Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

MR. DANHOF: We would like to have it read before we vote on it.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment offered is as follows:

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: The question is on the amendment as so read. A division has been ordered. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment, the yeas are 32; the nays are 89.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: The amendment is not adopted. Are there further amendments to section a of Committee Proposal 91?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Kuhn offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "Sec. a.", by striking out the balance of the section and inserting "The supreme court shall consist of 9 justices. They shall be elected for 8 year terms, and not more than 3 justices shall go out of office at the same time.

Justices shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections, conducted as provided by law. The legislature may provide for nomination and election by districts. Incumbent justices may secure their nomination by filing an affidavit of intention to run as shall be provided by law."

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Kuhn, on which the Chair will recognize Mr. Kuhn.

MR. IVERSON: Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

MR. IVERSON: I move at this time to pass further consideration of Committee Proposal 91 at least temporarily if not beyond the consideration of the balance of the judicial article.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Iverson moves to pass further consideration of Committee Proposal 91 until the remaining proposals of the judicial article have been considered by the committee of the whole. Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. Chairman, I can't say that it is easy to form an opinion as to just what this will accomplish. I understand that there is considerable confusion among the delegates about just why this would be put over. There certainly is in this corner. However, if we are going to pass this, then we will have to pass the next proposal too, and if he wants to pass the proposals on both the supreme court and the intermediate court of appeals, we would have no objection.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Iverson?

MR. IVERSON: Yes, I will agree to that.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Iverson's motion is amended so that he now moves the further consideration of Committee Proposals 91 and 92 be deferred until following consideration of the remaining proposals relating to the judicial article. Those in favor of Mr. Iverson's motion will say aye; opposed, no.

The motion prevails. The secretary will read Committee Proposal 93.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 4 on the calendar, from the committee on judicial branch, by Mr. Danhof, chairman, Committee Proposal 93, A proposal pertaining to the circuit court. A substitute for sections 8, 9, 10 and 11 of article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 93 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. THE STATE SHALL BE DIVIDED INTO JUDICIAL CIRCUITS ALONG COUNTY LINES IN EACH OF WHICH THERE SHALL BE ELECTED ONE,

OR WHEN PROVIDED BY LAW, MORE THAN ONE CIRCUIT JUDGE. A CIRCUIT COURT SHALL BE HELD AT LEAST 4 TIMES IN EACH YEAR IN EVERY COUNTY ORGANIZED FOR JUDICIAL PURPOSES. EACH CIRCUIT JUDGE SHALL HOLD COURT IN THE COUNTY OR COUNTIES WITHIN THE CIRCUIT IN WHICH HE IS ELECTED, AND IN OTHER CIRCUITS AS MAY BE PROVIDED BY SUPREME COURT RULE OR BY LAW. THE NUMBER OF JUDGES MAY BE CHANGED AND CIRCUITS MAY BE CREATED, ALTERED AND DISCONTINUED BY LAW AND THE NUMBER OF JUDGES SHALL BE CHANGED AND CIRCUITS SHALL BE CREATED, ALTERED AND DISCONTINUED ON RECOMMENDATION OF THE SUPREME COURT TO REFLECT CHANGES IN THE JUDICIAL BUSINESS. NO CHANGE IN THE NUMBER OF JUDGES NOR ALTERATION OR DISCONTINUANCE OF A CIRCUIT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A JUDGE FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. b. CIRCUIT JUDGES SHALL BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED AT NONPARTISAN ELECTIONS AS PROVIDED BY LAW. THE TERM OF CIRCUIT JUDGES SHALL BE 6 YEARS. IN CIRCUITS HAVING MORE THAN ONE JUDGE THE TERMS OF OFFICE SHALL BE ARRANGED TO PROVIDE THAT THEY WILL EXPIRE ON A STAGGERED BASIS.

Sec. c. CIRCUIT COURTS SHALL HAVE: ORIGINAL JURISDICTION IN ALL MATTERS NOT PROHIBITED BY LAW; APPELLATE JURISDICTION FROM ALL INFERIOR COURTS AND TRIBUNALS AS PRESCRIBED BY SUPREME COURT RULE: TO ISSUE, HEAR, AND DETERMINE PREROGATIVE AND REMEDIAL WRITS; SUPERVISORY AND GENERAL CONTROL OVER INFERIOR COURTS AND TRIBUNALS WITHIN THEIR RESPECTIVE JURISDICTIONS, IN ACCORDANCE WITH SUPREME COURT RULES; AND JURISDICTION OF OTHER CASES AND MATTERS AS THE SUPREME COURT SHALL BY RULE PRESCRIBE.

Sec. d. THE CLERK OF EACH COUNTY ORGANIZED FOR JUDICIAL PURPOSES SHALL BE CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR SUCH COUNTY. THE JUDGES OF THE CIRCUIT COURTS MAY FILL ANY VACANCY IN THE OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK OR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY WITHIN THEIR RESPECTIVE JURISDICTIONS, BUT SHALL NOT EXERCISE ANY OTHER POWER OF APPOINTMENT TO PUBLIC OFFICE.

Mr. Danhof, chairman of the committee on judicial branch, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 93:

During the first 3 months of our committee work we had the testimony and advice of all the members of the supreme court, of circuit and probate judges, state bar officers and lawyers and officers of local bar associations and members of the general public. The plan of operation of our circuit and probate courts, we found, met the approval generally of all persons and groups who appeared before us.

Sec. a. In order to keep the manpower in the circuit court system operating as efficiently as possible, the legislature may on recommendation of the supreme court increase or decrease the number of judges, create new circuits and alter or discontinue existing circuits. By this means the courts can better keep abreast of changing population and economic conditions and thus serve all sections of the state more efficiently.

Sec. b. Circuit judges are to be nominated and elected as at the present time at nonpartisan elections and for the same term as now, for 6 years. Where a circuit has more than one judge the legislature shall arrange a plan whereby the offices will expire on a staggered basis. In some circuits at this time, and others that may increase in size, it was thought that it would be better for the judiciary and much less confusing to the voters to have fewer judges on the ballot, rather than present a long list of candidates at one time, and staggered terms will accomplish this result.

Sec. c. The power of the circuit court to hear cases from courts of limited jurisdiction shall be as authorized by rule of the supreme court. As now provided in our present constitution, the circuit court will have a general control over courts and tribunals of limited jurisdiction in accordance with supreme court rules.

Sec. d. It will be seen that we have retained the section that states the county clerk shall be clerk of the circuit court and for the filling of a vacancy in that office. No change is made in this section and the committee on local government approves this action.

Following is minority report A to Committee Proposal 93 as offered (No reasons were submitted in support thereof):

Miss Donnelly, Messrs. Leibrand and McAllister, a minority of the committee on judicial branch, submit the following minority report to Committee Proposal 93:

A minority of the committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. c. CIRCUIT COURTS SHALL HAVE: ORIGINAL JURISDICTION IN ALL MATTERS NOT PROHIBITED BY LAW; APPELLATE JURISDICTION FROM ALL INFERIOR COURTS AND TRIBUNALS AS PRESCRIBED BY SUPREME COURT RULE; TO ISSUE, HEAR, AND DETERMINE PREROGATIVE AND REMEDIAL WRITS; SUPERVISORY AND GENERAL SUPERINTENDING CONTROL OVER INFERIOR COURTS AND TRIBUNALS WITHIN THEIR RESPECTIVE JURISDICTIONS, IN ACCORDANCE WITH SUPREME COURT RULES; AND JURISDICTION OF OTHER CASES AND MATTERS AS THE SUPREME COURT SHALL BY RULE PRESCRIBE.

Following is minority report B to Committee Proposal 93 as offered and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

Messrs. Ford, Garvin, Bledsoe, Miss McGowan, Messrs. Ostrow and Barthwell, a minority of the committee on judicial branch, submit the following minority report to Committee Proposal 93:

A minority of the committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Amend Committee Proposal 93, page 2, line 1, by striking out "SHALL" and inserting "MAY".

Messrs. Ford, Garvin, Bledsoe, Miss McGowan, Messrs. Ostrow and Barthwell, a minority of the committee on judicial branch, submit the following reasons in support of the foregoing minority report which accompanied Committee Proposal 93:

The proponents of this minority report believe that the possibility of staggered terms in multiple judge circuits has merit. However, it is our feeling that this is a question better left to the legislature, to be resolved by it in a manner that does not disrupt the terms of office of the judges presently in office.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: For an explanation of section a of Committee Proposal 93, the Chair will recognize the chairman of the committee, Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, I assume it was the thinking of the majority when they passed over that we can return to something with which we are a little more familiar and perhaps we can come to some agreement thereon.

The proposal relating to the circuit courts is one composed of 4 sections. There has been no great change from the original section. If you will look at the resume which was furnished to you at the beginning of our considerations, this is basically section 8 of article VII of the Constitution of 1908 with some additions thereto.

I should like to state that originally Judge Mosier was to have made the explanation of the committee in this regard. As you know, he is ill. And I have also asked Judge Pugsley to make some remarks regarding that section. Accordingly, at this time, I should like to yield the floor to a man who has spent a great many years as a circuit judge and has had a great deal of experience thereon, the delegate from Hart, Judge Pugsley.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The Chair recognizes the delegate from Hart, Judge Pugsley.

MR. PUGSLEY: Mr. Chairman, delegates of the convention, last week our deliberations were interrupted because of our interest in a great event. Astronaut Glenn absorbed our attention and we were very much interested in the outcome of that flight. It has occurred to me that he was not the only one who has been up in the air. (laughter) That seems to have been somewhat contagious in this convention. I am glad at this time that we are about to work on a lower level. As has been stated by the chairman of our committee, it has been my pleasure to operate for some time on this lower level.

In the Constitution of 1908 there was a provision which divided the state of Michigan into judicial circuits. I think that perhaps we will have a better understanding of the proposal which has just been read to you by the secretary if I preface the few remarks which I am about to make by reading the Constitution of 1908 and then you will better appreciate, I think, the changes that have been proposed, which are not many so far as the spirit and substance of the provision is contained. I read from the Constitution of 1908:

The state shall be divided into judicial circuits in each of which there shall be elected 1 circuit judge. The legislature may provide by law for the election of more than 1 circuit judge in any judicial circuit. A circuit court shall be held at least 4 times in each year in every county organized for judicial purposes. Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by law. The legislature may by law arrange the various circuits into judicial districts, and provide for the manner of holding courts therein. Circuits and districts may be created, altered or discontinued by law, but no such alteration or discontinuance shall have the effect to remove a judge from office.

At present there are 41 circuits in the state presided over by 81 circuit judges. The largest circuit is in Wayne with 18 judges. The next largest are Oakland, with 5; Genesee, with 4; Saginaw, Macomb, Kent and Ingham, with 3; Berrien, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Muskegon, Bay, St. Clair and Calhoun, with 2 each. In other words, 19 of the larger counties which I have mentioned are being served today by 53 judges of a total of 81. The balance of the state, with a total of 62 counties, is being served by a total of 28 judges, each with multiple circuits of from 2 to 5 counties each.

Without going too much into detail, it may be fairly stated that the average case load per judge is much heavier in the larger circuits. Especially is this true in the counties of Wayne, Washtenaw and a few of the others with the largest population. It has been emphatically brought to our attention that there is a present need for a more even distribution of the case load in the outstate counties.

Under the provisions of the foregoing section 8 which I read to you, the division of the state into judicial circuits, the number of judges to be elected therein and the manner of holding courts has been left to the legislature.

I became a circuit judge of the twenty-seventh judicial circuit on January 1, 1930, in which circuit I was pleased to serve continuously until January 1, 1960. Two other retired judges at the convention, Judges Dehnke and Gadola, also served during the same years, each with credit to himself and with distinction to the judiciary of the state of Michigan. I am sure they will concur with me in an observation that during all of these years there has been, I believe, only one change made in the boundaries of the circuits in the state. For many years there were only 40. A few years ago one of the circuits in the upper peninsula was divided, and the number now, as stated before, is 41 circuits in the state.

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

Mr. Hutchinson has now approached this with a fresh point of view. If Mr. Hutchinson's construction of the language could properly be followed by the court, I don't think that it would carry out the intent of the committee. However, if we adopt Mr. Hutchinson's amendment for the reasons that he has stated, this isn't going to carry out the intent of the committee either.

The existing language of the constitution is not qualified. It simply says that there will be appellate jurisdiction, and it doesn't qualify it by saying as provided by law or as provided by court rule, and what has actually happened is that it has been provided in both ways. There are numerous statutes such as the civil service act, the FEPC act, workmen's compensation act that specify where you appeal, how you appeal and what the court can do when it gets the appeal. By the same token you have very detailed court rules on how you appeal from the common pleas court, for example, to the circuit courts in Wayne county, and I assume they have similar rules covering the other appellate courts. When you get to municipal courts, there are court rules that cover the appeal and there are also statutes that cover the appeal. They are not in conflict one with another. One takes over where the other one leaves off.

I don't think we would want to preclude the legislature from, by statute, prescribing a method of appeal, nor would we want to take the supreme court out of the business of making rules, and it appears to me now that it is going to be impossible through this method to get language that is not likely to cause trouble. I think that we would better serve the interests of this section if we passed over and gave Mr. Hutchinson, who is a member of style and drafting, and Mr. Danhof and other members of the committee an opportunity to work with this language a little bit and see if we can't say what we really meant to say, because I don't think that Mr. Hutchinson and Judge Pugsley in their explanation really disagree with one another, but Mr. Hutchinson does raise a valid fear here not because by adopting this we are getting anything really strange, but by adopting it in this manner we might be creating a false impression when the court interprets this section. I would like to move that we pass over consideration of this at least until tomorrow's session. Mr. Faxon has an amendment that would help also. Maybe we can put these things together and clear this language up, having the benefit of the fresh point of view expressed by Mr. Hutchinson.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Ford moves that further consideration of section c of Committee Proposal 93 be deferred until tomorrow morning.

MR. FAXON: Mr. Chairman, haven't we already acted on this?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Faxon raises the point of order that we have already acted on a similar motion. However, there has been intervening business. Therefore, the motion is now in order. Those in favor will say aye; those opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. The secretary will read section d of Committee Proposal 93.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section d:

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, in the absence of Judge Mosier, I can state that this is a reenactment of section 11 of article VII of the Constitution of 1908. I should further point out that at the time that this matter was adopted, the majority report of the committee on local government provided for these particular offices to be found in every county.

Now, in light of the adoption at this convention of the home rule provisions for counties, it might be that some revision of this particular section would be in order. At the time it was adopted the committee on local government had written in there that there would be constitutional offices, at least the 2 that are here mentioned. We now have left to the legislature the home rule provision, but we don't know exactly what they will do and it is possible that the offices as named might be consolidated or their names changed. This is a problem on which the judiciary committee could not, of course, proceed.

When we reached this section in our deliberation, the question arose within the committee as to whether or not this was a proper matter for the judiciary committee to handle. I think the first sentence, "The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county" is properly within the judicial article and within the jurisdiction of our committee. Our committee heard from various people, and we reached a unanimous recommendation that this should continue. There was talk that perhaps the circuits should be allowed to pick their own clerk, but this was discarded.

Now, the remaining sentence, "The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions, but shall not exercise any other power. . . ." At the outset, it would appear that in 1908, because the clerk of the county was the clerk of the court—and at that time being clerk of the court may have been the main job—and because the prosecuting attorney was so closely aligned with the court and with the enforcement of justice, they rendered to the circuit judges these 2 powers of appointment in case of vacancy. The committee debated whether or not this was a proper matter for the judiciary committee to determine, concluded that it was and that, because of the fact that it was in the judicial article, it had been primarily assigned to it, we proceeded to reenact the section. I made contact with the chairman of the local government committee, and he advised that they approved our particular action.

Now, I realize that questions are going to arise. I am not sure whether they are judicial in nature or whether they are local government in nature. But we did reenact the section, the theory being that the prosecuting attorney is so closely aligned with the court, and in the event of a vacancy, the judge might be the best qualified to pick the attorney to carry on and make sure law enforcement is continued. And also because the clerk of the county was the clerk of the court, in lieu of this, why, we likewise recommend the continuance of this particular provision.

Now somebody might say, "Well, why not the register of deeds and the treasurer?" And my only answer is I don't imagine they have anything at all to do with the court. There is at least some indirect connection between the county clerk and the circuit judge in the court in that he is the clerk of the court, and for the prosecuting attorney. Therefore, the committee recommended the continuance of this particular section. And, as we stated, the committee on local government concurred in the reenactment of this particular provision.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. William Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. Chairman, I would like to address a couple of questions to the chairman of the local government committee because I believe this cuts over there. As I examine Committee Proposal 81 which was passed, there is no provision for the filling of vacancies in other county officers. It does not say who will fill, nor does it say that vacancies will be filled as provided by law.

Now, the first question is: how are other county officers to be filled? The second question is: is there any conflict with possible home rule provisions in which a home rule law was enacted by the legislature similar to the home rule act of cities, and pursuant to that home rule act the legislative body of the county proceeded to say that a clerk shall be appointed by the legislative body to serve at its pleasure. You would have a direct conflict with this provision as to who appointed upon the resignation or termination of the person who was holding the then clerk's office. And it seems to me that there is this conflict. The third conflict that I see is one that perturbs me from a philosophical basis. We provide here for an individual or a group of individuals to make an appointment without any confirmation by any other body. In a single judge circuit — or in our county, which would be only 2 judges in which it would boil down to 1 judge making the appointment— this appointment will be made without any consultation with the board of supervisors or otherwise.

Those are the 3 questions. First, how do you fill vacancies for other officers according to this constitution? Secondly, will this interfere with legitimate home rule if we conceive of the enabling act for counties to be comparable to cities? And, third, whether or not from a philosophical basis the local government committee should allow 1 man to make an appointment without any advice and consent or approval of the legislative body of a county who presumably represents the people?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Hanna, the Chair understands you desire to yield to Mr. Arthur Elliott for answers to your questions?

MR. W. F. HANNA: Yes.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The Chair recognizes Mr. Arthur Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Hanna, I truthfully can't tell you whether it is constitutional or statutory, and I feel that you probably could. The other officers of the county are appointed by the prosecutor, the clerk and the probate judges, so that would be the reason, of course, why the prosecutor and the clerk should not be a part of this particular article. I think the point you raise about the provisions that might be made in a home rule county is valid. They were not considered by us, and in the article which we have under consideration at no point did any of the appointments to vacancies come up. It wasn't in the article as in the 1908 constitution, and we frankly did not discuss it in committee except to concur with the judiciary on this approach to the clerk, which we did do.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Brake, did you desire recognition on this point?

MR. BRAKE: No, Mr. Chairman. It was another point.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, I wish to support the committee proposal with respect to this section. There are numerous articles similar to Mr. Hanna's. These were discussed in some detail by the committee. There are clear and cogent reasons why both sections of this particular paragraph deserve a place in the constitution. I urge that you support the committee.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Are there any amendments to section d?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Faxon offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 2, line 16, after "jurisdictions," by inserting "unless otherwise provided by law,"; so that the sentence will read:

The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions, unless otherwise provided by law, but shall not exercise any other power of appointment to public office.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Faxon and on which the Chair will recognize Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: Mr. Chairman, is it the desire of the chairman of the committee to speak? I just simply state the purpose of the amendment is to provide in the event that some home rule charters are developed for counties where they do provide for the filling of vacancies, that this would give the opportunity to the legislature to work out a method that would be in line with the wishes of the county or what the law would like to provide in that case. I yield to Mr. Danhof if he cares to comment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: The only thing that comes to mind when I hear this is that if we don't put anything in, it has to be provided by law then, and maybe if you want to do that, you would strike the whole last sentence rather than to say "as provided by law," because if you say nothing, somebody has to provide for the filling of vacancies and they will provide for it the same as they have for the filling of vacancies in other county offices, which has been by law. Therefore, on the particular amendment, I am not sure that it offers any particular advancement over the committee proposal. I would feel it should be opposed.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: The language is "unless otherwise provided by law," so that it would still keep it within the present method of filling the appointment unless otherwise provided in case the legislature saw fit to develop some method by which county charters would provide for the filling of vacancies. It is otherwise provided. I don't see that the language does give any flexibility to it unless I don't know how to read it right. It just says that the judges of the circuit court may fill any vacancy. Is that word "may" the one that gives them flexibility in terms of letting the legislature do it otherwise? Perhaps I am just not reading that word right. The word "may" on line 15; is that what gives it flexibility?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Which of you gentlemen and ladies would like recognition? (laughter) Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. Faxon, at first your amendment would seem not to make too much difference, but actually it might have the effect of taking away the constitutional aspects of these 2 particular appointments, and there is a rationale as to why these particular 2 county officials should be appointed, if a vacancy occurs, by the manner prescribed here. As Mr. Danhof has already indicated, it comes from a long tradition of recognizing that the judges are most likely to know the qualifications and needs for these 2 offices because they traditionally have been close to the court.

We have had an experience in Wayne county, and not so long ago, where such an appointment was made. Whether you agree or disagree with the wisdom of the appointment, it became apparent at that time that you really have a question on your hands when an important officer like the prosecutor, who is charged with law enforcement, leaves office and you face the question of whether you want to throw this into the political arena at large or whether you should ask the people who really know or should know what is going on in that county with respect to law enforcement, and that is the judges. Then after they have been appointed in this way, as Mr. Elliott has indicated, they have some importance because the county clerk takes on appointive powers for filling vacancies.

Your problem about county home rule I don't believe is a very serious one at this point because it is my understanding that the legislature would have the authority under the home rule provision that was passed by the constitutional convention thus far to eliminate any or all of the county officials and to provide for the manner of electing, selecting or replacing them in any way they saw fit, either by statute or by a provision permitting a charter to do this, so I don't think this would have any effect on or be in any way in conflict with the home rule provision.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: Well, my only comment is that I am not suggesting any other methods of selection or of filling of the vacancies. I am simply trying to make the language consistent so that if time develops where there are alternative solutions necessary, the legislature could provide for it. And I understand that under the county home rule charter that we have provided, the legislature has this flexibility, but it would seem here that there is a certain degree of mandatory language. I may be wrong in my interpretation, but this is the way it struck me. That is all.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The gentleman from Bay City, Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: I rise to support the committee proposal. That exact language has been in the constitution for 54 years, and it has the great advantage that the people back in 1908 voted on it, liked it and carried it. I think we should leave it there.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Everett, do you desire recognition at this time?

MR. EVERETT: I simply want to echo Judge Leibrand's comments that this is the present language and it has worked. I particularly rose because I know if Judge Mosier were here, he would want to be heard on this. He was very vigorous within the committee in recommending that this power be left where it is and where it has been for all these years. In 4 months of committee sessions not one person from the clerks association—and they appeared before us—from the prosecutors association, from the general public, even from the league of women voters appeared before us and suggested that we make any change. I submit this is one time when we ought to stick with the committee and vote down this proposed change or any other change.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The lady from Grand Rapids, Mrs. Judd.

MRS. JUDD: I never heard the league of women voters mention it either. I think we are getting overly concerned about a problem which certainly won't arise for a good many years, and if it does arise it will be only with respect to a very few counties, and we do have the rest of the 83 counties to think of.

I would, however, like to ask a question of Mr. Danhof, and that is I would like to know if there was any other reason for using the county clerk as the clerk of the circuit court than the one that "we always have done so." I would think with the increasing populations and business of the county, that it might be necessary to consider whether the county clerk can carry all of these jobs.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mrs. Judd yields to Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Yes, Mrs. Judd, there was another reason. It was proposed that perhaps each circuit judge should appoint his own clerk. And we took some testimony in this particular regard. First of all, we felt that at least 1 county, being Wayne, had a civil service system and this, we felt, might be moving to other large counties and that it would eliminate political log rolling, so to speak—the appointment of relatives to become clerk of the court or assistant clerk of the court—and as a consequence would make for a better administration of justice.

Now, as a practical matter, what happens in larger counties is that the county clerk himself does not do it, but he has a deputy who is assigned to the court, and it is my understanding that in those areas where you have more than one judge, they each have one assigned. These men are normally screened and have some qualifications for handling records and meeting with the public and keeping lawyers happy and so forth, and the judge may have some discretion in his particular clerk but it is not a political appointment.

We felt that we get better service. We further feel that there is an integration of the records with all of the other records within the county, and consequently, all in all, it was best that the clerk be given the overall control of the courts along with all of the other myriad duties that he performs.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. William Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: I will pass.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. William Hanna passes. Mr. Elliott.

MR. GADOLA: Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Judge Gadola.

MR. GADOLA: In 30 years on the bench I have only had the opportunity of appointing one clerk, and that was, I appointed the man's wife. He left to go into service in '42. And I was very pleased to make that appointment.

Remember that the clerk is the one that has charge of all the records of the circuit court. The clerk writes the journal. And, you know, the circuit judges can't conceal too much, because every day there is a diary written of their doings and they sign it every day, and you can find it 1,000 years from now if the records are kept. So I say that the clerk is the official of the judge and under the supervision of the judge. The legislature has seen fit to pile obligations and duties upon duties on the clerk, but nevertheless primarily he is under the supervision and jurisdiction of the judge, as is the prosecuting attorney. Even our court stenographer that we now call reporter is not appointed by the circuit judge. He is appointed by the governor. So I say that the proposition is proper to leave the appointment of those 2 officials with the judges.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Chairman, I just don't know that we should try to clarify this right now except that from what has been said and if I understand it correctly, from what was said by Mr. Ford and by other members of this committee, their feeling is that from line 14 through 17 would not in any way affect the provisions of Committee Proposal 89 as adopted under county home rule, and I assume that the reason why they say that is because of the permissive word "may" in line 15. I too feel that the clerk should be the clerk of the circuit court. I have no quarrel with this. I just wanted to make sure that we weren't in conflict here with 2 of our proposals.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Elliott yields to Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: The reason for the word "may" is a little different than might at first glance suggest itself, and that is that traditionally judges have been restricted from exercising any power of appointment to public office, and we have had such a restriction in our constitution at least since 1835. Now, when this language was put in, the word "may" probably appealed to them and was very clear because up until that time no judge could appoint anyone to any public office. And then they said, because of the nature of these offices, we are going to make an exception and say that the court may appoint these 2 particular officers.

Now, I don't know as a legal proposition whether the legislature could take that power away from them. I don't know that this constitution guarantees that power. But I do know that this language in the constitution clearly, when read in context with other prohibitions that we have in the judiciary article, makes it possible for them to make the appointment, and without it the rest of the constitution standing alone would prohibit such an appointment.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: I just want to make the point perfectly clear that under the provisions of Committee Proposal 89 as adopted, we had left to the counties the right to frame, adopt, amend and repeal their charter in a manner and with powers as provided by general law and permit the organization of county government in forms different from the form set forth in this constitution. So if we have a conflict here and if there is a possibility for this conflict to be plaguing us in the future years, I think in good conscience the attorneys who would be able better to enunciate that conflict should do so, so that we can at least resolve it and make it easier by our debate or discussion for the legislature and for the courts to know what we intended. I am assuming that there is no conflict and that the county home rule does give to the counties these rights that I have just described.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The Chair will recognize the gentleman from Hart, Judge Pugsley, speaking on the Faxon amendment.

MR. PUGSLEY: I think everything that I have had to say has already been covered. As Judge Gadola has said, the clerk of the county is the clerk of the court. I have had occasion in all 3 of the counties in my circuit to appoint a clerk; in one of the counties I appointed 3. And the language which we have before us is the same language, as Judge Leibrand has pointed out, which has been in the constitution since 1908. It is identically the same.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: The question I had, Mr. Chairman, has been led into by Judge Gadola. Judge, you said the appointment of your court reporter is made by the governor, but it is made on the recommendation of the circuit judge, isn't it?

MR. GADOLA: Yes, through the governor.

MR. BRAKE: Yes, upon the judge's recommendation. And as I remember it, the friend of the court situation is the same. The judge recommends him and the governor appoints him, and he is not at liberty to appoint anybody who has not been recommended by the judge. I assume that this circuitous method of making the appointment is due to that remaining language there which says that the judge may not make any other appointment. I would like to ask Mr. Danhof if his committee thinks that it is advisable that we go on through the years with that circuitous method when obviously it is the judge who ought to make the appointment of both the reporter and the friend of the court.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Brake, would you be kind enough to defer that question until we have disposed of the Faxon amendment?

MR. BRAKE: I raised it, Mr. Chairman, because Mr. Danhof suggested that we strike out the whole sentence rather than Mr. Faxon's amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The Chair thinks that currently before the committee is the amendment offered by Mr. Faxon which the secretary will read.

MR. FAXON: Mr. Chairman, in view of the fact that all of these prominent lawyers and judges have all seen fit to oppose the amendment and that no one has seen fit to support it, I will withdraw it at this time. (laughter)

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Faxon withdraws his amendment.

Mr. Brake's inquiry to the chairman of the committee, Mr. Danhof, is therefore in order, and the Chair will recognize Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: The basis, Mr. Brake, was that we felt—and perhaps this was not valid—that a judge should refrain from making other appointments to public office. I can understand your concern for these particular ideas. In the supreme court we got around it by giving them their staff and that was it.

Now, Mr. Bonisteel raised the same question there. But, you see, if you take it out, I suppose they can grant to the courts the power of appointment for all kinds of different offices.

The legislature might—and it is the theory that perhaps in the line, except for these 2—the theory was that this should not be granted to a circuit judge and that the legislature should not be given the opportunity to even grant it. Some offices might be political in nature, and they felt that the judge should not exercise the power of appointment. Consequently, we continued this philosophy through not only for the supreme court but also for the circuit courts except for this particular idea. To my knowledge this was the only thinking that we did on it.

As I explained to you in the beginning, very frankly, this last sentence was a matter that we weren't sure was judicial or belonged to local government and we did feel very strongly on the first sentence, and I emphasize that. The clerk of the county will be the clerk of the court. This we do insist on. And the remaining part we passed and felt that the reasons for filling these 2 vacancies should occur, but there should be no other particular appointment. That, in essence, is about all the light I can shed on the reasoning of the committee.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: While we are recording unusual incidents in the history of Michigan, it might not be inappropriate for me to make reference to something that will emphasize the importance of these things. The fact that the judge can make the recommendation to the governor and the governor has the power to make the appointment doesn't always insure that the appointment is made.

Many years ago in the twenty-third judicial circuit, we had a stenographer who was also a lawyer. The time came when the judge told him that he should either stop practicing law or stop being circuit court stenographer. He refused to give up either. So the judge made an order suspending him from office which, because it wasn't lifted for 30 or 60 days, under the statute became a removal. The judge didn't like the stenographer. The attorney general didn't like the judge. The governor depended upon the attorney general's advice, and for 2 years the governor decided he wouldn't make an appointment. Then the attorney general became governor and stayed governor for 6 years and refused to make an appointment of anybody recommended by the judge, so for a period of about 8 years, every time he wanted to hold court in the twenty-third judicial circuit, an arrangement had to be made with some stenographer to come in from outside to be paid on a per diem basis.

So there are occasions when these things that look so simple on their surface may become quite serious.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Is there any further amendment to section d?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Prettie offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 2, line 13, after "purposes" by inserting a comma and "or other officer performing the duties of such office,"; so that the language will then read, "The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes, or other officer performing the duties of such office, shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county."

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Prettie, on which the Chair will recognize Mr. Prettie.

MR. PRETTIE: Referring to the citizens research manual dealing with this section, which has been copied identically from the 1908 constitution, the comment says, "This provision has given rise to no difficulty." We have been on it now for about 25 minutes, but I do think Committee Proposal 89 poses a problem where we may have in a home rule county a combination of officers or an elimination of the particular elective office of the county clerk. I think now is the time to face it and solve it and not have a possible conflict in the document we write. I think if we add the language of the amendment proposed, the county clerk in those counties having historic structure and officers will be the clerk of the court, and in those counties which in the future may adopt home rule, the officer performing that duty will perform the duty of the clerk of the court too.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Prettie. Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask Mr. Elliott's opinion on this. My own thinking is that it offers no particular objection, but it does affect his particular committee also, and maybe we should get an expression there.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: I think it clarifies the point quite well and I would have no objection.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Prettie. Those in favor will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The amendment is adopted. Are there further amendments to section d?

SECRETARY CHASE: None on file, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: There being no further amendments, it will pass.

Section d, as amended, is passed. Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: I move the committee do now rise, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof moves that the committee do now rise. Those in favor of the motion will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The motion prevails and the committee will rise.

[Whereupon, the committee of the whole having risen, Vice President Hutchinson assumed the Chair.]

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The convention will be in order, and the Chair recognizes the delegate from Oakland, Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration several matters of which the secretary will give a detailed report.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration Committee Proposal 93, has adopted several amendments thereto, has postponed consideration of section c until tomorrow; has come to no final resolution thereon. Also the committee of the whole has in committee postponed consideration of Committee Proposal 91

lowed completely that no one ever heard of before — so in that belief we just dropped the question. Perhaps we shouldn't have. Perhaps we should have done something to correct those errors that were there. They were there, but we believed until the supreme court gave us some authority, something that could be read, something that could be followed, that it wasn't up to us to merely go into unplowed territory and attempt to correct the errors.

Therefore, I say that the supreme court should make the rules. Of course, there is some change being made at the present time because under the court administrator they are now establishing another branch to deal with the inferior courts under the circuit courts and perhaps they will have the assistance of the administrator in that line. But I do believe that the supreme court should adopt the rules, and I therefore urge you to adopt the committee report.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. McAllister, which the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. McAllister's amendment:

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Those in favor of the amendment offered by Mr. McAllister will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The amendment is not adopted. Are there further amendments to section c?

SECRETARY CHASE: That is all we have on the desk, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Section c, as amended, is passed. Are there any amendments to the body of Committee Proposal 93? Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask the chairman of the committee, Mr. Danhof, one question in order that at least I might understand what is intended by this last grant of power. I refer to lines 10 and 11, which read, "and the jurisdiction of other cases and matters as the supreme court shall by rule prescribe." Now, we have above here given circuit courts original jurisdiction. We have given them appellate jurisdiction. We have given them power to issue and determine prerogative and remedial writs. We have given them supervisory and general control over inferior courts. Can the chairman give me at least an illustration of a case of jurisdiction of some other kind of a case which is contemplated in lines 10 and 11?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Hutchinson, to start out, it was the opinion of the committee that perhaps this was a safeguard or a catchall in trying to be safe, as attorneys like to be. In addition, as we had in section 10 of the 1908 constitution where you had the grants of practically all the delegations that you have mentioned, the identical thing, we concluded with the practically identical language wherein it states "and in all such other cases and matters as the supreme court shall by rule prescribe."

To offhand fish out an illustration might be a little difficult, but it is possible that perhaps the admission of new attorneys to the bar, as has been suggested, might be a matter that has been delegated to the circuit court by supreme court rule. Basically it was just a safeguard and something that we took from section 10 in order to just make safeguards. Should the legislature fail to act in any particular matter, the supreme court could refer the particular matter to the circuit court. It was basically a catchall and a safeguard rather than any particular idea that we had in mind.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: If there are no further amendments to section c, it will pass.

Section c, as amended, is passed. Are there amendments to the body of Committee Proposal 93?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Brake offers the following amendment to section d:

1. Amend page 2, line 15, after "county clerk" by striking out "or" and inserting a comma; and in line 16, after "prosecuting attorney" by inserting a comma and "court reporter or friend of the court"; so the language will then read:

The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of county clerk, prosecuting attorney, court reporter or friend of the court within their respective jurisdictions, but shall not exercise any other power of appointment to public office.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment to section d offered by Mr. Brake, on which the Chair will recognize the gentleman from Stanton, Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, as was pointed out yesterday, because of the provision in our present constitution which says that the circuit judge may appoint nobody except the clerk and the prosecuting attorney, we have had the circuitous method of getting a court reporter and a friend of the court by providing in the statute that the governor shall appoint the court reporter upon nomination of the circuit judge and the same thing with the friend of the court. Now, the governor is not at liberty to make an appointment except as the circuit judge has made the nomination so that in effect if everybody does what he is supposed to do, the circuit judge is actually making the appointment of the reporter and the friend of the court, but he has to go through the governor's office to do it. And, as Judge Dehnke pointed out, when somebody gets off the beam a little bit, you may have trouble.

We think that this simplifies the procedure and takes the circuitous method out, lets the judge directly appoint his court reporter and his friend of the court. The relationship between the judge and both of those officials is such that he ought to make the appointment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, Mr. Brake approached me with this particular matter last night and asked if we would discuss it in the committee. I can state that we did discuss it before the committee this morning to the limited extent of the time we had, but there was not support for this particular amendment for various reasons. We have on our committee 3 ex circuit judges, 2 of whom are present, Judge Mosier being ill. And it was likewise the view in regard to a court reporter that perhaps the independence of the court reporter to some extent is desirable. I think this particular point of view was expressed by Judge Leibbrand, and I would hope that he might enlarge on it a little further. A view was further expressed in regard to the friend of the court that in some circuits, of course, this amounts to 1 or maybe 2 individuals at the most. However, in the more metropolitan areas—I have been advised that the friend of the court's office in Wayne county exceeds some 150 employees at the present time—that it is possible that this could become a political patronage operation of the courts, and that consequently it would best be left to other means of control.

I agree with Mr. Brake that these people do have an intimate working relationship with the judge, and perhaps there is some basis for it. I would not particularly care for freezing in the language "friend of the court." As time goes on, they may have name changes, and they are frozen in. But to put this burden on the circuit judge, at least there it was the opinion of the committee that this should not be done at this time in a constitutional provision, and consequently the matter was discussed before the committee but there were insufficient votes to bring the matter to the floor as a committee amendment. Consequently, because of the view of the committee, I would urge the rejection of the amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: On the amendment offered by Mr. Brake, the Chair recognizes Judge Pugsley.

MR. PUGSLEY: I would like to ask Senator Brake whether he would insist upon the friend of the court being included, or whether he would be satisfied to delete the friend of the court and confine his amendment to the court reporter. It would make some difference in the position that I take myself in this matter.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Let's compromise this way, Judge, and vote on the 2 separately.

MR. PUGSLEY: Very well, I will go along with you on that. I am in sympathy with your position so far as the court reporter is concerned. It has been my experience to have to select and employ court reporters from time to time, and their relationship is so intimate and so closely associated with the circuit court that I don't believe the governor is jealous of the opportunity of making that appointment, and it usually is a matter that is left with the court and I think we might as well recognize that. The court, I think, should have the right to select its own reporter.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Brake requests a division of the question into the several matters of court reporter and friend of the court. It will be so presented. Mr. Norris.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. Chairman, I wonder if I might, through the Chair, direct a question to Mr. Brake.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: If the gentleman cares to answer.

MR. NORRIS: I wonder if there is any relationship, sir, between the filling of a vacancy in the office that you describe and those counties that have civil service. Is this matter of assignment or filling of vacancies provided for in these counties that have the civil service, and would this in any way impede, alter or change that?

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: I think you will have to tell me, Mr. Norris. Wayne county, as far as I know, is the only county that has civil service. How do you handle that down there? I would assume that your head man, your friend of the court who is actually the head of the department, is appointed in the same way as he is everywhere else.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Norris, do you desire to yield to Mr. Buback for a response?

MR. NORRIS: Yes, sir.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Buback.

MR. BUBACK: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, in Wayne county the circuit judges do appoint their own stenographers and they are not under civil service. I mean they appoint them through the governor. They make the recommendation to the governor.

I think that Senator Brake is right. I think that the judges should also have the right to appoint the friend of the court, because actually they make their recommendation to the governor and the governor acquiesces to the judge's request on the friend of the court and the stenographer. They are not under civil service. They are considered state employees.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, we discussed the matter of the appointment of the court reporter in the committee and came to the conclusion that this should be left unchanged. Now, the court reporter is not strictly an employee of the circuit judge. This gentleman in the performance of his duty should have, I think, a degree of independence from the circuit judge. This is the person to whom the attorneys and the litigants look and he actually should be a representative of the state and free and independent of any control. I would like to ask Delegate Brake if he has considered that aspect of it, and in particular, if the judge has the power to fill the vacancy, could he fire the court reporter?

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: I am not talking about any specific instance that I know about, Mr. Higgs, but I would think that you would have a very serious situation in your court if sometime you were to have a judge and a court reporter who do not get along together. I think the judge's control of that should be sufficient so that that situation should never arise.

MR. HIGGS: Well, Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I must disagree with Delegate Brake. I can certainly appreciate that there are reasons why they should get along, but there may be reasons why they don't get along. In any event, what we are extremely interested in as attorneys practicing in any court is the independence of the court reporter, and we discussed this in committee at length — well, I wouldn't say at length, but we discussed it for some period of time, and I would urge that you defeat this amendment.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I failed to mention yesterday the kind of a situation that can arise. Under the statutes that we now have, the circuit judge has the power to suspend the reporter, and if that suspension is not lifted within either 30 or 60 days — I have forgotten the exact period — it automatically becomes a vacancy.

Now, there may be situations when a question could arise as to the accuracy of the transcript, but those can be disposed of in hearings before the judge or the supreme court. But in this particular case of which I spoke, the reporter, as I indicated, was an attorney. He made a practice of advising people who had legal questions. Sometimes those cases got into the courts in the form of lawsuits. Then there was a question as to whether the reporter, having acted as adviser to the litigants, although he was not appearing for them as attorney in court, was in a defensible position in acting as a reporter and writing up the transcript. For that reason the court suspended him from office and there was some litigation conducted and some litigation threatened and that was used as the excuse for the attorney general's advice to the governor and the later action of the same individual, as governor, in refusing to appoint a successor. Here was a situation where the statute specifically said that the governor shall appoint the reporter recommended by the circuit judge. When the question arose as to what might be done about it, it was discovered that, under Michigan rules at least, the supreme court could not mandamus the governor, so we had that situation for approximately 8 years. Every time the judge wanted to hold court, he had to get on the telephone, call Alpena or Bay City or Saginaw or Detroit and import somebody for whatever work was at hand at per diem and expenses.

I don't feel so strongly about the friend of the court, but I do think that the door ought not to be left open to anything in the field of the court reporter of the kind I have related.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: The Chair will advise the committee that there are 9 speakers seeking recognition on the Brake amendment. Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: I will pass.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Mahinske passes. Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: Mr. Chairman and delegates, it might be of interest to nonlawyers to see how this situation we are in arose. The present law, I believe, provides for the appointment of court reporters by the governor on the recommendation of the circuit judge or judges involved. The background of that was an attempt to make the reporter as completely independent as possible from the judge, and the background of that is that many times even the best of judges in the heat of trial say things that in the calm of the next day they regret, and the thought was that the judge might be tempted to try to convince the reporter that the reporter's transcript was wrong while the judge's notes were right. Now, in a general way, I feel that it is rather important to keep the reporter independent of the judge for this very purpose.

On the other hand, my neighboring delegate here to the right who has also had considerable court experience suggests to me that if a gubernatorial appointment is required in each case, it would be difficult or impossible for a court to hire a reporting firm where, as happens in the convention, different reporters might be sent or used every day. Generally speaking, I would be opposed to the Brake amendment so far as the court reporter is concerned. I feel that he should be kept as independent as possible. But I would be highly in favor of the amendment so far as it relates to the appointment of the friend of the court who really, in these days of many, many divorces, is the right arm of the judge.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Hoxie.

MR. HOXIE: I will pass.

CHAIRMAN VANDUSEN: Mr. Hoxie passes. Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: I would just like to say that, as a member of the committee, I felt very strongly that the judge should not be able to control the reporter, and he should be kept independent. However, I have checked around with various people, and I gather that in truth they aren't and this is sort of a game we are playing. Therefore, I now support Mr. Brake's amendment because, frankly, I conferred with someone from Wayne county who I thought knew most about it, and they said they do what the judges say anyway, so why are we doing this? I am now against the committee report, because the reasons I believed were true I found were not true. Therefore, I no longer support it.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I am surprised that a great fighter for the right like Annie gives up now because the situation seems so hopelessly messed up.

I would like to agree with everything that Judge Leibrand has said, and I think he is very courageous as an ex circuit judge and a member of a very exclusive club to suggest—although he did it much more kindly than some of us might have—that everything that the judge says on the bench doesn't get into the record. Everybody knows that over a period of time court reporters who stay with a particular judge for a long time learn almost instinctively what the judge means to have in the record for everybody to see and what he means not to be in the record for everybody to see. The advantage he has is that the court reporter can't similarly read the minds of the witnesses and the lawyers, so if we make a mistake, it gets into the record and stays there to plague us.

I have had the experience of seeing a circuit judge berating the supreme court throughout a trial which ultimately ended up in front of the supreme court without a single word in the transcript about why he was making rulings as he was making them, and he said all the way through that he was making them just to see what those damn fools in Lansing would do about it. (laughter) Now, this gets to be rather serious, and if what we would be doing by adopting Mr. Brake's amendment would be by constitution acknowledging the fact that we could never come up with a system that would in fact make court reporters independent of the dominance of the judges whom they are serving, then I would be opposed to it.

I think Judge Leibrand is correct, however, with respect to the friend of the court. I can find no reason to oppose the idea of the circuit judge being the proper person to make that appointment. I would support Mr. Brake's amendment with respect to the friend of the court and urge that you defeat the other amendment. If the legislature wants to come up with a system different than we have now, fine, let them do it. But let's don't do it in the constitution.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Bledsoe.

MR. BLEDSOE: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I feel like saying this morning, "Thank God for Judge Leibrand's statement." Let us not forget that in all of these matters the litigants are involved. The people whose interests are being involved are to be protected by this record, and sometimes a judge gets hot and gets angry with the lawyers and things get pretty warm and courts get pretty tense, but it is not going to be the lawyer who suffers if, when that record goes to the supreme court, everything is not in there that was said by everybody; it is the litigant. It is the little people who appear there with their causes who suffer when those records are not properly before the court with everything that has transpired.

I therefore urgently request: let's maintain this independence of the court reporter as much as possible. Those of us who have had a lot of trial experience know how important that is.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. McAllister.

MR. McALLISTER: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I have a high regard for circuit judges and I think they are a very splendid group. However, I have had experiences similar to those of Mr. Ford, and 2 circuit judges that I was acquainted with, who have now departed this world, in my opinion and from pretty good knowledge, sometimes did edit the notes. I had one experience too not too long ago in a matter which was on its way to the supreme court, and in this instance the circuit judge really blasted the supreme court for quite a lengthy period. So after the matter had been concluded in the circuit court, I talked to the court officer. I said, "Do you suppose that will all be in the record?" He said, "Yes, sir. That court reporter will put everything in the record and every period regardless of what any judge said."

Now, there is an intimacy between a court reporter and a judge, and I don't think that in many instances there would be any editing or anything deleted from the record, but there is always the possibility where some careless or nasty remark is in the record, and I think for the protection of the public that a court reporter should be appointed and be an independent individual. It really is a pleasure for once to agree with the learned counselor from Taylor township, Mr. Ford. (laughter)

I might say that insofar as the friend of the court is concerned, I agree with Mr. Ford again, because the friend of the court is actually an adviser to the judge and more or less an agent of his to furnish him information that would require a great length of time if the court had to do it himself, so I am in favor of the friend of the court being appointed by the circuit judge.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Hodges.

MR. HODGES: I pass.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Hodges passes. Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, when I asked for recognition this last time, it was merely a desire to clarify the record that the case to which I had referred arose under a predecessor of mine and not during my occupancy of the office for 32 years. During those 32 years I had no difficulties with any of the court reporters who served under me, not only those in my own circuit but in more than half of the counties of the state where I was called to try cases on assignment. But now the discussion has taken a turn that makes it necessary to say something more. I don't know of a single case that I ever tried which went to the supreme court where the record did not contain every word that was spoken during the trial which the attorneys on either side wanted in it. Again we have to take a little pains to explain to the laymen that when a case goes to the supreme court, it doesn't always mean, in fact it means in very few cases, that every word that was said during the proceedings in circuit court is in the record. The record is settled and contains those things and those things only which the lawyers on one side or the other think are important to the point on appeal.

Now, what has been said here suggests 2 things that are discreditable both to the profession of circuit judges and of court reporters. I won't have any difficulty in agreeing that any judge who is able to insist on a court reporter changing the record or leaving something out is not fit for the responsibilities of his office, and by the same token any court reporter who is willing to yield to that kind of pressure who wouldn't prefer to resign rather than to yield to it is unfit for his responsibilities.

I don't want the impression to go out, as might be gained from some of the things that have been said, that those are things that commonly occur or even rarely occur. Court reporters are responsible individuals. They have their code of ethics as lawyers have. And I think it is necessary for those of us who know the facts to guard, as far as we can, against any mistaken impression of that kind going out.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: I would just like to ask Delegate Brake if he doesn't believe that the addition of these 2 positions into the constitution would be giving constitutional status to 2 officials who presently don't enjoy any constitutional status or protection. What would the effect be in your opinion?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Of course they would be mentioned in the constitution and they are not mentioned now. But we will always have a court reporter as long as we have a court. It is absolutely necessary. And I can't see, with the divorce rate as it is and other investigations as they are, how we are ever going to get along without a friend of the court.

MR. FAXON: Is it your feeling that this could not be dealt with by legislative action?

MR. BRAKE: That is the way it has been done and that is the reason you have to go clear around and get the governor to make the appointment that the circuit judge is actually making.

MR. FAXON: But if the legislature were to change the act and provide for more direct relationship—

MR. BRAKE: The legislature can't change the act. When you say in the constitution that the circuit judge can appoint the clerk and the prosecuting attorney and can't make any other appointment, the legislature can't undo that.

MR. FAXON: Do you think it might be better in order to give it flexibility to provide by law for any additional—

MR. BRAKE: No, because I don't think it ought to be opened up too wide. The legislature might give the circuit judge the power to appoint officers that he ought not to be appointing. I think it should be kept limited, but not so limited as to require the governor to appoint these 2 people who work so closely with the judge.

MR. FAXON: Thank you.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I am sure the delegates will agree, the circuit judges—in particular I am speaking of Delegate Dehnke's remarks with regard to the record; I'm sure that he will agree—that before you can settle upon a record, you have to have the whole and complete record before the attorneys can settle the record, and if part of the proceedings, remarks or statements made in court which may have been made in front of a jury are not in the record, you can't settle upon it. I will move that we divide this question.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: It has already been divided, Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: All right, thank you. And I would urge that you support the friend of the court being included and striking the court reporter.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Have you any other names on this?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The Chair has 2 more speakers seeking recognition, Mr. Brake—now has 4 more speakers seeking recognition. They multiply like amoebae. (laughter) Mr. Everett.

MR. EVERETT: Mr. Chairman, I am certain enough has been said about the court reporter. You either believe he ought to be given a degree of independence or not and you can make up your mind on that issue.

I am a little disturbed, however, by the feeling that the friend of the court should be written in. I agree with Mr. Brake that somebody performing these duties will certainly be necessary, but we don't even know in the future whether divorce cases will always be heard in the circuit court. They may very well be transferred at some date to some other tribunal. There has been a great deal of suggestion, for example, that at some time in the future some sort of a family court be established. We have provided this kind of flexibility in other parts of this constitution. Now, if that were to occur—and I don't know whether it ever will or not—we would have the unusual situation of then having a man who worked very closely with another court being appointed by the circuit judge. To me, it is true, the route is circuitous, but we have been given one example in 50 some years where it didn't work, and I think that is very slim evidence upon which to base a judgment that we write in an officer in the constitution and freeze the situation for a period of time which none of us can fully foresee.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Lawrence.

MR. LAWRENCE: Mr. Chairman, may I ask how the question has been divided? Has it been divided so that it is between prosecuting attorney, and between friend of the court and between—

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The amendment, Mr. Lawrence, offered by Mr. Brake would give the circuit judge the power of appointment over the court reporter and the friend of the court. The question has been divided so that you will vote separately on the power of appointment of the court reporter and separately on the power of appointment of the friend of the court.

MR. LAWRENCE: Thank you. I would like to speak for a moment in opposition to the amendment, to both parts of the amendment. Taking first the court reporter, not only should the court reporter be independent and able to not be dictated to by the judge, but he should be in a position where his retention is not in any way affected by the judge. I can only tell you this: it is my understanding that one of the courts in our state insists that in any transcript being prepared by the court reporter, any rulings, any opinions, any orders or directions made by the court have to be submitted to it before they are submitted to the counsel who order transcript. Now, that isn't right. There should be no ability on the part of the court to in any way change any portion of that transcript, and the court reporter should be absolutely independent of the judge in every way so that the transcript that is rendered cannot in any way be influenced by the court.

I agree with Mr. Everett on the friend of the court. Certainly the friend of the court is an arm of the court and should be treated as such. But in view of the fact that there may be a change in the court's jurisdiction in, say, divorce matters or matters involving children that are handled by the friend of the court as an aide to the court, certainly that can be taken care of in the legislature and the friend of the court can be under the direction of the circuit court. Then if there is a change into a family court or something else of that nature, the friend of the court will not be frozen in the constitution.

I don't think that either of these matters are constitutional matters, and I urge you to vote against the amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Judge Pugsley.

MR. PUGSLEY: When I made the inquiry of Senator Brake which I did, I did it with the idea of raising the question of whether or not the office of circuit court commissioner should be frozen into the constitution. Fortunately I have not had the unfortunate experience that some of the other judges have had with court reporters. I have had no complaints from the attorneys and I have had no complaints myself. I have been very fortunate in that respect.

I have no strenuous opposition to the committee report, although it did seem to me to be rather a useless fiction to require that a recommendation be made by the court and then the governor make the appointment. I don't think it is going to change the relationship one way or the other. I think we are putting more stress on the importance of this than it really deserves.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: Mr. Chairman, speaking as a layman, I would certainly oppose the amendment. I could see where, when the court reporter is not independent of the judge who had appointed him, he might be doing some editing which might have quite a lot of bearing on whether or not appeals would be given by the supreme court. I certainly wouldn't even go along with the idea that was suggested a short while ago by one of the delegates that the governor listen to the judges. In fact, I think that a governor who appointed a court reporter on the advice of the judge should be very severely criticized because, after all, isn't this man supposed to be independent of the judge? Isn't he supposed to do independent court reporting? I think we should know everything that goes on there just as we do right here. There is going to be no editing of what I say. They are going to put it all in there, or they should. And certainly the people in my area are going to know what I say. And I certainly want to know what the judges have to say, or the witnesses or anyone else.

Now, so far as the friend of the court is concerned, I think that Delegate Everett and Delegate Lawrence are right. You can't tell when we may shift the hearing of these divorce cases to another court, so why not continue it the way we have had it?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Norris.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. Chairman, I don't wish to address myself to the merits of the various contentions, but I would like to introduce a note of caution among the delegates, both lawyers and nonlawyers. We are dealing with the courts, and we are dealing with the courts in the public eye, and it seems to me that we ought to approach this question with due care and caution. We call a judge "His Honor" to remind us of our own honor, and I don't think we ought to introduce in an inartful formulation some of the points that have been made in the discussion both with regard to the circuit judges and the supreme court judges.

The rights of the people are directly related here to the integrity of the bench, and I think that when we discuss this, while the courts are not immune to first amendment criticism—speech and press—certainly in a sovereign body as this we have to make a searching inquiry with regard to the function of the courts and all the accoutrements of the courts. I seem to detect in the trend of the discussion on this judicial article a certain amount of disrespect which I think is unwarranted. I think it is possible to criticize in such a way that we elevate the thing we criticize and not deprecate it, and I think that ought to be borne in mind by all the delegates.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, had I known in advance what some of these statements would have been, I certainly would not have offered this amendment, because the statements that have been made have done more damage than the amendment can do good if it carries. The only argument that has been urged against the appointment by the judge of the circuit court reporter is that through the influence of the judge the reporter will not correctly report the case. I can't dispute the experience that other attorneys say they have had in this field. I am shocked by what they say. When one gets to where he can't argue about a thing, a Methodist trained person simply testifies, and I testify. This means that the judge and the reporter are intellectually dishonest. I have never known such a judge and I have never known such a reporter. I think the amendment should be adopted.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Brake. The question has been divided. The first portion of the question is that dealing with the court reporter. The secretary will read that portion of the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Brake's amendment as divided would provide for the appointment by the judge of the court reporter, so the amendment would be as follows:

1. Amend page 2, line 15, after "county clerk" by striking out "or" and inserting a comma; and in line 16, after "prosecuting attorney" by inserting "or court reporter"; so the language would read, "The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of county clerk, prosecuting attorney or court reporter. . . ."

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: I can only state, Mr. Chairman, that I would echo the remarks made by Delegate Norris. I think they are most apropos. And also those of Mr. Brake. I think the discussion has developed that it best be left the way it is, that while the system may have certain disadvantages, it is better than to write them into the constitution. I would urge the defeat of the amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the portion of the amendment offered by Mr. Brake which the secretary has just read. Those in favor of the amendment will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The Chair would rule that the amendment does not prevail.

MR. BRAKE: Division.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: A division has been called for. Is the request supported? It is supported. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment relative to the appointment of a court reporter by the circuit judge, the yeas are 55; the nays are 60.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The amendment is not adopted.

The second portion of the amendment offered by Mr. Brake deals with the appointment of the friend of the court by the circuit judge, and the secretary will read that portion of the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Brake's amendment now is:

1. Amend page 2, line 15, after "county clerk" by striking out "or" and inserting a comma; and in line 16, after "prosecuting attorney" by inserting "or friend of the court"; so that the language will then read:

The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of county clerk, prosecuting attorney or friend of the court within their respective jurisdictions, but shall not exercise any other power of appointment to public office.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: On the amendment offered by Mr. Brake, Mr. Brake requests a division. Is the demand supported? It is supported. Those in favor of the amendment as so read by the secretary will vote aye; those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment relative to the appointment of the friend of the court, the yeas are 64; the nays are 52.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The amendment is adopted. Are there any further amendments to the body of Committee Proposal 93? If not, it will pass.

Committee Proposal 93, as amended, is passed, and the secretary will read Committee Proposal 94.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on judicial branch, by Mr. Danhof, chairman, Committee Proposal 94, A proposal pertaining to the probate court. A substitute for sections 13 and 14 of article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 94 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. IN EACH COUNTY ORGANIZED FOR JUDICIAL PURPOSES, THERE SHALL BE A PROBATE COURT. THE LEGISLATURE MAY COMBINE 1 OR MORE COUNTIES INTO PROBATE DISTRICTS, OR COMBINE THE OFFICE OF PROBATE JUDGE WITH ANY JUDICIAL OFFICE INFERIOR THERETO IN ANY COUNTY WITH LESS THAN 25,000 POPULATION WITH SUPPLEMENTAL SALARY AS PROVIDED BY LAW, AND SHALL DO SO ON RECOMMENDATION AND REPORT OF THE SUPREME COURT. THE JURISDICTION, POWERS AND DUTIES OF SUCH COURTS AND OF THE JUDGES THEREOF SHALL BE PRESCRIBED BY LAW. THEY SHALL ALSO HAVE ORIGINAL JURISDICTION IN ALL CASES OF JUVENILE DELINQUENTS AND DEPENDENTS, EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED BY LAW.

Sec. b. JUDGES OF PROBATE SHALL BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED AT NONPARTISAN ELECTIONS IN THE COUNTIES OR THE PROBATE DISTRICT IN WHICH THEY RESIDE AND SHALL HOLD OFFICE FOR A PERIOD OF 6 YEARS AND UNTIL THEIR SUCCESSORS ARE ELECTED AND QUALIFIED. IN MULTIJUDGE COUNTIES OR DISTRICTS THE LEGISLATURE SHALL PROVIDE BY LAW FOR STAGGERED TERMS.

Mr. Danhof, chairman of the committee on judicial branch, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 94:

During the first 3 months of our committee work we had the testimony and advice of all the members of the supreme court, of circuit and probate judges, state bar officers and lawyers and officers of local bar associations and members of the general public. The plan of operation of our circuit and probate courts we found met the approval generally of all persons and groups who appeared before us.

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

then if the district is composed of, let's say, 3 counties, as an example, that the probate judge shall, because his is the only nonpartisan judicial office available to do this, be the chairman of the elections commission of a county?

MR. EVERETT: Well, to begin with, Mr. Leppien, his duties as election commissioner, of course, come from the statute. I don't know whether the legislature would want to have a nonresident serving on that election commission. If I were in the legislature, I wouldn't want to have it. I would have somebody else serve on the election commission. But this is a matter which the legislature would have to decide. We don't look upon this as being a constitutional question.

MR. LEPIEN: Thank you.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, in view of the hour and the amendments here, I move the committee do now rise.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof moves the committee do now rise. Those in favor will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. The committee will rise.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration several matters of which the secretary will give a detailed report.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration Committee Proposal 93, A proposal pertaining to the circuit court; reports this proposal back to the convention with several amendments, recommending the amendments be agreed to and that the proposal as thus amended do pass.

[The following are the amendments recommended by the committee of the whole:

1. Amend page 1, line 12, after "rule" by striking out "or by law".

2. Amend page 1, line 14, after "judges" and after "circuits" by striking out "shall" and inserting "may".

3. Amend page 1, line 20, after "Sec. b.", by striking out the balance of the line, all of line 21, and line 22 through "years.", and inserting "Circuit judges shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections in the county or the circuit in which they reside, and shall hold office for a period of 6 years and until their successors are elected and qualified."

4. Amend page 2, line 6, after "tribunals" by striking out "as prescribed by supreme court rule;" and inserting "except as otherwise provided by law; power".

5. Amend page 2, line 13, after "purposes" by inserting a comma and "or other officer performing the duties of such office,".

6. Amend page 2, line 15, after "county clerk" by striking out "or" and inserting a comma; and in line 16, after "prosecuting attorney" by inserting "or friend of the court".]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on agreeing to the amendments. Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, I would ask that the amendments to section a and to section b be divided and considered separately from the amendments to sections c and d at this particular time.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendments offered to section a of Committee Proposal 93 are as follows:

1. Amend page 1, line 12, after "rule" by striking out "or by law".

2. Amend page 1, line 14, after "judges" and after "circuits" by striking out "shall" and inserting "may".

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, I would ask again that on the 2 amendments there be a division, that we consider the amendment first as to line 12.

SECRETARY CHASE: First amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 12, after "rule" by striking out "or by law"; so that the language then beginning in line 10 will read, "Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by supreme court rule."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment. Those in favor will say aye; those opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted.

SECRETARY CHASE: The second amendment:

2. Amend page 1, line 14, after "judges" and after "circuits" by striking out "shall" and inserting "may"; so the language then will read:

The number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued by law and the number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued on recommendation of the supreme court to reflect changes in the judicial business.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on agreeing to the amendment. Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President and members of the convention, we again return to this particular problem and, on behalf of the committee, I would urge that the convention not concur in the recommendation of the committee of the whole. The committee felt as strongly as we could that in the past there had not been a response to the judicial needs particularly of this state. As pointed out by the members of the Wayne county delegation, there has been no increase in the judiciary of this particular county for almost 30 years. We seriously considered the possibility of writing in a mandatory requirement concerning population; this we did not do because we did not like particularly to write in numbers or numerical provisions. We wanted to emphasize, as strongly as we could, that the question of the adequate protection of the laws by the people is not something that should be played with in politics, nor should it even be decided upon financial or monetary considerations. Whether or not additional judges are needed to handle a case load should not be determinative upon the fact whether the state has to add an additional $50,000 or $60,000 and the county likewise to pay them. With the emergence throughout all of the country of the idea that the administration of justice should be—I don't use the word—if not nonpartisan, should certainly be a bipartisan consideration and not something which should be kicked around or buried.

We wanted to emphasize as strongly as we could without having an automatic provision that when in the eyes of those who have the facilities, who have the figures, who have the available material at hand, there develops a definite need for additional manpower or for the change of circuits in order to give adequate protection to the public for the efficient administration of justice, that this should be done.

We realize that the supreme court cannot draw warrants, nor can it create the circuits, but I would urge that the convention not concur in the recommendation of the committee of the whole.

I would request, Mr. President, that there be a roll of the ayes and the nays in this particular regard.

PRESIDENT NISBET: There has been a request for the ayes and nays. Is that demand supported? Those in favor will rise. A sufficient number up. Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. President, I will yield to Mr. Ford.

PRESIDENT NISBET: For what purpose? Do you want to make a speech or do you want to make a motion?

MR. FORD: I want to make a motion.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Well, I want to make a speech.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Hutchinson has been recognized.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. President, I ask the convention to look at the other side of this coin for a minute or so, maybe a few minutes. You have heard one side of it from Mr. Danhof. Now let's look at the other side. What the language of the committee does here is to vest in the supreme court would like to eliminate the "I" and say "having more than a judge" we will go along. We took all of the arguments as to why we felt it was good. If we are going to do it, it should be done. The bar association recommended it. Witnesses before our committee recommended it. If you are going to elect the judges, the least we could try to do is to shorten the ballot. We have provisions for the legislature to implement them. Without going back into all the arguments, I would urge the defeat of the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment. Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. President, I expressed yesterday that although we had a minority report that sought to do exactly what Mr. Kuhn is doing here, we did not wish to make a fight of it at this point because this issue comes up again in Committee Proposal 96 in a form where I think we can more readily resolve the issues. So I don't feel that the change of this word is essential at this time because I think it is something that can be done in Mr. Cudlip's committee to conform with whatever we do when we handle the matter in full in Committee Proposal 96.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is not adopted. Are there further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: That was the last amendment, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: If not, Committee Proposal 93 as amended is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 93 as amended and referred to the committee on style and drafting:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. The state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected 1, or when provided by law, more than 1 circuit judge. A circuit court shall be held at least 4 times in each year in every county organized for judicial purposes. Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by supreme court rule. The number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued by law and the number of judges shall be changed and circuits shall be created, altered and discontinued on recommendation of the supreme court to reflect changes in the judicial business. No change in the number of judges nor alteration or discontinuance of a circuit shall have the effect of removing a judge from office during his term.

Sec. b. Circuit judges shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections in the county or the circuit in which they reside, and shall hold office for a period of 6 years and until their successors are elected and qualified. In circuits having more than one judge the terms of office shall be arranged to provide that they will expire on a staggered basis.

Sec. c. Circuit courts shall have: original jurisdiction in all matters not prohibited by law; appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals except as otherwise provided by law; power to issue, hear, and determine prerogative and remedial writs; supervisory and general control over inferior courts and tribunals within their respective jurisdictions, in accordance with supreme court rules; and jurisdiction of other cases and matters as the supreme court shall by rule prescribe.

Sec. d. The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes, or other officer performing the duties of such office, shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county. The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions, but shall not exercise any other power of appointment to public office.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee of the whole, Mr. President, has also had under consideration Committee Proposal 94, A proposal pertaining to the probate court; has come to no final resolution thereon. This completes the report of the committee of the whole.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention resolve itself into committee of the whole for the purpose of considering matters on the general orders calendar.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen. Those in favor will say aye; those opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Mr. Van Dusen.

[Whereupon, Mr. Van Dusen assumed the Chair to preside as chairman of the committee of the whole.]

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The committee will be in order. When the committee last sat, it had under consideration Committee Proposal 94, a proposal dealing with organization and jurisdiction of the probate courts of the state.

For last previous action by the committee of the whole on Committee Proposal 94, see above, page 1380.

The general discussion of the proposal had been completed. Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Mahinske raised a particular question regarding the interpretation of the word "dependents". At that time I indicated that it was my opinion that the committee proposal was correct. I should like at this time to make additional reference thereto to solidify the interpretation given to it by the judicial committee.

First I should like to refer to the report of the submission and the address to the people of the Constitution of 1908 where they added this language, ". . . and they shall also have original jurisdiction in all cases of juvenile delinquents and dependents." Under the explanation it says:

No change is made from section 13 of article VI of the existing constitution except for the purpose of improving the phraseology and the addition of the boldface words — which were the ones that I read — these being added to make the powers conferred by law on probate courts in juvenile cases constitutional powers. Now, this meant that there had been, prior to 1908, a statute in this regard. I read further:

. . . that from the debates of the Constitutional Convention of 1907-08, volume 2, page 970, it shows that the word "dependents" refers to juvenile dependents with this explanation. After the proposal was placed on second reading, the following amendment was offered:

After the word "delinquents" insert "and dependents."

The argument by Delegate Simons on his amendment was as follows:

That this proposal aims to make the probate court a juvenile court; that is, giving it jurisdiction over juvenile cases. Now, those who have had to do with juvenile offenders recognize 2 distinct classes. One of them is delinquents and the other is dependents. And that classification is made in all of the statutes which have been passed in various states dealing with juvenile offenders.

Therefore, it is the position of the committee that the committee report is correct and that juvenile delinquents and dependents has the exact interpretation it had in 1907-08, refers to juvenile delinquents and juvenile dependents. And with that in mind I would like to proceed, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Mahinske, do you desire recognition?

MR. MAHINSKE: Yes. But then I would like to ask further that by repeating this language, it is not your intent to take any adult dependent jurisdiction away from the probate courts that had been conferred on the probate courts since 1908?

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of Committee Proposal 92, the yeas are 88; the nays are 7.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 92 is passed.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mr. Kelsey:

I wish to state the following reason for casting a nay vote on Committee Proposal 92 in reference to the appellate court:

In my campaign and in committee of the whole I supported strongly the concept of a court of appeals. However, I cannot support the district concept of selecting the judges who would serve in this manner for fear of sectional geography having some prejudicial influence in this panel's decisions.

PRESIDENT NISBET (continuing): It is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 92 as rereferred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 2673.

The secretary will read the next proposal.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 4 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 93, A proposal pertaining to the circuit court. A substitute for sections 8, 9, 10 and 11 of article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 93 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For text as referred to said committee, see above, page 1393.):

Sec. a. The state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected [1.] ONE or [when] MORE CIRCUIT JUDGES AS provided by law[, more than 1 circuit judge]. A circuit court shall be held at least 4 times in each year in every county organized for judicial purposes. Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by RULES OF THE supreme court [rule]. The number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued by law and the number of judges shall be changed and circuits shall be created, altered and discontinued on recommendation of the supreme court to reflect changes in [the] judicial [business] ACTIVITY. No change in the number of judges nor alteration or discontinuance of a circuit shall have the effect of removing a judge from office during his term.

Sec. b. Circuit judges shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections in [the county or] the circuit in which they reside, and shall hold office for a period of 6 years and until their successors are elected and qualified. In circuits having more than one CIRCUIT judge [the] THEIR terms of office shall be arranged BY LAW to provide that NOT ALL TERMS WILL EXPIRE AT THE SAME TIME [they will expire on a staggered basis].

Sec. c. Circuit courts shall have[:] original jurisdiction in all matters not prohibited by law; appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals except as otherwise provided by law; power to issue, hear [,] and determine prerogative and remedial writs; supervisory and general control over inferior courts and tribunals within their respective jurisdictions, in accordance with RULES OF THE supreme court [rules]; and jurisdiction of other cases and matters as PROVIDED BY RULES OF the supreme court [shall by rule prescribe].

Sec. d. The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes[, or other officer performing the duties of such office[,] AS PROVIDED IN A COUNTY CHARTER shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county. The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of AN ELECTED county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions[, but shall not exercise any other power of appointment to public office].

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Danhof, MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, members of the convention, section a has had very minor changes by the committee on style and drafting, nothing as relates to substance, and we would recommend the adoption thereof as a committee.

Section b merely took out the language, "on a staggered term," and provided that "not all terms will expire at the same time." Again, the committee has no objection to the changes in the style and the drafting thereof.

In section c the changes made were in order to make the section consistent with other sections. The committee on style and drafting has always used "provided by rules of the supreme court" and to this we agree.

There is pending a committee amendment to section d and I think before going on, I will ask the secretary to read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Danhof, on behalf of the committee on judicial branch, offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 2, line 8, [section d] after "in" by striking out "the" and inserting "an elective"; and after "office of" by striking out "an elected"; so the language will then read, "The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in an elective office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney. . . ."

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, the purpose of this amendment is to make the intent perfectly clear. As the matter was changed on line 8 by the committee on style and drafting, it read that the judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of an elected county clerk. It is possible that you might not have an elected county clerk, even though prior thereto we provide "in a county charter." But beyond this, this problem already has arisen in this state. A gentleman was elected to fill the office of county clerk. He died. The circuit judge appointed a successor. He died. Under the language as it read, as changed by style and drafting, it would have read, "any vacancy of an elected county clerk." I submit to you that the second county clerk who died was not an elected county clerk. He was appointed by the judge to fill the unexpired term. Before he had a chance to get elected, the second one died, so the judge appointed a third one. In order to clear up any ambiguity, we point out here that the judges have the power to fill the vacancy not of an elected county clerk but of the elective office, so that you might have 2 or 3 vacancies with any 2 and, in particular, this may get to be more important now. Where you go to a 4 year term for your county officers, this vacancy might occur more readily than it does now. It does not change the intent. It allows the circuit judges to fill any vacancy in an elective office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney. And we took out the words "an elected" just to make sure there would be no change in the fact that the county clerk who might have been appointed to fill a vacancy, and died, the judge would not be denied the power to refill that vacancy because the second clerk would not have been elected. I urge adoption of the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of the amendment. Those in favor will say aye. Those opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted. Any further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Lawrence offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 1, after "Sec. a.", by inserting "Except as otherwise provided herein,"; so the language will then read:

Sec. a. Except as otherwise provided herein, the state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected one or more circuit judges. . . ."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Lawrence.

MR. LAWRENCE: Mr. President, members of the convention, I wish to start out by apologizing; this has come up so quickly that even though I am a member of the judicial committee—or was—I have not even had an opportunity to speak to Mr. Danhof about it. Just as I was leaving this noon, I was requested to see if it would not be possible to make a change in the judicial article so that a county under true county home rule could, by a vote of the majority of the people, provide for a court of countywide jurisdiction.

Frankly, the request came from Wayne county. It was made in a sincere effort by some attorneys there to see if it could not be provided for in this constitution or the constitution left flexible enough so that if the people of Wayne county wish to vote on a countywide court—or any county for that matter, but the need is most pressing there—if it would not be possible, for instance, to combine all courts into one court of countywide jurisdiction with separate divisions thereof, one place where much could be done perhaps over the next, I hope, 50 years before there has to be another convention. It could be done, for instance, in the family court field, in the field of juveniles. Much could be done in the handling of the matters handled by circuit and recorders court. It can't be done in a hurry.

Now, it would seem to me that it would be necessary to handle it much this way, although I would be glad to receive any suggestions: that in the provision for circuit courts, probate courts, just the provision "except as otherwise provided herein," and then, perhaps as a separate section to Committee Proposal 96 or as a separate committee proposal, that wording somewhat to this effect could then be added: in any county in the state, a majority of the people voting thereon could provide for the establishment of a county court which would have jurisdiction over all matters normally handled by the circuit court, probate court and any inferior courts.

It seems to me that it is worthy of our consideration that we should leave, at least as we go through this provision, an opportunity to make such a change if a majority of the delegates seem so inclined. Certainly, we will not get to Committee Proposal 96 until much later in the day and there would be an opportunity to go over it with the others. As a temporary matter, I would ask that you vote in favor of the amendment for the reasons stated, and if by the time we reach the end of all the proposals under the judicial article it appears that this plan is not feasible or it does not meet the approval of a majority of the delegates, I would be glad to be the one to move to strike this provision and the one in connection with the probate court.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, members of the convention, as Mr. Lawrence stated, he had not conferred with me and I realize that time suddenly got short. Finally, toward the end of his argument or his presentation, I finally got down to what he was really driving at. I see it's not just these words, "Except as otherwise provided herein." I would submit that what Mr. Lawrence proposes would be objectionable to me because it would disjoint and throw out of kilter everything that we have and have tried to provide for in the judicial article. If we allow each county to run its own course as to what type of court setup it might have, we might be going from one county to another and lawyers coming from Muskegon to Detroit or from Detroit to Kalamazoo, or vice versa would be confronted with a myriad of different types of procedure or courts. I submit, if what Mr. Lawrence is driving at is a county court system to allow a vote thereon, that the legislature, under our Committee Proposal 90, when it creates this type of operation, can undoubtedly and will undoubtedly provide if there is sufficient agitation therefor, a provision to allow the county to vote on the particular type of court that will be recommended thereto.

I would suggest that the adoption of this amendment and, more importantly, the adoption of the amendment that he wishes to offer to 96, would seriously jeopardize what we believe to be a workable system within this state. Bear in mind that we are one state and that we should have one trial court of equal basis throughout all of the state of Michigan. I would therefore feel that the adoption of this particular amendment, while it is not in and of itself injurious to this article, would lead to a matter which might become more injurious and, therefore, I would suggest that we not take the first step to put the dog on the particular proposal. I would therefore urge the rejection of the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Lawrence.

MR. LAWRENCE: I believe I am entitled to speak twice?

PRESIDENT NISBET: That's right.

MR. LAWRENCE: Just this: in the first place, I do not want to do anything that would jeopardize this article as prepared by the committee and as amended otherwise by the delegates. There is a possibility, certainly, and it is again most strong in Wayne county, that with the provision in our Committee Proposal 94 or 95, one of the later provisions which allows the legislature to create inferior courts, that we may end up in this state with a setup such as they have in New York, one of many courts with overlapping jurisdiction where there is much confusion and apparently no ability to meet that specific situation. I can't conceive that Ingham county or Livingston county or any of the other counties outside of those in the southeastern portion would even vote in favor of any change on the committee's proposal as it will eventually be adopted with any amendments it may have. It seems to me that we are not looking forward as we should be, if we don't make some provision that would allow counties to have some self determination as to the manner in which their courts are run.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of the amendment by Mr. Lawrence. Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. President, members of the convention, I rise to speak against the Lawrence amendment. My good friend, Mr. Lawrence, has couched it in as innocuous a framework as possible, but we have all discussed this very thoroughly in the past. We discussed it in the committee, we discussed it again here on the convention floor, and this is a rose by another name. He cites the New York system as being what we don't want from his point of view, and I cite the California system as being what we don't want, by my point of view, and what he is urging upon us is the California system for Wayne county. I don't know who he talked to in Wayne county, but apparently they are neglecting the Wayne county delegates because I have heard this from no one other than Mr. Lawrence, that there is a ground swell of feeling in Wayne county that we would like to have a court system different than the rest of the state. I think that the Wayne county delegates on the judiciary committee expressed themselves quite to the contrary, that we did not want a double standard under any circumstances in the state, and that in arriving at a uniform system of justice for the state, we wanted as nearly as possible to have the system and the practice in the courts, as well as the structure of the courts, uniform throughout the state. Most of the problems that we as practicing attorneys do have in Wayne county with regard to the structure of the court arise out of the fact that we do have a couple of unique courts down there, and I think that you will have to look a long way to find any dispassionate observer who will recommend a continuation of the creation of these special courts in our county.

What we would be opening the door for here—we do a little bit of it here and a little bit of it in 96—is lobbying the legislature for the creation of a supermarket court. We started off in Committee Proposal 90 with what we have called for a long time in this convention a 5 tier court system, and what we are saying now is a 5 tier court system except as otherwise provided by law, or a 5 tier court system for everybody except as we might herein provide for exceptions for certain counties. Now, I submit that we can't follow and be consistent and true to the concept of the 5 tier system, whether it's 5 tiers or 4 tiers, but an integrated system of a single court system if we are going to start making provisions for this sort of exception. And when Mr. Lawrence talks about the desirability of a countywide system of courts, there may be some advantage in the abstract when you examine this, but when you talk about a county—and he used our county of Wayne as a place that needs this—with 39 municipalities in it already, and more being formed all the time, all of whom have some idea of whether they're right or wrong, those people believe that their local court system belongs to them and it is something that they should control. The people in the smaller communities of Wayne county do not feel that they should be lumped together in their local court system with the city of Detroit and I don't believe the people of the city of Detroit want their system to be extended on a countywide basis, so they are paying the cost of maintaining justice for those of us who live outside of the city. I strongly urge that you support the previous action of the convention and adopt the language as here presented and reject the Lawrence amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment by Mr. Lawrence. Those in favor say aye. Those opposed, say no.

The amendment is not adopted. The question now is on the adoption of Committee Proposal 93. Will you ring the bell, please. Those in favor of Committee Proposal 93 as amended will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On Committee Proposal 93, the yeas are 110; the nays, 3.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 93, as amended, is passed and referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 93 as amended and rereferred to the committee on style and drafting:

Sec. a. The state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected one or more circuit judges as provided by law. A circuit court shall be held at least 4 times in each year in every county organized for judicial purposes. Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by rules of the supreme court. The number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued by law and the number of judges shall be changed and circuits shall be created, altered and discontinued on recommendation of the supreme court to reflect changes in judicial activity. No change in the number of judges nor alteration or discontinuance of a circuit shall have the effect of removing a judge from office during his term.

Sec. b. Circuit judges shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections in the circuit in which they reside, and shall hold office for a period of 6 years and until their successors are elected and qualified. In circuits having more than one circuit judge their terms of office shall be arranged by law to provide that not all terms will expire at the same time.

Sec. c. Circuit courts shall have original jurisdiction in all matters not prohibited by law; appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals except as otherwise provided by law; power to issue, hear and determine prerogative and remedial writs; supervisory and general control over inferior courts and tribunals within their respective jurisdictions, in accordance with rules of the supreme court; and jurisdiction of other cases and matters as provided by rules of the supreme court.

Sec. d. The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes or other officer performing the duties of such office as provided in a county charter shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county. The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in an elective office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 5 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 94, A proposal pertaining to the probate court. A substitute for sections 13 and 14 of article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 94 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For text as referred to said committee, see above, page 1463.):

Sec. a. In each county organized for judicial purposes, there shall be a probate court. The legislature may combine [1] ONE or more counties into probate districts, or combine the office of probate judge with any judicial office OF LIMITED JURISDICTION [inferior thereto] in any county with supplemental salary as provided by law. The jurisdiction, powers and duties of THE PROBATE [such] courts and of the judges thereof shall be prescribed by law. They shall also have original jurisdiction in all cases of juvenile delinquents and dependents, except as otherwise provided by law.

Sec. b. Judges of probate shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections in the counties or the probate district in which they reside and shall hold office for a period of 6 years and until their successors are elected and qualified. In [multijudge] counties or districts WITH MORE THAN ONE JUDGE THE TERMS OF OFFICE SHALL BE ARRANGED BY LAW TO PROVIDE THAT ALL TERMS WILL NOT EXPIRE AT THE SAME TIME [the legislature shall provide by law for staggered terms].

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President and members of the convention, the committee on style and drafting reports back section a with basically no change from that passed by the committee and the convention. In section b, they merely make it consistent. "In counties or districts with more than one judge the terms of office shall be arranged by law to provide that all terms will not expire at the same time." The committee on style and drafting did not think it was dignified for the constitution to use the word "staggered." I don't know whether they were referring to the bench in whole or by individuals, but they felt there was a social connotation to the word "staggered" that was not conducive to the dignity of the bench. And so they arranged, although it took a line and a half to say what the word "staggered" does. It comes out, "with more than one judge the terms of office shall be arranged" and so on. I

Article IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[.]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. 5. ISLAND AREAS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE CONTIGUOUS BY LAND TO THE COUNTY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Sec. 6. SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Messrs. Allen, Austin and Brake, the yeas are 57; the nays are 68.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is not adopted. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: We have no others on this section.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: There are no further amendments on the secretary's desk. The question is upon the passage of article VI. Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. President and fellow delegates, in supporting this article it is my intention, and I trust the intention of the convention, that the change in the language in section 28 from "workmen's compensation commission" to "workmen's compensation proceedings" was not a matter of substance, not a material change. I make this comment for the record. I believe that the decision of the convention in acting upon the ruling which prevented Delegate Danhof from introducing his amendment to strike this proviso—I interpret this action of the convention as indicating an intention to support the committee on style and drafting in such a way as to determine that there was no change in substance or material change made when style and drafting inserted the word "proceedings" in place of the word "commission." With that construction and intention, I feel I can support this article. If this is not the intention of the convention on the part of other delegates, I would appreciate such delegates so stating.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, have you any speakers other than Mr. Ford seeking recognition?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Yes, I have one other.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I would move to limit debate on the article to 5 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On the motion to limit debate upon the article to 5 minutes, all those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Debate is limited. The Chair next recognizes Mr. Prettie.

MR. PRETTIE: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I decided to become a candidate for delegate to this convention because I was deeply concerned about the present inconsistent method of electing supreme court justices. When I campaigned I told my constituents that, among other things, I would work to make our courts truly nonpartisan at all levels. I did work hard and long to accomplish this result and many of you worked with me and I appreciate your support, but we failed to get enough votes to accomplish this, not by a vote of 2 to 1 or 3 to 1 but by a very narrow margin. Other equally sincere delegates to this convention, equally concerned with an honest court structure, came to this convention pledged to work for the adoption of the ABA plan for selecting our judges. They had committed themselves to this plan and gave not only of their time but of their substance to present the merits of this plan. They, too, I am sure, are disappointed.

We have a judicial article, unfortunately, that continues the unhappy influence of party politics at the highest echelon of our court structure, and many other batters are not fully satisfied with what we have done here. My personal batting average on my own promises to my constituents is probably not even half of 87.9 per cent, but that is beside the point.

I shall not urge a no vote on this article merely because my views did not prevail. I shall not return to my district and urge voters to reject this document because many of its provisions are not to their liking or to mine. I shall endeavor to explain that this is the product of the democratic process. It is the result of the working together of 144 honest and sincere women and men possessed of integrity and wisdom but also of diverse points of view. Long hours of debate on this floor have forged this document. It is not a result of any clandestine accommodations. I shall point out that our labors of 7½ months are typical of the inefficiency of our form of government but that this slow and tedious process and its sometimes imperfect results are at once the weakness and the strength of the best form of government the mind of man has yet developed.

In spite of personal frustration I shall vote to adopt this article. I urge the scores of delegates who share my views to do the same. I urge those who failed in their efforts to write the ABA plan into the judicial article to put aside their disappointment and vote for it. It is my hope that this greatly improved court structure for this state will be approved not by a vote of 3 to 1 but by a resounding and substantially unanimous vote. (applause)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I appreciate Mr. Prettie's point of view. Although I haven't always agreed with him, I have enjoyed working with him on the judiciary committee and it is not easy for me to say what I am going to say now without sounding like I am being a dog in the manger but, believe me, in sincerity, this is not what I am trying to do and I am not trying to impose, at this point, my point of view on anyone else. I am trying to express my own point of view and the reason for voting the way I am going to vote.

As has been said before, by the chairman of our committee on this floor, the judiciary system in Michigan and its present status was not one of the compelling reasons for the calling of this convention. Our present judicial system is superior in all ways. It ranks in the view of people outside of the state amongst the top 3 states in the entire country inasmuch as we have a system that has been completely free from scandal and is as close to efficiency as you are ever going to get in a democratic system of courts.

I cannot support the article as we have now written it because I do not honestly believe that it is an improvement over the 1908 constitution, as amended. If we had truly made the kind of improvements that Mr. Prettie alludes to, I think it would be entirely a different thing. There are 2 or 3 things in the article that are new but they are not constitutional matters to begin with and they do not justify either the time spent by this convention nor do we face the prospect of losing them if this particular section is not incorporated into the new constitution to replace what we presently have. The outstanding example of that is the appellate —

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time for debate has expired.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I would move to extend debate for an additional 3 minutes to permit Mr. Ford to complete his remarks.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ford and Mr. Danhof both seek recognition.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I guess we had better make it 5 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen moves to extend debate by 5 minutes upon the article. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Mr. Ford may continue.

MR. FORD: The appellate court at first glance seems to be an improvement and everybody in this room, I think, agrees that we should have an appellate court. However, I might remind you that the legislature had already perfected and was ready to bring out of the committee over there an appellate court system and would do the same tomorrow if it were not for the pending action of this convention at the present time. There is nothing in here with regard to the appellate court that is constitutional to the exclusion of all other considerations, and what we have accomplished here could just as well have been done across the street.

The filling of vacancies is something we have talked about and we have passed over. It is something that is of very great importance, and the more I have talked to fellow attorneys and the people back in the area that I represent, the more I am concerned with how serious this particular aspect is and how quickly we have passed over it.

The section that we just finished discussing a few moments ago bears absolutely no resemblance to the language that was originally proposed to the judiciary committee by Mr. Cooper and others who first brought the matter forcibly to our attention, and bears little or no resemblance to the work that was put into it by the judiciary committee.

The local court system has been placed — by reason of the fact that many people, for whatever their reasons, came to this convention with preconceived prejudices in this respect — in a status now where very few people at the local level have any confidence or any prospect of hope as to the continued existence of the autonomy of their local courts as they know them now. I think that the section with respect to local courts places in jeopardy a long standing traditional system in this state.

I think that we have, for all intents and purposes, destroyed the 5 tier system that we started out with in the judiciary committee and, again, this was not the judiciary committee that did it. It was done here on the floor. There is no longer a separate and distinct probate court as a constitutional matter. We now have a 3 court system with a conglomerate of the 2 last tiers that the judiciary committee contemplated. You can now merge all or any part of the functions of these lower courts to the end that all or part of them will be extinguished. We set out to set up a 5 tier court system which, in my opinion, would have been a distinct improvement and the one thing that we could have done by constitution that may have been a great improvement over what the legislature might have done, but we failed in this respect. For that reason I don't feel that I can support the article as it now reads.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I am very happy to endorse the words of Mr. Prettie. We did have on the floor of this particular convention a long and tedious debate on the judicial article. With 58 and now 59 or 60 lawyers, this was probably inevitable. But I think he has pointed out what has been the thinking, at least, of a majority of us. I am sorry to hear the words of my good friend, Bill Ford, who was of great assistance in the committee. I think we have retained an elective system of the judiciary. We have established an intermediate court of appeals. And I point out that it was not really until this constitutional convention got going that we got real action across the street, and this is not in derogation of those gentlemen.

I think we have strengthened the circuit courts, the probate courts. We have made great strides and have provided a system which, I am sure, will last the people of this state for a good 50 or 75 years or whenever we call another convention. We have allowed the legislature greater leeway. This, I think, is an advantage and not a disadvantage. I would hope that we would pass the article. I point out to you that we have had more hours of debate on this than on any other particular article. I urge your support. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time has expired. The question is upon the passage of article VI on the judicial branch. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of article VI, the judicial branch, the yeas are 103; the nays are 33.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A majority of the delegates elect having voted in favor thereof, article VI, as amended, is passed.

For sections 1 through 7, 9 through 25, 27, 28 and 29 of article VI as passed, see above, page 3060.

Following is section 8 of article VI as amended and passed:

Sec. 8. The court of appeals shall consist initially of nine judges who shall be nominated and elected at non-partisan elections from districts drawn on county lines and as near as possible of equal population, as prescribed by law. The supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals may sit in divisions and for the terms of court and the times and places thereof. Each such division shall consist of not fewer than three judges. The number of judges comprising the court of appeals may be increased, and the districts from which they are elected may be changed by law.

Following is section 26 of article VI as amended and passed:

Sec. 26. The offices of circuit court commissioner and justice of the peace shall be abolished at the expiration of five years from the date this constitution becomes effective or may within this period be abolished by law. Their jurisdiction, compensation and powers within this period shall be as provided by law. Within this five-year period, the legislature shall establish a court or courts of limited jurisdiction with powers and jurisdiction defined by law. The location of such court or courts, and the qualifications, tenure, method of election and salary of the judges of such court or courts, and by what governmental units the judges shall be paid, shall be provided by law, subject to the limitations contained in this Article.

Statutory courts in existence at the time this constitution becomes effective shall retain their powers and jurisdiction, except as provided by law, until they are abolished by law.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mr. McAllister:

My reason for voting no on article VI, the judicial article, is that I believe the provisions of the present constitution are better than the provisions of the new article.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Messrs. Krolikowski, Binkowski, Garvin, Madar, Ford, Downs and Miss Hart:

We voted no on article VI because Michigan's traditional judicial system has stood the test of time in the basic matter of selection of judges. Michigan's judiciary has a nationwide reputation for ability, integrity and efficiency.

Michigan's judicial system provides that when a vacancy occurs the governor appoints a judge to serve until the next election. At the next election that judge who was temporarily appointed must run against any other candidates nominated by the people, either through petition or by convention, as in the case of the supreme court.

Article VI as adopted removes the governor's right to select the judge on a temporary basis—a system that is proven in practice to have the best of the appointed and the elected systems. The proponents of this change did not prove their need for changing the historically satisfactory method.

Another severe weakness was a constitutional provision in section 28 for appeals from administrative agencies. Present appeals are handled either by general law or specific statute affecting specially created agencies. This proposal has a constitutional, rigid appeal system that could, in effect, make one who wins his case before the administrative tribunal for all intents and purposes go before a court and win his case all over again. This is frustrating, expensive and time-consuming for litigants as well as courts.

We believe that the proposed judicial article does not contain sufficient improvement over the present judicial system to justify replacing the 1908 constitution, as amended. Any improvements found in the article may and should be accomplished by statutory enactment.

We believe that these 2 changes alone are significant steps backward from Michigan's present constitution, and we therefore voted no on article VI—judicial branch.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): The secretary will read article VII, local government.

SECRETARY CHASE: Article VII, local government:

[Article VII, sections 1 through 33, was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 3083.]

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Article VII has been read a third time.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Cudlip, on behalf of the committee on style and drafting, requests that the following corrections be made in article VII of the proposed revision of the constitution:

sec-	col-
tion	umn	line	Corrections
10	2	29	After "be" remove brackets around "re".
10	2	30	After "to be" insert brackets as follows "[re]".

17	1	28	After "constitution" insert "]".
20	1	45	After "provide" insert "by law".

24	2	30	After "disposal" delete "[,]".
30	1	55	After "a" insert "[longer]".
30	1	56	Change "longer" to "LONGER".

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Without objection it is so ordered. [Corrections made above.] The secretary will report an amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Sharpe and Kuhn offer the following amendment:

1. Amend article VII, section 21 (column 2, line 6) after "law.", by inserting "No governmental subdivision of the state shall impose an income tax unless approved by three-fifths of the qualified electors voting on the question."

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: The substance of this amendment has been debated at some length before and I would move at this time to limit debate on this amendment to 10 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is on the motion to limit debate to 10 minutes. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. Mr. Brown.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Point of order, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: State your point.

MR. G. E. BROWN: The exact language that is presently proposed was offered on second reading except that instead of a majority of the qualified electors, 3/5 has now been added and changed. I think in substance this is the same. When you make the requirement more stringent than failed to pass before, I don't think you have a different matter before you and I would refer you to journal page 999.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Well, the Chair would be disposed to rule and does rule that this presents a different question. The body has not heretofore considered the matter of a 60 per cent on this thing. Mr. Kuhn.

MR. KUHN: Mr. President and members of the convention, once again we come to you and ask you to consider the question of whether or not a governmental subdivision shall authorize an income tax without a vote of its people. Now it has been argued that this is legislative in nature, and when the Bowman bill passed the legislature you had a pretty strong argument. But since the governor in his wisdom saw fit to veto this bill, I think it now presents the same question that has been raised by many delegates who have things that they felt were necessary to be in this constitution; for example, the civil rights commission, civil service, and things of that nature. We know that those are legislative matters and yet we thought they should be in the constitution, because the legislature did not provide for them. We therefore strongly urge that the delegates to this convention decide this issue for the people and put it in the constitution.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: I rise to a point of order. I challenge the germaneness of this proposed amendment to this section. Section 21 of local government is the historical local government article dealing with home rule cities and villages and the reference to tax laws in there are to cities and villages as they may put in their charters for municipal purposes and public purposes.

The amendment says "No governmental subdivision" which would cover school districts, charter or other authorities, town-

Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Sec. 21. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on contract, express or implied, except in cases of fraud or breach of trust.

Sec. 22. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Article II Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors which involves the increase of any ad valorem tax rate limitation for a period of more than five years, or the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors or three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial dis-

1 | trict in the city with which it is combined, if
2 | provided by ordinance of the city. The district
3 | or districts with which the territory shall be
4 | combined shall be determined by such ordinance
5 | certified to the secretary of state. No such change
6 | in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial
7 | district shall have the effect of removing a legis-
8 | lator from office during his term.

9 | Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be con-
10 | tiguous by land to the county of which they are
11 | a part.

12 | Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportion-
13 | ment is hereby established consisting of eight
14 | persons, four of whom shall be selected by the
15 | state organizations of each of the two political
16 | parties whose candidates for governor received
17 | the highest vote at the last general election at
18 | which a governor was elected preceding each ap-
19 | portionment. If a candidate for governor of a third
20 | political party has received at such election more
21 | than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the
22 | commission shall consist of 12 members, four of
23 | whom shall be selected by the state organization of
24 | the third political party. One member of the com-
25 | mission shall be selected by each political party or-
26 | ganization from each of the following four regions:
27 | (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of
28 | the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along
29 | the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay,
30 | Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana;
31 | (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south
32 | of region (2) and west of a line drawn along
33 | the western boundaries of the counties of Bay,
34 | Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hills-
35 | dale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining
36 | counties of the state.

37 | No officers or employees of the federal, state
38 | or local governments, excepting notaries public
39 | and members of the armed forces reserve, shall
40 | be eligible for membership on the commission.
41 | Members of the commission shall not be eligible
42 | for election to the legislature until two years after
43 | the apportionment in which they participated
44 | becomes effective.

45 | The commission shall be appointed immediately
46 | after the adoption of this constitution and when-
47 | ever apportionment or districting of the legislature
48 | is required by the provisions of this constitution.
49 | Members of the commission shall hold office until
50 | each apportionment or districting plan becomes
51 | effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same
52 | manner as for original appointment.

53 | The secretary of state shall be secretary of
54 | the commission without vote, and in that capacity
55 | shall furnish, under the direction of the commis-
56 | sion, all necessary technical services. The com-
57 | mission shall elect its own chairman, shall make
58 | its own rules of procedure, and shall receive com-
59 | pensation provided by law. The legislature shall
60 | appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

1 | Within 30 days after the adoption of this con-
2 | stitution, and after the official total population
3 | count of each federal decennial census of the state
4 | and its political subdivisions is available, the se-
5 | cretary of state shall issue a call convening the
6 | commission not less than 30 nor more than 45
7 | days thereafter. The commission shall complete
8 | its work within 180 days after all necessary census
9 | information is available. The commission shall
10 | proceed to district and apportion the senate and
11 | house of representatives according to the provi-
12 | sions of this constitution. All final decisions shall
13 | require the concurrence of a majority of the mem-
14 | bers of the commission. The commission shall hold
15 | public hearings as may be provided by law.

16 | Each final apportionment and districting plan
17 | shall be published as provided by law within 30
18 | days from the date of its adoption and shall be-
19 | come law 60 days after publication. The secre-
20 | tary of state shall keep a public record of all the
21 | proceedings of the commission and shall be re-
22 | sponsible for the publication and distribution of
23 | each plan.

24 | If a majority of the commission cannot agree
25 | on a plan, each member of the commission, indi-
26 | vidualy or jointly with other members, may sub-
27 | mit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The
28 | supreme court shall determine which plan com-
29 | plies most accurately with the constitutional re-
30 | quirements and shall direct that it be adopted
31 | by the commission and published as provided
32 | in this section.

33 | Upon the application of any elector filed not
34 | later than 60 days after final publication of the
35 | plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of origi-
36 | nal jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of
37 | state or the apportionment commission to per-
38 | form their duties, may review any final plan
39 | adopted by the commission, and shall remand
40 | such plan to the commission for further action
41 | if it fails to comply with the requirements of
42 | this constitution.

43 | Sec. 7. Each senator and representative
44 | must be a citizen of the United States, at least
45 | 21 years of age, and an elector of the district
46 | he represents. The removal of his domicile from
47 | the district shall be deemed a vacation of the
48 | office. No person who has been convicted of sub-
49 | version or who has within the preceding 20 years
50 | been convicted of a felony involving a breach
51 | of public trust shall be eligible for either house
52 | of the legislature.

53 | Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the
54 | United States or this state or a political subdivi-
55 | sion thereof, except notaries public and officers
56 | of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of
57 | either house of the legislature.

58 | Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature
59 | shall receive any civil appointment within this

1 state from the governor, except notaries public,
2 from the legislature, or from any other state
3 authority, during the term for which he is elected.

4 Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any 5 state officer shall be interested directly or in-6 directly in any contract with the state or any 7 political subdivision thereof which shall cause a
8 substantial conflict of interest. The legislature
9 shall further implement this provision by appro-
10 priate legislation.

11 Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be 12 privileged from civil arrest and civil process dur-
13 ing sessions of the legislature and for five days
14 next before the commencement and after the 15 termination thereof. They shall not be ques-
16 tioned in any other place for any speech in either
17 house.

18 Sec. 12. The compensation and expense al-
19 lowances of the members of the legislature shall 20 be determined by law. Changes in compensation
21 or expense allowances shall become effective only 22 when legislators commence their terms of office
23 after a general election.

24 Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat
25 of government on the second Wednesday in Janu-
26 ary of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each
27 regular session shall adjourn without day, on a 28 day determined by concurrent resolution, at 29 twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint 30 resolution pending at the final adjournment of 31 a regular session held in an odd numbered year
32 shall carry over with the same status to the 33 next regular session.

34 Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected
35 to and serving in each house shall constitute a 36 quorum to do business. A smaller number in 37 each house may adjourn from day to day, and 38 may compel the attendance of absent members in 39 the manner and with penalties as each house may 40 prescribe.

41 Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legisla-
42 tive council consisting of legislators appointed in 43 the manner prescribed by law. The legislature
44 shall appropriate funds for the council's opera-
45 tions and provide for its staff which shall main-
46 tain bill drafting, research and other services
47 for the members of the legislature. The council 48 shall periodically examine and recommend to the 49 legislature revision of the various laws of the 50 state.

51 Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise pro-
52 vided in this constitution, shall choose its own
53 officers and determine the rules of its proceedings,
54 but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a 55 majority of the members elected thereto and 56 serving therein from discharging a committee
57 from the further consideration of any measure.
58 Each house shall be the sole judge of the quali-
59 fications, elections and returns of its members, 60 and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of

1 all the members elected thereto and serving
2 therein, expel a member. The reasons for such 3 expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with 4 the votes and names of the members voting upon
5 the question. No member shall be expelled a
6 second time for the same cause.

7 Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may 8 establish the committees necessary for the effi-
9 cient conduct of its business and the legislature
10 may create joint committees. Each committee
11 shall by roll call vote record the vote and name 12 of all action on bills and resolutions taken in 13 the committee. Such vote shall be available for 14 public inspection. Notice of all committee hear-15 ings and a clear statement of all subjects to be 16 considered at each hearing shall be published in 17 the journal in advance of the hearing.

18 Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of 19 its proceedings, and publish the same unless the 20 public security otherwise requires. The record
21 of the vote and name of the members of either
22 house voting on any question shall be entered 23 in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the 24 members present. Any member of either house
25 may dissent from and protest against any act,
26 proceeding or resolution which he deems injuri-
27 ous to any person or the public, and have the 28 reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

29 Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in 30 joint convention and all votes on appointments
31 submitted to the senate for advice and consent
32 shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

33 Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open
34 unless the public security otherwise requires.

35 Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the con-
36 sent of the other, adjourn for more than two 37 intervening calendar days, nor to any place other 38 than where the legislature may then be in session.

39 Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and 40 may originate in either house.

41 Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The 42 People of the State of Michigan enact.

43 Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one
44 object, which shall be expressed in its title. No
45 bill shall be altered or amended on its passage
46 through either house so as to change its original 47 purpose as determined by its total content and 48 not alone by its title.

49 Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or 50 amended by reference to its title only. The section
51 or sections of the act altered or amended shall 52 be re-enacted and published at length.

53 Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a 54 law at any regular session of the legislature until 55 it has been printed or reproduced and in the pos-
56 session of each house for at least five days. Every 57 bill shall be read three times in each house be-58 fore the final passage thereof. No bill shall be-
59 come a law without the concurrence of a majority 60 of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Sec. 36. No general revision of the laws shall be made. The legislature may provide for a compilation of the laws in force, arranged without alteration, under appropriate heads and titles.

Sec. 37. The legislature may by concurrent resolution empower a joint committee of the legislature acting between sessions to suspend until the end of the next regular legislative session any rule or regulation of an administrative agency promulgated when the legislature is not in regular session.

Sec. 38. The legislature may provide by law the cases in which any office shall be vacant and the manner of filling vacancies where no provision is made in this constitution.

Sec. 39. In order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency only, resulting from disasters occurring in this state caused by enemy attack on the United States, the legislature may provide by law for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices; and enact other laws necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations. Notwithstanding the power conferred by this section, elections shall always be called as soon as possible to fill any vacancies in elective offices temporarily occupied by operation of any legislation enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 40. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission which, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof. The legislature may provide for an excise tax on such sales. Neither the legislature nor the commission may authorize the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages in any county in which a majority of the electors voting thereon shall prohibit the same.

Sec. 41. The legislature shall not authorize any lottery nor permit the sale of lottery tickets.

Sec. 42. The legislature may provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts, and confer power and authority upon them to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.

Sec. 43. No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes, or regulating the business thereof, shall be enacted, amended or repealed except by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 44. The legislature may authorize a trial by a jury of less than 12 jurors in civil cases.

Sec. 45. The legislature may provide for indeterminate sentences as punishment for crime and for the detention and release of persons imprisoned or detained under such sentences.

Sec. 46. No law shall be enacted providing for the penalty of death.

Sec. 47. The legislature may authorize the employment of chaplains in state institutions of detention or confinement.

Sec. 48. The legislature may enact laws providing for the resolution of disputes concerning public employees, except those in the state classified civil service.

Sec. 49. The legislature may enact laws relative to the hours and conditions of employment.

Sec. 50. The legislature may provide safety measures and regulate the use of atomic energy and forms of energy developed in the future, having in view the general welfare of the people of this state.

Sec. 51. The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern. The legislature shall pass suitable laws for the protection and promotion of the public health.

Sec. 52. The conservation and development of the natural resources of the state are hereby declared to be of paramount public concern in the interest of the health, safety and general welfare of the people. The legislature shall provide for the protection of the air, water and other natural resources of the state from pollution, impairment and destruction.

Sec. 53. The legislature by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint an auditor general, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of eight years. He shall be ineligible for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as auditor general and for two years following the termination of his service. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. The auditor general shall conduct post audits of financial transactions and accounts of the state and of all branches, departments, offices, boards, commissions, agencies, authorities and institutions of the state established by this constitution or by law, and performance post audits thereof.

The auditor general upon direction by the legislature may employ independent accounting firms or legal counsel and may make investigations pertinent to the conduct of audits. He shall report annually to the legislature and to the governor and at such other times as he deems necessary or as required by the legislature. He shall be assigned no duties other than those specified in this section.

Nothing in this section shall be construed in any way to infringe the responsibility and constitutional authority of the governing boards of the institutions of higher education to be solely responsible for the control and direction of all expenditures from the institutions' funds.

The auditor general, his deputy and one other member of his staff shall be exempt from classified civil service. All other members of his staff shall have classified civil service status.

Article V

Executive Branch

Sec. 1. The executive power is vested in the governor.

Sec. 2. All executive and administrative offices, agencies and instrumentalities of the executive branch of state government and their respective functions, powers and duties, except for the office of governor and lieutenant governor and the governing bodies of institutions of higher education provided for in this constitution, shall be allocated by law among and within not more than 20 principal departments. They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. When a single executive is the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, he shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate and he shall serve at the pleasure of the governor.

When a board or commission is at the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, the members thereof shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The term of office and procedure for removal of such members shall be as prescribed in this constitution or by law.

Terms of office of any board or commission created or enlarged after the effective date of this constitution shall not exceed four years except as otherwise authorized in this constitution. The terms of office of existing boards and commissions which are longer than four years shall not be further extended except as provided in this constitution.

Sec. 4. Temporary commissions or agencies for special purposes with a life of no more than two years may be established by law and need not be allocated within a principal department.

Sec. 5. At no time shall an examining or licensing board of a profession include less than a majority of members of that profession.

Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

The governor may initiate court proceedings in the name of the state to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. This authority shall not be construed to authorize court proceedings against the legislature.

Sec. 9. Single executives heading principal departments and the chief executive officers of principal departments headed by boards or commissions shall keep their offices at the seat of government except as otherwise provided by law, superintend them in person and perform duties prescribed by law.

Sec. 10. The governor shall have power and it shall be his duty to inquire into the condition and administration of any public office and the acts of any public officer, elective or appointive. He may remove or suspend from office for gross neglect of duty or for corrupt conduct in office, or for any other misfeasance or malfeasance therein, any elective or appointive state officer, except legislative or judicial, and shall report the reasons for such removal or suspension to the legislature.

Sec. 11. The governor may make a provisional appointment to fill a vacancy occasioned by the suspension of an appointed or elected officer, other than a legislative or judicial officer, until he is reinstated or until the vacancy is filled in the manner prescribed by law or this constitution.

Sec. 12. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the armed forces and may call them out to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion.

Sec. 13. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies in the senate or house of representatives. Any such election shall be held in a manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 14. The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and limitations as he may direct, subject to procedures and regulations prescribed by law. He shall inform the legislature annually of each reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, stating reasons therefor.

Sec. 15. The governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

Sec. 16. The governor may convene the legislature at some other place when the seat of government becomes dangerous from any cause.

15 state government.

16 Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be 17 surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

18 Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the 19 uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and 20 tangible personal property not exempt by law. The 21 legislature shall provide for the determination of 22 true cash value of such property; the proportion 23 of true cash value at which such property shall 24 be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after 25 January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a sys-

27 may provide for alternative means of taxation of 28 designated real and tangible personal property in 29 lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax
30 other than the general ad valorem property tax 31 shall be uniform upon the class or classes on 32 which it operates.

33 Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-

37 real and personal property taxes.

38 Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the

40 public service businesses assessed by the state
41 at the date this constitution becomes effective, and 42 of other property as designated by the legislature,
43 and for the imposition and collection of taxes
44 thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be 45 assessed at the same proportion of its true
46 cash value as the legislature shall specify for 47 property subject to general ad valorem taxation.
48 The rate of taxation on such property shall be 49 the average rate levied upon other property in this 50 state under the general ad valorem tax law, or,
51 if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable
52 to the property of each business enterprise assessed
53 by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem
54 taxation levied upon other property in all counties
55 in which any of such property is situated.

56 Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this 57 constitution, the total amount of general ad valo-
58 rem taxes imposed upon real and tangible per-59 sonal property for all purposes in any one year
60 shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the

1 assessed valuation of property as finally equalized.
2 Under procedures provided by law, which shall
3 guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax
4 limitations for any county and for the townships
5 and for school districts therein, the aggregate of 6 which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of 7 such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter
8 altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified
9 electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu 10 of the limitation hereinbefore established. These 11 limitations may be increased to an aggregate of 12 not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation,
13 for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one
14 time, if approved by a majority of the electors,
15 qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this 16 constitution, voting on the question.

17 The foregoing limitations shall not apply to 18 taxes imposed for the payment of principal and 19 interest on bonds or other evidences of indebted-20 ness or for the payment of assessments or con-
21 tract obligations in anticipation of which bonds
22 are issued, which taxes may be imposed without 23 limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes im-
24 posed for any other purpose by any city, vil-
25 lage, charter county, charter township, charter
26 authority or other authority, the tax limitations
27 of which are provided by charter or by general
28 law.

30 or more counties, property taxes at the highest 31 rate available in the county which contains the 32 greatest part of the area of the district may be 33 imposed and collected for school purposes through-34 out the district.

35 Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate
36 or base shall be imposed by the state or any of 37 its subdivisions.

38 Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a 39 sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than

42 Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales
43 and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed di-
44 rectly or indirectly on fuels sold or used 45 to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on 46 registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment
47 of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusi-
48 vely for highway purposes as defined by law.

50 retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible 51 personal property shall be used exclusively for 52 assistance to townships, cities and villages, on 53 a population basis as provided by law. In de-
54 termining population the legislature may exclude 55 any portion of the total number of persons who 56 are wards, patients or convicts in any tax sup-
57 ported institution.

58 Sec. 11. There shall be established a state
59 school aid fund which shall be used exclusively
60 for the support of public education and school

One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money

1 shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50
2 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank.
3 Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall 4 show the amount of state money so deposited as 5 a separate item in all published statements.

6 Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law
7 for the annual accounting for all public moneys,
8 state and local, and may provide by law for interim
9 accounting.

10 The legislature shall provide by law for the 11 maintenance of uniform accounting systems by 12 units of local government and the auditing of 13 county accounts by competent state authority
14 and other units of government as provided by law.

15 Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and 16 adjustment of claims against the state shall be 17 prescribed by law.

18 Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings,
19 audit reports and other reports of public moneys
20 shall be public records and open to inspection. A 21 statement of all revenues and expenditures of pub-
22 lic moneys shall be published and distributed
23 annually, as provided by law.

24 Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each
25 pension plan and retirement system of the state
26 and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual
27 obligation thereof which shall not be diminished
28 or impaired thereby.

29 Financial benefits arising on account of service
30 rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during 31 that year and such funding shall not be used for 32 financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

53 Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of 54 the constitution which would be altered or abro-

63 it shall become part of the constitution, and 64 shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of 65 the constitution at the end of 45 days after 66 the date of the election at which it was ap-

against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that the report be adopted. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The report is adopted. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, in compliance with our rules, I think it would now be necessary to take a roll call vote on the amendment to the constitution changing the date.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment recommended in the report is as follows:

1. Amend the schedule, section 15 [formerly section 16] (column 2) line 11, after "held on the" by striking out "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962.", and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will call the roll. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye as your name is called. Those opposed will vote no.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause)
PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

Sincerely,
Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger, White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.

2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."

3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.

4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

OF THE
STATE OF MICHIGAN

as finally adopted by the Convention
August 1, 1962

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

ARTICLE III

The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office, employment or position under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.

Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. On all actions on bills and resolutions in each committee, names and votes of members shall be recorded. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.

Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same unless the public security otherwise requires. The record of the vote and name of the members of either house voting on any question shall be entered in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he deems injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in joint convention and all votes on appointments submitted to the senate for advice and consent shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open unless the public security otherwise requires.

Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than two intervening calendar days, nor to any place other than where the legislature may then be in session.

Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and may originate in either house.

Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The People of the State of Michigan enact.

Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title. No bill shall be altered or amended on its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose as determined by its total content and not alone by its title.

Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or amended by reference to its title only. The section or sections of the act altered or amended shall be re-enacted and published at length.

Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a law at any regular session of the legislature until it has been printed or reproduced and in the possession of each house for at least five days. Every bill shall be read three times in each house before the final passage thereof. No bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he disapproves, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Sec. 36. No general revision of the laws shall be made. The legislature may provide for a compilation of the laws in force, arranged without alteration, under appropriate heads and titles.

Sec. 37. The legislature may by concurrent resolution empower a joint committee of the legislature, acting between sessions, to suspend any rule or regulation promulgated by an administrative agency subsequent to the adjournment of the last preceding regular legislative session. Such suspension shall continue no longer than the end of the next regular legislative session.

Sec. 38. The legislature may provide by law the cases in which any office shall be vacant and the manner of filling vacancies where no provision is made in this constitution.

Sec. 39. In order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency only, resulting from disasters occurring in this state caused by enemy attack on the United States, the legislature may provide by law for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices; and enact other laws necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations. Notwithstanding the power conferred by this section, elections shall always be called as soon as possible to fill any vacancies in elective offices temporarily occupied by operation of any legislation enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 40. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission which, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof. The legislature may provide for an excise tax on such sales. Neither the legislature nor the commission may authorize the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages in any county in which a majority of the electors voting thereon shall prohibit the same.

Sec. 41. The legislature shall not authorize any lottery nor permit the sale of lottery tickets.

Sec. 42. The legislature may provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts, and confer power and authority upon them to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.

Sec. 43. No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes, or regulating the business thereof, shall be enacted, amended or repealed except by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 44. The legislature may authorize a trial by a jury of less than 12 jurors in civil cases.

Sec. 45. The legislature may provide for indeterminate sentences as punishment for crime and for the detention and release of persons imprisoned or detained under such sentences.

Sec. 46. No law shall be enacted providing for the penalty of death.

Sec. 47. The legislature may authorize the employment of chaplains in state institutions of detention or confinement.

Sec. 48. The legislature may enact laws providing for the resolution of disputes concerning public employees, except those in the state classified civil service.

Sec. 49. The legislature may enact laws relative to the hours and conditions of employment.

Sec. 50. The legislature may provide safety measures and regulate the use of atomic energy and forms of energy developed in the future, having in view the general welfare of the people of this state.

Sec. 51. The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern. The legislature shall pass suitable laws for the protection and promotion of the public health.

Sec. 52. The conservation and development of the natural resources of the state are hereby declared to be of paramount public concern in the interest of the health, safety and general welfare of the people. The legislature shall provide for the protection of the air, water and other natural resources of the state from pollution, impairment and destruction.

Sec. 53. The legislature by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint an auditor general, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of eight years. He shall be ineligible for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as auditor general and for two years following the termination of his service. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. The auditor general shall conduct post audits of financial transactions and accounts of the state and of all branches, departments, offices, boards, commissions, agencies, authorities and institutions of the state established by this constitution or by law, and performance post audits thereof.

He shall report annually to the legislature and to the governor and at such other times as he deems necessary or as required by the legislature. He shall be assigned no duties other than those specified in this section.

Nothing in this section shall be construed in any way to infringe the responsibility and constitutional authority of the governing boards of the institutions of higher education to be solely responsible for the control and direction of all expenditures from the institutions' funds.

The auditor general, his deputy and one other member of his staff shall be exempt from classified civil service. All other members of his staff shall have classified civil service status.

ARTICLE V

Executive Branch

Sec. 1. The executive power is vested in the governor.

Sec. 2. All executive and administrative offices, agencies and instrumentalities of the executive branch of state government and their respective functions, powers and duties, except for the office of governor and lieutenant governor and the governing bodies of institutions of higher education provided for in this constitution, shall be allocated by law among and within not more than 20 principal departments. They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full regular session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. The terms of office of existing boards and commissions which are longer than four years shall not be further extended except as provided in this constitution.

Sec. 4. Temporary commissions or agencies for special purposes with a life of no more than two years may be established by law and need not be allocated within a principal department.

Sec. 5. A majority of the members of an appointed examining or licensing board of a profession shall be members of that profession.

Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

The governor may initiate court proceedings in the name of the state to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. This authority shall not be construed to authorize court proceedings against the legislature.

Sec. 9. Single executives heading principal departments and the chief executive officers of principal departments headed by boards or commissions shall keep their offices at the seat of government except as otherwise provided by law, superintend them in person and perform duties prescribed by law.

Sec. 10. The governor shall have power and it shall be his duty to inquire into the condition and administration of any public office and the acts of any public officer, elective or appointive. He may remove or suspend from office for gross neglect of duty or for corrupt conduct in office, or for any other misfeasance or malfeasance therein, any elective or appointive state officer, except legislative or judicial, and shall report the reasons for such removal or suspension to the legislature.

Sec. 11. The governor may make a provisional appointment to fill a vacancy occasioned by the suspension of an appointed or elected officer, other than a legislative or judicial officer, until he is reinstated or until the vacancy is filled in the manner prescribed by law or this constitution.

Sec. 12. The governor shall be commander-in-chief of the armed forces and may call them out to execute the laws, suppress insurrection and repel invasion.

Sec. 13. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies in the senate or house of representatives. Any such election shall be held in a manner prescribed by law.

Sec. 14. The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons after convictions for all offenses, except cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and limitations as he may direct, subject to procedures and regulations prescribed by law. He shall inform the legislature annually of each reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, stating reasons therefor.

Sec. 15. The governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

Sec. 16. The governor may convene the legislature at some other place when the seat of government becomes dangerous from any cause.

Sec. 17. The governor shall communicate by message to the legislature at the beginning of each session and may at other times present to the legislature information as to the affairs of the state and recommend measures he considers necessary or desirable.

Sec. 18. The governor shall submit to the legislature at a time fixed by law, a budget for the ensuing fiscal period setting forth in detail, for all operating funds, the proposed expenditures and estimated revenue of the state. Proposed expenditures from any fund shall not exceed the estimated revenue thereof. On the same date, the governor shall submit to the legislature general appropriation bills to embody the proposed expenditures and any necessary bill or bills to provide new or additional revenues to meet proposed expenditures. The amount of any surplus created or deficit incurred in any fund during the last preceding fiscal period shall be entered as an item in the budget and in one of the appropriation bills. The governor may submit amendments to appropriation bills to be offered in either house during consideration of the bill by that house, and shall submit bills to meet deficiencies in current appropriations.

Sec. 19. The governor may disapprove any distinct item or items appropriating moneys in any appropriation bill. The part or parts approved shall become law, and the item or items disapproved shall be void unless re-passed according to the method prescribed for the passage of other bills over the executive veto.

Sec. 20. No appropriation shall be a mandate to spend. The governor, with the approval of the appropriating committees of the house and senate, shall reduce expenditures authorized by appropriations whenever it appears that actual revenues for a fiscal period will fall below the revenue estimates on which appropriations for that period were based. Reductions in expenditures shall be made in accordance with procedures prescribed by law. The governor may not reduce expenditures of the legislative and judicial branches or from funds constitutionally dedicated for specific purposes.

Sec. 21. The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be elected for four-year terms at the general election in each alternate even-numbered year.

The lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall be nominated by party conventions in a manner prescribed by law. In the general election one vote shall be cast jointly for the candidates for governor and lieutenant governor nominated by the same party.

Vacancies in the office of the secretary of state and attorney general shall be filled by appointment by the governor.

Sec. 22. To be eligible for the office of governor or lieutenant governor a person must have attained the age of 30 years, and have been a registered elector in this state for four years next preceding his election.

Sec. 23. The governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state and attorney general shall each receive the compensation provided by law in full payment for all services performed and expenses incurred during his term of office. Such compensation shall not be changed during the term of office except as otherwise provided in this constitution.

Sec. 24. An executive residence suitably furnished shall be provided at the seat of government for the use of the governor. He shall receive an allowance for its maintenance as provided by law.

Sec. 25. The lieutenant governor shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided. He may perform duties requested of him by the governor, but no power vested in the governor shall be delegated.

Sec. 26. In case of the conviction of the governor on impeachment, his removal from office, his resignation or his death, the lieutenant governor, the elected secretary of state, the elected attorney general and such other persons designated by law shall in that order be governor for the remainder of the governor's term.

In case of the death of the governor-elect, the lieutenant governor-elect, the secretary of state-elect, the attorney general-elect and such other persons designated by law shall become governor in that order at the commencement of the governor-elect's term.

If the governor or the person in line of succession to serve as governor is absent from the state, or suffering under an inability, the powers and duties of the office of governor shall devolve in order of precedence until the absence or inability giving rise to the devolution of powers ceases.

The inability of the governor or person acting as governor shall be determined by a majority of the supreme court on joint request of the president pro tempore of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives. Such determination shall be final and conclusive. The supreme court shall upon its own initiative determine if and when the inability ceases.

Sec. 27. The legislature shall provide that the salary of any state officer while acting as governor shall be equal to that of the governor.

Sec. 28. There is hereby established a state highway commission, which shall administer the state highway department and have jurisdiction and control over all state trunkline highways and appurtenant facilities, and such other public works of the state, as provided by law.

The state highway commission shall consist of four members, not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. They shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate for four-year terms, no two of which shall expire in the same year, as provided by law.

The state highway commission shall appoint and may remove a state highway director, who shall be a competent highway engineer and administrator. He shall be the principal executive officer of the state highway department and shall be responsible for executing the policy of the state highway commission.

Sec. 29. There is hereby established a civil rights commission which shall consist of eight persons, not more than four of whom shall be members of the same political party, who shall be appointed by the governor, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, for four-year terms not more than two of which shall expire in the same year. It shall be the duty of the commission in a manner which may be prescribed by law to investigate alleged discrimination against any person because of religion, race, color or national origin in the enjoyment of the civil rights guaranteed by law and by this constitution, and to secure the equal protection of such civil rights without such discrimination. The legislature shall provide an annual appropriation for the effective operation of the commission.

The commission shall have power, in accordance with the provisions of this constitution and of general laws governing administrative agencies, to promulgate rules and regulations for its own procedures, to hold hearings, administer oaths, through court authorization to require the attendance of witnesses and the submission of records, to take testimony, and to issue appropriate orders. The commission shall have other powers provided by law to carry out its purposes. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to diminish the right of any party to direct and immediate legal or equitable remedies in the courts of this state.

Appeals from final orders of the commission, including cease and desist orders and refusals to issue complaints, shall be tried de novo before the circuit court having jurisdiction provided by law.

ARTICLE VI

Judicial Branch

Sec. 1. Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and tangible personal property not exempt by law. The legislature shall provide for the determination of true cash value of such property; the proportion of true cash value at which such property shall be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a system of equalization of assessments. The legislature may provide for alternative means of taxation of designated real and tangible personal property in lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax other than the general ad valorem property tax shall be uniform upon the class or classes on which it operates.

Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-profit religious or educational organizations and used exclusively for religious or educational purposes, as defined by law, shall be exempt from real and personal property taxes.

Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the assessment by the state of the property of those public service businesses assessed by the state at the date this constitution becomes effective, and of other property as designated by the legislature, and for the imposition and collection of taxes thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be assessed at the same proportion of its true cash value as the legislature shall specify for property subject to general ad valorem taxation. The rate of taxation on such property shall be the average rate levied upon other property in this state under the general ad valorem tax law, or, if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable to the property of each business enterprise assessed by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem taxation levied upon other property in all counties in which any of such property is situated.

Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. These limitations may be increased to an aggregate of not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation, for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one time, if approved by a majority of the electors, qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this constitution, voting on the question.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township, charter authority or other authority, the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

In any school district which extends into two or more counties, property taxes at the highest rate available in the county which contains the greatest part of the area of the district may be imposed and collected for school purposes throughout the district.

Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate or base shall be imposed by the state or any of its subdivisions.

Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than four percent of their gross taxable sales of tangible personal property.

Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed directly or indirectly on fuels sold or used to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusively for highway purposes as defined by law.

Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property shall be used exclusively for assistance to townships, cities and villages, on a population basis as provided by law. In determining population the legislature may exclude any portion of the total number of persons who are wards, patients or convicts in any tax supported institution.

Sec. 11. There shall be established a state school aid fund which shall be used exclusively for aid to school districts, higher education and school employees' retirement systems, as provided by law. One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

The senators shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try and determine the impeachment according to the evidence. If a majority of electors voting on a proposed amendment approve the same, it shall become part of the constitution and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved.

Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this constitution by petition of the registered electors of this state. Every petition shall include the full text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by registered electors of the state equal in number to at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected. Such petitions shall be filed with the person authorized by law to receive the same at least 120 days before the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition shall be in the form, and shall be signed and circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law. The person authorized by law to receive such petition shall upon its receipt determine, as provided by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signatures on the petition, and make an official announcement thereof at least 60 days prior to the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon.

Any amendment proposed by such petition shall be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was filed, to the electors at the next general election. Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of the constitution which would be altered or abrogated thereby, and the question as it shall appear on the ballot shall be published in full as provided by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted in each polling place and furnished to news media as provided by law.

The ballot to be used in such election shall contain a statement of the purpose of the proposed amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

If the proposed amendment is approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question, it shall become part of the constitution, and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved. If two or more amendments approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter and at such times as may be provided by law, the question of a general revision of the constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If a majority of the electors voting on the question decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, at an election to be held not later than six months after the proposal was certified as approved, the electors of each representative district as then organized shall elect one delegate and the electors of each senatorial district as then organized shall elect one delegate at a partisan election. The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat of government on the first Tuesday in October next succeeding such election or at an earlier date if provided by law.

The convention shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings and judge the qualifications, elections and returns of its members. To fill a vacancy in the office of any delegate, the governor shall appoint a qualified resident of the same district who shall be a member of the same party as the delegate vacating the office. The convention shall have power to appoint such officers, employees and assistants as it deems necessary and to fix their compensation; to provide for the printing and distribution of its documents, journals and proceedings; to explain and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

No proposed constitution or amendment adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the electors for approval as hereinafter provided unless by the assent of a majority of all the delegates elected to and serving in the convention, with the names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

[ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE]

What the Proposed
New State Constitution Means to You

- A report to the people of Michigan by their elected delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62.

Lansing, Michigan

August 1, 1962

This is a new section providing for the structure of the newly-created court of appeals. The nine judges of the court are to be nominated and elected from districts on a non-partisan basis in a manner to be determined by the legislature. The supreme court is authorized to prescribe that the court of appeals sit in divisions of not fewer than three judges at such places as may be designated.

Flexibility is further provided by granting to the legislature authority to increase the number of judges of the court and alter districts from which they are elected.

Court of appeals; terms.

Sec. 9. Judges of the court of appeals shall hold office for a term of six years and until their successors are elected and qualified. The terms of office for the judges in each district shall be arranged by law to provide that not all terms will expire at the same time.

This is a new section providing six-year terms for judges on the court of appeals. The legislature is directed to set up election procedure so that terms of office in each district will not expire at the same time.

Court of appeals; jurisdiction.

Sec. 10. The jurisdiction of the court of appeals shall be provided by law and the practice and procedure therein shall be prescribed by rules of the supreme court.

This is a new section providing that jurisdiction of the court of appeals shall be established by the legislature. Practice and procedure are to be provided by rules of the supreme court.

CIRCUIT COURTS

Judicial circuits.

*Sec. 11. The state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected one or more circuit judges as provided by law.  Sessions of the circuit court shall be held at least four times in each year in every county organized for judicial purposes. Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by rules of the supreme court. The number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued by law and the number of judges shall be changed and circuits shall be created, altered and discontinued on recommendation of the supreme court to reflect changes in judicial activity. No change in the number of judges or alteration or discontinuance of a circuit shall have the effect of removing a judge from office during his term. ****

This is a revision of Sec. 8, Article VII, of the present constitution eliminating unnecessary language. In order to keep the manpower in the circuit court system operating as efficiently as possible, the legislature may and shall on recommendation of the supreme court increase or decrease the number of judges, create new circuits and alter or discontinue existing circuits.

The word "districts" in reference to circuit courts, appearing in the present constitution, is eliminated. This revised section specifies that judicial circuits shall be arranged "along county lines".

The provisions of the section enable the circuit courts to keep better abreast of changing population and economic conditions and thus serve all sections of the state more efficiently.

Circuit courts; elections; terms.

*Sec. 12. Circuit judges shall be nominated and elected * at non-partisan elections in the circuit in which they reside, and shall hold office for a term of six years and until their successors are elected and qualified. * In circuits having more than one circuit judge their terms of office shall be arranged by law to provide that not all terms will expire at the same time.*

This is a revision of Sec. 9, Article VII, of the present constitution. Circuit judges continue to be nominated and elected in non-partisan elections for six-year terms.

A significant change in the section provides that in circuits which have more than one judge the legislature shall arrange a plan which does not permit all terms of office to expire at the same time. It is believed that this would be better for the judiciary and less confusing to the voters. Eliminated from the section is language which provides circuit judges "shall be ineligible to any other than a judicial office during the term for which they are elected and for one year thereafter." This appears in a later section of this Article.

Circuit courts; jurisdiction.

*Sec. 13. The circuit court shall have original jurisdiction in all matters * not prohibited by law; * appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals * except as otherwise provided by law; power to issue, * hear and determine prerogative and remedial writs; * supervisory and general control over inferior courts and tribunals within their respective jurisdictions * in * accordance with rules of the supreme court; and jurisdiction of other cases and matters as provided by rules of the supreme court. ***

This is revision of Sec. 10, Article VII, of the present constitution. It provides that the power of the circuit court to hear cases from courts of limited jurisdiction shall be as authorized by rules of the supreme court. As now provided in the present constitution, the circuit court is given general control over courts and tribunals of limited jurisdiction in accordance with supreme court rules.

Clerk; vacancies.

*Sec. 14. The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes or other officer performing the duties of such office as provided in a county charter shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county. The judges of the circuit court may fill a vacancy in an elective office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions. *****

This is a revision of Sec. 11, Article VII, of the present constitution adding new language to recognize the possibility that some officer, other than the county clerk, may be empowered to be clerk of the circuit court in charter counties. The words "an elective office" are inserted to clarify previous ambiguous wording in the section.

The clause, "but shall not exercise any other power of appointment to public office," is deleted from the conclusion of the last sentence but appears under the General Provisions of this Article.

PROBATE COURTS

Probate courts; jurisdiction.

Sec. 15. In each county organized for judicial purposes there shall be a probate court. The legislature may create or alter probate court districts of more than one county if approved in each affected county by a majority of the electors voting on the question. The legislature may provide for the combination of the office of probate judge with any judicial office of limited jurisdiction within a county with supplemental salary as provided by law. The jurisdiction, powers and duties of the probate court and of the judges thereof shall be provided by law. They shall * have original jurisdiction in all cases of juvenile delinquents and dependents, except as otherwise provided by law.

This is a revision of Sec. 13, Article VII, of the present constitution to permit the legislature to combine counties into probate districts with the approval of a majority of the voters of each county involved. It also permits the legislature to provide for the combination of the office of probate court with any judicial office of a court of limited jurisdiction within a county.

These permissive provisions are included to make possible better administration of these courts in the smaller counties of the state.

The probate court continues to have original jurisdiction in all cases involving juvenile delinquents and dependent juveniles, unless otherwise provided by law. This will permit the legislature greater flexibility in the future in determining the best method within our court system for the handling of juvenile matters, including the possibility of creating a family court.

Probate courts; judges; elections.

Sec. 16. One or more judges of probate as provided by law shall be nominated and elected at non-partisan elections in the counties or the probate districts in which they reside and shall hold office for terms of six years and until their successors are elected and qualified. In counties or districts with more than one judge the terms of office shall be arranged by law to provide that not all terms will expire at the same time.

This is a revision of Sec. 14, Article VII, of the present constitution to provide for the non-partisan nomination and election of probate judges.

The term of probate judges is increased from four to six years. New language in the second sentence of the section directs that in counties or districts with more than one judge their terms shall not expire at the same time.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Salaries; restriction.

Sec. 17. No judge or justice of any court of this state shall be paid from the fees of his office nor shall the amount of his salary be measured by fees, other moneys received or the amount of judicial activity of his office.

This is a new section abolishing the fee system for the compensation of judges. It also specifies that payment to judges shall not be based on the amount of litigation handled in their courts.

Salaries; uniformity.

Sec. 18. Salaries of justices of the supreme court, of the judges of the court of appeals, of the circuit judges within a circuit, and of the probate judges within a county or district, shall be uniform, and may be increased but shall not be decreased during a term of office except and only to the extent of a general salary reduction in all other branches of government.

Each of the judges of the circuit court shall receive an annual salary as provided by law. In addition to the salary received from the state,  each circuit judge may receive from any county in which he regularly holds court an additional salary as  determined from time to time by the board of supervisors of the county. In any county where an additional salary is granted, it shall be paid at the same rate to all circuit judges regularly holding court therein.

The first paragraph of this section is new language designed to assure uniform salaries for all judges within a certain district. It likewise removes the restriction of Sec. 3, Article XVI, of the present constitution which, as it now stands, prohibits the increase of salaries of any supreme court justices during their term of office. This restriction has resulted in serious inequities in salary range among judges whose terms expire at different times.

The section also provides for decreases in the salaries of the judiciary, but only if general salary reductions are made in each of the other branches of the government.

The second paragraph is a revision of Sec. 12, Article VII, of the present constitution to permit "annual" salary rather than "salary payable monthly" for circuit judges.

Courts of record; seal; qualifications of judges.

Sec. 19. The supreme court, the court of appeals, the circuit court, the probate court and other courts designated as such by the legislature
