Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

FIFTY-FOURTH DAY

Wednesday, January 10, 1962, 2:00 o'clock p.m.

PROCEEDINGS

PRESIDENT NISBET: The convention will please come to order.

The invocation today will be given by Mr. L. Edsil Dale, Professor of New Testament and Church History, Great Lakes Bible College, Lansing, Minister of the Church of Christ, Charlotte, Michigan.

Will you please rise.

PROFESSOR DALE: Our Father and our God, our help in ages past, our hope in years to come, we thank Thee for the powers that be which are ordained of Thee. Grant and hasten the day, our Father, when the governments of men on this earth may humbly acknowledge the source and finality of all human powers—that both our wisdom and our strength come from Thee. May the leaders of our great nation constantly seek strength and wisdom from Thee.

And now, in this historic session of these lawmakers of this, our own state, grant guiding wisdom and quiet courage, mingled with faith and foresight, to accept their responsibility and proceed in a proper manner to reframe our guiding principles for good government and Christian conduct. May the decisions of this earnest effort become a worthy example to our sister states and our nation.

To this end let Thy blessing rest upon this daily session, we pray in the name of Christ. Amen.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The roll call will be taken by the secretary. Those present, please vote aye.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Referred to the committee of the whole and placed on the general orders calendar.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Martin, for the committee on executive branch, introduces Committee Proposal 18, A proposal to provide for a great seal

The Chair will advise now that the motion to postpone until Thursday has prevailed.

Dr. Pollock.

MR. POLLOCK: A parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Chairman. Does that mean this committee does not report out to the convention the proposal as finally amended?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: That is correct.

MR. POLLOCK: Section 10 of article II?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: That is right.

MR. POLLOCK: In other words, that remains in the committee of the whole?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: That is right.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on executive branch, by Mr. Martin, chairman, Committee Proposal 16, A proposal to permit the governor to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons and to delegate this power according to law. Amends article VI, section 9.

Following is Committee Proposal 16 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

[He may] THE GOVERNOR SHALL HAVE POWER TO grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except [treason and] cases of impeachment[.]. [upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons.] HE MAY DELEGATE SUCH POWERS SUBJECT TO SUCH PROCEDURES AS PRESCRIBED BY LAW. [Upon conviction for treason, he may suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the legislature at its next session, when the legislature shall either pardon or commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence or grant a further reprieve.] He shall communicate to the legislature at each session information of each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon granted and the reasons therefor.

Mr. Martin, chairman of the committee on executive branch, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 16:

It is felt that the governor should not be required personally to handle all applications for reprieves, commutations or pardons; but should be allowed to delegate this to a statutory authority. In fact, that has been the method of procedure since 1893 when a board of pardons with advisory functions was established in Michigan by statute. The general functions of this board are now carried on by the parole board in the department of corrections. While its powers are still advisory, its hearings and recommendations to the governor are generally accepted and followed. The governor's duties are too strenuous to require him to handle all the details of this function in person.

The crime of treason is defined by the present state constitution (article II, section 21), and the committee on rights, suffrage and elections has recommended retention of this provision. The legislature has full power to provide for the punishment of treason. The federal government does, however, operate almost exclusively in this area. The definition of treason in the United States constitution and the Michigan constitution are essentially the same. The committee believes that treason should be treated in the same manner as other crimes and offenses, insofar as reprieves, commutations, and pardons are concerned, and has so provided.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, the committee on executive branch feels that the present provision in the constitution is unduly detailed and restrictive so far as questions of parole and commutation of sentences are concerned.

The general practice is today, and has been for many years, to delegate these functions to another body so that the governor doesn't have to carry out all these detailed functions himself. The committee felt that this practice should be recognized.

The committee also felt that the crime of treason, which is defined in the constitution in the same way as it is in the federal constitution, and with respect to which the legislature has full power to provide punishment, and also power to provide a limitation on pardons if it wishes to do so, might properly be left to the decision of the legislature.

That is the reason behind the committee proposal.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Are there any amendments to Proposal 16? If not, it will be passed.

Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I would like to raise one point in regard to this. I am a little bit disturbed about this idea that the governor shall be permitted to delegate his power of pardon. I recognize the problem; that is that in this day and age the governor has to receive the recommendation of a parole board and whatnot. That's already contemplated in our present constitution, where it says: "... subject to regulation provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardon." But the constitution doesn't, at least in its present language, connote in my mind that the governor has the power to delegate this responsibility. If he delegates the responsibility to some other person or body, then, of course, he escapes the responsibility himself.

I admit I haven't had the benefit of the careful examination and the thought the committee gave to this but I wish that Mr. Martin could elucidate a little bit further about the wisdom of permitting the governor to delegate a responsibility. As I say, once a responsibility is delegated to others, then it is no longer his.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Hutchinson, the authority is permissive. The legislature can provide as it sees fit in that regard and the governor is not required to delegate in any given instance. If he wishes, however, to delegate, he would be permitted to do so under this provision.

MR. HUTCHINSON: That is what I understand, Mr. Martin. My point is I don't think it is a good policy to permit him to delegate. I think it is a very necessary policy to provide that he shall have a board or some other group making recommendations to him but I don't think that that constitutes a delegation of power and I feel quite strongly at the moment that to delegate the power, using the word delegate in the constitution, would go much further than we go now. I wonder why it is necessary to go so far.

MR. MARTIN: Well, the thought of the committee was that thorough and careful study is given to these problems by people who are assigned to them and work with them all the time and that the question should rest with those who are most familiar with the background of the individuals involved and their response to treatment and their general evidence of rehabilitation and of repentance.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, it would appear that what is in mind here is that there will be and continue to be a parole board which, working with the prison officials and examining all these records in detail, will make recommendations to the governor. My question is whether, in Mr. Martin's mind, the words "recommending to the governor" mean the same thing as a delegation by the governor to the parole board in this regard. Do we have the same thing in mind, and are we using different words?

MR. MARTIN: I am not sure that we do. I think that your interpretation is correct; that the governor could delegate, particularly with respect to lesser offenses—if he saw fit to delegate—the full responsibility to the parole board, and to take action with respect to parole or reprieve and commutation.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Martin, is this the concept that is common in many state constitutions?

MR. MARTIN: I can't answer that, Mr. Hutchinson, as to whether it is a common concept. The committee did feel, after considerable discussion, that we have had extensive experience with the course of reviewing the backgrounds of those who have been committed to prison and that we have enough experience with that so that we can properly entrust this responsibility to those people who are most familiar with the backgrounds of the individuals involved.

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, it occurs to me that we are here making a departure from a very historic function of the chief executive; that the power of the chief executive, the governor, or the president in the federal system, over the function of paroles and pardons—well, it goes way back to the very beginning. I wonder whether we want, in this day and age, to remove from the governor that final responsibility in this area. I am frank to say at the moment that I am not persuaded that we should do it.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Are there any amendments to Committee Proposal 16?

SECRETARY CHASE: Miss Donnelly has offered the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1 and the language of lines 8 to 11 by striking out of line 10 the words "He may delegate such powers subject to such procedures as prescribed by law", and reinserting the language as it appears in lines 8 and 9, which read, "Upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons".

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Norris, do you care to speak on this amendment?

MR. NORRIS: No, Mr. Chairman, my original point in standing was to ask a question of the committee chairman which may have some relevance to the Donnelly amendment. I wondered if I might ask her, Mr. Chairman, Mr. Martin, just what kinds of cases or what kinds of problems has experience indicated to justify the proposal?

I appear to understand, in terms of your colloquy with Mr. Hutchinson, that it is just a general proposition here that you address yourself to, a general principle. I wondered what pragmatic history has led to this proposal. Is there a set of facts or set of cases, particular conditions involved in situations where perhaps the power of pardon wasn't properly exercised?

MR. MARTIN: No. The matter is not addressed to any particular case or series of cases or particular injustices. It relates to the experience of the state government over the past 60 years in the handling of these matters and the fact that we have had rather extensive experience in handling the matter through a parole board.

It is possible Mr. Millard may be able to give us more information and may want to make some comment on this. While he was a member of our committee he was chairman of the subcommittee which worked on this proposal. Mr. Millard, do you want to enlighten the delegates any further on this point?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Millard.

MR. MILLARD: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, it was felt by the committee that since the power of commutation of sentences and reprieve is something that is extra curricular for the executive, it primarily should be more in the judicial area. However, according to most of the states, this power of pardon, reprieve and commutation of sentences is lodged in the executive. The executive, however, doesn't have the time to investigate all of the circumstances surrounding the sentencing of any person and consequently doesn't have the time to make such an investigation. Therefore it has been delegated since 1893 to a pardon and parole board, which makes the investigation and reports its facts and findings to the executive. He takes that and acts on it in a position of advisory capacity. Now, he has been doing this all these years, and the committee felt when I was with them—and I am just talking now; I haven't reviewed this since I discussed it in the committee—but the committee felt that inasmuch as the pardon and parole board does the actual work, that it should have the power, or the power should be delegated to it officially to do it. It doesn't have it now except by statute, but it certainly would give it constitutional status so that it will be in a better position to be an adviser to the governor.

As stated in the proposal, it is subject to legislative action, and the legislature will set forth all the necessary rules and procedures governing this pardon and parole board.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Stevens on the Donnelly amendment.

MR. STEVENS: Mr. Chairman, I wish to ask—

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Stevens, just a second. There is a correction to be made.

SECRETARY CHASE: The secretary asks Miss Donnelly's pardon for misinterpreting the amendment she offered. Her amendment is:

1. Amend page 1 by striking out all of lines 6 through 15 and inserting the original language of section 9, article VI of the Constitution of 1908.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Stevens.

MR. STEVENS: Well, perhaps this would not be on the Donnelly amendment. I wanted to ask why, in the case of something so important as pardon, we should deviate from the usually accepted practice both in the state and federal government of making the chief executive responsible for these things. He doesn't do the work but he does have the responsibility. I agree with things Delegate Hutchinson said about this. I think the governor should keep that responsibility. If that is the nature of this amendment, I would support it.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Mahinske on the Donnelly amendment.

MR. MAHINSKE: First of all, a point of information. Does the Donnelly amendment attempt to reinsert the language of lines 11, 12, 13 and 14?

SECRETARY CHASE: Miss Donnelly's amendment was to strike out the new material printed in capital letters in the proposal and reinsert the entire present language of the section as it appears in the Constitution of 1908.

MR. MAHINSKE: Now, before I can decide which side of this I am on, I would like to ask either Mr. Millard or Mr. Martin a question relating to the mechanics of instituting this new language. Which would come first, the delegation of powers absolutely and then the legislative act, or a tentative delegation of powers subject to review of the legislative act, and then an absolute delegation of powers in conformance with the legislative act, or just exactly what are the mechanics you had in mind here?

MR. MARTIN: I believe that, under the language you now have proposed, the legislature would have to pass legislation providing for the procedure to be followed and under such legislation the governor would then have the authority to delegate action on such cases as he thought desirable.

MR. MAHINSKE: My question is, would the legislation be binding on the governor if it came back objectionable to the governor?

MR. MARTIN: The legislation would be binding on the governor if passed and approved by the legislature and approved by the governor; not vetoed by the governor.

MR. MAHINSKE: In reality, what we would have is the governor saying to the legislature, I want to delegate my power of parole and you take it from there, and they could delegate this to something other than the parole board—the probation department. They could set up a new kind of commission, if they wanted to, or handle it themselves.

MR. MARTIN: No, I think the governor is not obligated. The legislation, the provision, is permissive. It says he may delegate. It doesn't require him to delegate. Unless there was some implementing legislation, it would not now be possible to delegate.

MR. MAHINSKE: Should the governor specify in his delegation prior to the legislation being enacted, exactly what program he had in mind?

MR. MARTIN: He could make recommendation to the legislature as to what kind of legislation he wants but he couldn't prescribe the legislation.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Hubbs on the Donnelly amendment.

MR. HUBBS: Mr. Chairman, my fellow delegates, in the event this question should revolve on a legal proposition, I would like to bring this to the attention of the delegates who are not attorneys. I have come to the conclusion that the committee, although seriously interested in doing a good job, has overlooked the condition whereby, in the event somebody was applying for a pardon or reprieve, they might apply to this board or commission and be turned down; but since this consists of a number of people, they would never be able to put the finger right on the any particular man and say, "Are you for this thing or against it?"

I think even though this board or commission does all the work in deciding whether a man should be pardoned or reprieved, the final say of yes or no should rest with one man so the buck could not be passed any further than that. And at this point I think the governor should say yes, this man shall be pardoned or no, he shall not be pardoned. And my point of view is from the standpoint of getting a final say-so, and the final authority should rest with one man; in this case the governor. And I therefore support the Donnelly amendment.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Perras.

MR. PERRAS: I pass.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Senator Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: I pass.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: I would like to ask Miss Donnelly a question.

MR. DEHNKE: I have asked for the floor.

MR. FAXON: I yield.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: You yield to Judge Dehnke?

MR. FAXON: Yes. I just wanted to ask Miss Donnelly a question. I will yield to him.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I am afraid I cannot interpret this language in the way it has been interpreted here now, that the legislature could restrict the governor. This says he may delegate such powers subject to such procedures as may be prescribed by law. In order to provide for the other, it should read he may delegate such powers subject to such restrictions as may be prescribed by law.

It occurs to me that it may be safe enough to delegate this power relative to those who are serving short sentences but it would hardly be advisable to take this responsibility from the governor's shoulders as to life terms or terms for long numbers of years.

It has been said that, under the procedure as we have it now, the governor usually acts upon the recommendation of the parole board. Nevertheless, he must, under our practice, take the final responsibility. On that same theory we have probation officers who make investigations for the courts and recommendations as to what they think the sentence should be. On this theory, they might be asked to delegate to the probation officer the imposition of the sentence.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: I would like to ask Miss Donnelly a question through the Chair: why she is including lines 11, 12 and 13, and part of 14, if by line 7 there is a deletion of the word treason? Why include that in her amendment?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: Because your preface is incorrect. There is no deletion of treason in line 7 in my amendment.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. King.

MR. KING: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I thought I would bring to your attention a couple of paragraphs from the Comparative Analysis of the Michigan Constitution which might shed some light on the discussion. I have no particular point of view I am supporting. It states:

The important powers here dealt with are somewhat judicial in nature, although usually conferred upon the executive with or without restriction. They are generally unrelated to the governor's major area of responsibility in executive administrative matters.

Then it gives a brief rundown of how it is handled in other states. In approximately 1/3 of the states the governor alone may not exercise the power. In most instances it is shared with the board. In some 14 states the legislature may regulate the procedure by law. In the remaining ones—that is, the states—16 including Michigan, the governor's power is relatively unrestricted, with the lawmaking process governing only the manner of applying the pardons.

I don't think it was the intent of the subcommittee, of which I was a member, to take any power away from the governor and I don't think we have done that. We have only provided that power may be delegated and then not by the governor alone but by the legislature.

Now obviously, if the governor wishes under the present system to delegate this power, he can. He can delegate it to his brother-in-law and all he has to do is, when his brother-in-law comes up with the final recommendation, accept it and read it and endorse it. Now, if it is merely a matter of fixing a final responsibility, say in capital cases, upon the governor, I certainly would not object to that, if that is what a majority of the committee would want.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is now upon the Donnelly amendment.

Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, Miss Donnelly's amendment covers 2 matters. It covers the question of whether the legislature should have authority to determine the handling of treason cases as it does murder cases and other cases of serious type, and it also deals with this question of delegation of powers to grant reprieves and pardons. I wonder if it would be possible to consider those 2 questions separately?

If the delegate wishes to do so, lines 8 and 9 relate to this problem of delegation relating to the new language inserted in the middle of that section. The rest of the provision relates to the problem of whether you should treat treason on an entirely separate basis.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Any comments, Miss Donnelly?

MISS DONNELLY: If I understood him, and I am not sure I did, his thought was, one, decide whether this committee wishes the governor to have any power to delegate; two, how they are going to treat treason. Is that correct?

MR. MARTIN: That is correct, yes.

MISS DONNELLY: I am not at all sure why he feels that this is proper, necessary, or even worthwhile. In other words, I am somewhat opposed to it. If you could give me a better argument, I might have to go along, but on the face of it, I cannot see any justification for it. I am sorry if I misunderstood the point.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, is it possible to divide the question in that way?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair wishes to advise it is Miss Donnelly's amendment and she doesn't care to divide the question.

MISS DONNELLY: I don't care to at this point because I cannot see any reason for it. If he can enlarge upon his grounds, I might be perfectly willing to go along with it. Right now I cannot see any reason.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is on the amendment of Miss Donnelly. The Chair recognizes Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Question, Mr. Chairman, of Mr. Martin. Mr. Martin, if an amendment were offered to the committee report to clearly put before us the question of the governor's power, if you change on line 10 the words "may delegate" to "shall exercise", so that it would read "He shall exercise such powers subject to procedures as prescribed by law," would this clearly put before this committee the issue posed by Mr. Hutchinson and yourself, and yet retain the better language of the committee?

MR. MARTIN: That is correct.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is now on the Donnelly amendment. As many as are in favor of the amendment signify by saying aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATES: Division.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: A division has been called for. Is there support? A sufficient number are up. As many as are in favor of the Donnelly amendment will rise.

SECRETARY CHASE: Fifty.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Those opposed.

SECRETARY CHASE: Seventy.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The amendment is not adopted.

Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: I sent an amendment to the secretary's desk which I will ask him to read.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Are there any further amendments to Committee Proposal 16?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Dehnke offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 10 after "to such" by inserting "limitations and"; so the language will then read, "He may delegate such powers, subject to such limitations and procedures as prescribed by law."

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman, that will accomplish, I think, very clearly what the committee seems to have had in mind. It removes any possibility of this amendment being adopted with the thought in mind that the legislature could control it. As it is now worded, they can control only the procedure. With the amendment that I have offered it will read, to repeat: "He may delegate such powers subject to such limitations and procedures as prescribed by law."

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, the committee would have no objection to that amendment.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question now is on the Dehnke amendment. The Chair would like to make this statement before it calls for the vote.

It is very difficult here at times to make an exact determination whether the ayes or nays have it because of some state of lethargy that we get into as we vote and then when the division is called for we get a different situation. So when we call for the vote, let's have the ayes and nays.

Mr. Hodges.

MR. HODGES: Mr. Chairman, I am somewhat confused on this, myself. I would like to ask—of Judge Dehnke, perhaps—does this mean then, that a governor could decide to delegate power, the legislature passes statutes to that effect—for example, anything excepting capital offenses could be decided by a parole board without the governor being involved—and then this would be a limitation on the governor that from here on out he would not have the inherent power to provide a pardon or anything the legislature provided he could delegate?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: It would restrict only his authority to delegate. It says he may delegate these powers to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons subject to such limitations and procedures as the legislature may require.

MR. HODGES: This would in no way affect the inherent power of the governor to at any time, at any place, grant a reprieve, commutation or pardon?

MR. DEHNKE: I don't see how that question could possibly be raised.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is on Mr. Dehnke's amendment.

Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Judge Dehnke, this is not a delegation of the power but a sharing of the power, is that correct? The governor would still retain his inherent power to pardon?

MR. DEHNKE: Yes, but his authority to delegate would be subject to such limitations as the legislature might prescribe or impose.

MR. MAHINSKE: Then we could have the situation where the legislature could tell him he could not delegate power.

MR. DEHNKE: Then he would have to act on his own responsibility in that case and in that type of case.

MR. MAHINSKE: Under the wording of this provision here, would he be able to recall any power once delegated?

MR. DEHNKE: I think that could be construed. That is an entirely different question.

MR. MAHINSKE: In the event he would delegate his power and it was being abused, he would have no right to recall his power?

MR. DEHNKE: I think where he is authorized to delegate powers, he can take them back. That is the general rule. No limitation here.

MR. MAHINSKE: It certainly doesn't say that. It says he shall delegate his power or be empowered to delegate it.

MR. DEHNKE: It says he may.

MR. MAHINSKE: He may; but then, I am asking, if he does, can he absolutely recall his powers?

MR. DEHNKE: I would say so. I don't see any possibility of that being questioned. He probably would delegate that power in any individual case.

MR. MAHINSKE: At the same time retain the exact power that he has delegated. In other words, if a so called commission had refused to commute a sentence, the governor could override the commission and commute the sentence on his own inherent power?

MR. DEHNKE: I would say yes, in the light of the history of that power in the federal government and the state government. His power to grant pardons, reprieves and commutations is supreme. The only thing this would do would be to provide that in certain types of cases he could delegate that to other boards and individuals within such limitations as the legislature might prescribe.

MR. MAHINSKE: If the legislation prescribed an absolute spectrum here for him to delegate and he delegated an absolute power of commutation and pardon, at the same time you are saying he retains an absolute power, inherently.

MR. DEHNKE: I think I have answered this to the best of my ability, Mr. Mahinske. I think the power is supremely in the governor. This is an attempt to authorize him to relieve himself of that responsibility, at least to some extent, and the committee, by voting adversely on the Donnelly amendment, indicated that it was not out of sympathy with such an attempt.

This motion is made for amendment so as to give the legislature some authority to impose limitations. This is an important power of the governor. In my experience, at least one governor, I think admittedly, was defeated for renomination by his own party because of the public's dissatisfaction with the manner in which he had handled this power. I question very much whether the people of the state want to have this question administered in such a way that the responsibility will rest on a board or a group or some other individual rather than on the governor himself.

MR. MAHINSKE: But then, under the proposed change in the constitutional article itself, subject to your amendment, the governor would still have this power himself?

MR. DEHNKE: I don't think there is any doubt about it.

MR. MAHINSKE: Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Judge Dehnke, if the current governor, under this provision of the constitution, asked the legislature to pass a bill—it says in here as by law—that all persons sentenced to 10 years or less could be handled by the power of pardon to be granted to the board of pardons; my first question is, could a subsequent governor, without a new enactment of the legislature, get this power back?

MR. DEHNKE: The form of the statute would be that the governor be authorized to delegate this power as to those cases where the sentences are less than a certain number of years.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Supposing that the governor asks that the legislature authorize him and the bill is so passed that this power is delegated to the board of pardons and parole and a subsequent governor wants to get the power back; can he get it back without a new enactment of the legislature?

MR. DEHNKE: I think all the legislature can do is authorize the governor to delegate if he wishes to.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Second question. If he delegates the power, can he override the board of pardons if he feels it made a mistake either by granting a pardon or refusing to grant a pardon?

MR. DEHNKE: That, I think, would be left to us as in the nature of work for lawyers to do.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Tubbs.

MR. TUBBS: Mr. Chairman, this is a little bit mixed up to me. We are supposed to be dealing with the constitution, about a government that is divided into 3 parts. Article IV seems to indicate that and it also says that there may be some intermingling.

Here is a man who is convicted in a court of law under the judicial branch. Now the governor, under the executive branch, is going to pardon him but the legislature is going to tell him what to do and how to do it. I suspect we ought to leave this to the executive branch. If he wants to delegate the power, let him. But Mr. Dehnke's amendment would not be a procedural amendment as it is in the committee's report, but would also be a matter of substance, and the legislature could bar his right to delegate.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Everett.

MR. EVERETT: I am inclined to agree with Mr. Tubbs. I think that we are confusing the power and the responsibility of pardons with the mechanics of carrying it out. We all recognize that the governor does use the assistance of others in determining when to grant pardons and when not to. I note on page 345 of this large volume that as long ago as 1901 the attorney general of the state ruled that the governor had implied power to employ such assistance as may be required to carry out the pardoning power by investigation and the like; indicating that without this language the governor has the power to use assistants in arriving at a decision without yielding his power or his responsibility.

I agree with Mr. Tubbs that this would give a division of responsibility. It seems to me that it would be better to strike the language entirely, because he has the power to use assistants, and yet the responsibility remains with him, where it should.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I think that brings us back to the very point Mr. Hutchinson raised in opening the discussion. This is not an easy duty and it is not one that would look attractive to any governor. And to pass this in the way it is presented would enable the governor to shift the responsibility in all cases, without qualifications, to somebody else or to some board. The only authority given to the legislature is to prescribe the procedure. That is as far as that goes in the form that it is presented. I think if we are going to adopt it at all, we should have some restriction on it so that he cannot delegate it in all cases, at least.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question now is on the Dehnke amendment. The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The Dehnke amendment is as follows:

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question now is on the Dehnke amendment. As many as are in favor may signify by saying aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted.

Are there any further amendments to Committee Proposal 16?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Hutchinson has filed the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 10, after "may" by striking out "delegate" and inserting "exercise".

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Senator Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I offered this amendment because I sense that in this modern day and age a good many people think that the governor hasn't got time to do this and they want to delegate the power. I don't think the power should be delegated. I think that if the legislature is to provide the restrictions and the procedures, then the governor should exercise the power only in accordance with these restrictions and procedures.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. King.

MR. KING: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, this word "exercise" bothers me a little bit. It seems to me now that we are limiting the power of the governor and I don't think that is what Senator Hutchinson intended, but that is the way I understood it, and I would like to have him explain it, if he would.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, as I read this, it starts out with one sentence that says, "The governor shall have the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment." Now he has that power. As it stands now, the proposal says, "He may delegate such powers subject to such limitations and procedures as prescribed by law."

My feeling is that he ought not to be permitted to delegate the power. If he is going to be governed by restrictions and procedures as prescribed by law, then—if those restrictions and procedures are to mean anything at all—he will have to exercise his power only in accordance with them. If you don't do that, why, there isn't any use in writing a lot of statutes having to do with restrictions and procedures. If you write a lot of statutes relative to restrictions and procedures and then say, well, the governor has the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons irrespective of them, we would be much better off to simply say he has the power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons period, and recognize that it is his power.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Maybe the confusion lies in this:

Senator Hutchinson, on line 10 are the first 2 words on this sheet he may or he shall?

MR. HUTCHINSON: He may.

MR. MAHINSKE: Then if we institute your amendment, we are taking the power away from the governor now, isn't this true?

MR. HUTCHINSON: My sheet says he may delegate. I want to say he may exercise.

MR. MAHINSKE: If we say he may exercise such powers, are we making him subject to the legislative limitations as of the adoption of this new language?

MR. HUTCHINSON: That is absolutely true, Mr. Mahinske, but the committee has already, apparently, indicated support for language which is going to provide for restrictions and procedures.

MR. MAHINSKE: But, as I understand it, the restrictions are on limitations of procedures and will only come into play in the event that the governor would exercise his discretionary power to delegate the power. He may now exercise the power but under this language we are taking the power away from him.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Well then, in that case, Mr. Mahinske, if the legislature should set up a parole board, as it has, and if the legislature has provided that the parole board shall make all these investigations and these recommendations and whatnot to the governor, then, under the language as it now stands, there wouldn't be any place in the picture at all for a parole board, because the only place in which a parole board enters into the picture under the language as it is now proposed would be only as to whether the governor should delegate the power or not.

MR. MAHINSKE: That is the understanding that I have.

MR. HUTCHINSON: I don't think that is a very good policy, Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Isn't this the existing procedure we now have, that the parole board only makes recommendations to the governor?

MR. HUTCHINSON: Yes, they make recommendations but they don't recommend to him whether he delegates his power or not. They recommend to him as to whether or not he issues the pardon.

MR. MAHINSKE: Well, I wonder, on this last point you make, if this is the intent of the committee, that the parole board has any say-so as far as the governor is concerned in the delegation of his power.

MR. HUTCHINSON: I would submit to you that if the proposal stands as it is now, that is where you would be relegating the function of the parole board, because under the present constitution the governor has the power to grant these things, subject to such limitations as he may think proper, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons; now, then, that is the basis for the present power of the parole board, to make recommendations; but then, you strike all that out and you end up with saying that the parole board shall have power to advise the governor whether he should delegate his power to somebody else.

MR. MAHINSKE: I don't have this understanding, myself. The understanding I have now is the governor may, subject to limitations on procedures and so on, set up by the legislature, delegate the power of parole; in this particular instance we would say to the parole board itself; that the parole board could pardon or parole a person without any further contact with the governor at all. This is the understanding I have.

MR. HUTCHINSON: I don't think they should be given that power, to grant that without any further contact with the governor. I think it is necessary to keep the governor in the picture. I feel that, very clearly, the power of the governor in this field admittedly is not executive; admittedly it is judicial, but it is one of those historic checks and balances in our system and I would want to keep it there.

MR. MAHINSKE: This is exactly my feeling on the subject but, with respect to the new words that are put in here, I would hate to go any further than we are going now. With your alteration of going further, we are taking it absolutely out of his hands. Would you agree that possibly we should strike all of line 10 and the first 2 words of line 11 as proposed by the committee here?

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, who does Mr. Mahinske direct his question to?

MR. MAHINSKE: To you, yourself.

MR. HUTCHINSON: To me. You ask if we should strike out the new language?

MR. MAHINSKE: I mean, would this be your sentiment?

MR. HUTCHINSON: And that leaves nothing, just strike it out entirely and say nothing else?

MR. MAHINSKE: Well, I think we possibly both voted the same way here, to strike this language.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Well, we did.

MR. MAHINSKE: Correct. I am not satisfied with what we have here over and above what we voted for and I think that your alteration would go even further than we have gone now; which is distasteful to you and me.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, I don't suppose it is my responsibility to clarify Mr. Hutchinson's point but I think his amendment clearly presents the difference of opinion; because if we do not have the word "delegate" in there, the governor obviously cannot delegate. Therefore, his amendment, which would insert the word "exercise" states the difference of opinion clearly, and I think that if the committee can vote on that point it will arrive at a sound solution; either his or the committee's original report.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask Mr. Hutchinson if I understand his reasoning correctly. As I see the present constitution, the governor has absolute power to grant these pardons and so forth, with the only limitation being the regulation by law as to the manner of applying for a pardon. Or, it is assumed that the legislature could not prohibit the application of pardon but could make appropriate regulation.

If we change "may" to "exercise" it would seem to me that then the governor could exercise only those powers that he now has, subject to procedures that go beyond the manner of applying for pardons. In other words, changing "delegate" to "exercise" would make a limitation on the governor he does not now have.

I can see that this is difficult language to construe, but I just wanted to get Mr. Hutchinson's further thinking, if he would care to give it.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I would like to reply to Mr. Downs in this way. As I understand the practical meaning of the present provision, the governor, while he may, as a theoretical thing, have the power to simply sign a pardon without any previous investigation, or whatnot, still the law says—the laws which have been enacted to carry out this phase, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons—that since there is a law regulating the manner of applying for pardons, the governor's power is thereby limited. He can act upon an application for pardon only if that application has been submitted in accordance with the procedures set forth in law. That is what it says here now.

MR. DOWNS: Isn't there the additional limitation where your language says he may exercise such powers which provide for legislative limitations beyond the manner of applying for the pardon?

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, of course, here we are. We are writing a constitution, and it is very wise to consider these things in every aspect. It really should require a lot of very serious thought. All I can say is that, as I see it right now, and after listening to the debate, and after reading what we have here, and after remembering what the statutes have to say implementing the present provisions, I do not think that the actual power of the governor under my proposed amendment would be any less than it is today.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. Hutchinson, before you sit down. Would not the language be better if it read that he "shall" exercise rather than "may" and strike out the language added by Judge Dehnke's amendment, so that it clearly reads that he shall exercise such power according to procedures established by law? Isn't this clearly stating your position; that he shall exercise them; that it is his sole power and responsibility; that the sole power of the legislature is to prescribe procedures?

If the legislature is also allowed to prescribe restrictions, I would agree with Judge Dehnke's amendment if we delete the word delegate, but if we say he will exercise or shall exercise subject to restrictions by law, it is conceivable that the restrictions make the power a nullity. All we want to do is give the legislature power to provide for orderly procedures, not restrictions. Am I correct?

MR. HUTCHINSON: I think you are stating my case very clearly. I am impressed with the persuasiveness of your argument. However, as the ball bounced here, Judge Dehnke's amendment came up ahead of mine.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. Hutchinson, I have an amendment here which is very similar to yours, and that is why I raise it.

MR. HUTCHINSON: I will withdraw mine.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mine merely says "shall". If you would consent to amend yours, we could dispose of the 2 of them at once.

MR. HUTCHINSON: How would you take care of Judge Dehnke's amendment?

MR. W. F. HANNA: I would ask Mr. Chase to quickly write in to remove the language added by Judge Dehnke. (laughter)

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: In honesty to the committee, I have to say if you adopt the amendment prepared by Mr. Hutchinson you should strike out my amendment because, if it is left in that form, you would enable the legislature to take away the governor's power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons.

SECRETARY CHASE: Does the secretary, then, understand that the agreement is between Messrs. Hutchinson and Hanna to revise the amendment so that it will read:

1. Amend page 1, line 10, after "He" by striking out "may delegate" and inserting "shall exercise"; and after "to such" by striking out "limitations and"; so the language will then read, "He shall exercise such powers subject to such procedures as prescribed by law."

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Does the Chair understand that Senator Hutchinson withdraws his amendment and we are now on the Hanna amendment? It would be Hanna and Hutchinson in the revised form.

The Chair recognizes Mr. Binkowski.

MR. BINKOWSKI: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Martin, calling your attention to page 129, respecting the case in article VI, section 9, in 334 Michigan 306, it says, "The power of pardon and commutation of sentence is vested exclusively in the governor, and any law restricting such power is unconstitutional." Would not the committee's proposal weaken the power of the governor in this area, Mr. Martin?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: The committee's proposal, in our opinion, does not weaken the governor's authority but it does give the governor authority to delegate. Mr. Hutchinson's amendment has been perfected by Mr. Hanna's amendment, and clearly presents the other point of view which would not permit the governor to delegate but would allow the legislature to provide procedures as to whatever action he does take within the scope of his power.

MR. BINKOWSKI: Well, Mr. Martin, are you implying that the attorney general's opinion is wrong in that the governor does not have the implied power to seek assistance in this area?

MR. MARTIN: I think he has the implied power, but the original amendment, the original provision had specifications to make it clear as to what authority he has to get additional information and dig into the thing. I see no harm in that.

MR. BINKOWSKI: Well then, is the committee's proposal to give the legislature more power and authority in this area, which they did not have?

MR. MARTIN: The committee didn't put the provisions of limitation in, but the committee's proposal did give the legislature general authority to lay down the procedures if the governor is allowed to delegate that authority.

The difference is that, in the one case, he can actually delegate some portion of that authority; he could delegate it all. We want to make that clear. Under Mr. Hanna's amendment he could not delegate the ultimate responsibility, but he could operate through the parole board and have them gather whatever information he needs.

MR. BINKOWSKI: Mr. Martin, there is a difference between power and authority, and I am wondering if the terms are being confused, or am I being confused by the use of these terms?

MR. MARTIN: I don't think so, but I do think Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. Hanna's amendment clearly states the question.

MR. BINKOWSKI: On the basis of what has been said, I would favor the Hutchinson-Hanna amendment.

MR. BAGINSKI: Mr. Bledsoe.

MR. BLEDSOE: I would like to ask Mr. Martin if his committee can inform the delegation as to where the applications are filed now under the present system.

MR. MARTIN: I believe they are filed with the parole board.

MR. BLEDSOE: And from there where do they go?

MR. MARTIN: Well, they go into a process of investigation. I am not an expert on this procedure.

MR. BLEDSOE: Don't you think that is the answer to our problem?

MR. MARTIN: I think a recommendation is made to the governor.

MR. BLEDSOE: That is right. The governor exercises the authority if the petitions are filed with the correct institution, the parole board. That's your procedure. Isn't that taken care of now, presently, by legislative enactment?

MR. MARTIN: We wanted to make it clear that the governor has authority to lean on the parole board in this way. I don't think this takes any power away or adds any power.

MR. BLEDSOE: Not at all.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Cudlip.

MR. CUDLIP: Mr. Chairman, I hesitate to arise because of all this debate, but let's get the issue before us again. The committee, in its report, states clearly, and that is its privilege, that it desires that this power be delegated by the chief executive to another body to determine the matter of reprieves and commutations. That is not now the law. The only thing, they say as prescribed by law.

The present constitution only gives the legislature the power to determine the law with respect to the manner, the mechanics of applying for the pardon. Otherwise, the chief executive is supreme in the field, just like Governor Pat Brown was when he labored those many nights and days in connection with that famous California case. Mr. Hutchinson started this debate by saying he thinks that power should be retained. The committee believes to the contrary.

We have had a lot of discussion, and good discussion, about what these words do in lines 10 and 11. There have been amendments; they have been withdrawn, as was in the case suggested by Judge Dehnke—withdrawn in view of the Hanna amendment—because that would limit those that wished to have the governor retain this fundamental power, and keep awake nights deciding the fate of man or woman.

It seems to me that there is no answer to this thing, and we've got to grind these things out; to say that if you take out the word "limitations" and leave in the words "procedures as prescribed by law" in lines 10 and 11, even though you insert the word "exercise," because it stands for new meaning as to the right of the legislature to curb the power of the chief executive, if you want him to have that life and death power. Because, as I pointed out, in lines 8 and 9 of the present constitution the legislature has no such power. It is limited to prescribing some rules as to how a man applies mechanically for a pardon.

Now, as to treason, the committee's report clearly states that we should deal with that crime—and I don't say the recommendation is wrong—as we do any other crime, because it is taken care of by federal law, et cetera. But that is the point the committee makes with respect to treason. So, putting that aside for the moment, we are down to a question, as I understand the progress of this debate, as to whether we can settle this by leaving in the words, for example, "the governor," or "he may exercise such powers subject to such procedures as prescribed by law." We have eliminated—we will assume we have—the word "limitations," but that still leaves me in a cloudy position if I were on the side of the chief executive having the full final responsibility, because it changes the meaning of the present constitution, which now gives the legislature only that power as respects the mechanical procedure as to how one gets a pardon.

I am simply again making an observation as I understand the facts.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Upton.

MR. UPTON: Mr. Chairman, as a layman, I am a little confused by all this discussion. I personally hope I am never called before the pardon board, and I think that in my terminology and thinking the governor should and shall have the right of pardon and not have to be restricted by the legislature, which I feel this amendment does.

Personally, I would rather see lines 10 and 11 taken out altogether, and I have an amendment with the secretary on this matter. Therefore I would oppose this amendment, which I feel does water down the governor's power of pardon.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Everett.

MR. EVERETT: I pass.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Fellow delegates, I believe that I would support the committee's proposal as amended by Judge Dehnke, and I think he stated it fairly clearly when he was explaining it the first time. As I understand it, this does not limit the power of the governor to pardon; it only limits him if he chooses to delegate it. It limits the power to delegate, not the power to pardon. If he chooses to exercise, in his discretion, the power to delegate, then he only can do so upon such limitations and procedures as prescribed by the legislature, which I think is proper. I think also that the governor could certainly say to the legislature: This is the kind of a law that I want, because if I don't get it I won't exercise my power to delegate it.

I think the governor would have a very strong voice in determining the type of legislation that would be passed, because if the legislature did not pass the kind of procedures that he wanted, then he could choose not to exercise his power to delegate.

But if I am correct in understanding Judge Dehnke's explanation the first time—am I correct, Judge?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Higgs, the conflict of ideas on this amendment is whether or not the governor shall be allowed to delegate the power to pardon in any case.

If you put in the language now proposed, that he may exercise such power subject to such procedures as prescribed by law, then the procedure is prescribed, but he has no authority to delegate even with the consent of the legislature. That is the real issue on this amendment, as I see it. Do we want to give him the power to delegate it in such cases as the legislature approves, or do we want to require him to take the full responsibility in all cases, subject merely to the procedural rules the legislature may adopt?

MR. HIGGS: Then, Judge Dehnke, I think what you are saying is that, in speaking to the Hutchinson amendment, this would be the effect of changing the word "delegate" to "exercise," but if we retain the words "he may delegate," then we are not actually restricting the power of the governor at all; we are enlarging his power.

MR. DEHNKE: The Hutchinson amendment is withdrawn; but I understand the amendment that is now pending is essentially the same thing. That is the real issue, whether he is to be required to exercise the authority on his own responsibility in every case, or whether he shall be allowed to delegate it in such cases as the legislature authorizes.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair feels there may be some misunderstanding as to the wording in this amendment. The secretary will read it.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment as proposed by Messrs. Hutchinson and Hanna is as follows:

1. Amend page 1, line 10, after "He" strike out the words "may delegate" and insert "shall exercise"; and after the words "to such" strike out "limitations and"; so that the language will read, "He shall exercise such powers subject to such procedures as prescribed by law."

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: I would like to take issue with Judge Dehnke and agree with Bill Cudlip. Under the language herein contained, "He shall exercise such powers subject to such procedures . . .", the legislature could enact procedures which would make it almost impossible to perfect an application for a pardon, or whatever instrument you are interested in, for reprieve or commutation of sentence.

I wonder if Mr. Hanna would feel it would do great harm to his amendment to reinstate the original language and in line 9 say, "He shall exercise such power subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardon." That is one place in our law which is subject to such procedures. You could have so many procedures you couldn't do it.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Miss Donnelly, I think "procedures" is one word for all of line 9.

MISS DONNELLY: You don't think the word procedure is broader than the language in line 9? I can't agree.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, could I reply to Miss Donnelly's question? The word "procedures" is a little broader than the provision "manner of applying for pardon", but it does give the legislature clear authority to set up a parole board. Now if the words "shall exercise" are put in there, then clearly the governor cannot delegate his authority, but he can use the parole board and whatever machinery the legislature wants to set up for it.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: I would like to ask Mr. Martin one thing. Is there anywhere in this language any limitation on the setting up of a parole board? I think we are going off on this parole board and that isn't the issue. The issue before us is shall the governor delegate or shall he not be allowed to delegate? The parole board, I think, takes us off the main issue. This doesn't limit the establishment of a parole board, does it?

MR. MARTIN: It clarifies a situation in which the position of the parole board has always been under some question.

MISS DONNELLY: You mean without your language you think there is a question about whether we could have a parole board or not?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I want to agree with Bill Cudlip without taking issue with Judge Dehnke. The real problem that is presented by Mr. Hutchinson's change in wording is that presently the provision as presented by the committee would say that in addition to his general powers of pardon the governor shall be able to delegate this power subject to restrictions set by the legislature. But now, when we take out the words "he may delegate" and say "he shall exercise", then the modification contained later in that sentence says that the legislature has the power to prescribe the manner in which he shall exercise his power for the granting of pardons and paroles.

Now, what this means is the legislature could conceivably pass a statute saying the governor can only pardon somebody after he has done steps 1, 2 and 3, or after the man has done steps 1, 2 and 3 or any number of conceivable conditions that would be stricken down by the court as being totally unreasonable, and, as a matter of fact, not only are we taking away the governor's power to delegate—or not giving him the power to delegate, rather, as the committee originally intended—but we are, in addition to that, limiting the present power that the governor has to pardon on the spot, so to speak, by saying he shall only be able to pardon under such conditions, and this means upon such rules as the legislature may prescribe. This is a lot less than the power of the governor presently to grant pardons and paroles, and this is very dangerous.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Pellow.

MR. PELLOW: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask Mr. Martin a question. Am I correct in assuming that Michigan would be the only state in the union to shift the burden of responsibility from the governor to a parole board if this committee's proposal is adopted?

MR. MARTIN: The answer to that is no. This is the case in several states. In certain states it is the responsibility of the board of pardons, of which the governor is a member, and in 2 states it is a matter for the board of paroles. In one or two states it apparently is the power of the legislature.

MR. PELLOW: Apparently we have different authorities on that. That is why I raise the question. However, it seems to me, also, that this is going to establish a dangerous precedent. If, for example, you have a first degree murder conviction and you are going to allow a parole board to assume the responsibility of the governor, who is elected by and responsible to the people of the state of Michigan, I can see cases where a weak governor takes office, and wants to shift the burden of responsibility from himself to another body, and I think for that reason this proposal should be defeated.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Hubbs.

MR. HUBBS: I spoke earlier in support of the Donnelly amendment and apparently, I gather since, the reason her amendment didn't carry was because it was somewhat too sweetened and it left in the reference to treason and upon conviction of treason. I think that if we here could settle down on the words starting with

The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. He shall communicate to the legislature . . . and so on. In other words, Mr. Cudlip stated it quite forcefully that we have got to leave that part in, I think, and prevent the governor from delegating away his pardoning authority.

When we can reach words to that effect, I would vote in favor of it.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. Chairman, first of all, I would like to point out that it is not so clear in my mind that we have reached the issue in the form we wish to get to it.

I think there is no doubt that the issue is, should the governor be allowed to get rid of his responsibility absolutely as he wishes to? I believe that most of us do not wish him to have that power. We wish him to have an absolute power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, and we wish him not to be able to get rid of it and I think we all got what we wished. I believe that is the question, whether that is what we wish or not.

Now, the question that is before us is not quite the same question. The question that is before us in the Hanna amendment is whether the language now proposed will do that—whether we raise that exact issue. Mr. Martin has said that it will. I believe some other people said that it will, also. But others have said, and I believe quite correctly, that the issue as framed now would only strike a glancing blow at the main issue, and do a lot of harm. The language that is proposed now is that he shall exercise such powers subject to something or other. That means that he can only exercise such powers subject to something or other, and not otherwise. Therefore, there is no question in my mind that there is some limit now, if the Hanna amendment is adopted, that the governor would have less power than he had before. His power would be limited. It is true, presumably, it would only be limited procedurally, but we don't exactly know how many procedures might be placed on the governor.

In any event, it certainly is not enlarging the governor's power, and it is not even keeping it even. It is definitely reducing it. That is, I believe, not what we wish to accomplish. What we wish to accomplish is to keep the governor's power exactly where it was; not to reduce it and not to increase it, but to make sure that he has the responsibility and that he bears it.

The reason I rise at this point is not only to point out that the Hanna amendment would not quite do it, but there is another way which would quite do it. I think Mr. Hubbs hit the nail on the head when he spoke a minute ago, and Mr. Cudlip, too, that when we voted, we voted on a double issue. When Mr. Martin asked Miss Donnelly whether she would divide the question and she refused to do so, we had to vote on 2 issues at once. We are not positive what the results would be if we had voted on the only issue we debated for about 2 hours.

I believe the correct procedure at this point, if we can get to it, is to do what Mr. Hubbs suggested—and, I might add, I have an amendment pending, or it will be pending soon, which will do the same thing. That is, it will strike all the language as it is presented in lines 10 and 11 and reinstate all the language in lines 8 and 9. That would give us a chance to vote exactly on the issue that I believe we wish to vote on, and I believe that if we settle for the language that is now before us, we would actually be doing harm. It seems to me we ought to have a right to vote on that issue in a bare sense, so to speak.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Senator Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, in order that we might get to this—and I know there is an amendment presently on the desk to accomplish just what Mr. Nord mentioned because Mr. Hubbs sent it up—I would like to ask Mr. Hanna if he would agree with me that we can, at this time, withdraw this joint amendment that we offered and remind Mr. Hanna that if the reinsertion of the present language in lines 8 and 9 are, in his opinion, unduly wordy, that both he and I are on the style and drafting committee and we can argue it out there.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. Hutchinson, I have no objection to withdrawing mine. We could withdraw the amendment which we styled and drafted on the floor here by substituting "subject to such regulations as shall be prescribed," in line 9, so that it would read, simply, "grant reprieves," and so forth, "subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons."

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I would just like to suggest that, in an effort to get on with this—and keeping in mind there seems to be quite a lot of sentiment on the floor, at the moment at least, for reinstating both lines 8 and 9—if we would agree to let that go through, Mr. Hanna, and then if you think that the wording in line 8 is unnecessary for some reason or other, we can draft this thing in style and drafting like we think it ought to be. (laughter)

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. Hutchinson, I cannot understand. In line 8 you say "upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations," and then it says, "as he may think proper." Now, if those refer strictly to the governor—I think the issue we want to place before the committee is—the governor alone shall have the power, and the legislature shall only have power to make regulations as to the manner of applying for a pardon.

MR. HUTCHINSON: You are right.

MR. W. F. HANNA: I object to the language in line 8, "upon such conditions and with such restrictions."

MR. HUTCHINSON: Now if you want to debate upon the value of the language in line 8, "upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper,"—

MR. W. F. HANNA: I think that language is superfluous.

MR. HUTCHINSON: If it is superfluous, wouldn't you think you and I can knock it out in style and drafting?

MR. W. F. HANNA: And then somebody will accuse us of changing the substance of the meaning of the committee's report.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Well, it wouldn't be if it is superfluous.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chair recognizes Mr. Marshall.

MR. MARSHALL: I will withdraw my amendment which is on the secretary's desk to get the position clearly before the body.

SECRETARY CHASE: The secretary, then, understands that the amendment offered by Senator Hutchinson and Mr. Hanna has been withdrawn.

The next amendment on file on the secretary's desk is one offered by Mr. Everett.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Everett.

MR. EVERETT: I will withdraw that.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Everett withdraws his amendment.

Mr. Faxon has offered an amendment:

1. Strike out lines 10, 11, 12 and 13, and the first 2 words of line 14, and reinsert lines 8 and 9.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: After all this discussion, I think this is the direction in which we ought to go. I filed this amendment after Miss Donnelly didn't want to split the question.

I think the wording in the 1908 constitution, in lines 8 and 9, is really the subject in which we seem to be interested, and I think this language is quite clear.

In a comment made by a previous speaker, reference was made to the fact that since 1894 this power has been with the parole board. It was in the light of that experience that the delegates to the 1907-08 Constitutional Convention inserted the language which my amendment would reinsert in the committee proposal. Since this has been the practice in Michigan for so many years, I don't see any need for changing this provision now and would therefore urge you to reinsert the old language contained in lines 8 and 9.

SECRETARY CHASE: May the secretary point out that the language of Mr. Faxon's amendment on the desk is incorrect, in that the stricken language in lines 11, 12, 13 and 14 is already out of the section, so the amendment should read:

1. Amend page 1, line 7, after "impeachment" by changing the period to a comma, and by striking out all of lines 10 and 11 and reinserting "upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons."

MR. FAXON: Yes, and in the last sentence too. I didn't do anything about that. I still have the last sentence.

SECRETARY CHASE: The last sentence, of course, as printed in lines 14 and 15, still remains in the section.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask Mr. Faxon—the thing is, there are other amendments that are identical to his except in one instance—if he is willing to strike in line 7 the words “treason and”?

MR. FAXON: That I agree to.

MR. MAHINSKE: Then you want lines 6 and 7 to remain as proposed, and reinsert 8 and 9, strike 10, 11, 12 and 13, and the first 2 words in 14, and leave the remainder of 14 and 15 in?

MR. FAXON: Yes, that is correct. Just reinsert lines 8 and 9 and delete the rest.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Iverson.

MR. IVERSON: Mr. Chairman, I believe that Mr. Hubbs would agree that the language of Mr. Faxon's amendment is in substance what he proposed. May I further point out that I believe the words in line 8 are important and should be left in.

Let me call your attention to certain conditions and restrictions which the governor may want to place upon a pardon or a reprieve or a commutation. Particularly on pardons, he may pardon a man for the purpose of being sent back to another country. On reprieves or commutations, he may place conditions upon those reprieves or commutations by way of certain methods of conduct on the part of that prisoner, and I think it is important that that language remain in there. I don't foresee any possibility that style and drafting will have any trouble with respect to that language. I rise to support this amendment.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is on the Faxon amendment. Mr. Marshall, do you want to talk on that?

MR. MARSHALL: No. This is identical to the amendment that Mr. Mahinske and I had, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question now is on the Faxon amendment. As many as are in favor of the amendment will say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted.

Any further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: That likewise takes care of the amendment offered by Mr. Upton, which is now withdrawn; Mr. Nord's amendment; and the amendment by Messrs. Marshall and Mahinske; and by Mr. Hubbs. I believe that is all the amendments that are on file for this particular proposal.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Are there any further amendments to Committee Proposal 16? If not, it will be passed.

Committee Proposal 16, as amended, is passed.

SECRETARY CHASE: Committee Proposal 17.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Yeager.

MR. YEAGER: Mr. Chairman, I move that the committee do now rise.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: As many as are in favor of the motion that the committee do now rise, will signify by saying aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails.

[Whereupon, the committee of the whole having risen, President Nisbet resumed the Chair.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Baginski.

MR. BAGINSKI: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration certain proposals and made several amendments thereto, and the secretary will make a detailed report.

[The following is the amendment recommended by the committee of the whole:

1. Amend page 1, line 7, after “impeachment” by changing the period to a comma and by striking out all of lines 10 and 11 and reinserting “upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons.”.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment recommended by the committee of the whole. Those in favor say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is agreed to.

Committee Proposal 16, as amended, is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 16 as amended and referred to the committee on style and drafting:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to regulations provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardon. He shall communicate to the legislature at each session information of each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon granted and the reasons therefor.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Martin.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on approval of Committee Proposal 9. Those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. President, the committee on style and drafting has made some changes in this proposal. They are not substantive. We think they are an improvement. We recommend that the proposal be approved.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Marshall.

MR. MARSHALL: Mr. President, I'd like to ask a question of the committee on style and drafting as to what the intent is of adding the language. Where the committee proposal read, "subject to regulations provided by law," they added the word "procedures," so it now reads, "subject to procedures and regulations. . . ." Could someone answer that?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Cudlip.

MR. CUDLIP: Mr. President, Mr. Marshall, things have been moving pretty fast here. We did this some time ago. We felt that "limitations" was sufficient and we did not need to add "restrictions," or retain it. We thought that it wasn't necessary to use the word "restrictions;" that "limitations" embraced everything.

MR. MARSHALL: Mr. Cudlip, I refer to line 4—I don't know that I have any objection to this. I just want to know the reason for style and drafting changing the words to "subject to procedures and regulations provided by law" when the committee proposal read "subject to regulations provided by law." In my opinion there is a difference, but I wanted the reasoning of the committee on style and drafting.

MR. CUDLIP: Well, my best recollection is that we thought that "subject to procedures and regulations provided by law" expressed the intent of the convention. I just don't—are you wondering why we used both words there? I yield to Mrs. Cushman.

MRS. CUSHMAN: Mr. President and fellow delegates, we felt that what we were talking about, relative to the manner of applying for pardons, could all be described in the word

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

"procedures" because the manner of applying for pardons was a procedure and we thought that was what the convention meant.

MR. MARSHALL: I accept the explanation. I have no objection. I support the change.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on approval of Committee Proposal 16. Those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

Article IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[.]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. 5. ISLAND AREAS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE CONTIGUOUS BY LAND TO THE COUNTY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of [8] EIGHT persons, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the [2] TWO political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election AT WHICH A GOVERNOR WAS ELECTED preceding each apportionment. ONE HUNDRED THIRTY-FOURTH DAY

Tuesday, May 8, 1962, 9:00 o'clock a.m.

PROCEEDINGS

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The convention will come to order. The delegates will please take their seats.

The invocation today will be delivered by Dr. Ralph J. Danhof, executive secretary and stated clerk of the Christian Reformed Church. Dr. Danhof is from Grand Rapids and is an uncle of Delegate Robert J. Danhof.

REVEREND DANHOF: Let us unite our hearts in prayer. We thank Thee, heavenly Father, that we may call upon Thee. We thank Thee that Thou hast given us a state in which we may live and also exercise the gifts of freedom. We pray that Thou wilt preserve these freedoms for us not only as the state of Michigan but as the United States of America.

We pray, Lord our God, that Thou wilt bless this constitutional convention. Bless these delegates in all of their efforts and grant that they may truly be servants of Thine, for therein lieth our greatness, when we may serve Thee and our fellow men. We beseech Thee that Thou wilt cause Thy favor to rest upon each and every delegate. Use them mightily to promote the cause of justice and freedom for men.

Pardon graciously our sins and favor us as a nation among the nations of the world and cause us to be a good example unto all of them. Pardon all that we do contrary to Thy heavenly will, and may Thy law serve as the guide of true worship; to love Thee above all else and our fellow men as ourselves. In Christ's name we ask it. Amen.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The secretary will take the roll call. All those present will vote aye. Have you all voted? The secretary will record the roll.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Donald Doty, the yeas are 61; the nays are 72.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is not adopted.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Powell offers the following amendment:

1. Amend article V, section 28 (column 2, line 30) after "governor," by inserting "by and"; so the language will then read:

There is hereby established a civil rights commission which shall consist of eight persons, not more than four of whom shall be members of the same political party, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate. . . .

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Is Mr. Powell in the room? Mr. Powell.

MR. POWELL: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I am sure this is not a substantive change. It does not make an iota of difference whether we add these words in there or not, but in our committee on style and drafting we were trying to standardize this phraseology and in this place, apparently, these 2 words were overlooked.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendment offered by Mr. Powell. Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: No objection to that, Mr. President, to that change.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: All those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The amendment is adopted. That is all of the amendments, is it? Are there any further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: That is all.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the passage of article V —

MR. MARSHALL: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Marshall.

MR. MARSHALL: Mr. President and fellow delegates, it is with a great deal of reluctance that I feel compelled to have to speak against the adoption of this article and to urge a no vote. This is brought about, of course, by the refusal of the majority of the delegates in this convention to divide the questions where we could separate the rotten apples from the good ones, so we would have an opportunity to vote on those that we were in accord on and to vote against those that we were not in accord on; but, by the fact that this action was taken, many objectionable features are being crammed down the throats of the minority delegates to this convention.

I would like to take up a few words of the very esteemed and world renowned political scientist from Ann Arbor. He made the statement last night that it was incomprehensible — I think in debate on the floor last night — that it was incomprehensible to him how Delegate Downs or the minority could arrive at a decision to vote no after we had had the deliberative process of give and take in free debate. I want to say to this convention and for the record that precisely what we have not had is free debate in this deliberative body. You heard on the floor here a moment ago by Mr. Brake, Mr. Martin and others, discussion about the compromise, the agreement, the accommodation, the deal — call it what you may — that this was a part of it, and urging the delegates to stick to the deal that was worked out by the majority party. I can say to this convention —

MR. WALKER: Mr. President, a point of order, please.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: State the point.

MR. WALKER: I think it is bad enough that the delegates sell out their principles and convictions with a deal and a compromise, or what have you, but to have the floor of this convention sullied and the record of it sullied by further talk of such a deal is not right. (laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: You may proceed, Mr. Marshall.

MR. MARSHALL: Well, as I was saying when I was so rudely interrupted — call it what you may and, whether you have it in the record or you don't have it in the record, I think the people of the state are aware of what has taken place and I refer to it as an accommodation rather than a deal or an agreement.

There are features in this article that we were in accord on, many of them, the executive reorganization, the term of office for the governor, for the ad board people, the governor and the lieutenant governor running as a team. But on this question of the selection of the ad board, where we have 5 different ways of selecting our state officials as a result of the package deal that was worked out off the floor of this convention, it makes no sense to me whatsoever and I don't know of any precedent anywhere else in the country for this type of a hodgepodge that we have created here. I do not think that the delegates can justify the establishment of this so called highway commission, for one.

As I stated earlier in this convention, I am opposed to any further erosion of our democratic processes and I think the people of this state, the electorate, are intelligent enough to make their own selections at the ballot box when it comes time for selecting those who will serve them in government. I think we are making a grave mistake — a very serious and grave mistake — because there was no great demand on the part of the people of this state prior to the calling of this constitutional convention, or since, to do away with or to take away the right of the people to elect their state highway commissioner and other state officers. I think that this article — and this is why I am speaking against it and urging a no vote — makes a mockery of democracy, and I think if the delegates who are opposed to what was done, in particular as it relates to the highway commission, should vote no on this also, then we would have a chance to correct it and to take the necessary steps to correct these evils.

I can't agree with Dr. Pollock on the statement that he made. If we had had free debate on the floor of this convention on this question then I could go along with him, but I cannot go along with the statement, I cannot go along with what has been done, and the very fact — I know one of the delegates in this convention said to me when I asked him the question: why do we have to buy all of these rotten apples? Why can't we separate those we are in accord on and then debate only on those that are objectionable and those that we have violent disagreement on? I think the statement was that, obviously, the Republican party has come to the conclusion that the only way they can retain control is through the constitution because they don't think the people will accept their philosophy at the polls. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The secretary informs the Chair that there is one additional amendment, which is on the secretary's desk, which the secretary will now report.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Wanger offers the following amendment to article V:

1. Amend article V, section 27 (second column, line 9) after "state" by striking out the comma; so the language will then read, ". . . and such other public works of the state as provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: Briefly, Mr. President and fellow delegates, this is a technical amendment. It is designed to perfect this last line and to remove that comma which could cause interpretation difficulties later on. It is felt that this is a section where we certainly should make it entirely clear and set it out with the clear intent that the phrase "as provided by law" merely modifies "and such other public works of the state." I yield at this time to Mr. Martin.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. President, we have no objection to this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendment offered by Mr. Wanger. Mr. Staiger.

MR. STAIGER: I would ask a question of Mr. Wanger, if I could, through the Chair.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: If the gentleman cares to respond.

MR. STAIGER: Mr. Wanger, it seems to me that by leaving that comma in there, "as provided by law" would then modify "state trunkline highways and appurtenant facilities." Now for what reason do you want to just make that modify the last clause? I think we need flexibility in all 3 of these terms.

MR. WANGER: Well, it could be interpreted as going much farther than the words "state trunkline highways and appurtenant facilities." It could be interpreted as modifying the entire paragraph, since the entire paragraph is just one sentence and that is put on at the end. And that, of course, was clearly not the intent at any time. We have no inconvenience arising—even if it would not modify "state trunkline highways and appurtenant facilities"—because of the flexibility which is given here to "such other public works of the state."

MR. STAIGER: Well, it just seems to me that there is no harm done in letting that phrase modify that whole first clause and I would suggest that we leave it that way.

MR. WANGER: You want to have "as provided by law" modify the rest of the sentence; is that correct?

MR. STAIGER: Yes.

MR. WANGER: You would. Well, it would seem to me that that would entirely defeat the intent of the whole section, because that would mean it would not come into effect at all unless it were provided by law. This would mean that the section was not self executing. The whole purpose here is to have it be self executing and, therefore, I strongly urge you to vote for this amendment, to remove this difficulty.

It may be just a comma, but when we are writing a constitution a comma can make the difference between accomplishing what you intend and not accomplishing it, and that has been so interpreted in many cases in the past. So I strongly urge you to vote for this, to make the intent of this convention clear and, frankly, to avoid the interpretation which Delegate Staiger has suggested he would prefer.

MR. STAIGER: Do I still retain the floor, Mr. President?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Yes.

MR. STAIGER: Well, using Mr. Wanger's interpretation, it would then read, "There is hereby established a state highway commission . . . as provided by law. Then it goes on to explain exactly who would be on the commission. I see no danger in that area. I think it is important to leave some flexibility in these words "all state trunkline highways and appurtenant facilities" and, for that reason, I think that we should leave the comma in there if it will give this interpretation of modifying those terms.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. William Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I would recommend that you defeat the Wanger amendment. We have, for the first time, written into this constitution the term "trunkline highways." Now this is already statutorily defined and we don't know what they are going to say a "trunkline highway" is, and if you adopt the Wanger amendment, we have got to go on in this constitution and define what we mean by a "trunkline highway." We cannot even leave that definition to the state law any more. Then we will have to go into this constitution and define "appurtenant facilities" because if we adopt the Wanger amendment they cannot define that by law. Then you would limit it to "public works" which would be the only thing that could be provided by law.

I think that the comma should stay so that the legislature can classify and provide and define what are "state trunkline highways," what are "appurtenant facilities" and, certainly, there is no problem; they will not give the state highway department anything that is not either a public work, a highway or appurtenant facility.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mrs. Cushman.

MRS. CUSHMAN: No.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Stafseth.

MR. STAFSETH: Mr. President and fellow delegates, we have had a lot of discussion about this comma and what it does, but I will say this: that whether the comma, from a grammatical standpoint, should be in or not, in or out as far as the highway people are concerned, where it says "provided by law" as far as the past precedent, the statutes of the state describe where the trunklines are, they describe what a "trunkline" is, and if you leave the ability or this flexibility to define these things for the legislature, that is as it should be.

Now I would think if you took the comma out, it would only modify as to public works. Now, I am not enough of an English student to know that, but it has always been defined that way and for a very good purpose: one of the reasons that they want to specify what state trunklines are is so you don't get into the situation of having practically every road a state trunkline and diluting the whole fund. Actually, about 10 per cent of the roads in Michigan are state trunklines. About half the money is provided for the state trunklines and the reason for that is that 80 per cent of the traffic uses the state trunklines, so that you want to protect against a dilution of the funds for constructing the main arteries in the state.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: Just briefly, the objection as raised to this amendment has merely to do with the words "state trunkline highways and appurtenant facilities." Now it seems to me that there is no danger of a restrictive interpretation here because of the fact that the legislature is, in the next clause, given the right to confer jurisdiction over "such other public works of the state," so there is no difficulty to speak of, in that section, with that problem but there is a big problem if you take the words "as provided by law" and have them modify the entire paragraph. There is a serious problem, the problem that the legislature, because of some interest group's activities over there or because of a great campaign, may decide not to provide for a highway commission at all, whether or not the constitution sets it up, because it is obvious that unless otherwise provided you cannot mandamus the legislature. Now that is the interpretation problem we are getting into and this amendment will clear it up. The other interpretation problem which the amendment would allegedly create is far less serious.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: For the reason stated by Mr. William Hanna, I hope this amendment will not be adopted. I think the comma should stay in to reflect the intent of the convention.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendment offered by Mr. Wanger. All those in favor will say aye. All those opposed will say no.

The amendment is not adopted. The question now is upon the passage of article V. The Chair will recognize Mr. Stevens.

MR. STEVENS: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I suppose it is a matter of opinion and I will so stipulate. Regarding the remarks of Mr. Marshall, his term "objectionable" and so forth, it occurs to me that, in the opinion of many of us, those things which he thinks are objectionable are both desirable and wise and also good. So it becomes a matter of terminology and opinion. I cannot understand why he thinks that what he considers unnecessary or objectionable is necessarily so considered by everybody else.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Sterrett.

MR. STERRETT: Mr. President and delegates, the executive article that we are about to vote on, I feel, is a great improvement over the present constitution, the 1908 constitution. I believe we have put the responsibility where it belongs. We have properly made the various operations of state government accountable to the governor with the correct type of checks and balances by the legislature. This is definitely an improvement over the 1908 constitution. The only thing any delegate has to do here is to read the present constitution and he can see the improvement for himself.

The objection, mainly, that I have heard about the executive article is the advice and consent of the senate. We have talked about the malapportioned legislature. The committee on legislative organization has taken care of the so called malapportioned legislature, as I see it, and anybody that would go out and campaign against this new document would be completely ridiculous because it is an improvement over the 1908 constitution; and if they did campaign against this document they would not be telling the people the truth and they would not be serving the people in a just manner as a delegate of this constitutional convention.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I doubt that further debate is going to be significantly contributive. I would move to limit it to 5 minutes on the article.

MR. DOWNS: May I —

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The Chair has 5 speakers — 6 with Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: May I make a preferential motion —

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Yes.

MR. DOWNS: — that that be 2½ minutes a speaker?

MR. VAN DUSEN: I will accede to Mr. Downs — could you make it 2 minutes? That would make the total 10. (laughter) I would move, Mr. President, to limit debate to 10 minutes, 2 minutes a speaker.

MR. MARSHALL: Point of order, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: What's the point, Mr. Marshall?

MR. MARSHALL: I object to the official timekeeper and Delegate Downs working out a deal on the floor of this convention. (laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen moves that debate be limited to 10 minutes upon the article. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. The Chair recognizes Mr. Garry Brown.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Mr. President and members of the convention, I will not take 2 minutes, but in view of Mr. Marshall's remarks — I think that they should be answered, although there are some things on which I might agree with Mr. Marshall — I would say this: that his criticism of accommodations and deals, or whatever you want to call them, and his assumption of a "holier than thou" attitude is rather nauseating, especially in view of the accommodation that was made off the floor on the issue that was before us last evening. Deals, accommodations, what have you, as undesirable as they may be, are better made by delegates to this convention than effected by legislative lobbyists from across the street.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Blandford.

MR. BLANDFORD: Mr. President and fellow delegates, Delegate Marshall, in urging a no vote on article V, I feel, wandered far afield from the actual article — which, of course, has been his custom. I urge a yes vote on article V and will wander somewhat afield myself. I think we have seen on the floor of this convention the last 7½ months an old political trick, and that is to accuse the other fellow of something that you are guilty of yourself. We have seen the Democrats, the minority party on this floor, aghast that the Republicans have made a deal. They have been dealing ever since this convention started. All we have to look at is the search and seizure vote and every ballot that we have had and we know where the dealing has been taking place.

I think if the Republicans have been guilty of anything on this floor it is that we have been guilty of restraint. We have listened to the ravings of the Democratic party on practically every item. We have been called the "handmaidens of big business." We have been called "rotten apples." It has been said that we have tried to gag debate — I remember one delegate taking 4 hours to explain his apportionment plan. I remember many hours on search and seizure. As I say, if the Republicans have been guilty of anything it has been that we have been guilty of restraint.

I realize that the minority party cannot understand the workings of the Republican party. Being dominated by one group, they do not have to work together in order to come up with a good conclusion. We don't operate that way. We have many divergent people in the Republican party of which I am proud and of which I am one of them. I certainly hope that the Republican party stays that way —

MR. BINKOWSKI: Point of order.

MR. BLANDFORD: — that we will never be dominated —

MR. BINKOWSKI: Point of order.

MR. BLANDFORD: — and we will work together to make this a great constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Binkowski raises a point of order.

MR. BLANDFORD: Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The point comes too late. He is all through talking. (laughter) Judge Shaffer.

MR. SHAFFER: Mr. President, I simply want to ask Mr. Martin a question here, if there isn't a mistake in printing in the last line in section 28 of article V, the last sentence, "Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to diminish the right of any party to direct and immediate legal or equitable remedies. . . ." What does "and" mean in there? Do you mean: comma? "Direct," comma, "immediate legal or equitable remedies?" Or appropriate?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Shaffer, I don't know what the author of the amendment had in mind by the "and." I assume that the "and" is simply to make it a little more emphatic that there should be some "direct and immediate" legal remedies. I have been in doubt about the effect of this section from the beginning but I don't think it does any harm to the section.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Martin has the floor. Do you want to be recognized in the speaking list?

MR. DEHNKE: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Martin is recognized next.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. President, I don't want to say anything more than that this article V contains, in my judgment, some of the very most important provisions in the new constitution and I don't know what the Democrat minority has in mind in consistently recommending that their members vote no on each of these provisions. I assume they intend to offer some provisions of their own and then if those don't pass, I am not sure whether they are proposing to work against the entire constitution or not. But I don't think that a no vote against this entire article can be interpreted in any other way than that you are opposed to the article as a whole.

I certainly would urge the members of the minority to vote their convictions on this particular article of the constitution because it does contain some of the very important provisions. I hope that the recommendations of the leadership of the minority will not be accepted and that the members of the minority will vote as their conscience and their judgment dictate, and not as their leadership requests them to do.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Dehnke. Mr. Dehnke passes. Mr. T. S. Brown.

MR. T. S. BROWN: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I should like to add my little part to what Bill Marshall has already said, except in a different vein.

I do not consider that this article represents either a philosophical orientation of any sort or a compromise between philosophical orientations. As a result of having 4 or 5 different ways of selecting the people who will run the administrative branch of our government, we have no internal consistency and no internal integrity within the executive branch. For this particular reason, regardless of politics — whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, whether you consider that this will be a liberal document or a conservative document or a good, efficient document — there is no internal consistency and, therefore, this matter must obviously continue in a halting fashion in the years to come.

If this document were completely liberal or completely conservative and if it would articulate, one part with the other, then I would say it at least represents a certain point of view. But since this does not and since it is not by any stretch of the imagination a compromise, I therefore urge the nonadoption of this particular article.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Miss Hart.

MISS HART: Mr. President and fellow delegates, Mr. Martin should not be surprised at the position that the minority party is taking on this on the floor today because the minority party took the position very consistently on the executive committee. It should be no surprise to anyone—the press, the league of women voters, the observers and fellow members on that committee—of where we stood on these issues.

There seems to be a notion abroad that every morning the Democrats are given a list: 1, 2, 3; a, b, c, and with a yes and a no after each number. This convention blinded the board in the hope that the minority might be confused. The minority has voted consistently, as it would have done had the board been open, because the minority operates on a philosophy of government and there is very little problem as far as we are concerned as to where we stand on these issues; so let's stop talking about unseen forces and let's get on with the business of finishing what we have to do this week.

We do not object to the majority taking the positions they take. This is their right to represent the people who sent them here. By the same token the minority has the same right: to represent the people that sent it here. So let's stop all of the innuendoes and let's get on with the business of this convention and rid ourselves of nonsense. Let's at least be friends while we disagree.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Hodges.

MR. HODGES: Mr. President, I, as a member of the minority, plead guilty to the charge that the Democratic party is dominated by one group: the majority of the people in the state of Michigan who have elected the Democratic party for the past 14 years. After the wheeling and dealing that has been done in this convention, I am safely confident that it will be elected for the next 14 years. (applause)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: Mr. President, when I first came up here and before having come up here, I campaigned on promises that I made to those people who I represent. Now, as far as I am concerned, the campaigning for 1962 opened today when Mr. Blandford got up and said what he did.

I don't mind telling you that so far as I am concerned, I was with the Republican party for 34 years and I watched some of its leaders sit there and decide on how they were going to ruin the state of Michigan so that they could defeat Williams. They didn't care what they did to the state: let's kill Williams off no matter what we do to Michigan.

MR. G. E. BROWN: That's not germane to the issue.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I shall try to speak on the article very briefly—

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Order, please.

MR. DOWNS: First of all, I rise to urge a no vote on this article for 3 specific reasons: the first is that this builds in a conflict between the chief executive and the senate. The people had high hopes that this convention would change that conflict. From looking at the apportionment problem with advice and consent, I believe there will be 12 to 15 Democrats, 26 to 23 Republicans which, with advice and consent and the sudden death, 60 day concept, builds in a conflict if there is a Democrat governor. If there should, within the 50 years, be a Republican governor, he will find the same conflict with the Republican branch that was found before. Secondly, we have discussed elected versus appointed officials. I have favored elected but have recognized the arguments for the appointed. This change in the ad board provides neither elected nor appointed by the governor. The highway commissioner is selected on a hodgepodge system responsible to everybody and nobody and does not have the advantage of either elected or gubernatorial appointment. The treasurer is not appointed by the governor without advice and consent but requires that. And thirdly, on the executive budget part, I just wish to point out that the governor in conjunction with the legislature must cut expenditures on unearmarked items—and this would mean education, welfare, social services that are unearmarked—at the very times when the need was greatest, when state revenue went down. I urge a no vote.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time for debate has expired. The question is upon the passage of article V, as amended. All those in favor will vote aye. All those opposed will vote no.

MR. YEAGER: Mr. President, I wish to announce my abstention.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Yeager abstains. Have you all voted? Miss Donnelly abstains. If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote. Mr. Shanahan abstains.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of article V, as amended, the yeas are 91; the nays are 39.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A majority of the delegates elect having voted in favor thereof, article V, as amended, is passed.

For sections 1 through 8 and 10 through 27 of article V as passed, see above, page 3057.

Following is section 9 of article V, as amended and passed:

Sec. 9. The governor shall have power and it shall be his duty to inquire into the condition and administration of any public office and the acts of any public officer, elective or appointive. He may remove or suspend from office for gross neglect of duty or for corrupt conduct in office, or for any other misfeasance or malfeasance therein, any elective or appointive state officer, except legislative or judicial, and shall report the reasons for such removal or suspension to the legislature.

Following is section 28 of article V, as amended and passed:

Sec. 28. There is hereby established a civil rights commission which shall consist of eight persons, not more than four of whom shall be members of the same political party, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for four-year terms not more than two of which shall expire in the same year. It shall be the duty of the commission in a manner which may be prescribed by law to investigate alleged discrimination against any person because of religion, race, color or national origin in the enjoyment of the civil rights guaranteed by law and by this constitution, and to secure the equal protection of such civil rights without such discrimination. The legislature shall provide an annual appropriation for the effective operation of the commission.

The commission shall have power, in accordance with the provisions of this constitution and of general laws governing administrative agencies, to promulgate rules and regulations for its own procedures, to hold hearings, administer oaths, through court authorization to require the attendance of witnesses and the submission of records, to take testimony, and to issue appropriate orders. The commission shall have other powers provided by law to carry out its purposes. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to diminish the right of any party to direct and immediate legal or equitable remedies in the courts of this state.

Appeals from final orders of the commission, including cease and desist orders and refusals to issue complaints, shall be tried de novo before the circuit court of the state having jurisdiction provided by law.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Messrs. Austin, Sablich, Bradley, Wilkowski, Downs, Hodges, Madar, Marshall, Walker, Stopczynski, Young, Faxon, Buback, T. S. Brown, Baginski, Binkowski and Miss Hart:

We voted no on article V, the executive branch, because this builds in the conflict between the governor and the state senate. The executive cannot make a single appointment under this article without the advice and consent of the senate — a senate which does not and can not represent people because of the lack of equitable apportionment. Thus, the governor is restricted and limited and must make decisions on appointments on the basis of confirmability with an actual minority, rather than ability to serve the people of the state.

The present elected highway commissioner has been replaced by a 4 headed bipartisan staggered body, selected with advice and consent, that in turn selects a director. This has neither the advantages of an elected system, nor that of an appointed system directly by the governor. Michigan's present superior highway system can seriously suffer from this unwarranted change.

The state treasurer is no longer elected, but is appointed with advice and consent, and as such will be subject to control in appointment by a majority of the legislators representing a minority of the people of the state. The section dealing on the executive budget (section 19) will practically mandate the governor to reduce expenditures in unearmarked areas if state revenues decline, with the approval of legislative appropriating committees. This too will be a built in conflict between a governor with social responsibilities and a legislative committee that is not truly representative of all the people.

Because highways and local units of government have earmarked funds, whereas schools and social services do not, there will be terrific pressures in a period of economic decline, when tax revenues are least and social needs are the greatest, for the governor to cut expenditures for legislation, mental health, education, and social services to meet requirements of this section.

We, therefore, voted no on this article.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): The secretary will read article VI, judicial branch.

SECRETARY CHASE: Article VI, judicial branch:

[Article VI, sections 1 through 29, was read by the secretary. For the text, see above, page 3060.]

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Article VI has been read a third time.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Cudlip, on behalf of the committee on style and drafting, requests that the following corrections be made in article VI of the proposed revision of the constitution:

section	column	line	Corrections
2	1	57	After "[except]" delete "that".
2	1	57	Change "ANY" to "Any".
10	1	3	After "[" insert "as".
18	2	38	After "court" insert "[such]".
18	2	38	At end of line, change "an" to "AN".

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Without objection it is so ordered. [Corrections made above.] The secretary will report the amendments.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. W. F. Hanna [and Mr. Higgs] offers the following amendment:

1. Amend article VI, section 26 (first column, line 39) after "jurisdiction" by inserting a comma and "compensation"; so the language will read, "Their jurisdiction, compensation and powers within this period shall be as provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I want to raise a problem which, unfortunately, I did not catch on first or second reading and it was not until we were going over this matter carefully in style and drafting last week that I saw what I believe to be a serious problem and a serious inconsistency, and I bring it to the attention of the convention. We have provided that upon the adoption of this constitution, or the effective date of this constitution, that no judicial officer shall be compensated by fees or anything based upon the volume of his business, but it is said that he must be paid a salary. We now then come to section 26, where we have continued in office these offices of circuit court commissioner and justice of the peace, which are in fact officers that in the main have been compensated by fees of their office and dependent upon the volume of activity.

Now I want to raise 3 problems with this conflict as I see it: first is the practical impossibility, if this constitution goes into effect on January first of a given year. In the townships the fiscal year is from April 1 to April 1, and in counties the fiscal year will have commenced before the effective date of the constitution. There will be no money appropriated; there will be no money out of which you can pay circuit court commissioners a salary or a justice of the peace a salary. Therefore, you are asking these people to serve completely without compensation. Secondly, under the present state law, each township elects 2 justices of the peace. Certainly, you will have to provide in all due process that the 2 justices will receive the same salary. And in many, many, many townships that have 2 justices, one justice maintains an active calendar and open docket and the other has no open calendar, no docket, and is purely an honorary type of office. To set a salary commensurate for these 2 men that is the same immediately penalizes the man who has been doing the work and benefits the man who does not do the work, and so far there is nothing in this constitution that makes a justice of the peace maintain a docket, hold office, or perform any judicial function. Therefore, until this whole matter can be worked out, this man can sit there and draw a salary and not do anything. So that you have a practical fiscal problem in the efforts to do this.

Now, the second problem that I want to raise is breach of contract. We have elsewhere provided in this constitution that you

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Article II Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors which involves the increase of any ad valorem tax rate limitation for a period of more than five years, or the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors or three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

Article III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial dis-

1 | trict in the city with which it is combined, if
2 | provided by ordinance of the city. The district
3 | or districts with which the territory shall be
4 | combined shall be determined by such ordinance
5 | certified to the secretary of state. No such change
6 | in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial
7 | district shall have the effect of removing a legis-
8 | lator from office during his term.

9 | Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be con-
10 | tiguous by land to the county of which they are
11 | a part.

12 | Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportion-
13 | ment is hereby established consisting of eight
14 | persons, four of whom shall be selected by the
15 | state organizations of each of the two political
16 | parties whose candidates for governor received
17 | the highest vote at the last general election at
18 | which a governor was elected preceding each ap-
19 | portionment. If a candidate for governor of a third
20 | political party has received at such election more
21 | than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the
22 | commission shall consist of 12 members, four of
23 | whom shall be selected by the state organization of
24 | the third political party. One member of the com-
25 | mission shall be selected by each political party or-
26 | ganization from each of the following four regions:
27 | (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of
28 | the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along
29 | the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay,
30 | Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana;
31 | (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south
32 | of region (2) and west of a line drawn along
33 | the western boundaries of the counties of Bay,
34 | Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hills-
35 | dale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining
36 | counties of the state.

37 | No officers or employees of the federal, state
38 | or local governments, excepting notaries public
39 | and members of the armed forces reserve, shall
40 | be eligible for membership on the commission.
41 | Members of the commission shall not be eligible
42 | for election to the legislature until two years after
43 | the apportionment in which they participated
44 | becomes effective.

45 | The commission shall be appointed immediately
46 | after the adoption of this constitution and when-
47 | ever apportionment or districting of the legislature
48 | is required by the provisions of this constitution.
49 | Members of the commission shall hold office until
50 | each apportionment or districting plan becomes
51 | effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same
52 | manner as for original appointment.

53 | The secretary of state shall be secretary of
54 | the commission without vote, and in that capacity
55 | shall furnish, under the direction of the commis-
56 | sion, all necessary technical services. The com-
57 | mission shall elect its own chairman, shall make
58 | its own rules of procedure, and shall receive com-
59 | pensation provided by law. The legislature shall
60 | appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

1 | Within 30 days after the adoption of this con-
2 | stitution, and after the official total population
3 | count of each federal decennial census of the state
4 | and its political subdivisions is available, the se-
5 | cretary of state shall issue a call convening the
6 | commission not less than 30 nor more than 45
7 | days thereafter. The commission shall complete
8 | its work within 180 days after all necessary census
9 | information is available. The commission shall
10 | proceed to district and apportion the senate and
11 | house of representatives according to the provi-
12 | sions of this constitution. All final decisions shall
13 | require the concurrence of a majority of the mem-
14 | bers of the commission. The commission shall hold
15 | public hearings as may be provided by law.

16 | Each final apportionment and districting plan
17 | shall be published as provided by law within 30
18 | days from the date of its adoption and shall be-
19 | come law 60 days after publication. The secre-
20 | tary of state shall keep a public record of all the
21 | proceedings of the commission and shall be re-
22 | sponsible for the publication and distribution of
23 | each plan.

24 | If a majority of the commission cannot agree
25 | on a plan, each member of the commission, indi-
26 | vidualy or jointly with other members, may sub-
27 | mit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The
28 | supreme court shall determine which plan com-
29 | plies most accurately with the constitutional re-
30 | quirements and shall direct that it be adopted
31 | by the commission and published as provided
32 | in this section.

33 | Upon the application of any elector filed not
34 | later than 60 days after final publication of the
35 | plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of origi-
36 | nal jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of
37 | state or the apportionment commission to per-
38 | form their duties, may review any final plan

39 the manner and with penalties as each house may 40 prescribe.

41 Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legisla-

54 but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a
55 majority of the members elected thereto and
56 serving therein from discharging a committee
57 from the further consideration of any measure.
58 Each house shall be the sole judge of the quali-
59 fications, elections and returns of its members,
60 and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of

1 all the members elected thereto and serving
2 therein, expel a member. The reasons for such 3 expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with 4 the votes and names of the members voting upon
5 the question. No member shall be expelled a
6 second time for the same cause.

7 Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may 8 establish the committees necessary for the effi-

10 may create joint committees. Each committee
11 shall by roll call vote record the vote and name
12 of all action on bills and resolutions taken in

46 through either house so as to change its original
47 purpose as determined by its total content and 48 not alone by its title.

49 Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or 50 amended by reference to its title only. The section
51 or sections of the act altered or amended shall 52 be re-enacted and published at length.

53 Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a
54 law at any regular session of the legislature until

No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not be-

If he does not approve, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Notwithstanding the power conferred by this section, elections shall always be called as soon as possible to fill any vacancies in elective offices temporarily occupied by operation of any legislation enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 40. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission which, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof. The legislature may provide for an excise tax on such sales. Sec. 1. The executive power is vested in the governor.

Sec. 2. They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. When a single executive is the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, he shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate and he shall serve at the pleasure of the governor.

Sec. 5. At no time shall an examining or licensing board of a profession include less than a majority of members of that profession.

Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

The governor may initiate court proceedings in the name of the state to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. This authority shall not be construed to authorize court proceedings against the legislature.

Sec. 20. No appropriation shall be a mandate to spend. The governor, with the approval of the appropriating committees of the house and senate, shall reduce expenditures authorized by appropriations whenever it appears that actual revenues for a fiscal period will fall below the revenue estimates on which appropriations for that period were based. Reductions in expenditures shall be made in accordance with procedures prescribed by law. The governor may not reduce expenditures of the legislative and judicial branches or from funds constitutionally dedicated for specific purposes.

Sec. 21. The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be elected for four-year terms at the general election in each alternate even-numbered year.

In case of the death of the governor-elect, the lieutenant governor-elect, the secretary of state-elect, the attorney general-elect and such other persons designated by law shall become governor in that order at the commencement of the governor-elect's term.

If the governor or the person in line of succession to serve as governor is absent from the state, or suffering under an inability, the powers and duties of the office of governor shall devolve in order of precedence until the absence or inability giving rise to the devolution of powers ceases.

The inability of the governor or person acting as governor shall be determined by a majority of the supreme court on joint request of the president pro tempore of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives. Such determination shall be final and conclusive. The supreme court shall upon its own initiative determine if and when the inability ceases.

The legislature shall provide an annual appropriation for the effective operation of the commission.

The commission shall have power, in accordance with the provisions of this constitution and of general laws governing administrative agencies, to promulgate rules and regulations for its own procedures, to hold hearings, administer oaths, through court authorization to require the attendance of witnesses and the submission of records, to take testimony, and to issue appropriate orders. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to diminish the right of any party to direct and immediate legal or equitable remedies in the courts of this state.

Appeals from final orders of the commission, including cease and desist orders and refusals to issue complaints, shall be tried de novo before the circuit court having jurisdiction provided by law.

Article VI Judicial Branch

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money

1 shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50
2 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank.
3 Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall 4 show the amount of state money so deposited as 5 a separate item in all published statements.

6 Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law
7 for the annual accounting for all public moneys,
8 state and local, and may provide by law for interim
9 accounting.

10 The legislature shall provide by law for the 11 maintenance of uniform accounting systems by 12 units of local government and the auditing of 13 county accounts by competent state authority
14 and other units of government as provided by law.

15 Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and 16 adjustment of claims against the state shall be 17 prescribed by law.

18 Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings,
19 audit reports and other reports of public moneys
20 shall be public records and open to inspection. A
21 statement of all revenues and expenditures of pub-
22 lic moneys shall be published and distributed
23 annually, as provided by law.

24 Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each
25 pension plan and retirement system of the state
26 and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual
27 obligation thereof which shall not be diminished
28 or impaired thereby.

29 Financial benefits arising on account of service
30 rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during 31 that year and such funding shall not be used for 32 financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

67 of the members elected to and serving in each

The legislature may, by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, waive the notice and permit increases in rates of compensation to be effective at a time other than the start of a fiscal year. Within 60 calendar days following such transmission, the legislature may, by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, reject or reduce increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission. Any reduction ordered by the legislature shall apply uniformly to all classes of employees affected by the increases and shall not adjust pay differentials already established by the civil service commission. The legislature may not reduce rates of compensation below those in effect at the time of the transmission of increases author-

The commission shall furnish reports of expenditures, at least annually, to the governor and the legislature and shall be subject to annual audit as provided by law.

No payment for personal services shall be made or authorized until the provisions of this constitution pertaining to civil service have been complied with in every particular. 11 majority of the electors voting on the question,
12 it shall become part of the constitution, and 13 shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of 14 the constitution at the end of 45 days after 15 the date of the election at which it was ap-

18 amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that the report be adopted. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The report is adopted. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, in compliance with our rules, I think it would now be necessary to take a roll call vote on the amendment to the constitution changing the date.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment recommended in the report is as follows:

1. Amend the schedule, section 15 [formerly section 16] (column 2) line 11, after "held on the" by striking out "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962.", and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will call the roll. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye as your name is called. Those opposed will vote no.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause)
PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con. con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

Sincerely,
Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger, White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

For document incorporating following changes, see below, page 3355. Page numbers in report refer to document pages.

1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.

2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."

3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.

4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

CONSTITUTION OF THE
STATE OF MICHIGAN

as finally adopted by the Convention
August 1, 1962

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE I

Declaration of Rights

Sec. 2. No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof because of religion, race, color or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 3. The people have the right peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition the government for redress of grievances.

Sec. 4. Every person shall be at liberty to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, or, against his consent, to contribute to the erection or support of any place of religious worship, or to pay tithes, taxes or other rates for the support of any minister of the gospel or teacher of religion. No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the state be appropriated for any such purpose. The civil and political rights, privileges and capacities of no person shall be diminished or enlarged on account of his religious belief.

Sec. 10. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law or law impairing the obligation of contract shall be enacted.

Sec. 11. The person, houses, papers and possessions of every person shall be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures. No warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things shall issue without describing them, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation. Sec. 12. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Sec. 13. A suitor in any court of this state has the right to prosecute or defend his suit, either in his own proper person or by an attorney.

Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Sec. 21. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on contract, express or implied, except in cases of fraud or breach of trust.

Sec. 22. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Sec. 23. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE II

Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

ARTICLE III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision thereof, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office, employment or position under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.

Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. On all actions on bills and resolutions in each committee, names and votes of members shall be recorded. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.

Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same unless the public security otherwise requires. The record of the vote and name of the members of either house voting on any question shall be entered in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he deems injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in joint convention and all votes on appointments submitted to the senate for advice and consent shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open unless the public security otherwise requires.

The rate of taxation on such property shall be the average rate levied upon other property in this state under the general ad valorem tax law, or, if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable to the property of each business enterprise assessed by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem taxation levied upon other property in all counties in which any of such property is situated.

Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. These limitations may be increased to an aggregate of not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation, for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one time, if approved by a majority of the electors, qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this constitution, voting on the question.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township, charter authority or other authority, the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property shall be used exclusively for assistance to townships, cities and villages, on a population basis as provided by law. In determining population the legislature may exclude any portion of the total number of persons who are wards, patients or convicts in any tax supported institution.

Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

The ballot to be used in such election shall contain a statement of the purpose of the proposed amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

If the proposed amendment is approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question, it shall become part of the constitution, and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved. If two or more amendments approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter and at such times as may be provided by law, the question of a general revision of the constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If a majority of the electors voting on the question decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, at an election to be held not later than six months after the proposal was certified as approved, the electors of each representative district as then organized shall elect one delegate and the electors of each senatorial district as then organized shall elect one delegate at a partisan election. The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat of government on the first Tuesday in October next succeeding such election or at an earlier date if provided by law.

The convention shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings and judge the qualifications, elections and returns of its members. To fill a vacancy in the office of any delegate, the governor shall appoint a qualified resident of the same district who shall be a member of the same party as the delegate vacating the office. The convention shall have power to appoint such officers, employees and assistants as it deems necessary and to fix their compensation; to provide for the printing and distribution of its documents, journals and proceedings; to explain and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

No proposed constitution or amendment adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the electors for approval as hereinafter provided unless by the assent of a majority of all the delegates elected to and serving in the convention, with the names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

[ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE]

What the Proposed
New State Constitution
Means to You

- A report to the people of Michigan by their elected delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62.

Lansing, Michigan

August 1, 1962

to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. This authority shall not be construed to authorize court proceedings against the legislature.

This is a revision of Sec. 3, Article VI, of the present constitution stating that each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor. It retains the wording which provides that the governor take care that the laws be faithfully executed and authorizes him to require information in writing from state officers.

Added is a new provision expressly authorizing the governor to resort to the courts to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, with the proviso that this authority shall not be construed to permit any action or proceeding against the legislature.

Principal departments; offices.

Sec. 9. Single executives heading principal departments and the chief executive officers of principal departments headed by boards or commissions shall keep their offices at the seat of government except as otherwise provided by law, superintend them in person and perform duties prescribed by law.

This is a revision of Sec. 1, Article VI, of the present constitution concerning the obligation of executive officials to superintend their offices in person and perform duties as prescribed by law. Their offices shall be maintained at the seat of government, unless otherwise provided by the legislature.

Power of removal.

Sec. 10. The governor shall have power and it shall be his duty * to inquire into the condition and administration of any public office and the acts of any public officer, elective or appointive. *He may remove or suspend from office for gross neglect of duty or for corrupt conduct in office, or for any other misfeasance or malfeasance therein, any elective or appointive state officer, except legislative or judicial, and shall report the reasons for such removal or suspension to the legislature. ***

This is a revision of Sec. 7, Article IX, of the present constitution deleting in the first sentence the words: "except at such time as the legislature may be in session." The new language places authority for inquiry as well as removal and suspension of officials in the hands of the governor at all times.

Provisional appointment.

Sec. 11. The governor may make a provisional appointment to fill a vacancy occasioned by the suspension of an appointed or elected officer, other than a legislative or judicial officer, until he is reinstated or  until the vacancy is filled in the manner prescribed by law or this constitution.

This is a revision of Sec. 5, Article IX, of the present constitution. Added is new language which brings the section into conformity with other provisions of this document.

Governor; commander-in-chief.

Sec. 12. *The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the  armed forces and may call them out  to execute the laws, * suppress insurrection and * repel invasion.*

No change from Sec. 4, Article VI, of the present constitution except for improvement in phraseology. In this and subsequent sections of the Article the words "the governor" are substituted for "he" for purposes of clarity.

Same; writs of election.

Sec. 13. *The governor shall issue writs of election to fill * vacancies  in the senate or house of representatives. Any such election shall be held in a manner prescribed by law.*

No change from Sec. 6, Article VI, of the present constitution except to recognize the right of the legislature to prescribe procedure for the filling of vacancies in the senate or house of representatives. The governor will determine whether a special election shall be held or if the vacancy will be filled at the next general election.

Same; reprieves and pardons.

Sec. 14. *The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except  cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and  limitations as he may direct, subject to procedures and regulations prescribed by law. * He shall inform the legislature annually of each  reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, stating reasons therefor.*

This is a revision of Sec. 9, Article VI, of the present constitution. The only substantive change is the elimination of treason as an offense for which the governor does not have the authority for reprieve, commutation or pardon. Treason is treated in the same manner as other crimes so far as the governor's powers are concerned.

Same; convene legislature.

Sec. 15. The governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

No change from Sec. 7, Article VI, of the present constitution.

Same; convene legislature away from seat.

Sec. 16. The governor may convene the legislature at some other place when the seat of government becomes dangerous from  any cause.

No change from Sec. 8, Article VI, of the present constitution except for the substitution of "any cause" for the words "disease or a common enemy." The new language broadens the section to include possible danger from causes other than disease or threat of enemy attack.

Same; communicate to legislature.

Sec. 17. *The governor shall communicate by message to the legislature * at the beginning of each session and may at other times*
