definitely, I am for Mr. Hutchinson's amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Hatch.

MR. HATCH: I request the yeas and nays.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Request for the yeas and nays. Is there a second? Sufficient number up. The Chair recognizes Delegate Daisy Elliott.

MRS. DAISY ELLIOTT: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I would like to support Mr. King's statement that Alaska and Hawaii do have comprehensive statements of public policies to protect natural resources. I would also remind you that 1 dozen states have strong constitutional provisions on water conservation. California, by constitution, has adopted a strong paramount public interest provision. Minnesota, by legislative doctrine, and by court decision has developed a strong public interest theory of water use and conservation. I urge you to defeat the Hutchinson amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Hutchinson. The yeas and nays have been ordered and this is a recorded roll call vote. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have all the delegates voted? The secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Hutchinson, the yeas are 46; the nays are 57.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The amendment is not adopted. Mr. Secretary, do we have other amendments to Committee Proposal 125?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Habermehl offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 8, after "the" by inserting "people of the"; so the language will read, "The people of the state holds a paramount public interest in the air, waters, and natural resources..."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Habermehl.

MR. HABERMEHL: Mr. Chairman, I believe the amendment is self explanatory. It was submitted only after the previous amendment was defeated, to grant to the state, as embodied in the government of the state, that sort of an interest. It is most clearly a socialistic doctrine. If the people have any rights — and this includes people in possession of the lands, waters, and so forth, of the state of Michigan, that is what we should say, and that is what I hope my amendment says.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Habermehl. The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Habermehl's amendment is:

[The amendment was again read by secretary. For text, see above.]

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on the amendment.

All those in favor — the Chair recognizes Delegate Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I haven't had a chance to consult with my committee. Personally, I have no objection to this amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment as offered by Mr. Habermehl. All those in favor will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The amendment is adopted. Are there any other amendments on the desk?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Durst offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 11, after "shall" by inserting "have power to"; so that the language will then read, "The legislature shall have power to enact appropriate legislation. . ."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Durst.

MR. DURST: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I think what Mr. Prettie had to say here a moment ago about the way we have used "shall" and "may" is important, in that we have used "shall" when we want the legislature to act. Now, I realize that the committee does want the legislature to act in this matter, but you are calling upon them to act as problems arise. You are not asking that they enact something immediately upon the adoption of this constitution. I think we should not be too free in the use of the word "shall;" when we use it we should mean it, and I think this amendment would correct the problem and still maintain the intent of the amendment.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment as offered by Mr. Durst. The Chair recognizes Delegate Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman, I don't see that this adds anything at all. I was surprised at Senator Hutchinson arguing that "shall" has some meaning because I have heard him, time and again, on this floor say that "shall" doesn't mean anything, it only meant "may." So, I don't see that this amendment adds anything. I recommend that you vote this thing down.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is on the amendment by Mr. Durst. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATES: Division.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Division has been called for. Is the demand supported? Sufficient number is up. All those in favor of the amendment will vote aye and those opposed will vote no. The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Durst's amendment:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above.]

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Durst, the yeas are 46; the nays are 50.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The amendment is not adopted. Are there any further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: None, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: There being none, it will pass.

Committee Proposal 125, as amended, is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 2 on the calendar, from the committee on emerging problems, by Mr. Millard, chairman, Committee Proposal 126, A proposal to affirm the state's primary concern in public health.

Following is Committee Proposal 126 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. THE PUBLIC HEALTH AND GENERAL WELFARE OF THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE ARE HEREBY DECLARED TO BE MATTERS OF PRIMARY PUBLIC CONCERN. THE LEGISLATURE SHALL PASS SUITABLE LAWS FOR THE PROTECTION AND PROMOTION OF THE PUBLIC HEALTH.

Mr. Millard, chairman of the committee on emerging problems, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 126:

A number of states, among them New York, Missouri, Florida and Hawaii, have strong constitutional provisions declaring the state's interest in the maintenance of the public health. Some of these statements, notably that in New York, are extremely detailed in character, imposing upon the legislature responsibility for action in a long list of public health and welfare problems (pollution, preventive medicine, care of the aged, indigent, insane, public medicine, etc.). Others are merely declaratory in nature.

The present proposed section is based mainly on provisions recently adopted in Missouri and Hawaii and is, in the main, merely declaratory in character, instructing the legislature to adopt whatever public health measures it deems appropriate.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The committee will be in order. The Chair will recognize the chairman of the committee, Delegate Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, this is another one of those problems which came to us. This came to us from one of the other committees. We discussed it pro and con. We had many people talk to us about it and I think it is a very good proposal. There is a committee amendment to this proposal; I don't know whether it has been distributed or not, but I received this several days ago. But there is an amendment and first the amendment will be handled by one of the members of our committee, Delegate Goebel, and then the proposal itself will be handled by Delegate Figy who had charge of the subcommittee in regard to this matter. I will yield the floor for the amendment to Delegate Goebel.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Millard, on behalf of the committee on emerging problems, offers the following amendment to Committee Proposal 126:

1. Amend line 10, after "health.", by inserting "The promotion and development of health and physical fitness shall always be encouraged."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes Delegate Goebel.

MR. GOEBEL: Mr. Chairman and fellow members of the committee, I want to say to those who did not know me in my better days that in spite of my current, temporary infirmities, I am very much devoted to the cause of physical fitness. I want to say that this amendment was prompted through the request of several delegates and also through the request of Mr. Munn, who is athletic director of Michigan State University. Mr. Munn, as some of you may know, is also a member of the president's committee on physical fitness. And, as some of you may recall, that committee came into being because of the great concern that came after the inauguration of the draft, and it was determined that 1 out of 2 applicants for that position were denied the right to serve their country because of their lack of proper physical fitness, and as some of us know, the standards for admission to that club were not very high either.

Again I want to say that this is in line with a good many of the statements made by this committee or proposals that are being offered by this committee, a rather declaratory statement, but in this particular case, in the matter of this amendment it was considered of sufficient import that it should be mentioned as a section in the new constitution. It adds nothing to the legislature's power, but would emphasize the direction in which the people desire the legislature to move, and it would also lend encouragement to those individuals and organizations who presently have the responsibility of our physical education and other programs for physical fitness. The committee respectfully urges your favorable consideration of this amendment, as well as the committee proposal. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now upon the amendment as offered by the committee. All those in favor—there is an amendment to the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The secretary understands that these green sheets, Committee Proposal 126, have been furnished to every one of the delegates. This has on it the committee amendment, the only committee amendment.

Messrs. Binkowski and Stopczynski offer the following amendment to the committee amendment:

1. Amend the amendment, after "encouraged" by inserting "and the protection of the consumer"; so the language will read, "The promotion and development of health and physical fitness shall always be encouraged and the protection of the consumer."

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: May the Chair see that amendment? Is that in order?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman, I make the point of order that the amendment is not germane.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: That is the point the Chair is now discussing with the secretary. Mr. Binkowski, do we have the proper place for this amendment? Because if we do, the Chair will have to rule it out of order.

MR. BINKOWSKI: Mr. Chairman, the entire section states, and I will quote, "The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern." And then the committee, as I understand it, proposes, just in one area of public health and physical fitness, to have the legislature act. Now, I think that the broad, general term of "general welfare," certainly would encompass the protection of the consumer, and I would say that if they are going to ask the legislature to act in this particular area of public health, I would like to ask them to act for the protection of the consumer.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair would have to rule that the amendment is out of order. Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: Mr. Chairman, on this amendment, this has been watered down just about as much as anything I have ever seen watered down.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Point of order, Mr. Chairman. If the amendment is out of order, Mr. Madar is out of order if he is speaking on it.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Madar, are you speaking on the amendment as offered by the committee?

MR. MADAR: On the one that Delegate Goebel spoke on.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: You may continue.

MR. MADAR: He is talking about physical fitness and, as I understand it, that is part of an amendment to this particular proposal. When this started out we were thinking of the welfare of the people of this state and the health of the people of this state. We were thinking about organizing departments within the state. It was taken out of the committee on local government by the request of one of the delegates. It was sent over to emerging problems. There it was put into the subcommittee of that same delegate and at that time there was a proposal introduced. There will be an amendment further so that we will have something here besides physical fitness.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment as offered by Mr. Millard for the committee. The secretary will read the amendment.

want a hearing we will give it to you." He was the man who recommended it be put in the emerging problems committee.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee, Delegate Millard.

MR. MILLARD: I will just say that if we can get a vote on this I will move that the committee rise, and I would say that this matter has been thoroughly gone into. It is purely legislative. It is being handled by the state at the present time. I would recommend that we vote no on this amendment.

MR. MADAR: Mr. Chairman, I rise to a point of order. There is no quorum here and I think we ought to have a count.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: There is a quorum.

MR. MADAR: Has it been counted?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The question is now on the amendment of Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: I will move for the yeas and nays, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: The yeas and nays have been called for. Is there support? There is sufficient number up. The question is on the amendment of Mr. Madar. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. The question is on the amendment that is on the board. Have all the delegates voted? This is a recorded roll call vote. The Chair recognizes Delegate Jones.

MR. JONES: This is now section b, isn't that correct?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Yes, this is correct. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no.

MR. YEAGER: Mr. Chairman, just a moment. Mr. Jones just said this is now section b. Is it? Was that joined with the committee proposal or was this proposed as a separate proposal?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Jones asked Mr. Madar if he would make this as section b to the committee proposal and Mr. Madar said that was agreeable to him.

MR. YEAGER: This is an additional section to the committee proposal?

CHAIRMAN A. G. ELLIOTT: This is an additional section to the committee proposal. The secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 1 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 15, A proposal to amend article II pertaining to the declaration of rights. It reads as follows—

MR. POLLOCK: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Pollock.

MR. POLLOCK: If it's in order, I suggest that we do not read this whole proposal.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Dr. Pollock that the proposal be considered read. Those in favor will say aye.

The motion prevails.

Following is Committee Proposal 15 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and considered read. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 687.):

Sec. 1. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for their equal benefit, security and protection.

Sec. 2. The people have the right peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition the government for redress of grievances.

Sec. 3. Every person shall be at liberty to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, or, against his consent, to contribute to the erection or support of any place of religious worship[]; or to pay tithes, taxes or other rates for the support of any minister of the gospel or teacher of religion. No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the state be appropriated for any such purpose. The civil and political rights, privileges and capacities of no person shall be diminished or enlarged on account of his religious belief.

Sec. 4. Every person may freely speak, write, express, and publish his views on all subjects, being responsible for motion for reconsideration and the reconsideration, if any, should be had at the same time.

MR. POLLOCK: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the motion to postpone. Mr. Pollock.

MR. POLLOCK: Under the rules, I have to make the motion to reconsider today, but I did not want to occasion any extra discussion or time tonight. Does that explain it, Judge Leibbrand?

MR. LEIBRAND: No, Delegate Pollock. I thought the motion could be made the following day. Perhaps I'm wrong.

MR. POLLOCK: That was passed yesterday.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: This is the following day. The question is upon the motion—

MR. HOXIE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Hoxie.

MR. HOXIE: I would desire a division.

MR. KNIRK: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Knirk.

MR. KNIRK: If I'm in order, I don't think there's any need for discussion. Let's just reconsider it now.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the motion to postpone consideration of the motion to reconsider on which Mr. Hoxie demands a division. Is the demand for a division supported? It is supported.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: I favor the motion because of the smallness of the attendance at this time.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: All those in favor of postponing consideration of the motion to reconsider—

MR. KUHN: Mr. President, parliamentary inquiry.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Kuhn.

MR. KUHN: I don't see anything in our rules that gives us the authority, unless you suspend rule 53, to go beyond today. Rule 53 says you can make it twice, on the same day and on the next day. Now, if we're going to stick closely to 53, I think you're going to have to suspend the rules and get a 2/3 vote.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: No. The Chair would not sustain it. The secretary will read the authority.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mason's Manual, section 472, paragraph 2, "When a motion to reconsider is laid on the table or postponed definitely, the question to be reconsidered and all adhering questions go with it."

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the motion to postpone until tomorrow.

MR. KUHN: May I just add one statement to that? It was my understanding that we only look at Mr. Mason's when you can't find the answers in our convention rules.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The Chair will advise Mr. Kuhn that under the rules the motion to reconsider must be made not any later than today but certainly this convention is not precluded from postponing consideration of any action that it desires to postpone. Now the question is upon postponement. All those in favor of postponing will vote aye; those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the motion to postpone consideration of the motion to reconsider the vote on Committee Proposal 22, the yeas are 87; the nays are 27.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The motion to postpone prevails. Further consideration of this motion has been postponed.

SECRETARY CHASE: Second reading calendar for the committee on emerging problems, page 10 of your second reading calendar, Committee Proposal 125, A proposed constitutional provision with respect to the conservation of the state's paramount interest in the air, waters and other natural resources of the state.

Following is Committee Proposal 125 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 2618.):

Sec. a. [The people of the state holds a paramount public interest in the air, waters, and natural resources of the state, in the interest of the health, safety, and welfare of the people. The legislature shall enact appropriate legislation to protect the air, waters, and other natural resources of the state against pollution, impairment, or destruction, so that the interest of the people may be preserved.] THE CONSERVATION AND DEVELOPMENT OF THE NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE STATE ARE HEREBY DECLARED TO BE OF PARAMOUNT PUBLIC CONCERN IN THE INTEREST OF THE HEALTH, SAFETY, AND GENERAL WELFARE OF THE PEOPLE. THE LEGISLATURE SHALL PROVIDE FOR THE PROTECTION OF THE AIR, WATER, AND OTHER NATURAL RESOURCES OF THE STATE FROM POLLUTION, IMPAIRMENT AND DESTRUCTION.

MR. HODGES: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Hodges.

MR. HODGES: I would defer to Mr. Millard. I was just going to make the inquiry if we could move to have these considered read.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: This one has already been read. Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. President and members of the convention, the other day, not too long ago, we discussed this at length in committee of the whole. It went to style and drafting. They have rephrased this proposal in very good language. I haven't had a chance to call the committee together since this came back from style and drafting, but on talking with several of the members, they all approve the language. I think it is in very good form and I would suggest that it be adopted by this convention.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the passage of Committee Proposal 125. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. This is a record roll call vote on the passage of Committee Proposal 125. Have you all voted? The secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of Committee Proposal 125, the yeas are 95; the nays 5.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Committee Proposal 125 is passed and is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 125 as rereferred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 2900.

The secretary will read the next proposal.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 2 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 126, A proposal to affirm the state's primary concern in public health.

Following is Committee Proposal 126 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 2618.):

Sec. a. The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern. The legislature shall pass suitable laws for the protection and promotion of the public health. The promotion and development of health and physical fitness shall always be encouraged.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. President and members of the convention, this proposal was debated at length last week. I don't think there is any need to call attention to any of the matters contained there. I understand there is an amendment and I would like to have the secretary proceed with the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Faxon offers the following amendment to Committee Proposal 126:

1. Amend page 1 by striking out all of lines 4 and 5, which read, "The promotion and development of health and physical fitness shall always be encouraged."

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I was not here at the time that this particular section was approved in committee of the whole and I would appreciate your listening to my comments with regard to this last sentence. Now, the committee on education had submitted language of an identical sort for the "promotion and development of recreation." I'll leave off the other part "shall always be encouraged." This is even more specific. We're beginning to now break recreation down into health and physical fitness. And I would suggest that that first sentence, as broad as it is, the public health and the general welfare, well includes physical fitness and health. If we are going to now start naming all of the things that we think should be encouraged, I can bring to you the constitutions of old that name frugality, temperance, industry, honesty and a whole slew of good things that ought to be promoted, encouraged and developed, and I'm certain that no one would find any disagreement with it.

This last sentence does not do anything. It even diminishes the impact of the first 2 sentences. If we think of public health and general welfare, then who can sit here and say that health and physical fitness aren't a part of health and general welfare? I think that third sentence is redundant. I think it's unnecessary. And I would ask that if you felt negative towards the inclusion of the word "recreation," then I fail to appreciate the reasons why this suddenly appears at this time as some new star in the horizon and some new promotion and development, something other than what we have previously considered. (applause)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: I want to speak on the proposal itself, not on the amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Radka.

MR. RADKA: I was merely going to move the previous question, but if Mr. Madar was going to speak, I wouldn't stop him.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendment offered by Mr. Faxon. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The amendment appears to have been adopted. The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATES: Division.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A division is requested. Is the demand supported? The demand is supported, 10 or more are up. All those in favor of the amendment offered by Mr. Faxon will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. This is a division vote, only upon the amendment offered by Mr. Faxon to strike out the last sentence of Committee Proposal 126. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the amendment offered by Mr. Faxon, the yeas are 52; the nays are 37.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is adopted.

SECRETARY CHASE: Miss Donnelly offers the following amendment to Committee Proposal 126:

1. Amend page 1, by striking out all of the proposal after the enacting clause.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On the amendment, Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: Initially, I would like to apologize, Mr. President and the convention, for not speaking on this issue before. I was busy with eminent domain and I had not read it carefully enough to be aware of the problem. I think in this language we have done something we don't intend to do. We earlier have gone to great lengths to protect the rights of the practice of medicine one way or another; we have set up boards, indicating that suitable ways of treating people shall not be legislated this way, we have divided it so that the members of the allopathic profession cannot oppose the homeopathic—the allopathic against the osteopathic, and so forth. We are now going back in the other direction.

There is certain statutory language that the legislature could freely put in, but they will be confronted with the problem, having passed something under pressure from one of these groups that is designed primarily to provide the correct way of protecting public health; we are going to find ourselves involved in having the treatment of people concerned here. I think we have gone very, very seriously in the wrong direction. I think we all think public health is fine, but it's not up to us to put in the constitution language that may hamstring the legislature or give apparent constitutional mandate to do something that we are basically, I think, in this convention, not approving of if we believe in something we voted on some time ago on setting up the various and sundry memberships on these various commissions in the executive article.

A lot of people seem to think this is a very innocuous proposal but I don't think they understand all the ramifications of it. This is very serious. I think we're going in a direction we don't realize. We think it's nice the legislature can do these things, but it's not true. We better slow down and take a very long careful look at this. I therefore suggest we strike the entire thing, lest we make a mistake we have no intention of making.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Jones.

MR. JONES: Mr. President, fellow delegates, I rise to oppose the Donnelly amendment and urge you to retain what is left in the committee proposal. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Figy.

MR. FIGY: Mr. President, fellow delegates, I urge you to vote against the Donnelly amendment and to support the committee proposal. We discussed this at some length. As I told you the other day, there were many proposals asking this convention to do something, at least make some reference to public health. We realize that there is a statute on the books that was passed some years ago and we think great progress has been made. And yet, looking to the future, we think we should take a stand on this thing here and I think that you should vote against the Donnelly amendment and support the committee proposal.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Millard.

Article IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[.]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. 5. ISLAND AREAS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE CONTIGUOUS BY LAND TO THE COUNTY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of [8] EIGHT persons, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the [2] TWO political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election AT WHICH A GOVERNOR WAS ELECTED preceding each apportionment. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of [2/3] TWO-THIRDS of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which [it] would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as [last] FINALLY equalized [by the state], or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28, Article X, of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such [a] levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28, Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

No state money shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank. Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall show the amount of state money so deposited as a separate item in all published statements.

Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law for the annual accounting for all public moneys, state and local, and may [also] provide by law for interim accounting.

The legislature shall provide by law for the maintenance of uniform accounting systems by units of local government and the auditing of county accounts by competent state authority and other units of government as provided by law.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the amendment offered by Mr. Binkowski, the yeas are 34; the nays are 82.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is not adopted. That completes the amendments to this article on the secretary's desk. Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President, fellow delegates, there are no more amendments and we're now on the adoption of the entire article; is that correct?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: That is correct, Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: I rise near the hour of midnight in trepidation, fellow delegates, but I shall try to be very brief. I rise, announcing I am going to vote no on the entire article and urging other delegates to do the same. I shall not make a long speech but I want to make one or two points on what we've done, so the delegates will knowingly and very clearly know what has transpired, particularly on the key item of apportionment.

I wish to point out that under this provision neither house is based on population. And I do not say this in a fringe or flaky manner. I have asked the research department of this convention to prepare maps on how the apportionment system would work out. I am told this is a possible apportionment plan and there are other possibilities. However, I asked for one that would be as reasonable construction as possible.

In the senate in 1970, and not before, there would be a reapportionment and the smallest district in population would be 86,000; the largest would be 3 in Oakland county, each averaging 365,000 votes. In other words, it would take 4 voters in Oakland county to equal 1 voter in the 86,000 area. That is the senate. And this ties in with advice and consent. Then in the matter of the house, Monroe county, according to the 1960 figures, would be the largest, with 101,000, and the counties of the presiding delegate, Allegan and Van Buren, have the distinction of having an average of 53,062, in other words, practically a 2 to 1 difference. It would take 2 citizens from Monroe county to equal 1 citizen's vote in Allegan county. I point this out to try to dramatize that neither house is on population, and if anybody came to this convention pledged to have at least 1 house on population, I hope those delegates will join with me in voting no on this section in the hope that we'll have something done by third reading.

I do also wish to point out that by the time we come back on August 1, there may be additional supreme court decisions. I just have the newspaper report and if I keep talking long enough, I'll be able to have a special delivery letter with some of the further details. But I understand that not only Georgia threw out the county unit system, but in Maryland, their frozen senate, somewhat similar to Michigan's, has also been thrown out by the court there on the concept of equal protection of the laws. I will not now move that we postpone consideration until further court action is taken. I remind us again that the Michigan case, Scholle versus Hare, was remanded by the United States supreme court and is back in the hands of the Michigan state supreme court. I feel that our progress here is going to come from the judicial branch, unfortunately, rather than branches like this which, by themselves, are not created on a one man, one vote concept. I do urge the delegates to understand these factors in arriving at the conclusion. There are other points of this article that we have discussed — some facetiously; some seriously. But I wish to emphasize that the main reason that I am urging a no vote on this article IV, section 2, is that I think that it is not only wrong to deny the one man, one vote concept, but I believe it is running contrary to the historical thrust of the court decisions. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. McAllister.

MR. McALLISTER: Mr. President and fellow delegates, the hour is getting late. I cannot vote for this article. The committee that proposed this apportionment setup does not seem to be able to explain just what counties are going to be where. In fact, when the committee can't explain it to my satisfaction, I certainly can't vote for something of that kind.

It appears to me from the Tennessee case, the Scholle case, your Georgia case in the federal court, and your Maryland case, that we are doing something here that is just what Mr. Downs would like to have us do. And I do support his position. But I don't think this article should be passed if there is a possibility that the Michigan supreme court will rule on this case before August 1. It appears to me that what we are really going to have here is a senate and a house, both on a population basis. And at the present time I can't see where rural Michigan has any representation, either in the house or senate, under this plan. And in view of that fact, I cannot vote for it.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Pollock.

MR. POLLOCK: Mr. President, I've listened with what, for me, is unusual patience to the repeated dolorous pronouncements of the delegate from Detroit to the effect that he intends to vote no on one article after another. I will not attempt to surmise his real reason for acting in this negative and wholly destructive manner. He can answer to his own conscience and whatever forces in his party or elsewhere to which he so loyally responds.

I can only say that it is, to me, utterly incomprehensible how any delegate — I say any delegate; not merely the leader of the minority party — can sit here for 7½ months in the give and take of debate and decision and then, at the end of our deliberations, recommend a no vote on issues in which he shared responsibility as a delegate and, as often as not, won his own points. By what kind of extraordinary wisdom or insight does he or any other delegate or delegates think that his or their views are so superior to the slowly agreed majority view that they warrant this extraordinary procedure which, to me, is utterly destructive in its result of trying to throw together a shadow constitution or at least shadow articles in place of the carefully mature articles of this proposed constitution? I say, Mr. President, that this tactic — obviously partisan and nonpublic in nature — is unworthy of any delegate and, in my opinion, deserves condemnation on this floor. (applause)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. DOWNS: I rise to a point of personal privilege —

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President.

MR. DOWNS: — Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: You may state it, Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: I believe that the former speaker — and I am not going to question his motives — did attack my motives, did attack me personally, and as such, I have the right to respond.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: You may proceed.

MR. DOWNS: All right. I wish to apprise the convention that this is the first time I have, to my memory, risen on a matter of personal privilege on the floor of the convention. To my knowledge, I have never knowingly attacked any individual on the floor of this convention, nor have I questioned any delegate's motives. I may have disagreed with the judgment or conclusion and I have always, I hope, respected the right of other delegates to question my judgment and my conclusion; and I hope have shown no bitterness or malice when any individual delegate, for his reasons, has seen necessary to vote contrary to what I have wished or expressed.

I wish to say that when I campaigned for this office there were several very clear points I went to the constituents in my district on and offered myself as a candidate. One was that I did not want to see any backward steps in this constitution that's being developed. I specifically refer to civil service, and will touch on that when we get into it. On the apportionment matter, I simply say that this does not represent one man, one vote in either house. I campaigned, and I can show clippings and speeches ad nauseam where I campaigned on the concept of one man, one vote. Whether or not that is right or wrong is not the issue before this convention. The issue is that as a delegate, as a candidate I campaigned on that. I said I would fight for that. I have fought for that. And if I am defeated on this, I feel no moral obligation to support something that is less than that on which I campaigned. If, on the other hand, I were to compromise basic principles—and I'm not talking about modifications of day to day operations—I would feel that that was not justifiable. How other delegates answer to themselves is their prerogative and their business and I do not intend to answer that on this floor. I do hope, as we mature and develop here, we'll have a chance to review this more thoroughly and compare item by item.

I'm a little surprised at all those points that I've won in debate. I enjoyed the conversation and fellowship but I think it would take a rather small adding machine to suggest the number of significant suggestions I've made that the convention has adopted. And I express no resentment or bitterness at the convention for having seen fit to adopt suggestions other than mine. I hope I have shown no rancor; I have felt no rancor. I apologize for taking this time of the convention this late at night. I want the delegates to know that I came here in a spirit of friendship. I feel that has been increased and I hope we do nothing or say things which we individually would later wish had been left unsaid. Thank you for your patience. (applause)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, we do seem to be straying from the point. I would move that further debate on this article of the constitution terminate at 12:00 midnight.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: It being now 11:58, Mr. Van Dusen moves to terminate debate at 12:00 o'clock midnight. All those in—

MR. MADAR: Mr. President, I'd like to amend that so that they could speak. There have been several delegates that have tried to get recognition.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: There are 4.

MR. MADAR: That's right. Approximately that. And I move that we give them 10 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Each one?

MR. MADAR: No, sir, 10 minutes for the 4.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Madar moves that debate be terminated in 10 minutes. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed no.

The motion does not prevail.

DELEGATES: Division.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: All right. A division is called for upon that. Is the demand for a division supported?

SECRETARY CHASE: Eleven.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The demand is supported. All those in favor of limiting debate at 12:10 will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the total.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the motion to limit debate to 10 minutes, the yeas are 63; the nays are 48.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The motion prevails.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Is a motion necessary to require that this time be divided equally between those that wish to speak? If so, I move.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Between those who wish to speak?

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: There are 4 and the Chair will request the 4 speakers to limit themselves to not more than 2½ minutes each. Mr. Wanger is next recognized.

MR. WANGER: Mr. President, fellow delegates, very briefly I'd like to comment on what Delegate Downs has urged the delegates at this convention to do. He has urged every delegate here to vote no on this article, in other words, to vote for nothing. He has offered no substitute, nothing to present to the people by way of any improvement whatsoever in this area of our constitution. And it seems to me very, very clear that such a vote is the most apparent and the grossest kind of irresponsible action for any delegate to take at this state of a constitutional convention.

I am not going to observe upon the motives of any delegate except to say this: I think that for those few delegates at the convention who have already publicly made expressions that they intend to fight the adoption of any revised constitution which we propose, that no observation on their motives is necessary because their vote on the board speaks for itself.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Dr. Hannah.

MR. J. A. HANNAH: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Downs has recommended that you vote no on this article primarily because of the apportionment provisions. I would remind you that you have had 21 able persons on this committee who worked long and diligently. They have come up with recommendations which you have approved on first and second reading which the formula—you know what it is—I am only going to, for the record, make it perfectly clear that the recommendations as they appear here apportion the senate seats 80 per cent on population, 20 per cent on area.

Mr. Downs takes the extreme, the very large district in the upper peninsula that will have small population and the 3 most populous districts in Oakland county for his comparison. In the house of representatives he has taken the extreme because in grouping the counties that are not entitled to a single representative, you are left with Allegan and Van Buren counties that are thrown together and then when we come to apportion the difference in the number of seats between those counties that have one or more, and 110, it happens that they get the second seat. This is the extreme. Actually, the house of representatives, as you well know, is as near as you can come to exact population with the exception of a single representative. You could just change one and it comes as close as you can—it's as close as you can come up with a workable formula.

I should dislike, this late at night when you're all tired, any of you to feel that the statement that Mr. Downs has made, that neither house of the legislature reflects population, is correct. We have done very well indeed. I've said before I am very proud of what our committee has come up with and what you are about to approve. We need no apologies for the apportionment portion of the article before you and I urge you to approve it.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Marshall.

MR. MARSHALL: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I was going to answer Delegate Pollock but it seems to me that Delegate Downs took care of that rather well himself. I only wish that Delegate Pollock had been as consistent on this question as Delegate Downs has been. He had some very unkind things to say about the provision himself. He equated it as 19 acres equaling 1 man, among other statements, and I can dig them out. This is not a one man, one vote principle. It does not meet the equality—

I do not think we should question the motives of those delegates. We have our own opinions, our own desires. We try to reflect the viewpoints of the people we represent. I urge a no vote on the article, too.

I've heard Dr. Hannah, on several occasions on the floor of this convention, over and over again, talk about how we do not have to apologize to any one for the provision that has come out of this convention. Let me tell you that if I voted for the provision I would have to apologize to the 680,000 people in my senatorial district that has only one senator. I think that we should understand, as Delegate Downs pointed out, that neither house of the legislature is going to be on a straight population basis. And there were alternatives. I think Dr. Pollock said we were taking a negative approach. We did all of the giving and no taking. And there were offers to accept proposals in the committee. Dr. Pollock himself offered one which we agreed to accept as a compromise proposal. Dr. Pollock himself, for reasons best known to him, a day or two later decided to revise his proposal. Then it was no longer acceptable to the minority on that committee. And we could go on and on and point out the facts here, and I'm willing to let the people of the state of Michigan decide whether or not they've got an equitable apportionment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. President, how much time is left for the debate? Am I the last speaker?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: You are.

MR. NORD: How much time is left, sir?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: It looks like 2 minutes to the Chair.

MR. NORD: That is fine. Thank you. I rose earlier. I asked for recognition because I didn't think that Mr. Downs would have an opportunity to reply to the attack on him. Since that has been covered, I will simply attempt to close the debate.

I would like to point out that as to Dr. Pollock's remarks relating to whether or not this is a satisfactory legislature, that when Dr. Pollock appeared before the committee on legislative organization, he started out by saying—and I applauded him and I told him that I would join with him—he said the legislature is so bad that we must start from scratch; we cannot have a patched job. He appeared later before us with a specific proposal. At that point I was not satisfied with it. I asked him, "Dr. Pollock, is this starting from scratch, or is it a patched job?" He said, "It's a patched job." We didn't approve of it. Nevertheless, we were forced to accept it at the end because, of all of the proposals we would find that were put in by the Republicans, that was the best; even though it was a patched job, we tried to accept it. He has retreated from that position. Then he attacked the proposal that you had before you and broke it down so that was worthless. Now he has rebuilt it so that it looks good.

I intend to vote against this. I think everyone understands I intend to vote against this section. I would vote against the entire constitution on the basis of either this section or the one I spoke on before. Both of these, I believe, are unconstitutional. The one about search and seizure, I believe, is clearly unconstitutional. And this one about the senate apportionment is certainly unconstitutional as to the next 10 years, and beyond that my opinion is that it is unconstitutional as well. But even if it were not unconstitutional, it is unjust. There is no reason for me to support it; there is every reason for me not to support it. And with that view, I can't see how anyone can quarrel with my doing what my conscience dictates. And I explained my conscience for 4 hours on the floor. There is no secret why I will vote against this. And when I vote against these 2 sections that have to do with apportionment, they are the heart of the entire constitution to me.

Either you have an effective democratic legislature or you have nothing. You have no state government. We have virtually no state government now in this state. We wanted to cure it. If you vote no on this, we will come back with other proposals. We've been putting in proposal after proposal; we will not quit. Just try it. If you don't believe us, vote no on this and see whether that means that there is no constitution. Vote no and we will stay here until kingdom come until we get something that is agreeable. You're not left with no alternative. Just because you put something on the ballot doesn't mean that anyone is obligated to vote for it and it doesn't mean that anyone here must support it.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time for debate has expired. The question is upon the passage of article IV. All those in favor of article IV will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of article IV, as amended, the yeas are 83; the nays are 37.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A majority of the delegates elect having voted in favor thereof, article IV, as amended, is passed.

For sections 1, 2, 3, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 19 through 53 of article IV as passed, see above, page 3051.

Following is section 4 of article IV, as amended and passed:

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger if provided by ordinance of the city. The districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by said ordinance certified to the secretary of state.

No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Following is section 6 of article IV, as amended and passed:

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight persons, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following four regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Article II Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors which involves the increase of any ad valorem tax rate limitation for a period of more than five years, or the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors or three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

Article III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial dis-

1 | trict in the city with which it is combined, if
2 | provided by ordinance of the city. The district
3 | or districts with which the territory shall be
4 | combined shall be determined by such ordinance
5 | certified to the secretary of state. No such change
6 | in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial
7 | district shall have the effect of removing a legis-
8 | lator from office during his term.

9 | Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be con-
10 | tiguous by land to the county of which they are
11 | a part.

12 | Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportion-
13 | ment is hereby established consisting of eight
14 | persons, four of whom shall be selected by the
15 | state organizations of each of the two political
16 | parties whose candidates for governor received
17 | the highest vote at the last general election at
18 | which a governor was elected preceding each ap-
19 | portionment. If a candidate for governor of a third
20 | political party has received at such election more
21 | than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the
22 | commission shall consist of 12 members, four of
23 | whom shall be selected by the state organization of
24 | the third political party. One member of the com-
25 | mission shall be selected by each political party or-
26 | ganization from each of the following four regions:
27 | (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of
28 | the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along
29 | the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay,
30 | Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana;
31 | (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south
32 | of region (2) and west of a line drawn along
33 | the western boundaries of the counties of Bay,
34 | Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hills-
35 | dale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining
36 | counties of the state.

37 | No officers or employees of the federal, state
38 | or local governments, excepting notaries public
39 | and members of the armed forces reserve, shall
40 | be eligible for membership on the commission.
41 | Members of the commission shall not be eligible
42 | for election to the legislature until two years after
43 | the apportionment in which they participated
44 | becomes effective.

45 | The commission shall be appointed immediately
46 | after the adoption of this constitution and when-
47 | ever apportionment or districting of the legislature
48 | is required by the provisions of this constitution.
49 | Members of the commission shall hold office until
50 | each apportionment or districting plan becomes
51 | effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same
52 | manner as for original appointment.

53 | The secretary of state shall be secretary of
54 | the commission without vote, and in that capacity
55 | shall furnish, under the direction of the commis-
56 | sion, all necessary technical services. The com-
57 | mission shall elect its own chairman, shall make
58 | its own rules of procedure, and shall receive com-
59 | pensation provided by law. The legislature shall
60 | appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

1 | Within 30 days after the adoption of this con-
2 | stitution, and after the official total population
3 | count of each federal decennial census of the state
4 | and its political subdivisions is available, the se-
5 | cretary of state shall issue a call convening the
6 | commission not less than 30 nor more than 45
7 | days thereafter. The commission shall complete
8 | its work within 180 days after all necessary census
9 | information is available. The commission shall
10 | proceed to district and apportion the senate and
11 | house of representatives according to the provi-
12 | sions of this constitution. All final decisions shall
13 | require the concurrence of a majority of the mem-
14 | bers of the commission. The commission shall hold
15 | public hearings as may be provided by law.

16 | Each final apportionment and districting plan
17 | shall be published as provided by law within 30
18 | days from the date of its adoption and shall be-
19 | come law 60 days after publication. The secre-
20 | tary of state shall keep a public record of all the
21 | proceedings of the commission and shall be re-
22 | sponsible for the publication and distribution of
23 | each plan.

24 | If a majority of the commission cannot agree
25 | on a plan, each member of the commission, indi-
26 | vidualy or jointly with other members, may sub-
27 | mit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The
28 | supreme court shall determine which plan com-
29 | plies most accurately with the constitutional re-
30 | quirements and shall direct that it be adopted
31 | by the commission and published as provided
32 | in this section.

33 | Upon the application of any elector filed not
34 | later than 60 days after final publication of the
35 | plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of origi-
36 | nal jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of
37 | state or the apportionment commission to per-
38 | form their duties, may review any final plan
39 | adopted by the commission, and shall remand
40 | such plan to the commission for further action
41 | if it fails to comply with the requirements of
42 | this constitution.

43 | Sec. 7. Each senator and representative
44 | must be a citizen of the United States, at least
45 | 21 years of age, and an elector of the district
46 | he represents. The removal of his domicile from
47 | the district shall be deemed a vacation of the
48 | office. No person who has been convicted of sub-
49 | version or who has within the preceding 20 years
50 | been convicted of a felony involving a breach
51 | of public trust shall be eligible for either house
52 | of the legislature.

53 | Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the
54 | United States or this state or a political subdivi-
55 | sion thereof, except notaries public and officers
56 | of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of
57 | either house of the legislature.

58 | Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature
59 | shall receive any civil appointment within this

1 state from the governor, except notaries public,
2 from the legislature, or from any other state
3 authority, during the term for which he is elected.

4 Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any 5 state officer shall be interested directly or in-
6 directly in any contract with the state or any 7 political subdivision thereof which shall cause a
8 substantial conflict of interest. The legislature
9 shall further implement this provision by appro-
10 priate legislation.

11 Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be 12 privileged from civil arrest and civil process dur-
13 ing sessions of the legislature and for five days
14 next before the commencement and after the 15 termination thereof. They shall not be ques-
16 tioned in any other place for any speech in either
17 house.

18 Sec. 12. The compensation and expense al-
19 lowances of the members of the legislature shall 20 be determined by law. Changes in compensation
21 or expense allowances shall become effective only
22 when legislators commence their terms of office
23 after a general election.

24 Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat
25 of government on the second Wednesday in Janu-
26 ary of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each
27 regular session shall adjourn without day, on a 28 day determined by concurrent resolution, at 29 twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint 30 resolution pending at the final adjournment of 31 a regular session held in an odd numbered year
32 shall carry over with the same status to the 33 next regular session.

34 Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected
35 to and serving in each house shall constitute a 36 quorum to do business. A smaller number in 37 each house may adjourn from day to day, and 38 may compel the attendance of absent members in 39 the manner and with penalties as each house may 40 prescribe.

41 Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legisla-
42 tive council consisting of legislators appointed in 43 the manner prescribed by law. The legislature
44 shall appropriate funds for the council's opera-
45 tions and provide for its staff which shall main-
46 tain bill drafting, research and other services
47 for the members of the legislature. The council
48 shall periodically examine and recommend to the 49 legislature revision of the various laws of the 50 state.

51 Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise pro-
52 vided in this constitution, shall choose its own
53 officers and determine the rules of its proceedings,
54 but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a 55 majority of the members elected thereto and 56 serving therein from discharging a committee
57 from the further consideration of any measure.
58 Each house shall be the sole judge of the quali-
59 fications, elections and returns of its members, 60 and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of

1 all the members elected thereto and serving
2 therein, expel a member. The reasons for such 3 expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with 4 the votes and names of the members voting upon
5 the question. No member shall be expelled a
6 second time for the same cause.

7 Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may 8 establish the committees necessary for the effi-
9 cient conduct of its business and the legislature
10 may create joint committees. Each committee
11 shall by roll call vote record the vote and name
12 of all action on bills and resolutions taken in 13 the committee. Such vote shall be available for 14 public inspection. Notice of all committee hear-
15 ings and a clear statement of all subjects to be 16 considered at each hearing shall be published in 17 the journal in advance of the hearing.

18 Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of 19 its proceedings, and publish the same unless the 20 public security otherwise requires. The record
21 of the vote and name of the members of either
22 house voting on any question shall be entered 23 in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the 24 members present. Any member of either house
25 may dissent from and protest against any act,
26 proceeding or resolution which he deems injuri-
27 ous to any person or the public, and have the 28 reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

29 Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in 30 joint convention and all votes on appointments
31 submitted to the senate for advice and consent
32 shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

33 Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open
34 unless the public security otherwise requires.

35 Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the con-
36 sent of the other, adjourn for more than two 37 intervening calendar days, nor to any place other 38 than where the legislature may then be in session.

39 Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and 40 may originate in either house.

41 Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The 42 People of the State of Michigan enact.

43 Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one
44 object, which shall be expressed in its title. No
45 bill shall be altered or amended on its passage
46 through either house so as to change its original 47 purpose as determined by its total content and 48 not alone by its title.

49 Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or 50 amended by reference to its title only. The section
51 or sections of the act altered or amended shall 52 be re-enacted and published at length.

53 Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a 54 law at any regular session of the legislature until 55 it has been printed or reproduced and in the pos-
56 session of each house for at least five days. Every 57 bill shall be read three times in each house be-58 fore the final passage thereof. No bill shall be-
59 come a law without the concurrence of a majority 60 of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Sec. 36. No general revision of the laws shall be made. The legislature may provide for a compilation of the laws in force, arranged without alteration, under appropriate heads and titles.

Sec. 37. The legislature may by concurrent resolution empower a joint committee of the legislature acting between sessions to suspend until the end of the next regular legislative session any rule or regulation of an administrative agency promulgated when the legislature is not in regular session.

Sec. 38. The legislature may provide by law the cases in which any office shall be vacant and the manner of filling vacancies where no provision is made in this constitution.

Sec. 39. In order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency only, resulting from disasters occurring in this state caused by enemy attack on the United States, the legislature may provide by law for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices; and enact other laws necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations. Notwithstanding the power conferred by this section, elections shall always be called as soon as possible to fill any vacancies in elective offices temporarily occupied by operation of any legislation enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 40. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission which, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof. The legislature may provide for an excise tax on such sales. Neither the legislature nor the commission may authorize the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages in any county in which a majority of the electors voting thereon shall prohibit the same.

Sec. 41. The legislature shall not authorize any lottery nor permit the sale of lottery tickets.

Sec. 42. The legislature may provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts, and confer power and authority upon them to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.

Sec. 43. No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes, or regulating the business thereof, shall be enacted, amended or repealed except by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 44. The legislature may authorize a trial by a jury of less than 12 jurors in civil cases.

Sec. 45. The legislature may provide for indeterminate sentences as punishment for crime and for the detention and release of persons imprisoned or detained under such sentences.

Sec. 46. No law shall be enacted providing for the penalty of death.

Sec. 47. The legislature may authorize the employment of chaplains in state institutions of detention or confinement.

Sec. 48. The legislature may enact laws providing for the resolution of disputes concerning public employees, except those in the state classified civil service.

Sec. 49. The legislature may enact laws relative to the hours and conditions of employment.

Sec. 50. The legislature may provide safety measures and regulate the use of atomic energy and forms of energy developed in the future, having in view the general welfare of the people of this state.

Sec. 51. The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern. The legislature shall pass suitable laws for the protection and promotion of the public health.

Sec. 52. The conservation and development of the natural resources of the state are hereby declared to be of paramount public concern in the interest of the health, safety and general welfare of the people. The legislature shall provide for the protection of the air, water and other natural resources of the state from pollution, impairment and destruction.

Sec. 53. The legislature by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint an auditor general, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of eight years. He shall be ineligible for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as auditor general and for two years following the termination of his service. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. The auditor general shall conduct post audits of financial transactions and accounts of the state and of all branches, departments, offices, boards, commissions, agencies, authorities and institutions of the state established by this constitution or by law, and performance post audits thereof.

The auditor general, his deputy and one other member of his staff shall be exempt from classified civil service. All other members of his staff shall have classified civil service status.

Article V

Executive Branch

Sec. 1. The executive power is vested in the governor.

Sec. 2. All executive and administrative offices, agencies and instrumentalities of the executive branch of state government and their respective functions, powers and duties, except for the office of governor and lieutenant governor and the governing bodies of institutions of higher education provided for in this constitution, shall be allocated by law among and within not more than 20 principal departments. They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. When a single executive is the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, he shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate and he shall serve at the pleasure of the governor.

When a board or commission is at the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, the members thereof shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The term of office and procedure for removal of such members shall be as prescribed in this constitution or by law.

Terms of office of any board or commission created or enlarged after the effective date of this constitution shall not exceed four years except as otherwise authorized in this constitution. The terms of office of existing boards and commissions which are longer than four years shall not be further extended except as provided in this constitution.

Sec. 4. Temporary commissions or agencies for special purposes with a life of no more than two years may be established by law and need not be allocated within a principal department.

Sec. 5. At no time shall an examining or licensing board of a profession include less than a majority of members of that profession.

Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

The governor may initiate court proceedings in the name of the state to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. This authority shall not be construed to authorize court proceedings against the legislature.

Sec. 9. Single executives heading principal departments and the chief executive officers of principal departments headed by boards or commissions shall keep their offices at the seat of government except as otherwise provided by law, superintend them in person and perform duties prescribed by law.

Sec. 10. The governor shall have power and it shall be his duty to inquire into the condition and administration of any public office and the acts of any public officer, elective or appointive. He may remove or suspend from office for gross neglect of duty or for corrupt conduct in office, or for any other misfeasance or malfeasance therein, any elective or appointive state officer, except legislative or judicial, and shall report the reasons for such removal or suspension to the legislature.

Sec. 11. The governor may make a provisional appointment to fill a vacancy occasioned by the suspension of an appointed or elected officer, other than a legislative or judicial officer, until he is reinstated or until the vacancy is filled in the manner prescribed by law or this constitution.

Sec. 12. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the armed forces and may call them out to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion.

Sec. 13. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies in the senate or house of representatives. Any such election shall be held in a manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 14. The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and limitations as he may direct, subject to procedures and regulations prescribed by law. He shall inform the legislature annually of each reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, stating reasons therefor.

Sec. 15. The governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

Sec. 16. The governor may convene the legislature at some other place when the seat of government becomes dangerous from any cause.

Sec. 17. The governor shall communicate by message to the legislature at the beginning of each session and may at other times present to the legislature information as to the affairs of the state and recommend measures he considers necessary or desirable.

Sec. 18. The governor shall submit to the legislature at a time fixed by law, a budget for the ensuing fiscal period setting forth in detail, for all operating funds, the proposed expenditures and estimated revenue of the state. Proposed expenditures from any fund shall not exceed the estimated revenue thereof. On the same date, the governor shall submit to the legislature general appropriation bills to embody the proposed expenditures and any necessary bill or bills to provide new or additional revenues to meet proposed expenditures. The amount of any surplus created or deficit incurred in any fund during the last preceding fiscal period shall be entered as an item in the budget and in one of the appropriation bills. The governor may submit amendments to appropriation bills to be offered in either house during consideration of the bill by that house, and shall submit any bills to meet deficiencies in current appropriations.

Sec. 19. The governor may disapprove any distinct item or items appropriating moneys in any appropriation bill. The part or parts approved shall become law, and the item or items disapproved shall be void unless re-passed according to the method prescribed for the passage of other bills over the executive veto.

Sec. 20. No appropriation shall be a mandate to spend. The governor, with the approval of the appropriating committees of the house and senate, shall reduce expenditures authorized by appropriations whenever it appears that actual revenues for a fiscal period will fall below the revenue estimates on which appropriations for that period were based. Reductions in expenditures shall be made in accordance with procedures prescribed by law. The governor may not reduce expenditures of the legislative and judicial branches or from funds constitutionally dedicated for specific purposes.

Sec. 21. The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be elected for four-year terms at the general election in each alternate even-numbered year.

Article IX

Finance and Taxation

13 Sec. 1. The legislature shall impose taxes suf-
14 ficient with other resources to pay the expenses of 15 state government.

16 Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be 17 surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

18 Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the 19 uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and 20 tangible personal property not exempt by law. The 21 legislature shall provide for the determination of 22 true cash value of such property; the proportion 23 of true cash value at which such property shall 24 be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after 25 January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a sys-
26 tem of equalization of assessments. The legislature
27 may provide for alternative means of taxation of 28 designated real and tangible personal property in 29 lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax
30 other than the general ad valorem property tax 31 shall be uniform upon the class or classes on 32 which it operates.

33 Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-34 profit religious or educational organizations and 35 used exclusively for religious or educational pur-
36 poses, as defined by law, shall be exempt from 37 real and personal property taxes.

38 Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the 39 assessment by the state of the property of those 40 public service businesses assessed by the state
41 at the date this constitution becomes effective, and 42 of other property as designated by the legislature,
43 and for the imposition and collection of taxes
44 thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be 45 assessed at the same proportion of its true
46 cash value as the legislature shall specify for 47 property subject to general ad valorem taxation.
48 The rate of taxation on such property shall be 49 the average rate levied upon other property in this 50 state under the general ad valorem tax law, or,
51 if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable
52 to the property of each business enterprise assessed
53 by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem
54 taxation levied upon other property in all counties
55 in which any of such property is situated.

56 Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this 57 constitution, the total amount of general ad valo-
58 rem taxes imposed upon real and tangible per-59 sonal property for all purposes in any one year
60 shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the

1 assessed valuation of property as finally equalized.
2 Under procedures provided by law, which shall
3 guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax
4 limitations for any county and for the townships
5 and for school districts therein, the aggregate of 6 which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of 7 such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter
8 altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified
9 electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu 10 of the limitation hereinbefore established. These 11 limitations may be increased to an aggregate of 12 not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation,
13 for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one
14 time, if approved by a majority of the electors,
15 qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this 16 constitution, voting on the question.

17 The foregoing limitations shall not apply to 18 taxes imposed for the payment of principal and 19 interest on bonds or other evidences of indebted-20 ness or for the payment of assessments or con-
21 tract obligations in anticipation of which bonds
22 are issued, which taxes may be imposed without 23 limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes im-
24 posed for any other purpose by any city, vil-
25 lage, charter county, charter township, charter
26 authority or other authority, the tax limitations
27 of which are provided by charter or by general
28 law.

29 In any school district which extends into two 30 or more counties, property taxes at the highest 31 rate available in the county which contains the 32 greatest part of the area of the district may be 33 imposed and collected for school purposes through-34 out the district.

35 Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate
36 or base shall be imposed by the state or any of 37 its subdivisions.

38 Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a 39 sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than 40 four percent of their gross taxable sales of 41 tangible personal property.

42 Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales
43 and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed di-
44 rectly or indirectly on fuels sold or used 45 to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on 46 registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment
47 of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusi-
48 vely for highway purposes as defined by law.

49 Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on 50 retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible 51 personal property shall be used exclusively for 52 assistance to townships, cities and villages, on 53 a population basis as provided by law. In de-
54 termining population the legislature may exclude 55 any portion of the total number of persons who 56 are wards, patients or convicts in any tax sup-
57 ported institution.

58 Sec. 11. There shall be established a state
59 school aid fund which shall be used exclusively
60 for the support of public education and school employees' retirement systems, as provided by law. One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money

1 shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50
2 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank.
3 Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall 4 show the amount of state money so deposited as 5 a separate item in all published statements.

6 Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law
7 for the annual accounting for all public moneys,
8 state and local, and may provide by law for interim
9 accounting.

10 The legislature shall provide by law for the 11 maintenance of uniform accounting systems by 12 units of local government and the auditing of 13 county accounts by competent state authority
14 and other units of government as provided by law.

15 Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and 16 adjustment of claims against the state shall be 17 prescribed by law.

18 Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings,
19 audit reports and other reports of public moneys
20 shall be public records and open to inspection. A
21 statement of all revenues and expenditures of pub-
22 lic moneys shall be published and distributed
23 annually, as provided by law.

24 Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each
25 pension plan and retirement system of the state
26 and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual
27 obligation thereof which shall not be diminished
28 or impaired thereby.

29 Financial benefits arising on account of service
30 rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during 31 that year and such funding shall not be used for 32 financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

78 respective offices, shall take and subscribe the 79 following oath or affirmation: I do solemnly swear
80 (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution
81 of the United States and the constitution of this

The legislature may, by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, waive the notice and permit increases in rates of compensation to be effective at a time other than the start of a fiscal year. Within 60 calendar days following such transmission, the legislature may, by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, reject or reduce increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission. 18 each house on a vote with the names and vote of 19 those voting entered in the respective journals
20 shall be submitted, not less than 60 days there-
21 after, to the electors at the next general election
22 or special election as the legislature shall direct.
23 If a majority of electors voting on a proposed 24 amendment approve the same, it shall become 25 part of the constitution and shall abrogate or 26 amend existing provisions of the constitution at 27 the end of 45 days after the date of the election
28 at which it was approved.

29 Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this
30 constitution by petition of the registered electors
31 of this state. Every petition shall include the full 32 text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by 33 registered electors of the state equal in number to 34 at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for 35 all candidates for governor at the last preceding 36 general election at which a governor was elected.
37 Such petitions shall be filed with the person au-
38 thorized by law to receive the same at least 120
39 days before the election at which the proposed
40 amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition
41 shall be in the form, and shall be signed and 42 circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law.
43 The person authorized by law to receive such peti-
44 tion shall upon its receipt determine, as provided
45 by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signa-
46 tures on the petition, and make an official an-47 nouncement thereof at least 60 days prior to the 48 election at which the proposed amendment is to be 49 voted upon.

50 Any amendment proposed by such petition shall 51 be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was 52 filed, to the electors at the next general election.
53 Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of 54 the constitution which would be altered or abro-
55 gated thereby, and the question as it shall appear
56 on the ballot shall be published in full as provided
57 by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted 58 in each polling place and furnished to news media

as provided by law.

59 The ballot to be used in such election shall con-
60 tain a statement of the purpose of the proposed 61 amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words,
62 exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose
63 and caption shall be prepared by the person au-
64 thorized by law, and shall consist of a true and 65 impartial statement of the purpose of the amend-
66 ment in such language as shall create no prejudice
67 for or against the proposed amendment.

68 If the proposed amendment is approved by a
69 majority of the electors voting on the question, 70 it shall become part of the constitution, and 71 shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of 72 the constitution at the end of 45 days after 73 the date of the election at which it was ap-
74 proved. If two or more amendments approved by 75 the electors at the same election conflict, that 76 amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote
77 shall prevail.

78 Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in 79 the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter
80 and at such times as may be provided by law, the 81 question of a general revision of the constitution
82 shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If 83 a majority of the electors voting on the question
84 decide in favor of a convention for such purpose,
85 at an election to be held not later than six months
86 after the proposal was certified as approved, the 87 electors of each representative district as then
88 organized shall elect one delegate and the elec-
89 tors of each senatorial district as then organized
90 shall elect one delegate at a partisan election.
91 The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat
92 of government on the first Tuesday in October
93 next succeeding such election or at an earlier date
94 if provided by law.

95 The convention shall choose its own officers,
96 determine the rules of its proceedings and judge
97 the qualifications, elections and returns of its mem-
98 bers. The governor shall appoint a qualified
99 resident of the same district to fill a vacancy
100 in the office of any delegate who shall be a mem-
101 ber of the same party as the delegate vacating
102 the office. The convention shall have power to ap-103 point such officers, employees and assistants as 104 it deems necessary and to fix their compensation;
105 to provide for the printing and distribution of its 106 documents, journals and proceedings; to explain
107 and disseminate information about the proposed 108 constitution and to complete the business of the 109 convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate
110 shall receive for his services compensation pro-
111 vided by law.

112 No proposed constitution or amendment adopted
113 by such convention shall be submitted to the 114 electors for approval as hereinafter provided un-

116 elected to and serving in the convention, with the 117 names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that the report be adopted. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The report is adopted. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, in compliance with our rules, I think it would now be necessary to take a roll call vote on the amendment to the constitution changing the date.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment recommended in the report is as follows:

1. Amend the schedule, section 15 [formerly section 16] (column 2) line 11, after "held on the" by striking out "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962.", and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will call the roll. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye as your name is called. Those opposed will vote no.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause)
PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con. con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

Sincerely,
Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger, White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.

2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."

3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.

4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

CONSTITUTION OF THE
STATE OF MICHIGAN

as finally adopted by the Convention
August 1, 1962

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE II

Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office, employment or position under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.

Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. On all actions on bills and resolutions in each committee, names and votes of members shall be recorded. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.

Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same unless the public security otherwise requires. The record of the vote and name of the members of either house voting on any question shall be entered in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he deems injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in joint convention and all votes on appointments submitted to the senate for advice and consent shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open unless the public security otherwise requires.

Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than two intervening calendar days, nor to any place other than where the legislature may then be in session.

Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and may originate in either house.

Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The People of the State of Michigan enact.

Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title. No bill shall be altered or amended on its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose as determined by its total content and not alone by its title.

Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or amended by reference to its title only. The section or sections of the act altered or amended shall be re-enacted and published at length.

Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a law at any regular session of the legislature until it has been printed or reproduced and in the possession of each house for at least five days. Every bill shall be read three times in each house before the final passage thereof. No bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he disapproves, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Sec. 36. No general revision of the laws shall be made. The legislature may provide for a compilation of the laws in force, arranged without alteration, under appropriate heads and titles.

Sec. 37. The legislature may by concurrent resolution empower a joint committee of the legislature, acting between sessions, to suspend any rule or regulation promulgated by an administrative agency subsequent to the adjournment of the last preceding regular legislative session. Such suspension shall continue no longer than the end of the next regular legislative session.

Sec. 38. The legislature may provide by law the cases in which any office shall be vacant and the manner of filling vacancies where no provision is made in this constitution.

Sec. 39. In order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency only, resulting from disasters occurring in this state caused by enemy attack on the United States, the legislature may provide by law for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices; and enact other laws necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations. Notwithstanding the power conferred by this section, elections shall always be called as soon as possible to fill any vacancies in elective offices temporarily occupied by operation of any legislation enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 40. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission which, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof. The legislature may provide for an excise tax on such sales. Neither the legislature nor the commission may authorize the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages in any county in which a majority of the electors voting thereon shall prohibit the same.

Sec. 41. The legislature shall not authorize any lottery nor permit the sale of lottery tickets.

Sec. 42. The legislature may provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts, and confer power and authority upon them to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.

Executive Branch

Sec. 1. The executive power is vested in the governor.

Sec. 2. All executive and administrative offices, agencies and instrumentalities of the executive branch of state government and their respective functions, powers and duties, except for the office of governor and lieutenant governor and the governing bodies of institutions of higher education provided for in this constitution, shall be allocated by law among and within not more than 20 principal departments. They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full regular session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. Sec. 5. A majority of the members of an appointed examining or licensing board of a profession shall be members of that profession.

Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

The governor may initiate court proceedings in the name of the state to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. This authority shall not be construed to authorize court proceedings against the legislature.

Sec. 9. Single executives heading principal departments and the chief executive officers of principal departments headed by boards or commissions shall keep their offices at the seat of government except as otherwise provided by law, superintend them in person and perform duties prescribed by law.

Sec. 10. The governor shall have power and it shall be his duty to inquire into the condition and administration of any public office and the acts of any public officer, elective or appointive. He may remove or suspend from office for gross neglect of duty or for corrupt conduct in office, or for any other misfeasance or malfeasance therein, any elective or appointive state officer, except legislative or judicial, and shall report the reasons for such removal or suspension to the legislature.

Sec. 11. The governor may make a provisional appointment to fill a vacancy occasioned by the suspension of an appointed or elected officer, other than a legislative or judicial officer, until he is reinstated or until the vacancy is filled in the manner prescribed by law or this constitution.

Sec. 12. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the armed forces and may call them out to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion.

Sec. 13. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies in the senate or house of representatives. Any such election shall be held in a manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 14. The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and limitations as he may direct, subject to procedures and regulations prescribed by law. He shall inform the legislature annually of each reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, stating reasons therefor.

Sec. 15. The governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

Sec. 16. The governor may convene the legislature at some other place when the seat of government becomes dangerous from any cause.

Proposed expenditures from any fund shall not exceed the estimated revenue thereof. The governor may submit amendments to appropriation bills to be offered in either house during consideration of the bill by that house, and shall submit bills to meet deficiencies in current appropriations.

Sec. 19. The governor may disapprove any distinct item or items appropriating moneys in any appropriation bill. The part or parts approved shall become law, and the item or items disapproved shall be void unless re-passed according to the method prescribed for the passage of other bills over the executive veto.

Sec. 20. No appropriation shall be a mandate to spend. The governor, with the approval of the appropriating committees of the house and senate, shall reduce expenditures authorized by appropriations whenever it appears that actual revenues for a fiscal period will fall below the revenue estimates on which appropriations for that period were based. Reductions in expenditures shall be made in accordance with procedures prescribed by law. The governor may not reduce expenditures of the legislative and judicial branches or from funds constitutionally dedicated for specific purposes.

Sec. 21. The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be elected for four-year terms at the general election in each alternate even-numbered year.

The lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be nominated by party conventions in a manner prescribed by law. In the general election one vote shall be cast jointly for the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor nominated by the same party.

Vacancies in the office of the secretary of state and attorney general shall be filled by appointment by the governor.

Sec. 22. To be eligible for the office of governor or lieutenant governor a person must have attained the age of 30 years, and have been a registered elector in this state for four years next preceding his election.

Sec. 23. The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall each receive the compensation provided by law in full payment for all services performed and expenses incurred during his term of office. Such compensation shall not be changed during the term of office except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

Sec. 24. An executive residence suitably furnished shall be provided at the seat of government for the use of the governor. He shall receive an allowance for its maintenance as provided by law.

Sec. 25. The lieutenant governor shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided. He may perform duties requested of him by the governor, but no power vested in the governor shall be delegated.

Sec. 26. In case of the conviction of the governor on impeachment, his removal from office, his resignation or his death, the lieutenant governor, the elected secretary of state, the elected attorney general and such other persons designated by law shall in that order be governor for the remainder of the governor's term.

In case of the death of the governor-elect, the lieutenant governor-elect, the secretary of state-elect, the attorney general-elect and such other persons designated by law shall become governor in that order at the commencement of the governor-elect's term.

If the governor or the person in line of succession to serve as governor is absent from the state, or suffering under an inability, the powers and duties of the office of governor shall devolve in order of precedence until the absence or inability giving rise to the devolution of powers ceases.

The inability of the governor or person acting as governor shall be determined by a majority of the supreme court on joint request of the president pro tempore of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives. Such determination shall be final and conclusive. The supreme court shall upon its own initiative determine if and when the inability ceases.

Sec. 27. The legislature shall provide that the salary of any state officer while acting as governor shall be equal to that of the governor.

Sec. 28. There is hereby established a state highway commission, which shall administer the state highway department and have jurisdiction and control over all state trunkline highways and appurtenant facilities, and such other public works of the state, as provided by law.

The state highway commission shall consist of four members, not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. They shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate for four-year terms, no two of which shall expire in the same year, as provided by law.

There is hereby established a civil rights commission which shall consist of eight persons, not more than four of whom shall be members of the same political party, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for four-year terms not more than two of which shall expire in the same year. It shall be the duty of the commission in a manner which may be prescribed by law to investigate alleged discrimination against any person because of religion, race, color or national origin in the enjoyment of the civil rights guaranteed by law and by this constitution, and to secure the equal protection of such civil rights without such discrimination. The legislature shall provide an annual appropriation for the effective operation of the commission.

The commission shall have power, in accordance with the provisions of this constitution and of general laws governing administrative agencies, to promulgate rules and regulations for its own procedures, to hold hearings, administer oaths, through court authorization to require the attendance of witnesses and the submission of records, to take testimony, and to issue appropriate orders. The commission shall have other powers provided by law to carry out its purposes. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to diminish the right of any party to direct and immediate legal or equitable remedies in the courts of this state.

Appeals from final orders of the commission, including cease and desist orders and refusals to issue complaints, shall be tried de novo before the circuit court having jurisdiction provided by law.

ARTICLE VI

Judicial Branch

Sec. 1. The judicial power of the state is vested exclusively in one court of justice which shall be divided into one supreme court, one court of appeals, one trial court of general jurisdiction known as the circuit court, one probate court, and courts of limited jurisdiction that the legislature may establish by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 2. The supreme court shall consist of seven justices elected at non-partisan elections as provided by law. The term of office shall be eight years and not more than two terms of office shall expire at the same time. Nominations for justices of the supreme court shall be in the manner prescribed by law. Any incumbent justice whose term is to expire may become a candidate for re-election by filing an affidavit of candidacy, in the form and manner prescribed by law, not less than 180 days prior to the expiration of his term.

Sec. 3. One justice of the supreme court shall be selected by the court as its chief justice as provided by rules of the court. He shall perform duties required by the court. When a judge dissents in whole or in part he shall give in writing the reasons for his dissent.

Sec. 7. The supreme court may appoint, may remove, and shall have general supervision of its staff. It shall have control of the preparation of its budget recommendations and the expenditure of moneys appropriated for any purpose pertaining to the operation of the court or the performance of activities of its staff except that the salaries of the justices shall be established by law. All fees and perquisites collected by the court staff shall be turned over to the state treasury and credited to the general fund.

Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. These limitations may be increased to an aggregate of not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation, for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one time, if approved by a majority of the electors, qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this constitution, voting on the question.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township, charter authority or other authority, the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property shall be used exclusively for assistance to townships, cities and villages, on a population basis as provided by law. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and adjustment of claims against the state shall be prescribed by law.

Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings, audit reports and other reports of public moneys shall be public records and open to inspection. A statement of all revenues and expenditures of public moneys shall be published and distributed annually, as provided by law.

Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby.

Financial benefits arising on account of service rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during that year and such funding shall not be used for financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

[ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE]

What the Proposed
New State Constitution Means to You

- A report to the people of Michigan by their elected delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62.

Lansing, Michigan

August 1, 1962

No change from Sec. 28, Article V, of the present constitution except for improvement in phraseology.

Prohibition against death penalty.

Sec. 46. No law shall be enacted providing for the penalty of death.

This is a new section prohibiting the death penalty in Michigan. It establishes in the constitution a legislative ban which this state has had since 1846. Except for treason, which today is more a matter of federal than state significance, our state has not had the death penalty since 1846.

Chaplains.

*Sec. 47. The legislature may authorize the employment of * chaplains in state institutions of detention or confinement. *****

This is a revision of Sec. 26, Article V, of the present constitution to clarify the legislature's power to provide chaplains for state institutions. The right is strictly limited to prisons, mental institutions and other places where people are voluntarily or involuntarily confined.

The last clause of the present section relating to appropriation of money for religious services in the legislature is eliminated as unnecessary.

Sec. 48. The legislature may  enact laws providing for the resolution of disputes concerning public employees, except those in the state classified civil service.

This is a revision of Sec. 7, Article XVI, of the present constitution to make it clear that the legislature has power to establish procedures for settling disputes in public employment. The section does not specify what the procedure shall be, but leaves that decision to future legislatures. The state classified civil service is exempted because the constitution has specific provisions in this area.

Regulation of employment.

*Sec. 49. The legislature  may enact laws relative to the hours and conditions * of employment.*

No change from Sec. 29, Article V, of the present constitution except for improvement in phraseology.

Atomic energy.

Sec. 50. The legislature may provide safety measures and regulate the use of atomic energy and forms of energy developed in the future, having in view the general welfare of the people of this state.

This is a new section dealing with the emerging problems involved in atomic energy and other forms of energy which may be developed in the future. The legislature is authorized to provide safety measures and regulate the use of these new developments.

The section is declaratory in nature and does not endow the legislature with any additional authority. It simply points the way in which the people of Michigan believe the legislature ought to move.

Public health.

Sec. 51. The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern. The legislature shall pass suitable laws for the protection and promotion of the public health.

This is a new section, declaratory in character, instructing the legislature to adopt whatever public health measures it deems appropriate.

Natural resources.

Sec. 52. The conservation and development of the natural resources of the state are hereby declared to be of paramount public concern in the interest of the health, safety and general welfare of the people. The legislature shall provide for the protection of the air, water and other natural resources of the state from pollution, impairment and destruction.

This is a new section recognizing public concern for the conservation of natural resources and calling upon the legislature to take appropriate action to guard the people's interest in water, air and other natural resources.

Auditor general.

Sec. 53. The legislature by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint an auditor general, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of eight years. He shall be ineligible for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as auditor general and for two years following the termination of his service. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. The auditor general shall conduct post audits of financial transactions and accounts of the state and of all branches, departments, offices, boards, commissions, agencies, authorities and institutions of the state established by this constitution or by law, and performance posts audits thereof.

The auditor general upon direction by the legislature may employ independent accounting firms or legal counsel and may make investigations pertinent to the conduct of audits. He shall report annually to the legislature and to the governor and at such other times as he deems necessary or as required by the legislature. He shall be assigned no duties other than those specified in this section.

Nothing in this section shall be construed in any way to infringe the responsibility and constitutional authority of the governing boards of the institutions of higher education to be solely responsible for the control and direction of all expenditures from the institutions' funds.

The auditor general, his deputy and one other member of his staff shall be exempt from classified civil service. All other members of his staff shall have classified civil service status.
