Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Kuhn offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "Sec. a.", by striking out the balance of the section and inserting "The supreme court shall consist of 9 justices. They shall be elected for 8 year terms, and not more than 3 justices shall go out of office at the same time.

Justices shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections, conducted as provided by law. The legislature may provide for nomination and election by districts. Incumbent justices may secure their nomination by filing an affidavit of intention to run as shall be provided by law.".

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Kuhn, on which the Chair will recognize Mr. Kuhn.

MR. IVERSON: Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

MR. IVERSON: I move at this time to pass further consideration of Committee Proposal 91 at least temporarily if not beyond the consideration of the balance of the judicial article.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Iverson moves to pass further consideration of Committee Proposal 91 until the remaining proposals of the judicial article have been considered by the committee of the whole. Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. Chairman, I can't say that it is easy to form an opinion as to just what this will accomplish. I understand that there is considerable confusion among the delegates about just why this would be put over. There certainly is in this corner. However, if we are going to pass this, then we will have to pass the next proposal too, and if he wants to pass the proposals on both the supreme court and the intermediate court of appeals, we would have no objection.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Iverson?

MR. IVERSON: Yes, I will agree to that.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Iverson's motion is amended so that he now moves the further consideration of Committee Proposals 91 and 92 be deferred until following consideration of the remaining proposals relating to the judicial article. Those in favor of Mr. Iverson's motion will say aye; opposed, no.

The motion prevails. The secretary will read Committee Proposal 93.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 4 on the calendar, from the committee on judicial branch, by Mr. Danhof, chairman, Committee Proposal 93, A proposal pertaining to the circuit court. A substitute for sections 8, 9, 10 and 11 of article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 93 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. THE STATE SHALL BE DIVIDED INTO JUDICIAL CIRCUITS ALONG COUNTY LINES IN EACH OF WHICH THERE SHALL BE ELECTED ONE,

OR WHEN PROVIDED BY LAW, MORE THAN ONE CIRCUIT JUDGE. A CIRCUIT COURT SHALL BE HELD AT LEAST 4 TIMES IN EACH YEAR IN EVERY COUN-TY ORGANIZED FOR JUDICIAL PURPOSES. EACH CIRCUIT JUDGE SHALL HOLD COURT IN THE COUNTY OR COUNTIES WITHIN THE CIRCUIT IN WHICH HE IS ELECTED, AND IN OTHER CIRCUITS AS MAY BE PROVIDED BY SUPREME COURT RULE OR BY LAW. THE NUMBER OF JUDGES MAY BE CHANGED AND CIRCUITS MAY BE CREATED, AL-TERED AND DISCONTINUED BY LAW AND THE NUMBER OF JUDGES SHALL BE CHANGED AND CIRCUITS SHALL BE CREATED, ALTERED DISCONTINUED ON RECOMMENDATION OF THE SUPREME COURT TO REFLECT CHANGES IN THE JUDICIAL BUSINESS. NO CHANGE IN THE NUMBER OF JUDGES NOR ALTERATION OR DISCONTINU-ANCE OF A CIRCUIT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A JUDGE FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. b. CIRCUIT JUDGES SHALL BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED AT NONPARTISAN ELECTIONS AS PROVIDED BY LAW. THE TERM OF CIRCUIT JUDGES SHALL BE 6 YEARS. IN CIRCUITS HAVING MORE THAN ONE JUDGE THE TERMS OF OFFICE SHALL BE ARRANGED TO PROVIDE THAT THEY WILL EXPIRE ON A STAGGERED BASIS.

Sec. c. CIRCUIT COURTS SHALL HAVE: ORIGINAL JURISDICTION IN ALL MATTERS NOT PROHIBITED BY LAW; APPELLATE JURISDICTION FROM ALL INFERIOR COURTS AND TRIBUNALS AS PRESCRIBED BY SUPREME COURT RULE: TO ISSUE, HEAR, AND DETERMINE PREROGATIVE AND REMEDIAL WRITS; SUPERVISORY AND GENERAL CONTROL OVER INFERIOR COURTS AND TRIBUNALS WITHIN THEIR RESPECTIVE JURISDICTIONS, IN ACCORDANCE WITH SUPREME COURT RULES; AND JURISDICTION OF OTHER CASES AND MATTERS AS THE SUPREME COURT SHALL BY RULE PRESCRIBE.

Sec. d. THE CLERK OF EACH COUNTY ORGANIZED FOR JUDICIAL PURPOSES SHALL BE CLERK OF THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR SUCH COUNTY. THE JUDGES OF THE CIRCUIT COURTS MAY FILL ANY VACANCY IN THE OFFICE OF COUNTY CLERK OR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY WITHIN THEIR RESPECTIVE JURISDICTIONS, BUT SHALL NOT EXERCISE ANY OTHER POWER OF APPOINTMENT TO PUBLIC OFFICE.

Mr. Danhof, chairman of the committee on judicial branch, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 93:

During the first 3 months of our committee work we had the testimony and advice of all the members of the supreme court, of circuit and probate judges, state bar officers and lawyers and officers of local bar associations and members of the general public. The plan of operation of our circuit and probate courts, we found, met the approval generally of all persons and groups who appeared before us.

Sec. a. In order to keep the manpower in the circuit court system operating as efficiently as possible, the legislature may on recommendation of the supreme court increase or decrease the number of judges, create new circuits and alter or discontinue existing circuits. By this means the courts can better keep abreast of changing population and economic conditions and thus serve all sections of the state more efficiently.

Sec. b. Circuit judges are to be nominated and elected as at the present time at nonpartisan elections and for the same term as now, for 6 years. Where a circuit has more than one judge the legislature shall arrange a plan whereby the offices will expire on a staggered basis. In some circuits at this time, and others that may increase in size, it was thought that it would be better for the

MR. STEVENS: Thank you.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Those who are in favor of the amendment offered by Messrs. Cudlip and Bonisteel will say aye. Those opposed will say no. The Chair is in doubt. Those in favor of the amendment offered by Mr. Cudlip and Mr. Bonisteel will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. The question is on the amendment offered by Messrs. Cudlip and Bonisteel. Those who are in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the amendment offered by Messrs. Cudlip and Bonisteel, the yeas are 46; the nays are 63.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The amendment is not adopted. Are there further amendments to Committee Proposal 91? If not, the proposal will pass.

Committee Proposal 91, as amended, is passed. The committee will proceed to Committee Proposal 92.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on judicial branch, by Mr. Danhof, chairman, Committee Proposal 92, A proposal pertaining to a court of appeals. Amends article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 92 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. THE COURT OF APPEALS SHALL CONSIST INITIALLY OF 9 JUDGES WHO SHALL BE NOMINATED AND ELECTED IN THE SAME MANNER AS THE JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT. THE SUPREME COURT MAY PRESCRIBE BY RULE THAT THE COURT OF APPEALS MAY SIT IN DIVISIONS, THE TERMS OF COURT AND THE TIMES AND PLACES THEREOF. EACH SUCH DIVISION SHALL CONSIST OF NOT FEWER THAN 3 JUDGES. THE LEGISLATURE MAY BY LAW INCREASE THE NUMBER OF JUDGES COMPRISING THE COURT OF APPEALS.

Sec. b. INITIALLY, 3 JUDGES SHALL BE ELECTED FOR A TERM OF 2 YEARS, 3 JUDGES FOR A TERM OF 4 YEARS, AND 3 JUDGES FOR A TERM OF 6 YEARS. THEREAFTER, THE TERM OF OFFICE SHALL BE 6 YEARS. THE TIME OF ELECTION AND THE ORDER OF ROTATION SHALL BE PROVIDED BY LAW.

Sec. c. THE JURISDICTION OF THE COURT OF APPEALS SHALL BE PRESCRIBED BY LAW AND THE PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE THEREIN SHALL BE AS PROVIDED BY SUPREME COURT RULE.

Mr. Danhof, chairman of the committee on judicial branch, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 92:

This proposal integrates the structure of a court of appeals heretofore created into the district plan for the election of justices. It provides for the election of 9 judges of the court of appeals from the same districts as the justices of the supreme court. It is contemplated that one division of the court of appeals would serve Wayne county; one division would serve judicial districts 2, 3 and 4 comprising the southeasterly ½ of the state; and one division would serve judicial districts 5, 6 and 7 comprising the remainder of the state including the upper peninsula.

This plan is largely adapted from a presentation made to this committee by Justice Theodore Souris. This presentation was copiously documented with a study of the case load of the supreme court for a 4 year period. The districts proposed in this plan for the appellate court contemplated one such court to serve Wayne county; one the eastern half of the lower peninsula, and another the western half of the lower peninsula and the upper peninsula. This plan was revised to bring it more nearly into correspondence with the case load and to integrate it with the 7 judicial districts of the state established for nomination and election of the justices of the supreme court.

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

A study of the potential case load resulting from the granting of appeals as of right and other matters that might be expected to reach such a court indicates an estimated annual case load for each division of this court of approximately 600 cases. The proposal further provides for initial election of the judges of this court; 3 judges for 2 years; 3 for 4 years; and 3 for 6 years; and thereafter for terms of 6 years. Flexibility is provided for the legislature to determine by law the time of election and the order of rotation.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: For an explanation of section a of Committee Proposal 92, the Chair will recognize the chairman of the committee on judicial branch, Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, section a provides for the manpower to operate the court of appeals. The committee has recommended the number of 9. At the time that we were considering a court of appeals. the question was brought up as to whether or not there should be an independent judiciary for the court of appeals, or whether perhaps the manpower of the supreme court and the circuit bench could be utilized. It was determined by a vast majority of the committee that if a court of appeals were to be established, it should have independent judiciary. Basically, the reason was this. We decided that if you utilized circuit judges, this would decrease the number of circuit judges available on the trial level, and would of necessity require an increase of circuit judges. Secondly, if a circuit judge were to sit for a particular period of time, he would naturally be called upon to rule upon decisions of his brethren on the bench, and perhaps some within his own circuit. When we inquired of circuit judges who appeared before us in this regard, they seemed to favor an independent judiciary.

I quite realize that at the time the committee adopted the first sentence to the section, the supreme court was to be selected by the district plan. By amendment taken in this committee of the whole to Committee Proposal 91, this is not now the case. My own personal conviction is that the first sentence of section a is still appropriate and should still be retained.

The second sentence prescribes that the supreme court by rule may designate that the court of appeals shall sit in divisions; the terms of the court; and the times and places thereof. This is procedure. It sets up the manner in which the court will operate, and provides that it may move around the state, as we anticipate, to hear various appeals. We provide that each such division shall consist of not fewer than 3 judges. This is to make 3 divisions of 3 judges each at the initial stage.

The last sentence is self explanatory. If the work load becomes such that more judges are needed, the legislature may by law increase the number of judges.

Section c, if you want to look ahead and try to anticipate questions, provides that the jurisdiction shall be as prescribed by law and the procedure as prescribed by supreme court rule. I will yield at this time for questions.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Are there any amendments to section a of Committee Proposal 92?

SECRETARY CHASE: There are none on file, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: If not, the section will pass. Section a is passed. The secretary will read section b. SECRETARY CHASE: Section b:

[Section b was read by the secretary. For text, see above.]

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: This, in essence, members of the committee and Mr. Chairman, is a scheduling provision to get the court operating. We leave to the legislature how and when the rotation shall commence, and the time of the election, and so forth. We provide for a term of 6 years. It was the considered opinion of the committee that if an 8 year term were in order for the supreme court, as we have provided, that 6 years would be sufficient for the court of appeals, as we feel there should be some differentiation from the supreme court. So we provide that 3 judges would have a term of 2 years, 3 a term of 4 years, and 3 a term of 6 years. Perhaps they will be chosen by lot, or by the highest number of votes, as the legislature may provide, to get the court into operation. Thereafter they will come up in regular rotation. Should the legislature see fit to increase the number of judges, they could fit them into the rotation as needed.

This is basically a scheduling provision. Perhaps it does not belong in this particular section, and can be moved to the schedule by the miscellaneous provisions committee, but it had to be included at this time.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Are there any amendments to section b of Committee Proposal 92?

SECRETARY CHASE: There are none.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: If not, it will pass.

Section b is passed. The secretary will read section c.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section c:

[Section c was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 1604.]

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, this particular section is self explanatory. The legislature shall set the jurisdiction of the court. That is, the legislature shall prescribe what cases shall be appealed, what cases may be appealed, as a matter of right. I think that we are consistent herein with what we have adopted to the circuit court and the appellate practice—we amended that to read "by law"—and it was felt that the legislature should be the one in this regard to ascertain perhaps what cases as a matter of right can be appealed to the court of appeals. By the action taken by this convention, we have set up appeals in criminal cases as a matter of right. This would be one. I would imagine that the legislature would see fit to put a dollar amount on civil cases which might be appealed as a matter of right.

We realize we are going into something new. The majority of the committee felt that the jurisdiction should be set by law, and the practice and procedure therein provided by supreme court rule, as we have actually adopted in Committee Proposal 91, wherein the supreme court provides the rules and procedure for all courts.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Are there any amendments to section c of Committee Proposal 92? If not, it will pass.

Section c is passed. Are there any amendments to the body of the proposal? If there are no amendments to the body of the proposal—Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: We haven't got one written out.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The posture of the committee is that there are no amendments presently pending to the body of the proposal, and the Chair is eager to pass it, but reluctant to deprive any delegate of his right. Mr. Barthwell.

MR. BARTHWELL: Mr. Chairman, I just wanted to rise to a point of personal privilege. I wish to point out to the committee, since there's no politics in the court, how easily we are passing a section which is new, and in which no one has a personal interest.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Your point is well taken, Mr. Barthwell. Are there any amendments to the body of Committee Proposal 92?

SECRETARY CHASE: Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby offer the following amendment to section a:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "elected" by striking out "in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court.", and inserting "at nonpartisan elections as prescribed by law. The legislature may provide for the dividing of the state into districts for the purpose of selecting appellate court judges."; so that the sentence will then read:

The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections as prescribed by law. The legislature shall provide for the dividing of the state into districts for the purpose of selecting appellate court judges.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby, on which the Chair will recognize Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. Chairman, as the committee is probably very much aware, this is a rather hastily drawn amendment, and it has been drawn to my attention that it might be more agreeable if we were to strike the word "shall" and insert the word "may"—that the legislature may. And if there is additional support for that striking of the word "shall" and insertion of the word "may," from the committee in particular, I would agree to that amendment. I'm wondering if Mr. Danhof has any—

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Do you make that amendment? MR. BOOTHBY: I would like to hear Mr. Danhof's comments.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby yields to Mr. Danhof.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Woolfenden.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Are we presently in order on this amendment? I thought that we passed section a.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: This is offered as an amendment to the body of the proposal, Mr. Woolfenden. It is in order. The Chair has been somewhat indulgent with the sponsors, but the gravity of the matter would seem to dictate that degree of leniency. Mr. Stevens.

MR. STEVENS: I just want to inquire from anybody who might know: is there a reason for this amendment? Wouldn't the legislature have that power?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby, do you care to respond to Mr. Stevens' question?

MR. BOOTHBY: As I understand, the wording of the proposal as it now stands is that they shall be nominated and elected in the same manner as justices of the supreme court. Because of the change from the committee's original recommendation, it would appear that the legislature does not have this power, and that under this provision they must be elected on a statewide ballot. At least, that is my understanding.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: If I might direct 2 or 3 questions to the movers of the amendment—I would agree with Mr. Boothby that the present section would require a statewide ballot; I mean, if we say "... shall be nominated and elected in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court."

Now, as I get the purport of your particular amendment, Mr. Boothby, it would in essence allow this, if I'm correct: one, that the legislature could pass a statute saying the court of appeals shall be nominated and elected in the same manner as justices of the supreme court, if they wanted to do so?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Well, I believe that the amendment indictates that the legislature would have the power to do it either on that basis or on a district basis.

MR. DANHOF: I was getting to that. I mean, in essence, what your amendment does is leave the nomination and election entirely to the legislature, does it not?

MR. BOOTHBY: It encourages a district plan, I think, but it does not cause that to be the exclusive plan which the legislature would follow.

MR. DANHOF: In other words, the legislature could make districts—could make 3 districts, could make 9 districts, could make no districts—whatever in its discretion it would deem advisable?

MR. BOOTHBY: I think the insertion of the word "may" would allow that.

MR. DANHOF: And if they would decide that it would be more expedient to follow the practice of having them nominated and elected in the same manner as justices of the supreme court, whatever that might be, but assuming that the action of the committee of the whole on section a of Committee Proposal 91 would be retained, this likewise would be within the province of the legislature?

MR. BOOTHBY: I think under the wording of this amendment that would be permissible.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The secretary will read the amendment again.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 1605.]

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: I would like to direct a question either to Mr. Boothby or Mr. Danhof through the Chair. In view of the amendments that we have adopted, especially the Danhof amendment, would this mean, under the present wording, exclusive of the proposed amendment, that the initial bench could be composed of people who would run on nominating petitions?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: I think, Mr. Mahinske, that it is possible. The wording is, "who shall be nominated and elected in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court." So whatever manner is prescribed for nomination of supreme court justices would also be available for the court of appeals. I would so interpret it.

MR. MAHINSKE: So the nomination of appellate court justices would also be by party convention?

MR. DANHOF: As it now stands, I would agree with you, Mr. Mahinske. I don't know about Mr. Boothby, but this would be my interpretation. That those methods which we set up for nomination of the supreme court would be available to the court of appeals. Initially, of course, you wouldn't have any incumbents filing an affidavit to rerun, because there are no incumbents, until we get the first 2 years out of the way, assuming that that provision will stand.

MR. MAHINSKE: And then you definitely intend then to restrict these terms to the 6 years, as opposed to the 10 years for the supreme court?

MR. DANHOF: Well, the supreme court is now at 8, Mr. Mahinske. We felt that the supreme court justices should probably have a little advantage, so we give them an extra 2 years. Probably they will draw a little more salary, too, after the legislature sets it. But we felt that a 6 year term, on the rotation setup, was a reasonable length. It's either 6 or 8, and the committee felt it should be 6.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: I think that confuses me a little more than I was before I started here.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby to section a of Committee Proposal 92. Does any delegate desire to have the amendment read again? The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 1605.]

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Ford, do you desire recognition?

MR. FORD: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, this is a very apparent attempt to bring the district plan back to us. I think you first have to look at the decision the committee on the judiciary had to reach before it came as far as we had come in this recommendation in the first instance. It has been the subject of great debate throughout this state for quite a long time, and there are 2 factors that had to be determined. The first one was, do we need an intermediate appellate court? Having arrived at that decision, then we had to arrive at the decision as to whether or not, as a matter of constitutional law, we should prescribe the composition of the court, or simply prescribe that there be one, and let the legislature wrestle with the question of the composition of the court.

It then became apparent to many members of the committee who had spent some time with this, and also from testimony that was presented to us, that there's nothing close to unanimous agreement amongst members of the bench of this state and other people interested in this matter who have studied it and attempted to make recommendations, on how the court should be constituted. One method would be to have 3 circuit judges sitting en banc. Another method would be to have the 9 member supreme court break itself into 3 member banks, and as a 3 member bank be the intermediate appellate court. Another method would have been to use 2 circuit judges and 1 supreme court judge. Another method would have been to use a combination of retired circuit judges with supreme court judges, or with working circuit judges. And I want to say that each one of these plans has a considerable amount of support in the state. At least, this is my impression from what we have heard. Down in our own county, for example, I believe one of the things that our bench was unable to agree upon was how the court was to be constituted.

Now, there is a factor that comes into this that becomes very important. That is whether you conceive of the idea of an intermediate appellate court as being a truly appellate court, with a statewide vision and with a recognition and a compulsion for decisions that have statewide import, or whether this appellate court is conceived in your mind to be nothing more than a review board or a stepping stone toward the ultimate decision with a statewide viewpoint that we have now built into the supreme court. It is the view of some of us that in electing 3 judges from one particular territoryand let's assume for the moment that you go back to the original plan of the district plan people and you said that Wayne county or perhaps Wayne county and one of its neighbors were to have one of the appellate districts-then you would have the same 3 judges sitting constantly in that area reviewing the opinions from a limited number of circuit judges. Over a period of time, with a small bank of 3 judges, you would have the tendency of a dominant personality to emerge, and with a small number like this it becomes fatal.

The military, in setting up the uniform code of military justice a few years ago, had the advice of experts in the field of judicial administration. They have a review board system built into military justice now that is an exact duplicate of what is contemplated here with the intermediate court of appeals. And there is one very strong rule built into that system. That is that the 3 members of any given review board cannot sit together in perpetuity, but they are revolved. They do not hear the same kind of cases, and they do not sit with the same 3 people.

Now, you can't do this with the supreme court because they make their decisions in total, the whole 9 of them. But you could very well, in the intermediate court, secure what many lawyers think would be the epitome of a revolving court, or a court with a minimum of sectional, political, economic or any other philosophy built into it, in that you would be able to revolve the judges so that the 3 man bank was not always the same sitting in Detroit, not always the same in Grand Rapids, not always the same in Lansing, or Traverse City, or wherever they might choose to sit.

Now, if you go to a district plan of electing these judges, then you preclude acceptance by the public of the idea of electing on a district and then sending the judges from another section of the state. Much has been said here about sending in visiting judges. That's one thing. But when you're talking about electing judges from a particular part of the state who might sit for the principal part of their term in office in some part of the state where no person coming before them was an elector who selected them, this is something else again. And the decision on this depends on your first deciding what your concept of an intermediate appellate court is. If it is merely a screening process to see what is ultimately going to go to the supreme court, then there is no objection to the district plan. But if you really intend to have here a court that will be the ending place, the place where litigation comes to a final conclusion, then I think that you should adopt the same philosophy that has been adopted here this morning and build into this court the same statewide view of the matters coming before it. I urge the defeat of the amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby. Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: The purpose of this amendment is to not force statewide elections. If the supreme court were to decide that these individuals would sit in districts, to make them run statewide would seem ridiculous. You would have people from one part of the country having to sit someplace else, and if they are assigned to sit there for 6 years, it gets to be more than expensive for that individual member.

This is to give more leniency to the legislature. Originally, when this first thought of the intermediate court came to us—it was not the first thought, I presume—but the most forceful argument for it came from Justice Souris, who envisioned the court sitting in divisions of 3, which divisions would be set up based on the amount of judicial business that would probably come before that court.

Now, if the supreme court does divide the state—as it says, "The supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals may sit in divisions"—if it does decide to do this, and then to rotate these judges all over the state in the sense of having to sit for 6 years in one part of the state on this bench, as opposed to allowing them to just move whenever the supreme court decided that these individual people shall be moved, then we've got them locked into a place; and to require these people to go to a party convention, if they are only going to act in one part of the state, seems ridiculous. The purpose of this amendment initially is to allow more flexibility. And I ask that the question be divided; that the amendment be divided, and that we have a division vote.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Miss Donnelly, the Chair does not understand the manner in which you request the question to be divided.

[Whereupon, a consultation was had between Chairman Van Dusen and Miss Donnelly.]

The question will be so divided. Miss Donnelly has requested a division vote. Is the demand supported? It is supported.

MR. NORRIS: Point of information, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: State your point, Dr. Norris.

MR. NORRIS: I wondered if we couldn't have the amendments as proposed put on the wall, the way we have been doing, at least, so we can have the complete text in front of us, so we can see what the divisions mean.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The copies have not been prepared as yet in form for projection, but the Chair will ask the secretary to read the 2 portions of the amendment as it will be divided. The first portion, as the Chair understands it, Miss Donnelly, is the question, "as provided by law". The second portion is the permission of the legislature to district the state. The secretary will read the 2 portions of the amendment, and then the Chair will recognize you.

SECRETARY CHASE: The first portion of the amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "elected" by striking out "in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court.", and inserting "as prescribed by law."; so that it will then read, "The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections as prescribed by law." The second part of the amendment would have the language, "The legislature may provide for the dividing of the state into districts for the purpose of selecting appellate court judges."

MR. MAHINSKE: Point of order, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: State your point, Mr. Mahinske. MR. MAHINSKE: We had a ruling on this exact point yesterday, where we had an amendment to strike and insert, and it is not divisible.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Your point -

MR. MAHINSKE: I would favor a division here, but we might as well be consistent.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Your point is well taken, Mr. Mahinske. However, if you withdraw your objection, the committee can proceed without objection to a division of the question.

MR. MAHINSKE: No; I'll leave my objection in.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: In that event, Mr. Mahinske, the Chair will necessarily rule that the provision of rule 51 prohibiting the division of amendments to strike out and insert will prevail, and that the question cannot be divided. Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, I think maybe I can possibly clear up one problem which might exist in the minds of the delegates after Mr. Ford made his remarks. One of his principal objections, apparently, to this amendment was that it would, as he indicated by his statement, force 3 judges to continually sit together in one particular area of the state, and would prevent them from sitting in other areas of the state, and from being divided up. I think this point is not well taken. As we well know, the circuit judges are moved about by the supreme court, and they are moved from one area to another. I do not believe that the wording in this amendment would prohibit the supreme court from taking the appellate judges and placing them in a particular division and having them sit, regardless of where they were elected from. I don't believe that Mr. Ford's point was well taken in that respect.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, it seems to me that this amendment is very much in order. The election of your appellate court judges by district is something which can very well fit into the judicial structure, even though the convention may have decided to elect the supreme court justices by a statewide election. Since the court will be divided and will be able to sit in divisions, it seems entirely in order to allow the appellate court judges to be elected by district, as was originally comtemplated in the committee proposal, which proposed that supreme court justices as well be elected by district.

I think there are some real advantages to this, in encouraging good judges to run in these districts for these appellate court positions, and in giving the public an opportunity to vote for people whom they know. I would favor the Boothby amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Lawrence.

MR. LAWRENCE: Mr. Chairman, I would like to rise in . favor of the amendment, and just point out to some of the members of the committee who are not attorneys that there is a very practical problem that I think would be solved by the adoption of this amendment. When this came up in the committee, it was my hope that we would be able to provide-or at least provide the framework so that such a provision could be made—for a much less expensive type of appeal than an appeal to the supreme court is at the present time. And by adopting this amendment you would enable the state, by being divided into districts, to accomplish to some extent that hope. For instance, you may know that the United States district court in the state of Michigan sits mainly in Detroit. But the court sits at times in Bay City, and there also is another court established in Grand Rapids. Now, that is for the convenience of the people of the state, and also it enables people around the state to have their cases heard and tried at much less cost. And even the cost of traveling-say if it were one court sitting in Lansing, or in any one city—the cost of people traveling from all parts of the state to that one court would be considerable, plus having their attorneys, and the time the attorneys have to spend in traveling. If that could be avoided it would be a step in the right direction.

The second thing I would like to show, let me say to the lay men and women of this committee, is this little book that I hold in my hand. Now, that book is an appellee's brief. That is the printed brief that was filed in a case in the supreme court within the last month. That brief has 93 pages in it, and just to print it cost over $500. The record in the case consisted of 2 volumes of nearly 500 pages each, or nearly 1,000 pages of printed record, while this little brief that cost $500 only, has 93 pages.

It was my hope that we could provide a means whereby maybe a much less expensive type of appeal could be made, perhaps by just typewritten briefs —

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Lawrence, the Chair is reluctant to interrupt, but the question is on the method of electing judges of the court of appeals, and the Chair will request that you return to that point by the least circuitous possible route.

MR. LAWRENCE: I will endeavor to do so. Just let me collect myself for a minute. The reason that I thought I was on that subject, I thought that the amendment stated that the state would be set up in districts, or the legislature would set up the state in districts; is that not correct?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: No. The Chair thinks the amendment deals with the method of election. The second sentence of the proposal as it presently stands states that the supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals may sit in divisions. That, however, is not before the committee at this point, Mr. Lawrence. The only question is the method of election.

MR. LAWRENCE: Then I will say this: I appreciate your forebearance. I hope you will remember what I have said, so I won't have to repeat it when the other point comes up. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Farnsworth.

MR. FARNSWORTH: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, as is customary in this convention, the lawyers are divided on this question. I think this is one area where we laymen can excuse them for being so divided. This is a new area of court structure in Michigan. We have not had it before. And I would just like to make a couple of points on it.

This particular section that says—and which this would strike—that they shall be elected in the same manner as the members of the supreme court, is a pretty rigid restriction on the legislature. Now, we are going into a new area. The lawyers, the laymen—no one knows exactly how the thing is going to work. I submit to you that it's a mistake to leave that kind of a restriction in a proposed constitution.

Now, I think there is one other significant factor. You will find that one of the introducers of this particular amendment is a well known proponent of the district plan, and the other is a very well known opponent of the district plan. So this isn't a question of whether we are going to have a district plan or some other kind of a plan for the court of appeals. But we are entering into a new area and nobody knows how it is going to work. Certainly, here is an area where we should leave it to the legislature to provide the rules. I urge you strongly to support the amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. Chairman, I would like to direct a question to one of the sponsors of this amendment, if I may.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: If either Miss Donnelly or Mr. Boothby cares to answer.

MR. HIGGS: The question is: would this permit the possibility of a partisan nomination and a nonpartisan election, as we presently have?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby or Miss Donnelly, do you care to answer?

MISS DONNELLY: I'm sorry, I didn't hear it.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Will you restate your question, Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: The question is whether this would permit a partisan nomination preceding the nonpartisan election.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: Well, certainly if it's not changed it would require a partisan nomination. By allowing this leniency, I think it could make it—as a matter of fact, I thought it said nonpartisan nomination and election, if the truth be known.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The secretary will reread the amendment.

MISS DONNELLY: I thought the way I wrote it it said that.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Write in haste, repent at leisure, Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: Well, that's true. It is becoming very obvious.

SECRETARY CHASE: The following is the Donnelly-Boothby amendment:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 1605.]

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: Does that answer your question?

MR. HIGGS: Yes.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby to section a of Committee Proposal 92. Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Then my initial question to Mr. Boothby is not the same as it was before. If this amendment would pass, then the legislature could not provide that the court of appeals could be nominated and elected in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court. Is that correct, Mr. Boothby and Miss Donnelly?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Apparently a party convention is a partisan affair. So, according to the wording, it would probably prohibit that. I would suggest that if this is giving some pause to some of the members of the committee, that the proper procedure would be that after this amendment is adopted, to consider that particular provision.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: I just wanted to inquire of the movers whether or not they intended to restrict the method given to the legislature, or to leave it completely to the legislature. What was the intent of the amendment? As it stands now the legislature would be restricted from doing certain things. My initial thought was that we were going to give to the legislature carte blanche authority to nominate in the way they saw fit, and then to elect at a nonpartisan election. Now, that was my original idea of this. If I'm in error, it may change my thinking on this particular amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. Danhof, to specifically answer your question, my original thought was to leave it pretty much to the legislature. What actually occured was that Miss Donnelly walked up to the desk with the first part of this amendment, I walked up with the last part of the amendment, and so, necessarily, there was not complete unanimity of thought on that one particular provision. But I do suggest that the proper method of handling this problem may be to offer an amendment to that one small portion of the amendment dealing with nonpartisan elections.

MR. DANHOF: From my own standpoint, Mr. Boothby, I could well support, perhaps, personally, a provision that would leave everything to the legislature regarding nomination, including the right to set it by party or to set it by district, whatever they would deem desirable; that the election would be by nonpartisan election; and that we would in effect be leaving to the legislature the method of nomination, but election by a nonpartisan ballot, by districts or statewide, whatever they would desire. I could probably support this type of amendment. As this one is now drawn, I'm afraid it is somewhat restrictive. And if you would wish to go in that particular direction, why, my own personal opinion would be to support you.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Well, my only reply is that I would agree to have the word "nonpartisan" stricken. I don't know what Miss Donnelly's thinking is on it.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: It's going too fast for me. In other words, by striking "nonpartisan" and the legislature may make it partisan or nonpartisan? Is that the nature of your question, Mr. Danhof? In your opinion, that's what the draft would do?

MR. DANHOF: All I envision is, Mr. Boothby said he intended basically to leave everything to the legislature. The matter of nomination as it now stands would have to be, in effect, by nonpartisan primary. They could not be nominated in the same manner as the supreme court justices might be, by convention. I don't think there is much doubt that perhaps the majority of this convention is for a nonpartisan ballot to elect. My only question is whether you intended at the time to restrict the manner of nomination to a nonpartisan primary, or whether the import of the amendment was to just leave it to the legislature to establish the method by which they should be nominated and in fact elected, assuming election on a nonpartisan ballot.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof and Miss Donnelly, the secretary advises that the solution to your problem may be at hand. Mr. Elliott has offered a revised amendment. The Chair recognizes Mr. Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. Chairman, would the secretary read the amendment and see if it's satisfactory to Mr. Boothby and Miss Donnelly.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Arthur Elliott offers a revised amendment as follows:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "elected" by striking out "in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court.", and inserting "as prescribed by law. The legislature may provide for the dividing of the state into districts for the purpose of selecting appellate court judges.".

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby? Miss Donnelly? Which of you desires recognition?

MISS DONNELLY: Mr. Boothby, I think, has answered the question, have you not? Mr. Boothby wanted it removed in the first instance, so he certainly says yes.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. Chairman, I would be very happy to have Mr. Elliott's name added to this amendment, if that could be done by the striking of those words which he suggested.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby accepts the revised amendment. Miss Donnelly?

MISS DONNELLY: Yes.

OHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Miss Donnelly accepts the revised amendment. The question is now on the amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Mr. Boothby, as revised at the suggestion of Mr. Elliott, to insert the words "as prescribed by law. The legislature may provide for the dividing of the state into districts for the purpose of selecting appellate court judges." The question is now upon the amendment so offered. Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: May I inquire of the sponsors if this amendment as it now stands would permit the nomination and election of appellate court judges on partisan ballots?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: As I understand the portent of this amendment, it leaves it completely within the discretion of the legislature.

MR. LEIBRAND: Mr. Chairman, I would then oppose the amendment. It seems to me the people of the state of Michigan have pretty well indicated they want nonpartisan election of judges. And I think that we are going a long ways in creating a new court and at the same time putting it on party ballots, or possibly at party conventions. I oppose the amendment.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the revised amendment offered by Miss Donnelly, Mr. Boothby and Mr. Elliott. A division has been ordered. Those who are in favor of the amendment as revised will vote aye. Those who are opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Miss Donnelly and Messrs. Boothby and Elliott, the yeas are 61; the nays are 63.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The amendment is not adopted. Are there any further amendments to Committee Proposal 92? If not, the proposal will pass.

Committee Proposal 92 is passed. The secretary will read the amendment offered as section 1 to Committee Proposal 96, A proposal pertaining to general and special provisions relative to the courts of the state.

For last previous action by the committee of the whole on Committee Proposal 96, see above, page 1554.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Danhof, on the behalf of the committee on judicial branch, has offered the following amendment:

1. Amend page 4, following line 1, by inserting a new section to read as follows:

"Sec. 1. Any justice or judge of a court of record desiring to become a candidate for election or reelection to a judicial office then held by him, may, in lieu of nomination as provided in this constitution or by law, nominate himself by affidavit filed in the office of the secretary of state not less than 90 days prior to the date of the primary election or election as the case may be, which is applicable to the office to be filled.". To which Mr. Ford has offered this amendment:

1. Amend the amendment, after "in lieu of" by striking out "nomination" and inserting "filing nominating petitions"; so that the language will then read, "may, in lieu of filing nominating petitions as provided in this constitution,"; and after "or by law,", by striking out "nominate himself" and inserting "cause his name to be printed on the primary election ballot"; so that the language will read, "cause his name to be printed on the primary election ballot by affidavit filed in the office of the secretary of state. . . ."

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendments offered by Mr. Ford. Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. Chairman, I wish to withdraw those amendments. They were made the other day. There is a committee amendment that I feel should take precedence.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof, do you likewise withdraw your amendment? Mr. Ford's amendments to your amendment have been withdrawn.

MR. DANHOF: Is that the old one, or is that a new one? Yes.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof, without objection, withdraws his amendment. The secretary will read the amendment offered by Messrs. Lawrence, Danhof, Ford and others.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Lawrence, Danhof, Ford, Miss Donnelly, Messrs. Bledsoe, Krolikowski, Woolfenden, Miss McGowan, Messrs. Tubbs, Barthwell, Garvin, Everett, Cudlip, Higgs, Prettie, Pugsley, Iverson and Ostrow offer the following amendment:

1. Amend page 4, following line 1, by inserting a new section to read as follows:

"Sec. 1. Any judge of a circuit court or probate court may become a candidate in the primary election for the office of which he is then the incumbent, by filing a declaration of intention at such time and in such office as provided by law.".

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Messrs. Lawrence, Danhof and others. The Chair will recognize Mr. Danhof, and will then recognize you, Judge Leibrand.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, this amendment is simply to clear up the matter raised by Mr. Ford. It is endorsed by practically all of the committee on judicial branch. Inasmuch as we have handled the incumbent renomination of the supreme court and the court of appeals, this matter is now limited to the other 2 courts of record. We have shortened the language, and I think it is not mandatory; it is only permissive. If the judge desires to be nominated as a candidate by any other means provided by law, he may do so. It does obviate the necessity in the metropolitan areas of circulating petitions and endeavoring to obtain names. I think it is a provision which would facilitate the renomination of the bench, and eliminate the necessity of trying to gather up a group to obtain names by any and various means.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: On the amendment offered by Messrs. Lawrence, Danhof, Ford and others, the Chair will recognize Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: Mr. Chairman, may I inquire of the secretary or Mr. Danhof if this proposed amendment is printed anywhere, either as a proposal or in the journal?

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The amendment is projected on the wall, Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: If there is no objection, Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: To insert the word "elected" before "judge" in the first line, so it would read "any elected judge." This was certainly my intention, and the intention of, I believe, a number of the sponsors, although not necessarily all.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Higgs to the first line of the amendment offered by Messrs. Lawrence and others:

1. Amend the amendment in the first line after "any" by inserting "elected"; so the language will then read: "any elected judge of a circuit court," et cetera. Mr. Lawrence.

MR. LAWRENCE: I would just like to speak, briefly, in opposition to this amendment. If I am correct, no appointed judge would be eligible to run for election to that office, as I understand the action we have taken in the past. So there is no need for the word "elected" in it. Judge Leibrand mentioned that the supreme court could appoint someone to fill a vacancy, correct. But, by its very terms, that provision says that that judge shall not be eligible to run for reelection.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. Lawrence, I think if that is our intention, we should so state it. Even though that may eventually become true, it is not necessarily true as of now. And I'm certain that it was the thinking of a few of the people on the committee that this particular provision should be extended only to elected incumbents. And there will be at the time, assuming that the constitution is adopted, there will be judges sitting who were not elected.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Those who are in favor of the amendment offered by Mr. Higgs to insert the word "elected" after the word "any" in the first line of the Lawrence amendment will say aye. Those opposed will say no. The Chair is in doubt. Those who are in favor of the Higgs amendment to the Lawrence amendment will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Higgs, the yeas are 56; the nays are 53.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: The amendment to the amendment is adopted. The question is now upon the amendment offered by Messrs. Lawrence, Danhof, Ford and others, as amended. Does any delegate desire to have the amendment read again? If not, those who are in favor of the amendment offered by Mr. Lawrence and others will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The amendment, as amended, is adopted.

DELEGATES: Division.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Division is requested. Is the demand supported?

It is not supported. Are there further amendments to the body of Committee Proposal 96?

SECRETARY CHASE: A minority report on file by Messrs. Ford, Barthwell, Bledsoe and Garvin offers an amendment to strike out the present section 1 and insert a new section 1 to read—

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: I should like at this time to move the committee do now rise.

CHAIRMAN VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof moves that the committee do now rise. Those in favor of Mr. Danhof's motion will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. The committee will now rise.

[Whereupon, the committee of the whole having risen, Vice President Hutchinson assumed the Chair.]

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The delegate from Oakland, Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration several matters, of which the secretary will give a detailed report.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration Committee Proposal 92.

A proposal pertaining to a court of appeals. It reports this proposal back to the convention without amendment, and with the recommendation that it do pass.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The proposal will be referred to the committee on style and drafting.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. President, I think there are amendments.

SECRETARY CHASE: I'm sorry. Mr. Arthur Elliott offers the following amendment —

MR. WANGER: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: I move we recess until 2:00 o'clock.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Wanger moves that the convention stand in recess until 2:00 p.m. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The motion prevails, and it is so ordered.

[Whereupuon, at 12:00 o'clock noon, the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

The convention will be in order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present. When the convention recessed for lunch, there was pending the report on Committee Proposal 92 from the committee of the whole, to which Mr. Arthur Elliott had filed the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "elected" by striking out "in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court.", and inserting "as prescribed by law."; so the first sentence will read, "The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges, who shall be nominated and elected as prescribed by law."

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On the amendment, the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Oakland, Mr. Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, this amendment is an attempt to give the legislature the flexibility that I'm confident they should have, particularly in this court, which is a new court to our judicial system. I can see no reason why it wouldn't be consistent with everything that we have done to date to make it possible for the legislature in its wisdom, once this constitution has been adopted, to then draft and draw the type of statutory language that would adequately and properly set up this entire court of appeals.

[President Nisbet resumed the Chair.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment. Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: May I inquire of Mr. Elliott, Mr. President?

PRESIDENT NISBET: If Mr. Elliott cares to answer.

MR. LEIBRAND: Now, I presume then the meaning and intent of your amendment, Mr. Elliott, is that a state convention down in Detroit could select the appellate judges or at least the nominees for appellate judges for these outstate districts? Is that what the purpose of your amendment is?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: No, that is not the purpose.

MR. LEIBRAND: Would your amendment permit that?

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: I think that my amendment would permit whatever the legislative branch of government established as the law under which the appellate court should be established. If you'll note, I think that what we now have in the committee proposal is a prescribed, rigid requirement that the appellate court be selected in exactly the same manner as the justices of the supreme court. What I'm trying to do is to strike that language and to make it possible for the legislature in its wisdom to establish the election and nomination of these judges in the manner which they feel is best.

MR. LEIBRAND: In your judgment, Mr. Elliott, would your amendment permit the election of these judges on a party basis? Would it permit the legislature to prescribe the nomination and election of these judges on a partisan basis?

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: My concept of the judiciary is a nonpartisan concept, but the language as I have offered it would leave to the legislature the freedom of determining whether or not the election should be either partisan or nonpartisan. It does not prescribe that it must be partisan, but it does not prescribe that it must be nonpartisan. It gives them that degree of flexibility.

MR. LEIBRAND: Thank you, Mr. Elliott. I feel that I shall have to oppose the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of the amendment. Mr. Farnsworth.

MR. FARNSWORTH: Mr. President and members of the convention I would like again to remind you that this is very, very important. I feel strongly about it. You are sailing now on uncharted seas insofar as a court in Michigan is concerned. You do not know. Here is the place to leave that flexibility, and to leave it to the legislature.

Don't be misguided by those people who would have you believe that because you leave this open to the legislature to decide, that they will necessarily saddle you with partisan elections. They are very, very apt not to do that. The people have pretty well expressed themselves on that in Michigan. And it would be only natural to assume that the legislature would keep it on a nonpartisan basis. But you do need the flexibility, and the Elliott amendment certainly does that. I again urge you to support it.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Tubbs.

MR. TUBBS: Mr. President, I would also like to ask Mr. Elliott a question.

PRESIDENT NISBET: If Mr. Elliott cares to answer.

MR. TUBBS: Do you think your amendment would permit the legislature to set up a system of appointing circuit judges to the court of appeals?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Elliott.

MR. A. G. ELLIOTT: No, I don't. Because I have not struck the word "elected." I merely struck the language after the word "elected" and added "as prescribed by law." And "elected" I think would mean just that.

MR. TUBBS: I agree with Mr. Farnsworth, Mr. President, that we need flexibility at this point. This is something new, and we may have to experiment. There is one state not far away where the judges of this court are appointed from the lower courts, and then those lower court vacancies are filled by their regular system of appointment or election. And we might try that here. I would like to see this provision flexible enough to do it.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of the Elliott amendment. Those in favor will say aye. Those opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted. Are there any further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: Miss Donnelly has filed the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "nominated" by striking out the remainder of the sentence and inserting "as provided by law and elected on a nonpartisan ballot."; so the sentence will read, "The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated as provided by law and elected on a nonpartisan ballot."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the Donnelly amendment. Does Miss Donnelly care to be recognized? Miss Donnelly, do you care to speak on your amendment?

MISS DONNELLY: You'll have to excuse me. I was with the ladies. I gather that Mr. Elliott's amendment—

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair might say, Miss Donnelly, in order for you to catch your breath — and the Chair was fortunate to arrive a little ahead of you — that Mr. Elliott's amendment has been adopted. Now we are voting on the amendment as suggested by yourself. Have you got your wind back?

MISS DONNELLY: This isn't the amendment that I placed on the secretary's desk before I left.

SECRETARY CHASE: It is.

MISS DONNELLY: I'm sorry, maybe I should—I'm not going to lunch again with the girls. The one I placed on the secretary's desk had inserted "who shall be nominated as provided by law and elected on a nonpartisan basis." That isn't what we just flashed. To me there is only one nuance of difference from Mr. Elliott's, and that's "nominated as prescribed by law." I'm not sure. If I could have a moment to see them both as written, I'll be able to make better sense of it.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Will the people in charge of projecting the amendments on the wall please see that Miss Donnelly's amendment is put on the wall. Miss Donnelly, can you proceed while they are getting the piece cut for the machine?

MISS DONNELLY: Yes. The only difference is, I have, in addition, "nominated and elected on a nonpartisan ballot." The only nuance of difference is the ending. And mine requires that it be elected on a nonpartisan ballot, whereas his just says "as prescribed by law." Mr. Hutchinson just asked me a leading question, and if I said yes it might be easier. All right, I will withdraw it.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is withdrawn. Are there any further amendments, Mr. Chase?

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Boothby, Dehnke and Pugsley offer the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "nominated" by inserting "as provided by law" and after "elected" by striking out "in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court.", and inserting "at nonpartisan elections as provided by law. The legislature may provide for the dividing of the state into districts for the purpose of selecting appellate court judges."; so that the language will then read:

The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated as provided by law and elected at nonpartisan elections as provided by law. The legislature may provide for the dividing of the state into districts for the purpose of selecting appellate court judges.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Boothby. MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. President, I hate to bring down confusion. Nevertheless, there is on the secretary's desk another amendment which we had desired to have presented first. I am wondering if the secretary could read that.

SECRETARY CHASE: The other amendment that Mr. Boothby has filed is:

1. Amend page 1, line 5, after "Sec. a.", by striking out the balance of the line, all of line 6 and through the first "court.", in line 7, and inserting "The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated and elected on a nonpartisan basis from districts of the state as established from time to time by the legislature.".

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Boothby. MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, the names of Judge Dehnke and Judge Pugsley should be added to this amendment. They are cosponsors of this amendment.

The amendment which is now before you makes no question as to the method of selection of appellate court judges which is sought. We feel that for the selection of appellate court judges the most feasible method of selecting these individuals would be on a district basis. This does not leave to the legislature the method by which to select these particular judges. It should be noted for those people who have some hesitation about the question of nonpartisan versus partisan election that this amendment calls for not only a nonpartisan election, but a nonpartisan nomination. I know of no other way to have a truly nonpartisan nomination than by a district basis. And this would allow for that to take place. It would also allow for a truly nonpartisan election. In other words, an election not dictated by a party or by any particular organization. Now, this has, I feel, a great deal of merit.

There has been some opposition, as we have seen, to a district basis for the selection of supreme court judges, and it was reasoned by some that the supreme court should not be placed on a district basis because the supreme court is hearing cases from all parts of the state, and that those people who preside over those cases should be elected by all the people of the state.

I would like to call to the attention of the convention that, as I understand, the intention of the committee on judicial branch which considered the creation of this particular intermediate appellate court was to create a court which would allow for divisions to sit in separate parts of the state. So it does contemplate a regional situation. Therefore, it would tie in with a district selection of judges for this particular intermediate appellate court. I would like to point out that we're going to have a great many problems if we have a situation occurring where both the intermediate appellate court and the supreme court justices would possibly be elected on a statewide ballot. We will have our hands full getting information out to the people of the state regarding the supreme court judges. But when we come down to the intermediate appellate court, I submit to you that it would be most difficult to acquaint the people of the state with the qualifications and backgrounds of the people running for the intermediate appellate court, which is essentially a regional court.

I think it should be further pointed out that we might very well have reluctant candidates for this office. Because I could conceive that the pay for the judge of the intermediate appellate court would be somewhat less than the pay for a supreme court judge. Nevertheless, if you had him run on a statewide basis, the cost of election would be at least as great and maybe greater than the candidate for the supreme court. I think that the district court basis has a great deal of merit for the selection of judges for the intermediate appellate court, regardless of what your feeling is on the selection of judges for the supreme court. I actually think it is 2 separate issues. And I would urge your support for this amendment, which would actually require the selection of intermediate appellate court judges on a district basis.

You will note that this amendment leaves to the legislature the determination on what these districts shall be. It is my own personal conviction that these districts should be created on 2 bases: one, on a population basis, and another, consideration should be given to a work load basis. Because, as we know, population may not be the only consideration which should be given; because the work load in certain areas of the state may be much greater than in another area, regardless of population. But this whole question would be left to the legislature.

The amendment is simple in nature. It would require that initially there would be 9 judges elected. And this falls into line with the committee's original recommendation. But, as you will note, the word is "initially," and the makeup of the court could be enlarged or lessened according to the decision of the legislative body. At this time I would yield to Judge Dehnke, if he has any comments on this amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I think Mr. Boothby has covered the field pretty well. I might add a few words, but I have no new ideas. Thank you.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I would like to ask Mr. Boothby a question through the Chair, if I may.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Would you care to answer, Mr. Boothby?

MR. FORD: Mr. Boothby, do you contemplate any amendments to section b of this proposal? Section b provides that 3 judges will be elected initially for 2 years, 3 for 4 years, and 3 for 6 years.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: I frankly hadn't given any thought to that.

MR. FORD: Isn't it true that when you take section b into consideration, since we are creating a new court here and we are and we are freezing into the constitution the requirement that the districts be established at the time that the court is established, that when we at the same time provide for the staggered terms, we are freezing the districts for all time? Because you would never have a situation where all 9 judges left office at once, and it seems inconceivable—perhaps you can tell us how—that you would ever be able to change a district after you once got this snowball started downhill.

MR. BOOTHBY: In other words, you are questioning the word "initially" there? Whether that could be changed?

MR. FORD: No. I'm questioning whether you could ever change the district. You have language in there that seems to contemplate that there would be reapportionment of the judicial districts on the basis of population and work load, as you indicated. But isn't it true that when read in context with the other section, you would never to able to do it with the staggered terms without interfering with the term of office of people in office?

MR. BOOTHBY: In other words, you might have some suggestion that the incumbent judge, even though he didn't remain in that district, would continue to serve?

MR. FORD: Yes. Suppose, for example, that they determined to add Oakland county to Wayne county as a district, but the judges in Oakland county and the judges in Wayne county would not all be going out of office at the same time. How would you accomplish this without actually transferring territory of a judge who wasn't elected by the people? Your argument is that a judge should be elected by the people in the territory in which he serves.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. Ford, we have taken care of this same problem at least 1 other time, I think 2 other times, by allowing that an incumbent judge may continue to serve even though his district has been taken away from him. In other words, he would not immediately be thrown out of office because his district was changed. The legislative organization committee has come upon this same type of thinking, when they suggested that if, on annexation, a representative district is changed so as to leave the representative in another district, it would provide that he could continue to serve in the legislature. He would not be disqualified. I think that the problem that you raise could be handled in the same way, by an amendment to the other section.

MR. FORD: Thank you. Mr. President, I would like to oppose the proposed amendment. Mr. Elliott has offered to us an opportunity to provide a clear, open field for experimentation, if necessary, with various ways of selecting this court by the legislature until a system that is in fact satisfactory is arrived at. The effect of this amendment would be to freeze in, for perhaps the next 50 years, a requirement not only of primary elections, but the district plan itself, which would preclude any other method of nomination and preclude any other method that the people of the state through the legislative body might think would be an improvement, short of a constitutional amendment.

I feel that everything that is sought to be accomplished here could in fact be accomplished by the language that we have already adopted, by adopting Mr. Elliott's language amending the committee proposal, because the legislature could in fact establish this method. But if it did establish this method and then discovered that there were reasons in the next 20 or 50 years why this was no longer a workable system, they could change it very readily to meet the changing times and needs of the state. For this reason I urge that you defeat the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Mahinske. MR. MAHINSKE: I was called out of the room for a minute here. Possibly this question has been answered. I would direct this to either of the proponents of the amendment. As I read the amendment, you talk about their being selected and elected from districts. Now, will they also serve in these districts? In other words, is this an appellate court based on districts?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Judge Dehnke, do you care to answer the question? Mr. Boothby was called from the room.

[Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Koeze entered the chamber wearing hats depicting Miss Mackinac Bridge and Miss 1908. (applause and laughter)]

The Chair imagines that our delegates, Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Koeze, had the winning hats.

MRS. KOEZE: No, I'm just Miss 1908. (laughter)

PRESIDENT NISBET: If so, Heaven help us. (laughter) I was just looking at the cost factor.

MRS. BUTLER: I just want everybody to know that I'm Miss Mackinac Bridge. (laughter)

PRESIDENT NISBET: Are you sure, Mrs. Butler, this isn't undue pressure on the convention? (laughter)

MRS. BUTLER: I swear it is not.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Mr. President, I was going to suggest 2 thoughts, 1 in answer to Mr. Ford's question, and 1 in answer to Mr. Mahinske's question. This paragraph will continue to provide:

The supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals may sit in divisions, the terms of court and the times and places thereof. Each such division shall consist of not fewer than 3 judges.

I think that clearly makes it proper for the supreme court to assign the judges as in their judgment seems best.

I observe that one of the handicaps of a good lawyer, Mr. President, is that he has such a lively imagination that if he took into account all of the possibilities of trouble that he can think of, he would never be in a position to tell his client what is safe and what is not safe for him to do. Mr. Ford is a good lawyer, and he suffers under that handicap. (laughter) I think the legislature could handle that matter very easily by determining in the statute from time to time when changes in the district should take effect. They could make those changes effective in accordance with the expiration of the terms then in office. Thank you.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Then I would like to direct a further question to Mr. Danhof. In the language of the committee proposal, did they anticipate that the phraseology with reference to the court sitting in different divisions referred to a district plan, or just setting up divisions of the appellate court, and possibly 3 members would sit in a division, although they would actually be a statewide circuit?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Mahinske, the question that you propound I think can be answered this way. Regardless of when or how the judges were elected, it was our opinion that the supreme court should be left the authority to prescribe the divisions, the terms of the court, and the times and the places thereof. For the reason that this is basically procedure. We did not necessarily envision that judges elected from a particular district or division would necessarily always sit in that division. We think it would be well perhaps if the personnel might change from time to time. This is why we left it particularly flexible. If you elected them statewide, they can be assigned into divisions in such way as the supreme court would see fit.

If the legislature—as we now have adopted it, "as prescribed by law"—should see fit to make elections by districts, and 3 judges would be elected from a particular district, I feel certain that the supreme court would provide that the court shall sit in the division, and probably those judges elected from a particular district or division would stay there. But we did not feel that we should make this mandatory. There may be times when they have to be moved around, for the best efficiency of the court. Occasionally a change of personnel is good. And it should not always be the same 3 sitting in a particular division. But I think if you elected by divisions, that the supreme court would certainly for the majority of the time assign 3 particular judges from that division to sit somewhere in that division, But not mandatorily.

MR. MAHINSKE: Then, as I understand it, the only difference between the committee's section a and the new proposed section a is that you also call for a district plan, although you choose to call it divisions, which is optional, and the amendment makes it mandatory?

MR. DANHOF: The amendment makes the nomination and election from such districts mandatory. I don't think that the amendment has anything to do with the fact that the court might not necessarily take the same 3 from a district and assign them to the same division if the language would stand.

MR. MAHINSKE: But I mean, it would be possible under the committee proposal for these to be statewide selections rather than district selections?

MR. DANHOF: Well, as the committee has amended it, this is the way it stands. This is the latest amendment, and it has been adopted. If the legislature should determine it will be by statewide election, then it will become statewide.

MR. MAHINSKE: And the amendment would make it mandatory that it will not be statewide?

MR. DANHOF: That you had better get from one of the proponents of the new amendment rather than myself, Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: That's what I'm trying to get cleared up—whether or not the district plan is mandatory under the proposed amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Do you direct your question to Judge Dehnke?

MR. MAHINSKE: Yes.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: I think that's true, Mr. President.

MR. MAHINSKE: Thank you, Judge.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Everett.

MR. EVERETT: Mr. President, fellow delegates, I rise to support the amendment. I opposed the district plan for the supreme court. To me this is an entirely different matter. The problem in the districting of the supreme court, to me, at least—and I know that others differ for different reasons—was that we had a statewide court which was to be elected from districts. This problem does not occur, however, in this intermediate court of appeals because its function is to apply the law which, in the final analysis, will be determined by the supreme court. So that if there are differences, I doubt very much if they would be differences because of region. There probably will be differences, because judges differ. These differences will ultimately be resolved by the supreme court, which will be a statewide court, and then will be applied in the same manner in every part of the state.

Before the judicial branch committee perhaps the most vocal spokesman for an intermediate court of appeals was Justice Souris, and he advocated that we write into the constitution a provision that there be at least 3 divisions to this court established by the legislature. We are not going that far. We are not saying how many divisions there should be. But we are saying there should be districts or divisions. Justice Souris was not too explicit as to whether they should be elected from these divisions, but he felt that it was imperative that they sit in divisions for speed of appeal, for reducing the cost of appeal, for reducing the cost of travel, and so forth. But he did say that the structure of the court should be left to the legislature. Now, basically we are doing that, with one modification. We are requiring the election from the districts. And I think Mr. Boothby's reasons are strong enough to compel us to support the position that they should not only serve within these divisions, whether it be 3 or more, but they should also be elected from them.

And I would remind you that the present provision, as it came out of committee, in effect said that there would be 7 districts, because we said they would be elected in the same manner as the supreme court, and at that time we said the supreme court would be elected from 7 districts. So it was not a novel idea to the judicial branch committee that they would not only serve in areas, but would be elected from areas.

Now, of course, the action of the committee of the whole has changed that, and we either must go along with keeping the 2 together, or go back to the idea—and it is going back to the idea—that they should be elected from a smaller portion of the state. I think that the amendment adequately takes care of that, and still leaves to the legislature the determination of how many districts or divisions there shall be, and where they shall be. I support the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Norris.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. President, I would like to address 1 or 2 questions to the sponsors of this amendment, and then perhaps make a comment. My first question is: does not this particular amendment establish as a condition precedent to having an intermediate appellate court the establishment of districts by the state legislature? In other words, unless the legislature does establish these districts we do not then have an intermediate appellate court?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: I think, Mr. President, and Dr. Norris, that's probably true. There are no districts unless we set them up, and that would have to be done by the legislature initially.

MR. NORRIS: Now, the second question is: under this contemplated amendment, there would be election by district, but service throughout the entire state. Is that the contemplation?

MR. DEHNKE: I think that would be within the power of the supreme court to determine.

MR. NORRIS: I would like to make this comment with regard to it. We have gone to great lengths at this convention thus far to establish in our bill of rights section, in the rights of accused, a right of appeal as a constitutional right in a criminal case. The general theory behind that was that we would make possible a review by a high court of the trial court procedure with regard to a fair trial, and with regard to all the other accounterments of a just treatment.

I think we depreciate the status and function of an intermediate appellate court if we think of it on a district basis. For many people this appellate court would be the court of last resort. It ought to be accorded in the constitution a statewide conception. And I think this idea of having an intermediate appellate court elected on a district basis does not comport with that perspective.

In addition, I think there is this proposition. It is inconsistent to say they shall be elected from districts and serve in various parts of the state when you think in terms of the point I tried to establish before this convention yesterday that what is important with regard to the judiciary is the judicial philosophy of those in whose hands is the exercise of the judicial power. What is important is that all people in all sections of the state have a right to choose in the exercise of their sovereign will those people who will be the court of last resort. And for most people in most cases this intermediate court will be the court of last resort. I think the district plan is inconsistent with the provisions which we have for right of appeal in a criminal case. I think also that it tends to minimize what we have thus far accomplished.

I would also suggest that the idea of saying to the legislature that you shall establish the districts then puts politics in the court in a way that some of the people who are trying to keep the courts nonpartisan might not foresee. I think that there are implications to this that we ought to recognize. In the legislature there will be the questions arising out of apportionment and reapportionment of districts, the considerations of electoral possibilities will be engendered, and these will have an effect upon those who are running for office. It seems to me that what will happen here is that we will throw in the kind of political considerations in the selection of the judiciary that we wanted to avoid; and yet we would not get into the selection of the judiciary the kind of considerations we want to get in; namely, the consideration of qualifications and the consideration of judicial philosophy, which is, after all, the determining consideration here. I would oppose this amendment, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Tubbs.

MR. TUBBS: Mr. President, I don't know whether we all want to put the power in the legislature to set up a court of appeals or not. I will say this: that for more than 100 years the legislature has had that power. They have not seen fit to set up a court of appeals, because no one in this state has proven the need of it.

Three members of the supreme court made some reference to a court of appeals, and thought it would be nice to have one. Nobody has said that we should have 9 judges on a court of appeals who has said it with any authority or with any experience with courts of appeals.

Here we are setting up a court with more judges than we have on the supreme court. And you want to have the people elect them. The people are going to be so confused by trying to elect judges to the supreme court and the court of appeals and the circuit court and the probate court and other courts that they won't know whether they are electing a dog catcher or something else.

Now, I suggest, Mr. President, that we should not be made the tool of those who want the legislature to do things which they won't do. And I don't think there has been pressure enough put on us nor the legislature to set up a system of a court of appeals. I think the feeling among the leading lawyers and judges of the state is that this is an experiment. And if it is an experiment, we ought to go pretty slowly when we attempt to write into the constitution the details of this court of appeals. I submit this whole section should be deleted.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Dr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. President, I would like to support some of the statements made by Professor Norris in opposing this amendment. I would say first of all I believe that the actions we are taking this afternoon are by no means equally deliberative with the ones we took in arriving at the positions in the committee. In the committee of the whole we deliberated at great length about what we should do, and then we debated some more about what we should do with the court of appeals, and then we came out onto the floor of the convention after lunch, and then I believe we began to adopt things without thinking.

It's just gradually dawning on us that some of the votes we have just given may not be right. We don't know whether they are right or wrong, really. For example, I believe that everybody here, or nearly everyone, is in favor of an intermediate court of appeals. And I believe we are in favor of it to the extent that we insist it be self executing; that nobody can stop it. Now, I notice that, as Mr. Norris has pointed out, there is a way for the legislature to prevent any court of appeals from existing. All they have to do is refrain or become incapable of setting up these districts.

I would remind you of what Judge Leibrand said last Friday on the exact same subject about setting up districts. These were districts for the supreme court, but anyway the point is, he said in view of the fact that the state legislature is unable even to set up 1 district for an extra congressional seat, that we certainly are relying on a weak reed when we ask them to set up all of the districts for any court system. And that is exactly what we are doing here. We are asking the legislature to set up districts. Based on our past experience, we know that they are not likely to be able to do it. Certainly we can't be sure that they will be able to do it. That means we throw into jeopardy-and I know we don't intend to, but it seems to me by accident we are walking into these booby traps; that we are going to set up an appellate court on paper, but no place else. We are going to have rights of appeal, and so on, but we won't be sure that there is an appellate court. I might add further that it occurred to me after Mr. Norris spoke that I believe we are in the same boat with Mr. Elliott's amendment, which we already adopted. It is not before us, but it seems to me we have the same problem there. If they don't provide for any means of election, there won't be any election of appellate judges.

Another point with respect to the amendment before us is this. It seems to me that if we want to set up a court system, we want it to be independent of the legislature as much as we can make it. We would like to have flexibility, probably, because we don't know all the answers. And yet we don't want the legislature to be the prime mover in the court system. We ought to keep the legislature out of the act, except when it is found that they are indispensable. The least we should do, it seems to me, is make up our mind how to set up the court initially. We should set it up initially. Then, if we want flexibility, we should put a provision in that says, "Provided however, the legislature can make the following

Goebel

Gover

change if they see fit." That will give you flexibility. At the same time it will give you a guaranteed court.

On the basis of this, there are 2 comments I would like to make. One of them is: although I can appreciate that there are merits to the amendment, and I'm not positive that I'm opposed to the principle at all, I do feel that it would be a mistake for us to adopt it as it is now presented. I think it ought to be presented later on second reading after we have all had a chance to think about it. But as it stands now it is full of booby traps, and should be opposed. And I would also like to give notice that for the reasons I have stated, as soon as this issue is disposed of, or as soon as I can get the floor, I'm going to move to reconsider Mr. Elliott's amendment, because I think we fall into a booby trap there, too.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Judge Dehnke. MR. DEHNKE: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I am willing to add Mr. Tubbs, Dr. Norris and Dr. Nord to the list of good lawyers, because they too have a lively imagination. I would like to point out that if the legislature is going to stand deliberately in the way of the creation of the court, they can do it just as well under the provision as it now stands as they would have it in their power to do if this amendment is adopted.

Now, with reference to the comment that has been made about district courts, this situation will be very much similar to the setup of the federal courts. We have district courts of appeal between the federal district courts and the supreme court. And those courts are made up of judges picked from the residents of that district, of that circuit, and those circuits were created by congress, the same as we are expecting the legislature to create these districts. Thank you.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Stevens. MR. STEVENS: Mr. President and delegates, I merely want to point out, with reference to Professor Norris' remarks, that the committee on rights, suffrage and elections did not consider the manner in which any court would be elected in connection with our provision that everyone should have an appeal in a criminal case as a matter of right. We did recognize that this might be an added inducement to adding a court of appeals, but it was the general sense of the committee, I believe—in fact, at least it was pointed out—that our job was simply to provide that there should be such an appeal, and leave the matter of the courts to the judiciary committee. Therefore, I don't feel that that has any bearing on the way in which this court might be selected or in which the judges of the courts should be selected by the people. Thank you.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: Mr. President and delegates, answering for a moment Dr. Nord, I do not recall exactly what I said last Friday about the legislature, but this is Tuesday, and on Tuesdays I'm willing to trust the legislature. I am particularly willing to trust them on this subject, in view of what the committee on rights, suffrage and elections, of which the good doctor was a member, has done in the bill of rights. They have provided an absolute right of appeal in all criminal cases. And I apprehend that there will be such a flood of appeals, particularly from the free riders who are appealing at public expense, that the legislature is just going to have to do something to set up this court. I favor the Boothby amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the Boothby amendment. The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Boothby, Dehnke and Pugsley have offered the following amendment:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 1612.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Yeager.
MR. YEAGER: I request a recorded roll call vote, Mr.

PRESIDENT NISBET: A demand for a roll call vote has been made. Is the demand seconded? It is supported. The question is on the Boothby amendment. Those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Messrs. Boothby, Dehnke and Pugsley, the yeas are 71, the nays are 56.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is adopted. Are there further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: There are no further amendments to Committee Proposal 92.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 92, as amended, is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 92 as amended and referred to the committee on style and drafting:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated and elected on a non-partisan basis from districts of the state as established from time to time by the legislature. The supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals may sit in divisions, the terms of court and the times and places thereof. Each such division shall consist of not fewer than 3 judges. The legislature may by law increase the number of judges comprising the court of appeals.

Sec. b. Initially, 3 judges shall be elected for a term of 2 years, 3 judges for a term of 4 years, and 3 judges for a term of 6 years. Thereafter, the term of office shall be 6 years. The time of election and the order of rotation shall be provided by law.

Sec. c. The jurisdiction of the court of appeals shall be prescribed by law and the practice and procedure therein shall be as provided by supreme court rule.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has also had under consideration Committee Proposal 91, A proposal pertaining to the supreme court. The committee of the whole reports the proposal back to the convention with several amendments thereto, recommending that the amendments be agreed to and the proposal as thus amended be adopted.

[Following are the amendments recommended by the committee of the whole:

- 1. Amend page 1, line 6, after "Sec. a.", by striking out the balance of the section and inserting "The supreme court shall consist of 9 justices to be elected on a nonpartisan statewide basis. The term of office shall be for 8 years and not more than 3 terms of office shall expire at the same time. Each political party at party convention may nominate 1 candidate for election for each position to be filled. Any incumbent justice whose term is to expire may become a candidate for reelection by filing an affidavit of candidacy, in the form and manner as prescribed by law, not less than 180 days prior to the expiration of his term. Any person otherwise qualified to be a supreme court justice may become a candidate for election upon filing a nominating petition, in the form and manner prescribed by law, signed by qualified electors of this state in a number equal to 3 per cent of the total vote cast for the office of governor at the last previous election.".
- 2. Amend page 1, line 14, after "assistants" by inserting "of the supreme court".
- 3. Amend page 1, line 16, after "shall" by striking out the balance of the section and inserting "perform such administrative duties as may be assigned by the court.".
- 4. Amend page 2, line 3, after "rule" by changing the period to a comma and inserting "it being provided that the supreme court shall not have the power to remove a judge.".
- 5. Amend page 2, line 11, after "decision" by inserting "and reasons for each denial of leave to appeal".
- 6. Amend page 2, line 15, after "control of" by inserting "the preparation of its budget recommendations and".
- 7. Amend page 2, line 21, after "fund.", by striking out "No justice of the supreme court" and inserting "Neither the supreme court nor any justice thereof".
 - 8. Amend page 2, line 25, by striking out all of section g.]

The first amendment is the amendment offered by Mr. Danhof:

[The amendment was read by the secretary. For text, see above.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment of Mr. Danhof. Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, I would like to move that this question be divided, and that section a and section g each be voted on separately.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Boothby, the Chair is informed that's going to be done anyway the way they are being read to the convention. The question is on the Danhof amendment.

DELEGATES: Division.

PRESIDENT NISBET: A division has been asked for. Is the demand seconded? There is a sufficient number up. Those in favor of the Danhof amendment—Mr. Habermehl.

MR. HABERMEHL: Mr. President, I believe that I must rise to oppose the Danhof amendment. I believe that what has happened is just what I spoke to last night. I believe if we adopt this amendment that we really will have something to explain to our constituents.

Prior to the convening of this convention I'm sure each one of us was aware of the criticism that was directed toward the present method of selection of the supreme court. Every organization, every group, the press, practically unanimously, ridiculed the fiction of maintaining a partisan nomination and a nonpartisan election of supreme court justices. All of the argument that we heard from any of the organizations particularly interested in the convening of this convention was directed to this matter. So we maintain the partisan nomination of supreme court justices. All of the argument that we heard directed here on the floor to the statewide campaign that a supreme court justice must make, the expensive campaign, the obligation that that candidate may incur which may affect his judicial decisions, because of the necessity of getting support from organized groups in order to hope to be elected, apparently is to no avail. We maintain a statewide nonpartisan election of justices.

We have added a few interesting complications. We now would permit the incumbent justice, regardless of what his politics might be or how he was originally elected, to nominate himself; and he would bear the designation on the ballot of supreme court justice. Both parties could then nominate another candidate—and this is not at all inconceivable, contrary to what Mr. Danhof says. I can think of one instance right now where it could happen. We would have at least 3 candidates then—not for nomination, but for election. In addition to that, any lawyer that might want to brag at some time that he was a candidate for supreme court justice could arrange to nominate himself by circulating petitions. The vote that the people of the state would have then on the election of this justice would be 1 vote only, the final election. If we had more than 2 candidates, a minority of the people of the state would elect the supreme court justice. That minority could in some instances be as low as 25 per cent of the people of the state who would elect the justice.

Now, what sort of effect would that have upon the incumbent justice? His party, by threatening to withhold the party nomination, could certainly affect his decisions while he was on the bench. It would be a most effective threat.

If we aren't going to pay any attention to the public opinion that has been expressed upon this question, I would direct the attention of every delegate to a preconvention poll that each one of you filled out and sent back in. At least, a majority of you did so. In that, by a great majority, these same criticisms were voiced by you as individual delegates. So now are we going to reverse our own thinking, even if we pay no attention to public opinion?

If you cannot buy this present amendment, if you do not believe that this is the proper method of selection of supreme court justices, regardless of what plan you might favor, you would in all conscience be compelled to vote against concurrence in this amendment. For if you concur in this amendment, you have locked it in so far as this reading is concerned and the matter will be referred to style and drafting. If you are not convinced then that this is the best method of selecting supreme court justices, I strongly urge you vote no on concurrence with this amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Wanger. MR. WANGER: Mr. President, members of the convention, we are asked here to vote against what the committee adopted, but we are not given something better to put in its place. It seems apparent that this is designed to get us back by nonconcurrence with the amendments of the committee of the whole to the district plan. I urge you to vote for the committee of the whole's amendment, and I demand the yeas and nays.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The yeas and nays are demanded. Is the demand seconded? There is a sufficient number up. Judge Leibrand.

MR. LEIBRAND: Mr. President, a parliamentary inquiry. If we do not concur in the recommendation of the committee of the whole by voting nay, then as I understand it we are left with section a of the original committee report, is that correct?

PRESIDENT NISBET: That is correct. Mr. Brown.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Mr. President, I would merely join the others that have spoken and urge nonconcurrence in the committee report and a nay vote on this proposition.

ONE HUNDRED SIXTEENTH DAY

SECRETARY CHASE: None.

Following is Committee Proposal 90 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 1240.):

Sec. a. The judicial power of the state is vested exclusively in one court of justice, which shall be divided into one supreme court, one court of appeals, one trial court of general jurisdiction known as the circuit court, one probate court and other courts of limited jurisdiction that the legislature may establish by a 2/3 vote of the members of each house.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Danhof. MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, delegates, there has been no change by style and drafting in this provision as it was passed by the committee of the whole and ratified by this convention. At the time this was brought up, we had considerable debate upon it. It sets up the general court structure, the idea that it is a cohesive court and not separate, disjunctive and loosely held branches. It sets up the idea of a supreme court, a court of appeals, the circuit court, the probate court and other courts of limited jurisdiction that the legislature may establish by a 2/3 vote of the members of each house. Our committee met after the referral back from style and drafting, considered the proposal, has made no amendments thereto. We urge its adoption.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Any amendments? SECRETARY CHASE: No amendments.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of Committee Proposal 90. All those in favor of the adoption of the proposal will vote aye; those opposed will vote nay. This is a record roll call vote. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of Committee Proposal 90, the yeas are 107; the nays, 1.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 90 is passed and referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 90 as rereferred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 2672.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 3 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 92, A proposal pertaining to a court of appeals. Amends article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 92 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For text as referred to said committee, see above, page 1616.)

Sec. a. The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated and elected on a non-partisan basis from districts, [of the state as established from time to time by the legislature] AND IN THE MANNER, PRESCRIBED BY LAW. The supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals may sit in divisions[,] AND FOR the terms of court and the times and places thereof. Each such division shall consist of not fewer than [3] THREE judges. [The legislature may by law increase] The number of judges comprising the court of appeals MAY BE INCREASED, AND THE DISTRICTS FROM WHICH THEY ARE ELECTED MAY BE ALTERED BY LAW.

Sec. b. [Initially, 3 judges shall be elected for a term of 2 years, 3 judges for a term of 4 years, and 3 judges for a term of 6 years. Thereafter, the term of office shall be 6 years. The time of election and the order of rotation shall be provided by law.] JUDGES OF THE COURT OF APPEALS SHALL HOLD OFFICE FOR A PERIOD OF 6 YEARS AND UNTIL THEIR SUCCESSORS ARE ELECTED AND QUALIFIED. THE TERMS OF OFFICE FOR THE JUDGES IN EACH DISTRICT SHALL BE ARRANGED BY LAW TO PROVIDE THAT NOT ALL TERMS WILL EXPIRE AT THE SAME TIME.

Sec. c. The jurisdiction of the court of appeals shall be PROVIDED [prescribed] by law and the practice and procedure therein shall be as provided by RULES OF THE supreme court [rule].

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Danhof. MR. DANHOF: Mr. President and members of the convention, you will note that the committee on style and drafting made certain changes herein. It is my opinion and the opinion of the committee on judicial branch that no substantive change has been accomplished, and that it is merely clarifying in nature. I would however pose this particular question to the chairman of the style and drafting committee, our good friend, Mr. Cudlip, in order to clear up something which arose in our committee and which since has been explained to me by Dr. Joiner. That is this, Mr. Cudlip, if you would, through the Chair: your committee envisions a difference between the use of the words "prescribed by law" and the words "provided by law." Is this correct?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Cudlip.

MR. CUDLIP: Mr. President, Mr. Danhof, yes, there is a difference between the 2 phrases. We used both of them—depending upon the context. We used both of them in different provisions of the proposed constitution.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. Cudlip, if I might, through the Chair: it was raised by Mr. Prettie on our committee that elsewhere in the constitution, on line 3, where that is used, that we use the words "as provided by law" whereas here your committee used "in a manner prescribed by law." I was impressed with this and had actually intended to offer an amendment to change the word "prescribed" to "provided by." I inquired of Dr. Joiner and he stated that in his opinion the committee on style and drafting was using the word "provided" where the legislature had to do the entire job, that is, that they not only had to set up the manner, but the districts and the whole thing, whereas where merely the details of some particular plan were left to the legislature and not the overall whole planning, but merely the implementation of a plan, that your committee was using the words "prescribed by law."

MR. CUDLIP: That's generally correct.

MR. DANHOF: Is this correct?

MR. CUDLIP: Yes, sir.

MR. DANHOF: In that case, for the record, I am satisfied. I think, then, as used here, the word "prescribed" rather than the word "provide" is carrying out the intent of the committee, and in section a, section b and section c, of course, we leave to the legislature the staggering of the particular terms. Our committee concurred in that change. We agree that while there might be some slight change of substance, and there is here, and we point out to the convention that in section b, originally we put it in that the judges would have terms of 2, 4 and 6 years; style and drafting now provides:

Judges of the court of appeals shall hold office for a period of 6 years and until their successors are elected and qualified. The terms of office for the judges in each district shall be arranged by law to provide that not all terms will expire at the same time.

I point out that when you read this in connection with a paragraph in Committee Proposal 96, it means that the initial terms of the judges of the court of appeals will not be 2, 4 and 6 years, but will be probably 6, 8 and 10 years, because we have provided that where terms are to be staggered, no term may be less than the basic term for the judge. The committee met, considered this, and had no particular objection thereto. We did not move to amend to return to the old language and, insofar as the committee and I personally are concerned, we would urge the acceptance of the alteration in section b thereto. I urge the adoption thereof.

PRESIDENT NISBET: There is an amendment, Mr. Chase? SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Ford offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 2, [section a] after "basis" by striking out "from districts"; so the language will then read:

Sec. a. The court of appeals shall consist initially of 9 judges who shall be nominated and elected on a nonpartisan basis, and in the manner, prescribed by law.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. President, members of the convention, the effect of this amendment would be to leave with the legislature the ability to place the intermediate court on a district basis or not on a district basis from time to time as the needs of the state judiciary dictated the best practice to be followed. It avoids freezing into the constitution for all time a plan for districts which is going to be somewhat difficult to change, once it is put into effect. It leaves to the legislature the ability to proceed in a deliberative process, to examine the advisability and feasibility either now or at some time in the future of a district plan for the election of these judges, and would leave it to the wisdom of the legislature to adopt that plan and to, in fact, repeal the plan if it proved to be unworkable.

I am not arguing strongly against this being an advantageous manner of selecting the judges, but I submit that we have had no evidence presented to this convention that it is better than any other method that might be selected, and I accede to what some of us refer to as the Hutchinson rule of writing a constitution, and that is that you should leave as many of these things to the flexibility and wisdom of the legislature as possible and urge that you support the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of the amendment by Mr. Ford. Those in favor of the amendment will say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is not adopted.

DELEGATES: Division.

PRESIDENT NISBET: A division is called for. Is there support? It is supported. Those in favor of the Ford amendment will vote aye.

MR. FAXON: Mr. President, I demand the yeas and nays. PRESIDENT NISBET: Is the demand for the yeas and nays seconded?

SECRETARY CHASE: Sixteen.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Not a sufficient number up. Those in favor of the Ford amendment will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay.

MR. PERRAS: Mr. President, would you have the secretary read it again, please?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Yes. The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Ford's amendment is:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The vote is on the amendment. Those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Mr. Ford, the yeas are 33; the nays are 73.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is not adopted. The question now is on the adoption of Committee Proposal 92. Will the delegates please clear the board. Those in favor of Committee Proposal 92 will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay.

MR. FORD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. President, I'd like to announce my intention to abstain from voting. For lack of something else, a way to work myself out of the dilemma that your ruling given earlier this afternoon places me in, being unable to divide this question, I find that we must accept it all or accept none of it. I feel the necessity of having the courts clearly established, but I don't feel that I should be compelled to, by my vote, acknowledge acceptance of the district concept in the creation of this court. I find no way under your ruling of being able to vote in favor of the creation of the intermediate court of appeals and at the same time evidence, as a delegate representing my people, my disapproval of the district concept. For this reason, I can't vote intelligently on the question and will abstain.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President, I wish to announce my intention to abstain for the reasons outlined by Delegate Ford.

MR. SNYDER: Mr. President, I wish to abstain for the same reasons.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Just a minute, Mr. Snyder. Miss Hart, do you wish to abstain? Miss Hart, Mr. Snyder, Mr. Marshall, Mr. Madar, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Mr. Lesinski, Mr. Buback, Mr. Balcer, Mr. Wilkowski, Mr. Bledsoe, Mr. Walker and Mr. Faxon abstain.

Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of Committee Proposal 92, the yeas are 88; the nays are 7.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 92 is passed.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mr. Kelsey:

I wish to state the following reason for casting a nay vote on Committee Proposal 92 in reference to the appellate court:

In my campaign and in committee of the whole I supported strongly the concept of a court of appeals. However, I cannot support the district concept of selecting the judges who would serve in this manner for fear of sectional geography having some prejudicial influence in this panel's decisions.

PRESIDENT NISBET (continuing): It is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 92 as rereferred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 2673.

The secretary will read the next proposal.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 4 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 93, A proposal pertaining to the circuit court. A substitute for sections 8, 9, 10 and 11 of article VII.

Following is Committee Proposal 93 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For text as referred to said committee, see above, page 1393.):

Sec. a. The state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected [1,] ONE or [when] MORE CIRCUIT JUDGES AS provided by law[, more than 1 circuit judge]. A circuit court shall be held at least 4 times in each year in every county organized for judicial purposes. Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by RULES OF THE supreme court [rule]. The number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued by law and the number of judges shall be changed and circuits shall be created, altered and discontinued on recommendation of the supreme court to reflect changes in [the] judicial [business] AC-TIVITY. No change in the number of judges nor alteration or discontinuance of a circuit shall have the effect of removing a judge from office during his term.

Sec. b. Circuit judges shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections in [the county or] the circuit in which they reside, and shall hold office for a period of 6 years and until their successors are elected and qualified. In circuits having more than one CIRCUIT judge [the] THEIR terms of office shall be arranged BY LAW to provide that NOT ALL TERMS WILL EXPIRE AT THE SAME TIME [they will expire on a staggered basis].

Sec. c. Circuit courts shall have[:] original jurisdiction in all matters not prohibited by law; appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals except as otherwise provided by law; power to issue, hear [,] and determine prerogative and remedial writs; supervisory and general control over inferior courts and tribunals within their respective jurisdictions, in accordance with RULES OF THE supreme court [rules]; and jurisdiction of other cases and matters as PROVIDED BY RULES OF the supreme court [shall by rule prescribe].

Sec. d. The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes[,] or other officer performing the duties of such office[,] AS PROVIDED IN A COUNTY CHARTER shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county. The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of AN ELECTED county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions[, but shall not exercise any other power of appointment to public office].

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Danhof, MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, members of the convention, section a has had very minor changes by the committee on style and drafting, nothing as relates to substance, and we would recommend the adoption thereof as a committee.

Section b merely took out the language, "on a staggered term," and provided that "not all terms will expire at the same time." Again, the committee has no objection to the changes in the style and the drafting thereof.

In section c the changes made were in order to make the section consistent with other sections. The committee on style and drafting has always used "provided by rules of the supreme court" and to this we agree.

There is pending a committee amendment to section d and I think before going on, I will ask the secretary to read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Danhof, on behalf of the committee on judicial branch, offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 2, line 8, [section d] after "in" by striking out "the" and inserting "an elective"; and after "office of" by striking out "an elected"; so the language will then read, "The judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in an elective office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney. . . ."

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, the purpose of this amendment is to make the intent perfectly clear. As the matter was changed on line 8 by the committee on style and drafting, it read that the judges of the circuit courts may fill any vacancy in the office of an elected county clerk. It is possible that you might not have an elected county clerk, even though prior thereto we provide "in a county charter." But beyond this, this problem already has arisen in this state. A gentleman was elected to fill the office of county clerk. He died. The circuit judge appointed a successor. He died. Under the language as it read, as changed by style and drafting, it would have read, "any vacancy of an elected county clerk." I submit to you that the second county clerk who died was not an elected county clerk. He was appointed by the judge to fill the unexpired term. Before he had a chance to get elected, the second one died, so the judge appointed a third one. In order to clear up any ambiguity, we point out here that the judges have the power to fill the vacancy not of an elected county clerk but of the elective office, so that you might have 2 or 3 vacancies with any 2 and, in particular, this may get to be more important now. Where you go to a 4 year term for your county officers, this vacancy might occur more readily than it does now. It does not change the intent. It allows the circuit judges to fill any vacancy in an elective office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney. And we took out the words "an elected" just to make sure there would be no change in the fact that the county clerk who might have been appointed to fill a vacancy, and died, the judge would not be denied the power to refill that vacancy because the second clerk would not have been elected. I urge adoption of the amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of the amendment. Those in favor will say aye. Those opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted. Any further amendments? SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Lawrence offers the following amendment:

1. Amend page 1, line 1, after "Sec. a.", by inserting "Except as otherwise provided herein,"; so the language will then read:

Sec. a. Except as otherwise provided herein, the state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected one or more circuit judges. . : ."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Lawrence.

Article IV Legislative Branch

48

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

- (1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.
- Counties having less than 13 apportion-(2)ment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment B factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the B nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, E as rectangular in shape as possible, and having E as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, \3 but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at 3 the time of reapportionment shall not be altered 8 unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.
- (3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not $\frac{3}{2}$ less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN- $\frac{3}{2}$

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[,]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

recognize Mr. Ford. Mr. Ford is not in the chamber; the Chair recognizes Mr. Garvin.

MR. GARVIN: Mr. President, this amendment is really for the purpose of being consistent with the supreme court in that there is an 8 year period, that is, they have a term of 8 years. And to make it consistent all the way around throughout the state, it is thought that it would be better if we had 8 years, also, for the circuit court for the purpose of elections and for consistency all the way around. It is a very simple amendment and there shouldn't be too much debate on it. I hope there won't be, because it is merely for the purpose of consistency in the judicial article.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. President, without exception, everyone who appeared before the judiciary committee and all of the material that we had that spoke favorably of the judicial system in Michigan listed among the reasons for it being good the fact that Michigan has historically had comparatively long terms of office for its judges. Now, under ordinary circumstances the argument might be made that people in public office who are elected should come back to the people as frequently as possible, and I subscribe to this theory in all other offices than that of the judge. If you are really desirous of removing the judge as far as possible from activity in the political arena while he is on the bench, one of the ways that you accomplish this is by enlarging his term of office.

There is a secondary consideration. It applies down in our county of Wayne at the present time and, conceivably with the population growth of Michigan, will be a problem in other counties in the future: that is that we all decided some time ago in this convention that the terms of office of the judges should be staggered in such a manner as to provide a minimum number of judges running at a given time regardless of the number of judges in a particular circuit. And what you do is increase by 25 per cent the availability of a time period for the staggering of terms when you jump from 6 to 8. Immediately, the effect of this could be recognized if you start trying to work out mathematically a method for staggering of terms in Wayne county with its 18 judges now and the additional judges that appear to be forthcoming.

For these reasons I urge the adoption of this. This was originally introduced as a delegate proposal very early in the convention and has been passed over. It is not a late blooming idea — I don't see Mr. Van Dusen here — it is something that we started out with very early and it had sound reasoning behind it when it went in as a delegate proposal early in the convention.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Everett.

MR. EVERETT: Mr. President, I would strongly support this amendment. I subscribe to the reasons set forth by Mr. Garvin and Mr. Ford and would add only this: I think this is consistent with what we have done in the legislative and the executive branches by increasing terms of office. I think we recognize that the costs of campaigns and the communications to the people and so forth have changed drastically since 1908 and that longer terms of office, particularly in the judiciary, lead to better service and better men.

Within the judiciary committee I think we spent very little time discussing this. We recognized the circuit court system is a good one in the state. We thought that not many changes were needed. I think we inadvertently overlooked a good change in making sure there would not be any bad ones. I subscribe to the amendment and hope that it will carry.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Tubbs.

MR. TUBBS: Mr. President, I think my views on the judiciary have been stated too many times. I am always willing to take one slice if I can't get the whole loaf. I would prefer appointment for life but I will accept this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President, I respectfully would point out to the convention this: these circuit judges are a local court. Now there is such a thing as strata within the court sphere. We have set up an 8 year term for the supreme court. We want to raise that to 10. Now you are going to have circuit judges at 8 and court of appeals at 6. We have put the probate judges and the circuit judges, who are basically within the locality, on a 6 year term. The court of appeals is on a 6 year term. The supreme court has an 8 year term. This is as it should be from the standpoint of dignity and the honor of the office and the office which is filled. Leave it alone at 6 years. The circuit judges are happy. None of them complained before our committee. We have raised the probate judges. We have put the court of appeals at 6: you would have to raise that to 8. And I urge you to defeat this amendment and leave it at 6 years. It has worked out very well in the past.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendment offered by Mr. Ford and Mr. Garvin, which has been read. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no. The amendment appears—the Chair is in doubt. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no.

MR. MAHINSKE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: As long as we are taking a division, could I call for the yeas and nays at this time?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Mahinske demands the yeas and nays. Is the demand for the yeas and nays supported?

SECRETARY CHASE: Twenty-three.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Not a sufficient number up. It is a division vote. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the total.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Messrs. Ford and Garvin, the yeas are 48; the nays are 78

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is not adopted. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Garvin, Barthwell, Higgs, King, Mosier, Bledsoe and Ford offer the following amendment to section 8:

1. Amend article VI, section 8 (column 2, line 46) after "districts" by striking out the comma and "and in the manner,", and inserting "drawn on county lines and as near as possible of equal population, as"; so that the sentence will read:

The court of appeals shall consist initially of nine judges who shall be nominated and elected at non-partisan elections from districts drawn on county lines and as near as possible of equal population, as prescribed by law.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I move to limit debate on this amendment to $10\ \mathrm{minutes}$,

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On limiting debate to 10 minutes, all those in favor will say aye. Opposed say no.

The motion prevails. Debate is limited. The Chair recognizes \mathbf{Mr} . Garvin.

MR. GARVIN: Mr. President and delegates, you will notice this is in section 8, where there is a provision for 9 judges who shall be nominated and elected at nonpartisan elections from districts.

It is noted that in the original Committee Proposal 92 reported to this convention it was provided that they shall be elected in the same manner as the justices of the supreme court. However, after that, at that time, there was an amendment that was adopted which provided for districts. After looking this over, I rather feel — and perhaps others do too — that after that was placed in, the person who offered that amendment did not make any provision about the districts. This is for the purpose of clearing that up and I hope the delegates will see the point that it is necessary to do so. That is the reason that we are submitting this amendment, "drawn on county lines and as near as possible of equal population."

The way it is now it could be drawn, well, any way that you wanted to. It could be gerrymandered or anything else. But we think that it should be in the constitution as provided. Then, further, we are leaving in there "as prescribed by law." It would be up to the legislature to set up these districts, as long as they were drawn on county lines as near as possible of equal population

I think the sponsors of this amendment also thought about drawing it on judicial circuits but it was thought at that time that counties are more likely to stay, while judicial circuits might change, which would necessarily change the methods of electing the court of appeals, the 9 judges. If it is going to be from the districts, we believe that it should be drawn on county lines as near as possible of equal population, just as we have enacted other matters in this constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I would like to call the delegates' attention to section 8. You will notice that when we arrived, in the convention, at the position of electing the judges to this court on a district basis, we left the matter completely up in the air and there is no standard in the present language. Now what this does is to invoke 2 standards that seem to be basic and very just: 1, that the districts be as nearly equal in population as possible; and 2, that they follow county lines; and there are very obvious and numerous reasons for that that I don't think any of us have to have repeated at this time.

However, if you look at the very last sentence of section 8, we have also given the legislature the authority, under the present language, to increase the number of judges on this court and to change, from time to time, the districts. Now if we say to the legislature: when you think that the needs of the state are such that we need additional judges you may add 3 or 6 or whatever number you think is correct, I think that at the same time we should impose a standard on the legislature and point out to them that — just as when we add congressmen or add people to the legislature — when they do this they should do so with some recognition of equalizing and distributing the judges throughout the balance of the state, so that no single part of the state is favored with a surplus or shortage of judicial manpower and so that approximately the same number of people, insofar as that is possible, will be selecting the judges to this court.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Danhof? MR. DANHOF: No.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendment offered by Messrs. Garvin, Barthwell, Higgs, King, Mosier, Bledsoe and Ford, which has been read. All those in favor of the amendment will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The amendment is adopted.

DELEGATES: Division.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Division has been called for. Is the demand supported? The demand is supported. All those in favor of the amendment will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? The secretary will lock the machine and record the total.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Messrs. Garvin, Barthwell, and others, the yeas are 80; the nays are 42.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is adopted. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Danhof offers the following amendment:

1. Amend article VI, section 28 (column 2, line 12) after "record.", by striking out the balance of the section which reads, "Findings of fact in workmen's compensation proceedings shall be conclusive in the absence of fraud unless otherwise provided by law."

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, might I ask Mr. Danhof whether he believes a 10 minute limitation on this amendment would suffice?

MR. DANHOF: Yes.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Danhof indicates affirmatively; I would therefore move to limit debate on this amendment to 10 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On limiting debate to 10 minutes, all those in favor will say aye. Those opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. Debate is limited. The Chair will recognize Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President and members of the convention, this amendment is offered to return this particular section to its original form as it came from our committee. The committee, in voting on this matter — and it was a divided vote — the majority was of the opinion that if judicial review for administrative agencies was good for one it was good for all. We know that under the statutes 4 of these agencies are exempt from judicial review, and it was for these reasons that the committee recommended the adoption of the section as originally reported.

I can understand and I realize the reasoning behind the proviso which was adopted on a very, very close vote in this particular convention, and I know the seriousness of the concern of many members of this convention regarding workmen's compensation hearings. I state that — in order to give this convention the opportunity to consider this matter, to look at it again carefully, to consider the matter on its merits as to whether they want to make an exception in the constitution for one commission — we should seriously consider this particular amendment. I urge that you consider it and, if you find that they all should be treated alike, that you vote to strike this particular section. If you feel that it should remain, then you will vote against the amendment.

MR. OSTROW: Point of order, Mr. President.

MR. MAHINSKI: Parliamentary inquiry, Mr. President.

MR. OSTROW: Point of order.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Who makes the point of order?

MR. OSTROW: 'I do.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ostrow.

MR. OSTROW: On page 1086 of Journal 126, this identical language was put into this proposal by an amendment offered by Messrs. Bledsoe and Krolikowski, and under your former ruling the present amendment would be out of order.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Well, the Chair notes that the amendment offered by Messrs. Bledsoe and Krolikowski on April 23, on page 1086 of the journal reads: "Provided however, That the findings of fact of the workmen's compensation commission shall be conclusive in the absence of fraud." The matter now before the convention is, "Findings of fact in workmen's compensation proceedings shall be conclusive in the absence of fraud unless otherwise provided by law."

MR. OSTROW: Point of order, Mr. President.

MR. MAHINSKE: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ostrow is recognized first on the point he raises.

MR. OSTROW: What is the difference? If Mr. Danhof will read right across the page, there — Mr. Danhof refers to another amendment. If you will look right across the page at 1086, Mr. King offered an amendment: after "fraud" insert "unless otherwise provided by law." That amendment prevailed.

MR. FORD: Mr. President.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: All right, the Chair will listen to further debate upon the order.

MR. FORD: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I would like to call your attention to the fact that what you are reading is the language as proposed by the style and drafting committee and not the language that was adopted on second reading by the convention. The way you read it, it sounds as if we had already adopted the changes that are inserted here by the style and drafting committee. Actually, Mr. Danhof at this point could not offer an amendment to strike the language of the style and drafting committee. He is offering an amendment to strike the language as we adopted it.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Well, the matter immediately before the body, of course, is the language as it came from style and drafting. Unless that is amended, why, that is the language before us. Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Well, that brings up the point that Mr. Danhof was bypassing the language as it comes from style and drafting, going to the original language as we adopted it on second reading and offering his amendment to that, which is identical to the point of order that was raised by Mr. Ostrow with regard to the items on page 1086 of the journal.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Well, I would like to support, on the point of order, Mr. Danhof in this. I feel that this is a different proposi-

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment offered by Messrs. Allen, Austin and Brake, the yeas are 57; the nays are 68.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is not adopted. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: We have no others on this section. VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: There are no further amendments on the secretary's desk. The question is upon the passage of article VI. Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. President and fellow delegates, in supporting this article it is my intention, and I trust the intention of the convention, that the change in the language in section 28 from "workmen's compensation commission" to "workmen's compensation proceedings" was not a matter of substance, not a material change. I make this comment for the record. I believe that the decision of the convention in acting upon the ruling which prevented Delegate Danhof from introducing his amendment to strike this proviso - I interpret this action of the convention as indicating an intention to support the committee on style and drafting in such a way as to determine that there was no change in substance or material change made when style and drafting inserted the word "proceedings" in place of the word "commission." With that construction and intention, I feel I can support this article. If this is not the intention of the convention on the part of other delegates, I would appreciate such delegates so stating.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, have you any speakers other than Mr. Ford seeking recognition?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Yes, I have one other. MR. VAN DUSEN: I would move to limit debate on the article to 5 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On the motion to limit debate upon the article to 5 minutes, all those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Debate is limited. The Chair next recognizes Mr. Prettie.

MR. PRETTIE: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I decided to become a candidate for delegate to this convention because I was deeply concerned about the present inconsistent method of electing supreme court justices. When I campaigned I told my constituents that, among other things, I would work to make our courts truly nonpartisan at all levels. I did work hard and long to accomplish this result and many of you worked with me and I appreciate your support, but we failed to get enough votes to accomplish this, not by a vote of 2 to 1 or 3 to 1 but by a very narrow margin. Other equally sincere delegates to this convention, equally concerned with an honest court structure, came to this convention pledged to work for the adoption of the ABA plan for selecting our judges. They had committed themselves to this plan and gave not only of their time but of their substance to present the merits of this plan. They, too, I am sure, are disappointed.

We have a judicial article, unfortunately, that continues the unhappy influence of party politics at the highest echelon of our court structure, and many other batters are not fully satisfied with what we have done here. My personal batting average on my own promises to my constituents is probably not even half of 87.9 per cent, but that is beside the point.

I shall not urge a no vote on this article merely because my views did not prevail. I shall not return to my district and urge voters to reject this document because many of its provisions are not to their liking or to mine. I shall endeavor to explain that this is the product of the democratic process. It is the result of the working together of 144 honest and sincere women and men possessed of integrity and wisdom but also of diverse points of view. Long hours of debate on this floor have forged this document. It is not a result of any clandestine accommodations. I shall point out that our labors of 7½ months are typical of the inefficiency of our form of government but that this slow and tedious process and its sometimes imperfect results are at once the weakness and the strength of the best form of government the mind of man has yet developed.

In spite of personal frustration I shall vote to adopt this article. I urge the scores of delegates who share my views to do the same. I urge those who failed in their efforts to write the ABA plan into the judicial article to put aside their disappointment and vote for it. It is my hope that this greatly improved court structure for this state will be approved not by a vote of 3 to 1 but by a resounding and substantially unanimous vote. (applause)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I appreciate Mr. Prettie's point of view. Although I haven't always agreed with him, I have enjoyed working with him on the judiciary committee and it is not easy for me to say what I am going to say now without sounding like I am being a dog in the manger but, believe me, in sincerity, this is not what I am trying to do and I am not trying to impose, at this point, my point of view on anyone else. I am trying to express my own point of view and the reason for voting the way I am going to vote.

As has been said before, by the chairman of our committee on this floor, the judiciary system in Michigan and its present status was not one of the compelling reasons for the calling of this convention. Our present judicial system is superior in all ways. It ranks in the view of people outside of the state amongst the top 3 states in the entire country inasmuch as we have a system that has been completely free from scandal and is as close to efficiency as you are ever going to get in a democratic system of courts.

I cannot support the article as we have now written it because I do not honestly believe that it is an improvement over the 1908 constitution, as amended. If we had truly made the kind of improvements that Mr. Prettie alludes to, I think it would be entirely a different thing. There are 2 or 3 things in the article that are new but they are not constitutional matters to begin with and they do not justify either the time spent by this convention nor do we face the prospect of losing them if this particular section is not incorporated into the new constitution to replace what we presently have. The outstanding example of that is the appellate —

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time for debate has expired.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I would move to extend debate for an additional 3 minutes to permit Mr. Ford to complete his remarks.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Ford and Mr. Danhof both seek recognition.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I guess we had better make it 5 minutes. VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen moves to extend debate by 5 minutes upon the article. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Mr. Ford may continue.

MR. FORD: The appellate court at first glance seems to be an improvement and everybody in this room, I think, agrees that we should have an appellate court. However, I might remind you that the legislature had already perfected and was ready to bring out of the committee over there an appellate court system and would do the same tomorrow if it were not for the pending action of this convention at the present time. There is nothing in here with regard to the appellate court that is constitutional to the exclusion of all other considerations, and what we have accomplished here could just as well have been done across the street.

The filling of vacancies is something we have talked about and we have passed over. It is something that is of very great importance, and the more I have talked to fellow attorneys and the people back in the area that I represent, the more I am concerned with how serious this particular aspect is and how quickly we have passed over it.

The section that we just finished discussing a few moments ago bears absolutely no resemblance to the language that was originally proposed to the judiciary committee by Mr. Cooper and others who first brought the matter forcibly to our attention, and bears little or no resemblance to the work that was put into it by the judiciary committee.

The local court system has been placed—by reason of the fact that many people, for whatever their reasons, came to this convention with preconceived prejudices in this respect—in a status now where very few people at the local level have any confidence or any prospect of hope as to the continued existence of the autonomy of their local courts as they know them now. I think that the section with respect to local courts places in jeopardy a long standing traditional system in this state.

I think that we have, for all intents and purposes, destroyed the 5 tier system that we started out with in the judiciary committee and, again, this was not the judiciary committee that did it. It was done here on the floor. There is no longer a separate and distinct probate court as a constitutional matter. We now have a 3 court system with a conglomerate of the 2 last tiers that the judiciary committee contemplated. You can now merge all or any part of the functions of these lower courts to the end that all or part of them will be extinguished. We set out to set up a 5 tier court system which, in my opinion, would have been a distinct improvement and the one thing that we could have done by constitution that may have been a great improvement over what the legislature might have done, but we failed in this respect. For that reason I don't feel that I can support the article as it now reads.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Danhof.

MR. DANHOF: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I am very happy to endorse the words of Mr. Prettie. We did have on the floor of this particular convention a long and tedious debate on the judicial article. With 58 and now 59 or 60 lawyers, this was probably inevitable. But I think he has pointed out what has been the thinking, at least, of a majority of us. I am sorry to hear the words of my good friend, Bill Ford, who was of great assistance in the committee. I think we have retained an elective system of the judiciary. We have established an intermediate court of appeals. And I point out that it was not really until this constitutional convention got going that we got real action across the street, and this is not in derogation of those gentlemen.

I think we have strengthened the circuit courts, the probate courts. We have made great strides and have provided a system which, I am sure, will last the people of this state for a good 50 or 75 years or whenever we call another convention. We have allowed the legislature greater leeway. This, I think, is an advantage and not a disadvantage. I would hope that we would pass the article. I point out to you that we have had more hours of debate on this than on any other particular article. I urge your support. Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time has expired. The question is upon the passage of article VI on the judicial branch. All those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of article VI, the judicial branch, the yeas are 103; the nays are 33.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A majority of the delegates elect having voted in favor thereof, article VI, as amended, is passed.

For sections 1 through 7, 9 through 25, 27, 28 and 29 of article VI as passed, see above, page 3060.

Following is section 8 of article VI as amended and passed:

Sec. 8. The court of appeals shall consist initially of nine judges who shall be nominated and elected at non-partisan elections from districts drawn on county lines and as near as possible of equal population, as prescribed by law. The supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals may sit in divisions and for the terms of court and the times and places thereof. Each such division shall consist of not fewer than three judges. The number of judges comprising the court of appeals may be increased, and the districts from which they are elected may be changed by law.

Following is section 26 of article VI as amended and passed:

Sec. 26. The offices of circuit court commissioner and justice of the peace shall be abolished at the expiration of five years from the date this constitution becomes effective or may within this period be abolished by law. Their jurisdiction, compensation and powers within this period shall be as provided by law. Within this five-year period, the legislature shall establish a court or courts of limited jurisdiction with powers and jurisdiction defined by law. The location of such court or courts, and the qualifications, tenure, method of election and salary of the judges of such court or courts, and by what governmental units the judges shall be paid, shall be provided by law, subject to the limitations contained in this Article.

Statutory courts in existence at the time this constitution becomes effective shall retain their powers and jurisdiction, except as provided by law, until they are abolished by law.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mr. McAllister:

My reason for voting no on article VI, the judicial article, is that I believe the provisions of the present constitution are better than the provisions of the new article.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Messrs. Krolikowski, Binkowski, Garvin, Madar, Ford, Downs and Miss Hart:

We voted no on article VI because Michigan's traditional judicial system has stood the test of time in the basic matter of selection of judges. Michigan's judiciary has a nation-wide reputation for ability, integrity and efficiency.

Michigan's judicial system provides that when a vacancy occurs the governor appoints a judge to serve until the next election. At the next election that judge who was temporarily appointed must run against any other candidates nominated by the people, either through petition or by convention, as in the case of the supreme court.

Article VI as adopted removes the governor's right to select the judge on a temporary basis — a system that is proven in practice to have the best of the appointed and the elected systems. The proponents of this change did not prove their need for changing the historically satisfactory method.

Another severe weakness was a constitutional provision in section 28 for appeals from administrative agencies. Present appeals are handled either by general law or specific statute affecting specially created agencies. This proposal has a constitutional, rigid appeal system that could, in effect, make one who wins his case before the administrative tribunal for all intents and purposes go before a court and win his case all over again. This is frustrating, expensive and time-consuming for litigants as well as courts.

We believe that the proposed judicial article does not contain sufficient improvement over the present judicial system to justify replacing the 1908 constitution, as amended. Any improvements found in the article may and should be accomplished by statutory enactment.

We believe that these 2 changes alone are significant steps backward from Michigan's present constitution, and we therefore voted no on article VI — judicial branch.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): The secretary will read article VII, local government.

SECRETARY CHASE: Article VII, local government:

[Article VII, sections 1 through 33, was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 3063.]

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Article VII has been read a third time.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Cudlip, on behalf of the committee on style and drafting, requests that the following corrections be made in article VII of the proposed revision of the constitution:

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Without objection it is so ordered. [Corrections made above.] The secretary will report an amendment.

 ${\bf SECRETARY\ CHASE:}\ Messrs.\ Sharpe$ and Kuhn offer the following amendment:

1. Amend article VII, section 21 (column 2, line 6) after "law.", by inserting "No governmental subdivision of the state shall impose an income tax unless approved by three-fifths of the qualified electors voting on the question.".

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHIINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: The substance of this amendment has been debated at some length before and I would move at this time to limit debate on this amendment to 10 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is on the motion to limit debate to 10 minutes. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. Mr. Brown.

refer you to journal page 999.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Point of order, Mr. President. VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: State your point.

MR. G. E. BROWN: The exact language that is presently proposed was offered on second reading except that instead of a majority of the qualified electors, 3/5 has now been added and changed. I think in substance this is the same. When you make the requirement more stringent than failed to pass before, I don't think you have a different matter before you and I would

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Well, the Chair would be disposed to rule and does rule that this presents a different question. The body has not heretofore considered the matter of a 60 per cent on this thing. Mr. Kuhn.

MR. KUHN: Mr. President and members of the convention, once again we come to you and ask you to consider the question of whether or not a governmental subdivision shall authorize an income tax without a vote of its people. Now it has been argued that this is legislative in nature, and when the Bowman bill passed the legislature you had a pretty strong argument. But since the governor in his wisdom saw fit to veto this bill, I think it now presents the same question that has been raised by many delegates who have things that they felt were necessary to be in this constitution; for example, the civil rights commission, civil service, and things of that nature. We know that those are legislative matters and yet we thought they should be in the constitution, because the legislature did not provide for them. We therefore strongly urge that the delegates to this convention decide this issue for the people and put it in the constitution.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: I rise to a point of order. I challenge the germaneness of this proposed amendment to this section. Section 21 of local government is the historical local government article dealing with home rule cities and villages and the reference to tax laws in there are to cities and villages as they may put in their charters for municipal purposes and public purposes.

The amendment says "No governmental subdivison" which would cover school districts, charter or other authorities, town-

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

- Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.
- Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

- (1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.
- (2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

- districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.
- Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

- (1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.
- (2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in $\frac{5}{2}$ the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part $\frac{5}{2}$ of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

ವ

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight persons, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following four regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, 8 Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population $\overline{\omega}$ count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided Ξ in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the apportionment commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and officers of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of 3 either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature 3 shall receive any civil appointment within this 8 priate legislation.

state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appro-

Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.

Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving $\frac{1}{2}$ therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with $\frac{1}{2}$ the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. Each committee shall by roll call vote record the vote and name of all action on bills and resolutions taken in the committee. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.

Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same unless the public security otherwise requires. The record of the vote and name of the members of either house voting on any question shall be entered in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he deems injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in $\frac{3}{8}$ joint convention and all votes on appointments $\frac{3}{8}$ submitted to the senate for advice and consent $\frac{3}{8}$ shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township, charter authority or other authority, the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

- 1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."
- 2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause) PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

> Sincerely, Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger. White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read. PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

For document incorporating following changes, see below, page 3355. Page numbers in report refer to document pages.

- 1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.
- 2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."
- 3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.
 - 4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE II

Elections

- Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.
- Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.
- Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.
- Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.
- Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.
- Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.
- Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

- Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.
- Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

ARTICLE III

General Government

- Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.
- Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.
- Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.
- Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.
- Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision thereof, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.
- Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.
- Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.
- Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

- Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.
- Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

- (1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.
- (2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.
- (3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.
- Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for twoyear terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

- (1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.
- (2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

- Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.
- Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.
- Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

- Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.
- Sec. 8. No person holding any office, employment or position under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.
- Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.
- Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.
- Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.
- Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.
- Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.
- Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

- Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.
- Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.
- Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. On all actions on bills and resolutions in each committee, names and votes of members shall be recorded. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.
- Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same unless the public security otherwise requires. The record of the vote and name of the members of either house voting on any question shall be entered in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he deems injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason for his dissent entered in the journal.
- Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in joint convention and all votes on appointments submitted to the senate for advice and consent shall be published by vote and name in the journal.
- Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open unless the public security otherwise requires.
- Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than two intervening calendar days, nor to any place other than where the legislature may then be in session.
 - Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and may originate in either house.
 - Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The People of the State of Michigan enact.
- Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title. No bill shall be altered or amended on its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose as determined by its total content and not alone by its title.
- Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or amended by reference to its title only. The section or sections of the act altered or amended shall be re-enacted and published at length.
- Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a law at any regular session of the legislature until it has been printed or reproduced and in the possession of each house for

- at least five days. Every bill shall be read three times in each house before the final passage thereof. No bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.
- Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

and for the imposition and collection of taxes thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be assessed at the same proportion of its true cash value as the legislature shall specify for property subject to general ad valorem taxation. The rate of taxation on such property shall be the average rate levied upon other property in this state under the general ad valorem tax law, or, if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable to the property of each business enterprise assessed by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem taxation levied upon other property in all counties in which any of such property is situated.

Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. These limitations may be increased to an aggregate of not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation, for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one time, if approved by a majority of the electors, qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this constitution, voting on the question.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township, charter aluthority or other authority, the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

- Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate or base shall be imposed by the state or any of its subdivisions.
- Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than four percent of their gross taxable sales of tangible personal property.

All specific taxes, except general sales and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed directly or indirectly on fuels sold or used to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusively for highway purposes as defined by law.
- Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of cangible personal property shall be used exclusively for assistance to townships, cities and villages, on a population basis as provided by law. In determining population the legislature may exclude any portion of the total number of persons who are wards, patients or convicts in any tax supported institution.
- Sec. 11. There shall be established a state school aid fund which shall be used exclusively for aid to school districts, higher education and school employees' retirement systems, as provided by law. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.
- Sec. 15. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.
- Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

The legislature by an act adopted by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house may designate any part of such lands as a state land reserve. No lands in the state land reserve may be removed from the reserve, sold, leased or otherwise disposed of except by an act of the legislature.

Sec. 6. Aliens who are residents of this state shall enjoy the same rights and privileges in property as citizens of this state.

The civil service commission shall be non-salaried and shall consist of four persons, not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party, appointed by the governor for terms of eight years, no two of which shall expire in the same year.

The administration of the commission's powers shall be vested in a state personnel director who shall be a member of the classified service and who shall be responsible to and selected by the commission after open competitive examination.

The commission shall classify all positions in the classified service according to their respective duties and responsibilities, fix rates of compensation for all classes of positions, approve or disapprove disbursements for all personal services, determine by competitive examination and performance exclusively on the basis of merit, efficiency and fitness the qualifications of all candidates for positions in the classified service, make rules and regulations covering all personnel transactions, and regulate all conditions of employment in the classified service.

No appointments, promotions, demotions or removals in the classified service shall be made for religious, racial or partisan considerations.

Increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission may be effective only at the start of a fiscal year and shall require prior notice to the governor, who shall transmit such increases to the legislature as part of his budget. The legislature may, by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, waive the notice and permit increases in rates of compensation to be effective at a time other than the start of a fiscal year. Within 60 calendar days following such transmission, the legislature may, by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, reject or reduce increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission. Any reduction ordered by the legislature shall apply uniformly to all classes of employees affected by the increases and shall not adjust pay differentials already established by the civil service commission. The legislature may not reduce rates of compensation below those in effect at the time of the transmission of increases authorized by the commission.

The appointing authorities may create or abolish positions for reasons of administrative efficiency without the approval of the commission. The commission shall furnish reports of expenditures, at least annually, to the governor and the legislature and shall be subject to annual audit as provided by law.

No payment for personal services shall be made or authorized until the provisions of this constitution pertaining to civil service have been complied with in every particular. Violation of any of the provisions hereof may be restrained or observance compelled by injunctive or mandamus proceedings brought by any citizen of the state.

Proposed amendments agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house on a vote with the names and vote of those voting entered in the respective journals shall be submitted, not less than 60 days thereafter, to the electors at the next general election or special election as the legislature shall direct. If a majority of electors voting on a proposed amendment approve the same, it shall become part of the constitution and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved.

Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this constitution by petition of the registered electors of this state. Every petition shall include the full text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by registered electors of the state equal in number to at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected. Such petitions shall be filed with the person authorized by law to receive the same at least 120 days before the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition shall be in the form, and shall be signed and circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law. The person authorized by law to receive such petition shall upon its receipt determine, as provided by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signatures on the petition, and make an official announcement thereof at least 60 days prior to the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon.

Any amendment proposed by such petition shall be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was filed, to the electors at the next general election. Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of the constitution which would be altered or abrogated thereby, and the question as it shall appear on the ballot shall be published in full as provided by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted in each polling place and furnished to news media as provided by law.

The ballot to be used in such election shall contain a statement of the purpose of the proposed amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

If the proposed amendment is approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question, it shall become part of the constitution, and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved. If two or more amendments approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter and at such times as may be provided by law, the question of a general revision of the constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If a majority of the electors voting on the question decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, at an election to be held not later than six months after the proposal was certified as approved, the electors of each representative district as then organized shall elect one delegate and the electors of each senatorial district as then organized shall elect one delegate at a partisan election. The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat of government on the first Tuesday in October next succeeding such election or at an earlier date if provided by law.

The convention shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings and judge the qualifications, elections and returns of its members. To fill a vacancy in the office of any delegate, the governor shall appoint a qualified resident of the same district who shall be a member of the same party as the delegate vacating the office. [ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE]

What the Proposed New State Constitution Means to You

• A report to the people of Michigan by their elected delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62.

> Lansing, Michigan August 1, 1962

3. Removes incumbent justices farther from political considerations by permitting them to become candidates for re-election by filing an affidavit of candidacy not less than 180 days prior to the expiration of their terms.

Latitude is given to the legislature in the method to be prescribed for nominating candidates for the supreme court, but elections continue to be non-partisan.

Supreme court; chief justice.

Sec. 3. One justice of the supreme court shall be selected by the court as its chief justice as provided by rules of the court. He shall perform duties required by the court. The supreme court shall appoint an administrator of the courts and other assistants of the supreme court as may be necessary to aid in the administration of the courts of this state. The administrator shall perform administrative duties assigned by the court.

This is a new section giving constitutional sanction for the selection of the Chief Justice by members of the court. This has been the practice for several decades, although Sec. 2, Article VII, of the present constitution requires that he "be chosen by the electors of the state." Duties of the Chief Justice would be those "required by the court."

The third and fourth sentences of the section give constitutional sanction to the existing office of Administrator of the Courts and clearly spell out the source of his authority. The language implements references to "superintending control" over all courts of lesser jurisdiction in Sec. 4, Article VII, of the present constitution and this proposed Article.

Supreme court; jurisdiction.

Sec. 4. The supreme court shall have egeneral superintending control over all courts; egenerate power to issue, egenerate and determine prerogative and remedial writs; egenerate and appellate jurisdiction as provided by rules of the supreme court. The supreme court shall not have the power to remove a judge.

This is a revision of Sec. 4, Article VII, of the present constitution. It substitutes the general term "prerogative and remedial writs" for the list of historic writs contained in the present document. The court is permitted to control its appellate jurisdiction by rule, but it is denied the power to remove a judge.

Supreme court; rules.

Sec. 5. The supreme court shall by general rules establish, modify, amend and simplify the practice and procedure in all courts of this state.

 The distinctions between law and equity proceedings shall, as far as practicable, be abolished. The office of master in chancery is prohibited.

This is a revision of Sec. 5, Article VII, of the present constitution. In addition to existing powers of the court, power is conferred to simplify both practice and procedure.

The second sentence gives constitutional sanction to the state Judicature Act of 1960 by which distinctions between law and equity have been abolished.

Supreme court; written decisions.

Sec. 6. Decisions of the supreme court, including all decisions on prerogative writs, shall be in writing  and shall contain a concise statement of the facts and reasons for each decision and reasons for each denial of leave to appeal. When a judge dissents in whole or in part he shall give in writing the reasons for his dissent. ***

This is a revision of Sec. 7, Article VII, of the present constitution. The reference to "prerogative writs" replaces the list of historic writs contained in the present document. The proposed section continues the requirement of written opinions with a statement of facts and reasons for each decision. The final sentence requires a statement of reasons for all dissents whether in whole or in part.

The eliminated language of the present constitution requiring signature on opinions and their filing is regarded as excess verbiage. This practice is well established and it appears unnecessary to encumber the constitution with this requirement.

Supreme court; staff supervision.

Sec. 7. The supreme court may appoint, may remove, and shall have general supervision of its staff. It shall have control of the preparation of its budget recommendations and the expenditure of moneys appropriated for any purpose pertaining to the operation of the court or the performance of activities of its staff except that the salaries of the justices shall be established by law. All fees and perquisites •• collected by the court staff shall be turned over •• to the state treasury and credited to the general fund. ••••

This is a revision of Sec. 6, Article VII, of the present constitution. It extends the appointive power of the supreme court and its supervising control to its entire staff, instead of limiting it to court officers specifically named in the present document.

The court is granted control of the preparation of its budget recommendations and the expenditure of funds appropriated for its activities, except for salaries of the justices which are established by the legislature. The section requires that fees and perquisites collected by the court staff be turned over to the state's general fund.

COURT OF APPEALS

Court of appeals; judges; elections.

Sec. 8. The court of appeals shall consist initially of nine judges who shall be nominated and elected at non-partisan elections from districts drawn on county lines and as nearly as possible of equal population, as provided by law. The supreme court may prescribe by rule that the court of appeals sit in divisions and for the terms of court and the times and places thereof. Each such division shall consist of not fewer than three judges. The number of judges comprising the court of appeals may be increased, and the districts from which they are elected may be changed by law.

This is a new section providing for the structure of the newly-created court of appeals. The nine judges of the court are to be nominated and elected from districts on a non-partisan basis in a manner to be determined by the legislature. The supreme court is authorized to prescribe that the court of appeals sit in divisions of not fewer than three judges at such places as may be designated.

Flexibility is further provided by granting to the legislature authority to increase the number of judges of the court and alter districts from which they are elected.

Court of appeals; terms.

Sec. 9. Judges of the court of appeals shall hold office for a term of six years and until their successors are elected and qualified. The terms of office for the judges in each district shall be arranged by law to provide that not all terms will expire at the same time.

This is a new section providing six-year terms for judges on the court of appeals. The legislature is directed to set up election procedure so that terms of office in each district will not expire at the same time.

Court of appeals; jurisdiction.

Sec. 10. The jurisdiction of the court of appeals shall be provided by law and the practice and procedure therein shall be prescribed by rules of the supreme court.

This is a new section providing that jurisdiction of the court of appeals shall be established by the legislature. Practice and procedure are to be provided by rules of the supreme court.

CIRCUIT COURTS

Judicial circuits.

Sec. 11. The state shall be divided into judicial circuits along county lines in each of which there shall be elected one or more circuit judges as provided by law.  Sessions of the circuit court shall be held at least four times in each year in every county organized for judicial purposes. Each circuit judge shall hold court in the county or counties within the circuit in which he is elected, and in other circuits as may be provided by rules of the supreme court. The number of judges may be changed and circuits may be created, altered and discontinued by law and the number of judges shall be changed and circuits shall be created, altered and discontinued on recommendation of the supreme court to reflect changes in judicial activity. No change in the number of judges or alteration or discontinuance of a circuit shall have the effect of removing a judge from office during his term. ***

This is a revision of Sec. 8, Article VII, of the present constitution eliminating unnecessary language. In order to keep the manpower in the circuit court system operating as efficiently as possible, the legislature may and shall on recommendation of the supreme court increase or decrease the number of judges, create new circuits and alter or discontinue existing circuits.

The word "districts" in reference to circuit courts, appearing in the present constitution, is eliminated. This revised section specifies that judicial circuits shall be arranged "along county lines".

The provisions of the section enable the circuit courts to keep better abreast of changing population and economic conditions and thus serve all sections of the state more efficiently.

Circuit courts; elections; terms.

Sec. 12. Circuit judges shall be nominated and elected * at non-partisan elections in the circuit in which they reside, and shall hold office for a term of six years and until their successors are elected and qualified.
 In circuits having more than one circuit judge their terms of office shall be arranged by law to provide that not all terms will expire at the same time.

This is a revision of Sec. 9, Article VII, of the present constitution. Circuit judges continue to be nominated and elected in non-partisan elections for six-year terms.

A significant change in the section provides that in circuits which have more than one judge the legislature shall arrange a plan which does not permit all terms of office to expire at the same time. It is believed that this would be better for the judiciary and less confusing to the voters. Eliminated from the section is language which provides circuit judges "shall be ineligible to any other than a judicial office during the term for which they are elected and for one year thereafter." This appears in a later section of this Article.

Circuit courts; jurisdiction.

Sec. 13. The circuit court shall have original jurisdiction in all matters  not prohibited by law; * appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals  except as otherwise provided by law; power to issue,  hear and determine prerogative and remedial writs;  supervisory and general control over inferior courts and tribunals within their respective jurisdictions * in  accordance with rules of the supreme court; and jurisdiction of other cases and matters as provided by rules of the supreme court. **

This is revision of Sec. 10, Article VII, of the present constitution. It provides that the power of the circuit court to hear cases from courts of limited jurisdiction shall be as authorized by rules of the supreme court. As now provided in the present constitution, the circuit court is given general control over courts and tribunals of limited jurisdiction in accordance with supreme court rules.

Clerk: vacancies.

Sec. 14. The clerk of each county organized for judicial purposes or other officer performing the duties of such office as provided in a county charter shall be clerk of the circuit court for such county. The judges of the circuit court may fill a vacancy in an elective office of county clerk or prosecuting attorney within their respective jurisdictions. ****
