Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

SIXTY-FIFTH DAY

Thursday, January 25, 1962, 2:00 o'clock p.m.

PROCEEDINGS

PRESIDENT NISBET: The convention will please come to order.

Our invocation today will be given by Father William J. Koenigsknecht of the St. Therese church of Lansing.

Assist us with Thy heavenly grace, that we may be able to fulfill our most sacred duty and stewardship. Teach us both what to give and what to withhold; when to reprove and when to forbear; make us considerate and watchful; and deliver us equally from the weakness of indulgence, and the excess of severity; grant that, both by word and example, we may be careful to lead in the ways of wisdom and true piety.

The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 22 on the calendar, from the committee on legislative powers, by Mr. Hoxie, chairman, Committee Proposal 35, A proposal to provide that the form of legislation shall be by bill. Retains article V, section 19.

Following is Committee Proposal 35 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. All legislation by the legislature shall be by bill and may originate in either house of the legislature.

Mr. Hoxie, chairman of the committee on legislative powers, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 35:

The committee recommends the retention of this section. It first appeared in the 1908 constitution. Prior to that time the legislature used concurrent and joint resolutions in the lawmaking process to such an extent that it was deemed to have been abused.

Allowing legislation to originate in either house of the legislature has been part of the Michigan constitution since 1835. A similar provision appears in about half of the state constitutions.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Kuhn.

MR. KUHN: Mr. Chairman, the committee recommends the retention of this section. It first appeared in the 1908 constitution. Prior to that time the legislature used to use concurrent and joint resolutions in order to get around the governor's signature in order to make laws. So this clause was put in to enable them only to make laws that would have to cross the governor's desk.

Allowing legislation to originate in either house of the legislature has been part of the Michigan constitution since 1835. A similar provision appears in about half of the state constitutions.

I would like to say that we did have one recommendation that revenue bills start in the house of representatives. This is the federal practice. The committee did not feel that we should put this in our constitution.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Any amendments to the body of the proposal? If not, it will pass.

Committee Proposal 35 is passed.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 23 on the calendar, from the committee on finance and taxation, by Mr. Brake, chairman, Committee Proposal 36, A proposal with reference to the use to be made of the primary school interest fund, covering the subject matter now found in article X, section 1 of the 1908 constitution.

[Committee Proposal 36 was read by the secretary. For full text, see below, page 818.]

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, the next 5 items on the calendar are items from the finance and taxation committee. I move that they be taken up in the following order: 37, 40, 38, 39 and 36.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Brake has asked that the items be taken up in this order, Committee Proposals 37, 40, 38, 39 and 36.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Without objection, and I hear none, it is so ordered.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 24 on the calendar, from the committee on finance and taxation, by Mr. Brake, chairman, Committee Proposal 37, A proposal to provide for care and control of state funds, accounting for public moneys, audits, and publication of reports, and covering the general subject matter found in sections 15, 16, 17, 18 and 13 of article X of the 1908 constitution.

Following is Committee Proposal 37 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50 per cent of the capital and surplus of such bank. Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall show the amount of state money so deposited as a separate item in all published statements.

Sec. b. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. c. THE LEGISLATURE SHALL PROVIDE BY LAW FOR THE ANNUAL ACCOUNTING FOR ALL PUBLIC MONEYS, STATE AND LOCAL, AND MAY ALSO PROVIDE BY LAW FOR INTERIM ACCOUNTING. THE LEGISLATURE SHALL PROVIDE BY LAW FOR THE AUDIT OF STATE AND COUNTY ACCOUNTS BY COMPETENT STATE AUTHORITY, AND MAY ALSO PROVIDE FOR THE AUDIT OF ANY OTHER PUBLIC ACCOUNTS.

ALL ACCOUNTINGS, RECORDS, AUDIT REPORTS AND OTHER REPORTS OF PUBLIC MONEYS SHALL BE PUBLIC RECORDS AND OPEN TO INSPECTION. A DETAILED STATEMENT OF ALL REVENUES AND EXPENDITURES OF PUBLIC MONEYS SHALL BE PUBLISHED AND DISTRIBUTED ANNUALLY AS PRESCRIBED BY LAW.

Sec. d. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, EXCEPT THAT FUNDS ACCUMULATED TO PROVIDE RETIREMENT OR PENSION BENEFITS FOR PUBLIC OFFICIALS AND EMPLOYEES MAY BE INVESTED AS PROVIDED BY LAW; AND EXCEPT THAT ENDOWMENT FUNDS CREATED FOR CHARITABLE OR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES MAY BE INVESTED AS PROVIDED BY LAW GOVERNING THE INVESTMENT OF FUNDS HELD IN TRUST BY TRUSTEES.

Mr. Brake, chairman of the committee on finance and taxation, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 37:

Sec. a. The first paragraph of the proposal dealing with state deposits in banks is section 15, article X of the present constitution unchanged. In the opinion of the committee and of the fiscal officers of the state it is adequate and satisfactory.

Sec. b. This section is section 16 of article X of the 1908 constitution unchanged. The committee's former proposal for the management of state funds in a more essential manner than that now provided by law, was the one that ran into trouble on the floor of the convention. In part the need for the proposal formerly submitted by the committee has been met by the short term borrowing provisions which passed through the committee of the whole, and is now in committee on style and drafting. While the majority of the committee still feels that there should be authorization for such fund management, a constitutional provision to that effect, which excepted earmarked funds, would be useless. The committee simply yields to the apparent thinking of the convention that it does not wish to expressly authorize any commingling of earmarked funds in the constitution.

Sec. c. The committee recommends adoption of the third and fourth paragraphs of this proposal to provide adequately for accounting for public moneys, audits, and publication of reports. Sections 17 and 18 of article X of the present constitution have provided the framework for these functions in the past.

Section 17 of the present constitution, which relates to the publication of reports, is ambiguous.

Section 18 was first introduced into the Michigan constitution in 1908 as a way to force the legislature to make suitable provision for uniform accounts and audits. When appraised against this background it does not appear to perform a useful purpose in the new constitution. A uniform accounting law was passed in 1919 which contains considerable detail in prescribing accounting and auditing responsibilities and duties. Moreover, accounting and auditing concepts and techniques have advanced to the point where a body of generally accepted standards of uniformity, consistency and competence is available as a guide.

Section 18, which provides for the keeping of uniform records and the supervision, audit and inspection thereof, includes legislative detail which is no longer needed in the constitution. The language is so restrictive as to fail to accomplish its purpose. Substantively, the only changes proposed are that the legislature is given authority to provide for interim accountings where desirable and broader authority to provide for the audit of public accounts.

Sec. d. Section 13 of article X of the present constitution, which is revised by the committee proposal, has the desirable object of preventing state ownership of private business. However, it has some other results which the committee believes are unduly restrictive. The development, since the adoption of the present constitution, of substantial public employee retirement funds and university endowment funds, has made necessary reexamination of the type of investments available for such funds. The committee believes that if these funds are to earn the best return and are to be protected against inflation, the legislature should have the power to permit, under appropriate restrictions as to quality and amount, investment of these funds (but not other public funds) in such things as share accounts in savings and loan associations, and high grade corporate securities.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, this is the language of the present constitution. It is the opinion of the committee and of the fiscal officers of the state at present that it is needed in the constitution, that it is adequate, and that it should be adopted unchanged.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Are there any amendments to the section? Mr. Secretary, do you have an amendment?

SECRETARY CHASE: I have none to this section, Mr. Chairman.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: All right. If there are no amendments, it will be passed.

Section a is passed.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section b.

[Section b was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 766.]

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, this is the section that produced a furor when we had it before the committee of the whole on another occasion, and which was sent back to committee. The usual legislative practice when a proposal is sent back to committee is it is for one of two purposes: either to make a considerable change in it or to kill it. The fund management proposals that we had before you at that time we still think were advisable, and that they would have produced a more workable management of state funds. But there was considerable disagreement on the floor, and the need for that fund management is lessened if other provisions of the committee's recommendations are finally accepted.

You have already approved—and it has gone to style and drafting—a proposal for short term borrowing that makes what we have in this section before you less necessary, at least. We have proposed to you a change in the sales tax amendment to the constitution—that will, perhaps, be before us today—which also makes less necessary the language that we presented to you on that other occasion.

What we have here now is simply the language of the present constitution; that no money shall be paid out of the state treasury unless it is appropriated by the legislature. That certainly is needed as a minimum.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Any amendments to this section? If not, it will be passed.

Section b is passed.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section c.

[Section c was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 766.]

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, for an explanation of these sections having to do with accounting and reporting, I yield the floor to our vice chairman of the committee, Mr. Austin.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. Chairman, the last time I was on the floor in regard to this section I think we had quite a debate, and I think my job today should be a lot easier, because we have not returned the item that caused most of the controversy.

At the time we discussed the commingling section, I also gave an explanation of the need for some change in sections 17 and 18. I don't think it is necessary to repeat what I said at that time, because even then there did not seem to be any need to review in detail the language that was proposed by the committee. I will say simply this: that section 17, which now provides for the publication of reports, is somewhat ambiguous, and needs to be changed. The recommended language is found at the end of the second paragraph of section c of the proposal. I think you will find that that language is a lot more clear and certainly serves the purpose better. It gives the legislature a little more freedom.

The second paragraph of this proposal is a rewriting of the language that is found in section 18, which provides for public accountings. The only substantive changes that we have made are that the legislature is given authority to provide for interim accountings where desirable, and broader authority to provide for the audit of public accounts. I would rather not go into detail on these sections unless there are questions.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Any questions? If not, the section will be passed.

Section c is passed.

The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section d.

[Section d was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 766.]

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, the final section of this proposal has to do with investments, and for an explanation of that I yield the floor to Mr. Van Dusen.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, I think this can be explained rather simply. The present constitution provides, as I believe you all know, that the state shall not subscribe to nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation. This section has the very desirable objective of keeping the state out of private business. However, in considering the consequences of the section, the committee concluded that it had 2 somewhat undesirably restrictive consequences. There are 2 kinds of very substantial funds held for long term purposes by state authorities: one, the pension and retirement funds; the other, the endowment funds held to provide income for our major state universities. It was believed by the committee that it would be desirable to permit, under restrictions imposed by the legislature, the investment of these long term funds in securities, including the equity securities of corporations, if the legislature felt that was desirable. This is a protection against inflation. It provides for a balanced portfolio. It would permit universities to retain securities which were given, for example, to the university.

One of the problems that we have had in our retirement funds has been that the money that was put in in the 1930s is worth only half as much now as it was when it was put in. Consequently, the capital funds of these pension funds have suffered materially from inflation.

Accordingly, it is the recommendation of the committee that an exception be created to the general prohibition against the state being interested in the stock of a corporation; an exception, first, that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law. And an exception, second, that endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees. Now, the reason for the separate exceptions is this: our state universities currently hold very large endowment funds which, in the absence of some enabling statute, are subject to question as to their right to do so. The reference in the constitutional provision to the law governing the investment of trust funds by trustees is simply a reference to existing law and, therefore, with the adoption of this constitutional provision, the university endowment funds could be held and managed pursuant to the existing law governing the investment of trust funds, which is the "prudent man" rule.

The committee believes that these are sensible changes in the present constitution, designed to take account of changing economic conditions. We recommend their adoption.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Any amendments to the provisions of the section? Mr. Bentley.

MR. BENTLEY: Mr. Chairman, I would just like to ask the gentleman from Birmingham a question. Does this section have a direct relationship upon the next order of business? That is, Committee Proposal 40?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Bentley, there is a relationship to the extent, of course, that both sections deal with retirement funds maintained for the benefit of public employees. I don't believe there is any direct relationship, but quite obviously they both deal with certain aspects of the problems which have arisen since the adoption of the 1908 constitution as a result of the growth of public employee retirement funds.

MR. BENTLEY: My further question to the gentleman then would be this: in adopting this section, the committee will not be prejudging its action on the ensuing proposal? It will not, will it?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Bentley, that's quite correct. The committee on finance and taxation would strongly urge the adoption of this proposal, regardless of what action is taken on the immediately following one.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: With regard to public employees' retirement plans and funds that back them, it has been traditional to be very restrictive in the manner of the investment of such a fund. Would this change, Mr. Van Dusen, in any way make it possible for the legislature to permit the investment of such funds in private corporation stock to the extent that they could become involved in the speculation of business trends, as distinguished from the kind of investments they now make?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Ford, quite obviously the purpose of the provision is to broaden the authority for state investment of pension funds beyond what is now permitted. However, there will be no change in the investment powers of the managers of these pension funds unless specifically authorized by the legislature. And it is contemplated by the committee, as expressed in our committee's report, that the legislature would adopt appropriate restrictions both as to quantity and quality of investments of these funds in the future.

MR. FORD: I hope you don't suggest that by making reference to the trust requirements, that there's now built into the law some protection that is going to guarantee the wisdom of the investments. This merely goes to the standard of care to be used by the trustee, doesn't it?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Ford, that is why there are separate provisions with respect to the law governing the investment of pension funds and the law governing the investment of endowment funds. In the case of endowment funds, very frequently the universities are given large blocks of stock which would not in the ordinary course have been purchased as part of an investment program. Frequently the terms of the gift require the retention of that particular security; and if the university wants the benefit of the gift, it takes it with the strings attached.

Now, the same considerations do not obtain in the case of public employee retirement funds, where the 2 sources of the funds are: one, the contributions of the employees themselves; and two, public tax funds. And there the standard of care and the standard of conservatism in investment would certainly in my judgment have to be a good deal higher. Consequently, we did not prescribe simply the trust standard for those funds, but left it to the legislature to establish the requirements which in my judgment would probably be considerably more restrictive than those applicable just to trust funds.

MR. FORD: Then let me ask this: did anyone representing municipal or governmental employee organizations indicate to you their feelings about freeing the legislature in the matter of investing the funds that fund retirement plans, for example? I notice that you treat them separately here, and you are talking primarily about the desirability of being able to use this large pool of money in endowments. Now, that's one thing. But a fund that has been set up and has been contributed to jointly by a municipality, for example, or a county and its employees, has been, up until now, treated very restrictively in the matter of investment. As a matter of fact, I don't believe that we presently are allowed to invest these funds in anything except governmental securities.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Ford, that, of course, is correct. And it was for that reason that the committee recommended this change. The public employees who have contributed to the pension funds and the taxpayers who have contributed to these pension funds have seen the capital funds which they have put into these funds shrink as the result of inflation, because of the restriction of the investment powers to government securities, which obviously are subject to the hazards of inflation.

Now, it's not the intention of this provision to put the persons managing pension funds out into the stock market engaging in speculation. However, it is believed that if these funds are given, under controls imposed by the legislature, reasonable freedom to develop a balanced portfolio, then the funds which were put in in the '30s will to some extent have current value greater than that they could have under the present provision.

MR. FORD: I understand that. The only thing that concerns me is that presently we are limited to what are considered to be very conservative investments, and by being conservative and guaranteeing a return, they at the same time guarantee the stability of the retirement plan. The retirement plan is only as good as the money that is available there to pay it when it is needed. Now, as I understand this language, it would permit, whether intentionally or inadvertently, the legislature to adopt at any given time a law that would permit the investment of retirement funds in common stock in a private corporation that could be wiped out overnight. Now, if this is wrong, I hope you will correct me. I'll sit down and not belabor the subject.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Your question, Mr. Ford, is quite correct, and the answer is quite correct. The legislature could, if it chose to do so, under this provision, permit the investment of pension funds in common stock. It is deemed appropriate to leave this matter up to the legislature. Unless the legislature affirmatively acted, no such investments could be made. But the reason for the provision is to protect these funds, not the reverse.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. Van Dusen, isn't this essentially the same power that the legislature has in governing investments of insurance companies, where we have the same problem of providing for adequate security of insurance policies?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Hanna, that's correct.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Are there any amendments to the section?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Wanger offers the following amendment to section d:

1. Amend page 2, line 9, after "invested" by inserting "in nonvoting securities"; so the language will then read:

... except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested in nonvoting securities as provided by law. . . .

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: I believe, Mr. Chairman, I raised a question when this matter was before us on a previous occasion, and attempted to make the point that there are hundreds of millions involved in these funds; that these funds are almost always under the control of a public official in his capacity as fund manager or trustee, or something else; that voting stock or any type of a voting security controls the destiny of private enterprises; and that it would be best that these funds not be invested in voting securities and giving these officials control, because many times far less than 50 per cent of the stock of a company is a controlling factor in determining its management and its board of directors.

Even with this amendment in the provision, should it be adopted, the funds will have a great deal more latitude than they have now for making investments. They will be able to invest in preferreds and nonvoting common, if such exist today; in private bonds; in mortgage investments and indentures of these companies only so long as they are securities which are nonvoting in nature.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. Chairman and Mr. Wanger, the committee considered a number of different types of specific restrictions which might have been imposed, and concluded in the case of each that it would be wiser to leave to the legislature the determination and prescription of the type of investment. Now, if Mr. Wanger's amendment were to be adopted, it would in very large measure defeat the purpose of the proposal because the great majority of the securities which might be made available would be voting securities.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: Since the purpose of the section seems to be to get these funds into voting securities, I am more against it than before, and I urge your support for the amendment.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I would like to agree with Mr. Wanger. I would like to support his amendment if in fact it will prevent investment in those securities connected with private business which are generally considered, regardless of the stability or the age of the company, to be of a speculative nature, as opposed to those that are secured, such as the debentures mentioned, by something more than the financial outcome of the current year. As an example, I would gather from this that Mr. Wanger's amendment would permit the investment in utility stocks of the preferred type, with a guaranteed return of interest, which right now and for a number of years has been very good in this state, and far superior to that which we receive when we invest these funds at the local level in such things as short term notes of the United States government, and other forms of municipal bonds.

Since we don't have a tax problem at the local level when we are thinking of these funds in terms of investment, the limitation that now is on us to invest them solely in government securities is not nearly as desirable as it is for private capital. But when we get to the point where we can contemplate the possibility of an investment in what appears today to be a very sound and substantial company, looking back on what has happened in even what we considered relatively good times over the past 10 years, one of the major automobile companies that was one of the stalwart backbones of the city of Detroit for many years just isn't there anymore. I think they are even tearing the building down. I don't think 10 years ago anybody believed that there would ever be a time when we wouldn't have a Packard automobile on the street. This may have been considered by the people in the legislature 10 or 15 years ago to have been the kind of thing they would let them invest in.

And I wonder where we would be in some of the small communities with our pension plans if our people had been permitted to invest in that type of stock. I support the Wanger amendment.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. Chairman, I would like to offer one or two comments, and then ask Mr. Wanger a question about his amendment.

First of all, I think it should be noted that even under the present provisions of the constitution, where these funds can invest in nonvoting securities, there have been some bad investments. In other words, voting securities are not the only speculative investments. Some mortgages go sour. Another point is that there is a strong feeling that these funds ought to be able to deposit or invest in savings and loan organizations. This is the big area.

My question to Mr. Wanger is whether he realizes that his amendment would preclude investment in savings and loan organizations.

MR. WANGER: No, I did not realize this. This is the first that I realized that that would be the case. I intend that they not be invested in any voting stock in a company. As I understand, a savings and loan is a mortgage organization, where you deposit money and the interest is paid and divided up among the depositors. But I wish this had been previously made plain, because I wrote a letter to the committee prior to the time that this was introduced on the floor. How would this prevent investment in mortgage investments?

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. Chairman, I would like to suggest that Mr. Van Dusen elaborate.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Wanger, your amendment would not prevent the investment in mortgage investments. As Mr. Austin points out, those investments could be made by these funds now. However, your amendment would prevent the investment of pension funds in share accounts in savings and loan institutions which—contrary to the regular banking function—when you put your money in, you are buying shares, and those are voting shares which entitle you to a voice in the election of the management of savings and loan institutions. Therefore, where it's highly desirable for some long term money which is intended to be kept reasonably liquid to be invested by these funds, particularly the small funds, in the share accounts of savings and loan institutions, your amendment would preclude it, because of the voting rights which are inherent in the ownership of a share account in a savings and loan institution.

And as pointed out in the committee report published in the journal, the intention of the committee here is that the legislature should have the power to permit, under appropriate restrictions as to quality and amount, the investment of these funds in such things as share accounts in savings and loan associations.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: The question is now on the Wanger amendment.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Binkowski.

MR. BINKOWSKI: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, Mr. Ford and Mr. Wanger, I think you should be aware that there were representatives of the public employees retirement systems there who consulted with us, and that this language meets with their approval. I also want to point out the fact that we are dealing with the constitution, and it is supposed to be a basic law. It is supposed to last 50 or 75 years. I think that we need flexibility, and this provision would provide flexibility. Therefore, I speak against the Wanger amendment.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: The question is on the Wanger amendment. Mr. Goebel.

MR. GOEBEL: Mr. Chairman, I completely agree with Mr. Binkowski that the legislature needs flexibility; that this constitution may last a long time. I don't think that there's anyone in this room or anyone in the legislature at the present time who would insist that pension funds be invested in equities at this time. But over the next 40 or 50 years things may change; the financial picture may change. And I think that it is wise on our part to leave to the discretion of the legislature the power to invest these pension funds. I therefore oppose the amendment.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Stafseth.

MR. STAFSETH: I also was a member of the committee, and I know one of the most complicated things we had was to try and figure out if we could impose any restrictions. I remember one thing in particular—not getting into retirement funds—we got down to where we were talking about how we would handle moneys in perpetual funds for cemeteries, and this got to be complicated. It became very obvious to us that we had to have something flexible, so we left it to the power of the legislature. So I support the committee report and oppose the Wanger amendment.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: Mr. Chairman, being a member of the board of trustees of the pension system of Detroit, I have discussed this with several people that deal with our investments. And there have been some who appeared before the committee. They feel that this is a step in the right direction. I therefore oppose the Wanger amendment.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Romney.

MR. ROMNEY: Mr. Chairman, the question has been raised as to funds that are managed by employee organizations as well as management of firms, and I can state on the basis of personal knowledge that most of those funds now provide the type of flexibility that we are suggesting here for these public retirement funds. Most of them do include some common stocks of a high grade and this is a result of the joint judgment of the unions and the management people involved.

It does seem to me that what Mr. Goebel has just said, and others, is right, and that we should support the committee in providing this flexibility to protect the long range interest of public employees.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: The question is on the Wanger amendment. Mr. Karn.

MR. KARN: Mr. Chairman, I would like to call attention to the fact that I would think a substantial percentage of the large, major trust companies today recommend in the case of pension funds a flexibility that is granted by this provision, and I would also want to object to the Wanger amendment on that account.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: Mr. Chairman, in light of the confusion which the language which I proposed has caused, I would like to withdraw this amendment. I am very much opposed to the state getting into the control of any private enterprise, regardless of whether it is a savings and loan organization or anything else. But it was not my intent to put something in which would unduly restrict the investment, and in light of the people who have spoken, I think probably that the flexibility would not be abused.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: The amendment is withdrawn. Are there any other amendments to the section? If not, it will be passed.

Section d is passed.

The question now is on the body of the proposal. Are there any amendments to the body of the proposal? If not, it will be passed.

Committee Proposal 37 is passed.

The secretary will read item 27 on your calendar.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 27 on the calendar, from the committee on finance and taxation, by Mr. Brake, chairman, Committee Proposal 40, A proposal with reference to public retirement systems. Amends article X by adding a section.

Following is Committee Proposal 40 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Sec. a. THE ACCRUED FINANCIAL BENEFITS OF EACH PENSION PLAN AND RETIREMENT SYSTEM OF THE STATE AND ITS POLITICAL SUBDIVISIONS SHALL BE A CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATION THERE-

OF, WHICH SHALL NOT BE DIMINISHED OR IMPAIRED THEREBY.

ALL SUCH BENEFITS ARISING ON ACCOUNT OF SERVICE RENDERED IN EACH FISCAL YEAR SHALL BE FUNDED DURING THAT YEAR AND SUCH FUNDING SHALL NOT BE USABLE FOR FINANCING UNFUNDED ACCRUED LIABILITIES.

Mr. Brake, chairman of the committee on finance and taxation, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 40:

The problem here is extremely difficult. Any public system that is set up should have put into it each year sufficient money to meet all of the liability accrued during that year. If that is done from the very beginning, the system is not an excessive burden; but when you go for years without putting in enough money to cover the liability accruing each year, then to try to catch up for the past deficiency becomes a problem of magnitude. On the state level the 2 retirement systems for public school employees are pitiful examples of what results when the state simply puts in for a long period just enough money to meet the payments for retirees due each year.

It is estimated that it would take $424,688,598.00 to make the outstate employees' system actuarially sound and $151,679,334.00 to make the Detroit system actuarially sound. This kind of money is not easily found. We were asked to retain in the constitution, section 23 of article X, the constitutional guarantee of not less than 5 per cent, nor more than 7½ per cent of the payrolls from the schools' share of the sales tax. This was not done. The 7½ per cent does not even meet the liability accruing during each year, to say nothing about catching up for the past. To meet the accrued and accruing liability each year would take about 12¼ per cent of the payroll for the outstate system and 15½ per cent for the Detroit system, so instead of putting in any fixed percentage, we have provided for these 2 systems, and all others—state or municipal—a requirement that in each fiscal year the accruing liability shall be funded during that year, thus keeping any of these systems from getting farther behind than they are now.

This is not all that ought to be done but we think it is the maximum requirement that should be written into the constitution. Fortunately many of the systems, and particularly those starting in recent years, have kept sound from the very beginning.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen, we didn't want to disappoint anybody by going through a session without a battle. Let me assure you that there are more coming up.

At the time of the 1908 constitution, retirement funds for public employees were not a problem. There was therefore no section in the finance article dealing with them. Now they are a problem, in tremendous number, and with tremendous amounts of money involved; and situations have arisen in some of them that seem to make it desirable that there be some protections and some restrictions in the constitution. We have therefore proposed a new section, and for a detailed explanation of it I again yield to Mr. Van Dusen.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, this proposal by the committee is designed to do 2 things: first, to give to the employees participating in these plans a security which they do not now enjoy, by making the accrued financial benefits of the plans contractual rights. This, you might think, would go without saying, but several judicial determinations have been made to the effect that participants in pension plans for public employees have no vested interest in the benefits which they believe they have earned; that the municipalities and the state authorities which provide these plans provide them as a gratuity, and therefore it is within the province of the municipality or the other public employer to way use meant by including the patrolling of the roads by the state police, some safety measures, and I think at least once something having to do with street lighting—and you can build a legitimate argument that those were highway uses—but they failed. The legislature refused to go even to that extent. There never was a serious question, any time, until 1959, about taking any of these road funds and using them for some other purpose. Therefore, that was not a contributing cause of the trouble.

Now, it is possible that in 1959, in desperation, the legislature, if it had had the power, might have then used some of this money, but that would have been as a cure, and not as the cause of the 1959 crisis. Well, that's simple, and hardly a matter of opinion. There was a time—as a matter of fact, there were several times—when the opposite was true; when the road people tried to get general fund appropriations for road purposes, and on one occasion they succeeded. In the Murphy administration, they got an appropriation for road purposes out of the general fund of the state for $5 million, which was then considerable money. The governor in some way—and I never understood just how—stopped them before they got it all spent. But the legislature appropriated $5 million out of the general fund for road purposes.

All right. That is comparatively simple. When you get to the matter of the sales tax, you have to use opinion. But I would suggest that it is not just a wild guess. The big bite, of course, out of the sales tax that was earmarked was for school purposes—2 cents. It is my opinion that the schools during the period involved got less money from the state because of this amendment than they would have had without it. I think probably for the first 2 or 3 years they got a little more, but for the next several years that followed that I'm very sure that they got less. Because many legislators took the position that the schools having grabbed this money and pegged it for their own use, regardless of what else the state had before it, they would let them lie in the bed they had made, and refused to give them anything in addition, even though the need was becoming more and more acute. Finally, of course, in the last 4 years, that ended, and they have had general appropriation money in addition to the 2 cents. So that very certainly, very certainly, the tying up of that 2 cents did not contribute to the coming about of that financial crisis in 1959. And in 1959, remember, the legislature went beyond the 2 cents and appropriated additional money.

That brings us to the question of the ½ cent going to cities, villages and townships. And here one is farther out in the field of opinion than he is in connection with the schools. But I think here, too, there has been very little additional cost to the state, and therefore very little bearing on the crisis of 1959. Take first the cities, and include villages with the cities. The cities in the '40s were really in trouble. The tax study commission of the first Kelly administration, of which I was the working head, but not the honorary head, recommended the payment by the state to the cities at that time of substantially the same money they got under the sales tax amendment. If the committee's recommendation had been followed, we never would have had the sales tax diversion amendment. Because it was the cities that started that drive, and not the schools. The governor, however, would not go for any program of aid to the cities unless it was based upon the showing of need by each city. And when that was the picture, the cities lost interest. So that I feel certain that the legislature would have made grants to the cities without this amendment, if their need was serious, because there are a lot of voters in the cities, and I'm confident that that has cost us very little, if anything, by having that—and by "cost us," I mean through state financing.

When you get to the townships you have a little different picture. I doubt very much if the legislature would have gone for any grants in aid to townships. But the townships' part is a minor part, and when you have said that you have not come to the end of the argument. Down through the years since the sales tax diversion and until the last 2 or 3 years, about half of the townships in the state received no millage out of the 15 mills whatsoever. Many of them did not ask for it. With their sales tax money they were able to get along. Many of those who did ask for it were refused by the allocation boards, and they couldn't get it. It was only after the change in the law 2 or 3 years ago, maybe as far back as 1957, I don't remember for sure, that the larger part of the townships were given the 1 mill that the law requires if they need it. There are still some not getting it. Now, if they had not had this sales tax money, they would have had to have millage if they were to stay alive and perform the functions they have. And if they had to have millage, where would they get it? Out of the schools' share. The counties are held to rock bottom. If we had had to give the townships more millage, the schools would have had less millage. And what would they have done? What could they have done? They would have come to the legislature for greater grants, and they would have had them. So that all of the money that has been paid to the townships under the sales tax diversion has not meant that much more money out of the state treasury. Probably it has meant some more money out of the state treasury, but only a minor amount. And their total is a minor amount. I think on that basis one can say very certainly that the diversion of sales tax money was not a primary or a major cause of the trouble we had in 1959. Now, that leaves only one—the primary school money. Nobody ever mentions that as being a cause of our trouble. Historically, it has been in the picture so long, and in the beginning, of course, came from a federal grant, that that is not blamed, and certainly it is not blamable. Because had the schools not had it, there again they would have had to have larger grants from the state.

I don't know whether we wish to go on at this time, but if we do, may I call on Mr. Stafseth for a detailed explanation, going back now just to the weight and gas tax.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake, would you care to carry the matter over to the next session, or would you like to carry forward at this time?

MR. BRAKE: I am no more hungry than the other delegates, but I'm sure they are hungry, and I move that the committee rise.

CHAIRMAN MARTIN: Mr. Brake moves that the committee do now rise. All those in favor will signify by saying aye. Opposed, no.

The committee will now rise.

[Whereupon, the committee of the whole having risen, President Nisbet resumed the Chair.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration certain matters with respect to which the secretary will give a report.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has had under consideration Committee Proposal 26, A proposal for a section in the declaration of rights incorporating in the declaration of rights an "equal protection" clause and a guarantee against discrimination in civil and political rights because of race, religion, sex or national origin; Committee Proposal 28, A proposal to provide for compensation of the legislature; Committee Proposal 29, A proposal to provide for the form of laws; Committee Proposal 30, A proposal pertaining to free public and elementary schools; Committee Proposal 32, A proposal to provide for eligibility to serve in the legislature; Committee Proposal 33, A proposal to provide for immunity of legislators from arrest during sessions except for certain crimes; Committee Proposal 34, A proposal to provide for quorums of the house and senate and the right of these bodies to compel attendance; Committee Proposal 35, A proposal to provide that the form of legislation shall be by bill; and Committee Proposal 37, A proposal to provide for care and control of state funds, accounting for public moneys, audits, and publication of reports, and covering the general subject matter found in sections 15, 16, 17, 18 and 13 of article X of the 1908 constitution. The committee of the whole reports these proposals back to the convention without amendment, and with the recommendation that they do pass.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Lundgren.

MR. LUNDGREN: Mr. President, again, a point of order. I brought this up yesterday. I can see that the bell isn't summoning us quickly enough for a vote. I hope between now and Monday we will get a proper ruling from the Chair on the time limit, because some of us might be downstairs, and we're going to have a lot of these votes coming up.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Lundgren, we will get that smoothed out, I hope, by Monday.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Woolfenden.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Mr. President, if I'm in order, I would like to ask when the delegates may anticipate receiving the journal for yesterday. I think most of us would like to have it before we go home for the weekend.

SECRETARY CHASE: We got a report just a few minutes ago that it will be after lunch.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Do you know what time?

SECRETARY CHASE: After lunch—this afternoon.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: One minute after lunch, or 3 hours after lunch? (laughter)

SECRETARY CHASE: How long is the lunch period? (laughter)

PRESIDENT NISBET: I'm sure, Mr. Woolfenden, the delay is because of the large number of reports yesterday. I hope they get here right after lunch.

SECRETARY CHASE: The yeas are 126; the nays are none.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The recommendation of the committee of the whole is concurred in and Committee Proposal 30 is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 30 as referred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 762.

Father Dade.

MR. DADE: Mr. President, I would like to ask of the Chair how we would go about making unanimous the approval of this convention on the majority report on civil rights.

I think that we have written into the law of the state of Michigan a concept of democracy that is very fundamental and very gratifying. I also feel that this concept we have just written represents the unanimous opinion of this body. I think it would be a very historic occasion if on this measure we could vote not as a party, but as the convention. I'm asking you, sir, how that can be done.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will explain.

SECRETARY CHASE: The secretary would like to suggest —on this proposal, as well as upon the one we just voted on—that all of these proposals will again be before the convention as a report from the committee on style and drafting. They will be up on second reading in the convention, at which time anyone can demand a record roll call vote on the proposal, or upon any amendments that may be offered to it.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: Mr. President, in conferring with my colleagues in this corner, there seems to be a difference of opinion on the rule we arrived at the other day with regard to the time for filing minority reports. It is my understanding that we have 3 session days after the printing of the majority report in the journal. All of the delegates in this corner do not agree with me. I wonder if you might set us straight.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase says that is correct.

Mr. King.

MR. KING: Mr. President, in an effort to answer Father Dade's request, I would like to move the nonconcurrence of everything that we passed this morning, and reserve the right to vote contrary to my motion. And I demand a record roll call vote.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. King, would you come up, please. Mr. King, is your request that we revert back to Committee Proposal 26?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Referred to the order of second reading of proposals.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the amendment offered by Mr. Brake on behalf of the committee, the yeas are 71; the nays are 46.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is adopted. Since this amendment strikes out Committee Proposal 36, it is virtually an exclusion report and will be referred to the committee on style and drafting. Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Mr. President, a point of information here. Since this amendment would strike out a committee proposal, which would be an amendment to the constitution, doesn't it need 73 votes to carry?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Mahinske, the Chair will rule that the committee proposal is in relatively the same status as a committee proposal where the committee of the whole has stricken out all after the enacting clause which proposal in such cases heretofore has been referred to the committee on style and drafting. This action is equivalent to the adoption of an exclusion report, which is an indication that the convention has concluded that the language stricken is to be excluded from the new constitution, and this committee proposal, in its present form, will be rereferred to the committee on style and drafting for the information of that committee.

MR. MAHINSKE: Would it be proper to resubmit the committee proposal from the floor?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Point of order, Mr. President. The resubmission of the proposal from the floor would be the negative of something we have just acted on in the positive and would be out of order.

MR. MAHINSKE: I think we are in sort of a neutral position, if anything.

PRESIDENT NISBET: It will be again referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 36 as amended and rereferred to the committee on style and drafting:

(Note: The entire content of this proposal has been stricken.)

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 4 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 37, A proposal to provide for care and control of state funds, accounting for public moneys, audits, and publication of reports, and covering the general subject matter found in sections 15, 16, 17, 18 and 13 of article X of the 1908 constitution.

Following is Committee Proposal 37 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 766.):

Sec. a. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50 per cent of the capital and surplus of such bank. Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall show the amount of state money so deposited as a separate item in all published statements.

Sec. b. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. c. The legislature shall provide by law for the annual accounting for all public moneys, state and local, and may also provide by law for interim accounting. [The legislature shall provide by law for the audit of state and county accounts by competent state authority, and may also provide for the audit of any other public accounts.]

SEC. C1. All [accountings,] FINANCIAL records, ACCOUNTINGS, audit reports and other reports of public moneys shall be public records and open to inspection. A [detailed] statement of all revenues and expenditures of public moneys shall be published and distributed annually, as prescribed by law.

Sec. d. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and except that endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, section a is the present section of the 1908 constitution, section 15, without any change at all. Section b is, in substance, the same thing as we have in the present constitution and something certainly very obviously right. In section c the committee on style and drafting made a substantive change, but they did it for the reason that they are putting the language in another place in the executive article. We would certainly object to having the compulsory auditing of the counties by the state eliminated. They have taken it out of this section, but we will come to it again when we take up the executive article next week. Section c1 is substantially what we have in the constitution at present, although it is a combination of 2 sections. Section d is the same thing we have, except that we have added this provision about the investment of retirement funds. The 1908 constitution forbids the state to own or be interested in stocks. We have made an exception here so that, as provided by law, endowment funds and certain trusts may invest in stocks, contrary to the old prohibition in the constitution.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of Committee Proposal 37. Those in favor of Committee Proposal 37 will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote. Will the pages notify the people in the hall?

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 7 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 40, A proposal with reference to public retirement systems. Amends article X by adding a section.

Following is Committee Proposal 40 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 778.):

Sec. a. The accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof[,] which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby.

[All] FINANCIAL benefits arising on account of service rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during that year and such funding shall not be usable for financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair will recognize Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, this is a new section for the constitution, and one that very greatly strengthens the public employee retirement systems on both the state and local levels. It does 2 things: in the first paragraph, it provides that the relationship between the employing unit and the employee shall be a contractual relationship so that the municipality may not change the relationship at its will. The benefits that have accrued up to a given time are contractual and must be carried out by the municipality or by the state. The second paragraph provides that each year the system shall pay in enough money to fund the liability arising in that year. It does not require that the system catch up with all of its past liability, which would be an impossibility in connection with some of the state systems, but it does require that they shall not go any further behind.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Will the delegates please clear the board. The question is on Committee Proposal 40. Those in favor of Committee Proposal 40 will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

Article IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[.]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. 5. ISLAND AREAS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE CONTIGUOUS BY LAND TO THE COUNTY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of [8] EIGHT persons, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the [2] TWO political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election AT WHICH A GOVERNOR WAS ELECTED preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following [4] FOUR regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until [2] TWO years after the apportionment [plan] in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever [Re]apportionment or districting OF THE LEGISLATURE is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds [necessary] to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to DISTRICT AND apportion[, and district,] the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of [all of] the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted BY THE COMMISSION and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any [qualified] elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the apportionment commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall make orders amending such plan if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative MUST [shall] be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and AN [a qualified] elector of the district he represents[,] . [and] The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and officers of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the amendment offered by Messrs. Bentley and L. W. Richards, the yeas are 91; the nays are 40.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The amendment is adopted. The secretary will read the next amendment. Mr. Young.

MR. YOUNG: I don't think we should let this moment pass without the proper obsequies. Now that the deal has been broken and duly laid to rest we could extend this convention for another couple of weeks, and we might accomplish something in the interests of the people of Michigan.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: I think we would have a more accurate understanding if the people who are talking of the package had had something to do with it so they would know what they were talking about. (applause)

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Staiger and Cudlip offer the following amendment:

1. Amend article IX, section 18 (column 1, line 20) after "requirements" by inserting "or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees"; so that the paragraph will read:

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Staiger.

MR. STAIGER: Mr. President, we also have an amendment to section 19 of the same article that is related, and I think we can save time by taking both of them up at once, if we could have that one, too.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. Staiger and Cudlip also offer an amendment to section 19:

2. Amend article IX, section 19 (column 1, line 25) after "corporation" by striking out the period and reinserting the comma and "except that"; and in line 28, after "law" by striking out the period and reinserting the semicolon and "and"; so that the language will then read:

The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

MR. STAIGER: These 2 amendments, as I said before, are interrelated and I want to make it very clear that through the stages of coming out of the finance and taxation committee, first reading, second reading, as adopted by the committee, and on through style and drafting, there was no intent to change the intent of this provision. The finance and taxation committee determined that public employees' retirement system funds should be allowed to invest as provided by law. That was the intent of the provision as it came out of the finance and taxation committee. That was the intent on first reading and second reading. Both of these sections 18 and 19 contain possible prohibitions against that provision. For that reason, on second reading, an additional amendment was placed in section 18 to clear this up so that there would be no question about this right.

Style and drafting, however, in going through this matter, thought at first glance that we could consolidate this question in one place and by doing so just make an outright provision that—and this was in section 19 that we did it—that "Funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law." Now that, standing alone, seemed to clear the matter but after reviewing it again and looking it over, we have decided that we may have cast some doubt on that provision, because we put it in as the second sentence in section 19 and took out the provision in 18 which referred to this. Mr. Cudlip and I have been over it. I talked to Mr. Brake and he agrees. And we therefore recommend this amendment to straighten out to some extent what was done in style and drafting. I therefore urge you to support the amendments so that this matter may be cleared up.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I rise to confirm the fact that these are perfecting amendments. We in style and drafting made a change which has been determined to be a substantive change and this is merely an effort to correct that change, and I urge support of these amendments.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the amendments offered by Mr. Staiger and Mr. Cudlip. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendments are adopted. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Seyferth offers the following amendment:

1. Amend article IX, section 24 (column 2, line 6) by striking out all of lines 6 through 9; which read:

Financial benefits arising on account of service rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during that year and such funding shall not be used for financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Seyferth.

MR. SEYFERTH: Mr. President and delegates, we have had, over the past 4 or 5 months, clarifying amendments. We Proposal 36, which on April 19, as shown on page 1052 of the journal, was stricken and defeated by a vote of 71 to 46. For that reason I do not believe the amendment is now in order. I recognize that there is a slight difference in the wording but I don't think there is any difference in the substance and I think that under the rules there is no question but what this is out of order.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President, may I speak to the point of order?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: You may speak to the point, Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: At the time the committee proposal was presented to the floor, we had abolished the state aid fund, the school aid fund, as it was called at that time, and we have now, under the amendment which was adopted on the floor, provided for a school aid fund to which certain taxes are to be contributed and to which the legislature may contribute other dedicated revenues through legislation. This merely provides that this is another source of revenue to be contributed to that particular fund. I submit that this is a different proposition.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, Mr. Austin is in error when he says that we had at that point abolished the school aid fund. On page 1046 of the journal, we adopted Committee Proposal 39, which said, "There shall be established a state school aid fund" — adopted a substitute for it which made that provision.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen, will you cite again your reference with regard to what was before the body before? Page what?

MR. VAN DUSEN: Page 1052, Mr. President, of the journal, April 19, Committee Proposal 36. An amendment was offered by Mr. Brake, on behalf of the committee on finance and taxation, to strike out the entire proposal, which was substantially the same as the language now offered by Mr. Austin, and that amendment carried 71 to 46. So that Mr. Austin now proposes to insert in the constitution that which was stricken on second reading.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Austin, will you accept the point of order?

MR. AUSTIN: Yes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: All right. Mr. Austin accepts the point of order and withdraws his amendment. The secretary will read the next amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: I have no other ones.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: No other amendments? The question is upon the passage of article IX, as amended.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, if there are no further amendments, I would like to move to limit further debate on this article to 5 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen moves to limit debate upon the article to 5 minutes. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Debate is so limited. Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President, this may be unfair because I have a 5 minute speech here.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: You are recognized, Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President and fellow delegates, the committee on finance and taxation worked very hard to develop what is now article IX. There have been many developments on which there is substantial bipartisan support: I would like to call attention to the removal of the prohibition to taxation by reference to other legislation which permits the freedom to piggyback to other forms of taxation. There has been some relaxation of the 15 mill limitation. We have raised the debt limit. We have provided for refunding of the Mackinac bridge bond issue. We have provided for pensions, recognized the obligation to fund these pension funds properly for public employees. We have also relaxed the restrictions on the investment of pension and trust funds. We have updated the language and the style of the section and we have even done something for nonprofit corporations in providing exemptions for them.

Much of this good work has been offset by what I consider to be some blinders that we put on in regard to giving the legislature more freedom in the area of taxing power. We have placed a restriction on assessment of tangible property to 50 per cent of the cash value of that property. I don't believe there is any need at this time to elaborate on the great harm that this 50 per cent of cash value standard does to many areas of our state. We have retained the uniformity clause for assessment of property, not giving the local units of government or the legislature the right to classify any of the property. We have provided a prohibition to a graduated income tax which, in the long run, may do great harm in restricting the legislature in its ability to raise sufficient revenues from any income tax levy, should it ever desire to impose such a levy. We have removed a good deal of the earmarking of taxes for schools. Just a few moments ago we restored the earmarking of $\frac{1}{2}$ of the sales tax for schools but we have not restored the earmarking of the taxes now contributing to the primary school interest fund.

Throughout the deliberations, the committee has not responded to the pleas of those of us from the more populous areas, our pleas for more freedom to levy taxes because so much of the property is now being pulled off the tax rolls and because of the general inadequacy of the property tax as a major source of revenue at the local level. There is a need for more revenue and there is more need for flexibility in levying property taxes.

I think one of the most unfortunate situations that has developed here at the convention is that a good deal of the decisions in regard to some of these major issues in regard to taxation were not deliberated in the committee on finance and taxation. Decisions were made off the floor in connection with a proposition which has been mentioned very often here on the floor. I think that we would have had a happier situation had the leadership, the minority leadership, been consulted on some of these major changes. I was informed today that the minority leadership has been consulted on only one issue before this convention since February, and that was on the parimutuel issue.

I submit that there are a good number of other issues particularly the issues of taxation —

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time.

MR. AUSTIN: Thank you. I urge the defeat of this article.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the passage of article IX, finance and taxation, as amended. Time for debate upon it has expired. All those in favor of the passage of article IX — for what purpose, Mr. Wanger?

MR. WANGER: How many other speakers were there seeking recognition?

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: There wasn't anyone.

MR. WANGER: I see. Mr. President, I wish to announce my intention to abstain for the purpose of forcing a reconsideration of the Bentley amendment. I urge others to do likewise.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Wanger abstains. The question is upon the passage of article IX, finance and taxation, as amended. All those in favor of the adoption of article IX will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of article IX, as amended, the yeas are 90; the nays are 36.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A majority of the delegates elect having voted in favor thereof, article IX, as amended, is passed.

For sections 1, 2, 3, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12 through 17 and 20 through 24 of article IX as passed, see above, page 3067.

Following is section 4 of article IX as amended and passed:

Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by a non-profit religious or educational organization and used exclusively for religious or educational purposes, as defined by law, shall be exempt from real and personal property taxes.

Following is section 6 of article IX as amended and passed:

Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. The limitations established by this constitution or by county vote may be increased to an aggregate of not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation, for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one time, if approved by a majority of the electors, qualified under Article II, Section 6 of this constitution voting on the question.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township or charter or other authority the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

In any school district which extends into two or more counties, property taxes at the highest rate available in the county which contains the greatest part of the area of the district may be imposed and collected for school purposes throughout the district.

Following is section 11 of article IX as amended and passed:

Sec. 11. There shall be established a state school aid fund. The legislature shall provide moneys for this fund, including one-half of all sales tax revenues on tangible personal property as part of the dedicated tax revenues, which shall be used exclusively for the support of public education and school employees' retirement systems. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Following is section 18 of article IX as amended and passed:

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Following is section 19 of article IX as amended and passed:

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mr. Upton:

I voted no on article IX — the finance and taxation article in the firm belief that the action taken by the convention in reinserting earmarking of sales tax funds for public education was not for the best interest of our state and public education. Michigan constitutionally earmarks over 60 per cent of its revenues — more than any other state and a definite impediment to overall tax reform. This action by the convention removes at least $200 million from the general fund — money which is lost to control by the legislature and also to the attention of all citizens of Michigan. The legislature has proven that it can appropriate money from the general fund for the support of public education. In my estimation, public education could receive more attention and understanding from a legislature not handicapped by earmarking. We have not asserted the leadership in this vexing problem as the citizens of Michigan could and should expect of their constitutional convention delegates.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Messrs. Austin, Bradley, Follo, Ford, Sablich, Norris, Nord, Douglas, Bledsoe, Downs, Youngblood, Young, Madar, Stopczynski, Baginski, Binkowski, Faxon, Walker, Jones, Mrs. Hatcher and Mrs. Daisy Elliott:

We have been compelled to vote no on article IX because we believe the convention dissipated a grand opportunity to provide the framework for an improved tax structure and true fiscal reform for the state of Michigan.

Admittedly there are many of the changes in the article that are highly desirable and represent substantial improvement in the present document. Such changes include removal of the prohibition on taxation by reference to other legislation, relaxation of the so called 15 mill limitation, raising of the debt limit for borrowing for current purposes, refunding of the Mackinac bridge authority bond issue, recognition of the obligations in connection with pension requirements for public employees, relaxation of restrictions on investment of pension and other trust funds, and general updating of the language and style of the article in the present constitution.

Much of the good work of the convention has been offset by a refusal of the majority to recognize the need for relaxing restrictions on taxing powers of the legislature and local units of government. Indeed, some of the provisions written into the new document amount to further restriction of taxing powers.

There has been included a provision requiring that property be assessed for ad valorem taxation at 50 per cent of its value. The present constitution provides for assessment at 100 per cent cash value. Inclusion of the 50 per cent standard is an unnecessary restriction on the legislature to set limits for such taxation and will do grievous harm to the cities, townships, counties and school districts in the more populous areas. The lost revenue may have to be secured by increases in taxes on homes.

The prohibition of a graduated income tax is also an unnecessary restriction on the power of the legislature to raise sufficient revenues to pay the cost of government. No delegate would advocate that the legislature levy an income tax in any form. This matter should be left entirely to the legislature. However, once the legislature has decided to embark on an income tax program it should have the freedom to levy the tax in any form it desires.

Earmarking of gas and weight taxes for highways has been continued intact. But a portion of the earmarking of taxes for schools has been removed, thereby reducing the minimum base of support for schools. This action on the part of the majority is indefensible.

Throughout its deliberations the convention has failed to respond to the pleas of delegates representing the more populous areas for relaxation of taxing powers at state and local levels. Additional revenues are needed because the present sources, particularly the property tax, have proved inadequate for present needs.

It is with deep regret that we feel compelled, therefore, to vote against the new article IX.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mrs. Cushman:

While there are a number of improvements in article IX, the complete article does not, in my opinion, form the basis for an adequate system of financing the state of Michigan.

I object especially to the continuation of earmarking a great share of the state's revenues, the rigidity of a 50 per cent assessment level restriction, the modified 15 mill limitation, and prohibition of a graduated rate income tax.

I am pleased with the continuation of protection for school bond issues, relaxation of the debt limit, and, in the local government article, the strengthened tax powers of cities.

On the whole, however, the weaknesses of article IX overbalance the strengths.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): The Chair recognizes Mr. McAllister.

MR. McALLISTER: Mr. President, I would like to make a few remarks. This morning when we gave credit and recognition to the staff, attention was directed primarily to the gallery rather than to the control tower. At this time, on my own behalf — and I am taking the liberty to do so on behalf of the other delegates — I would like to compliment the podium staff for their having so ably surrounded and kept Mr. Chase in good humor and for having worked so diligently around the clock to make a record of this convention and get the journal out on time. I understand that many of these people have worked as late as 3:00 or 4:00 o'clock in the morning on occasions and then have got back here at 8:30 or a quarter to 9:00. I believe we should give these folks a rising vote of thanks for their part in this convention.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: If it weren't for the secretary's staff, I am sure that this convention couldn't operate at all. Mr. Marshall.

MR. MARSHALL: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I think while we are commending all of the staff — and I am in complete accord with that — I think we ought to find out between now and Friday who did the least talking and I can assure you it will not be me, but we ought to find out who did the least talking in this convention and all of us give him a standing ovation on Friday. (laughter)

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Third reading. The secretary will read article XI.

SECRETARY CHASE: Article XI, public officers and employment.

[Article XI, sections 1 through 15, was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 3070.]

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Article XI has been read a third time. The question being upon the passage of the article, the secretary will report the first amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Messrs. King, Martin, Durst and Wanger offer the following amendment:

1. Amend article XI, section 8 (column 1, line 7) after "budget," by striking out the balance of the section and inserting "The legislature is not required to appropriate additional funds to meet the cost of such increases if in its judgment they should be met by a reduction in force or other economies by the various state agencies."

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I move to limit debate on this amendment to 10 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On the motion to limit debate upon this amendment to 10 minutes, those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no. That was kind of a weak support. All those in favor will say aye. The opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. Debate is so limited.

MR. HATCH: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Hatch.

MR. HATCH: I rise to a point of order, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: State the point.

MR. HATCH: On April 25, in Journal 128 on page 1119, the convention, on second reading, adopted the amendment which presently appears in section 8. I call the Chair's attention to section 398, paragraph one, of Mason's rules which provide that, "An amendment, once adopted, may not thereafter be changed or modified, except by reconsideration of the vote by which it was adopted." I therefore make the point that this amendment does change and modify an amendment previously adopted and that the amendment is not in order.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Do you wish to speak to the point, Mr. King?

MR. KING: Yes, I do. Mr. President and fellow delegates, it would seem as though we have extended the wisdom of Mr. Mason to the stretching point — to the breaking point perhaps. First of all I would point out — and I am sure that all of us are well aware of that fact — that this is a constitutional convention. The very reason for having 3 separate and distinct readings of these proposals is to provide an opportunity to go back and look over what we have done on prior readings, to view the whole constitution in its proper context, perhaps even to subject ourselves to public opinion and perhaps revise our thinking on certain subjects. Surely, if we should accept this as a controlling rule upon this body, it might well be a good idea to move to suspend third reading, for what point is there in third reading? It seems perfectly obvious to me that if the rule has any effect at all — and I seriously question whether it does; but if it has any effect at all, it certainly wouldn't carry over from one reading to another reading.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Wanger, do you desire to speak on the point?

MR. WANGER: I do, Mr. President. I would like to first point out that nowhere in the section cited is the categorical statement that it applies to all readings, from one reading to the next. Secondly, I would like to point out that it has obviously been the custom of this convention, the usage of this convention, to disregard this section up until today when some delegates, because of personal motives in connection with amendments which they themselves originally sponsored, now desire to prevent the convention from having any opportunity to consider whether or not those amendments should be modified.

I suggest that under section 39 of Mason's Manual entitled, Precedents and Usages, the precedents which we have adopted in this regard and the usage of the convention in this regard clearly take precedence over any alleged effect that section 398 might have when raised at this very, very late date in the constitutional convention.

Paragraph 4, for example, of section 39 says, "A not inconsiderable part of parliamentary law is based upon the established

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the state be appropriated for any such purpose. Sec. 10. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law or law impairing the obligation of contract shall be enacted.

Sec. 11. The person, houses, papers and possessions of every person shall be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures. No warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things shall issue without describing them, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation. Sec. 12. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Article II Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors which involves the increase of any ad valorem tax rate limitation for a period of more than five years, or the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors or three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

Article III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial dis-

1 | trict in the city with which it is combined, if
2 | provided by ordinance of the city. The district
3 | or districts with which the territory shall be
4 | combined shall be determined by such ordinance
5 | certified to the secretary of state. No such change
6 | in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial
7 | district shall have the effect of removing a legis-
8 | lator from office during his term.

9 | Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be con-
10 | tiguous by land to the county of which they are
11 | a part.

12 | Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportion-
13 | ment is hereby established consisting of eight
14 | persons, four of whom shall be selected by the
15 | state organizations of each of the two political
16 | parties whose candidates for governor received
17 | the highest vote at the last general election at
18 | which a governor was elected preceding each ap-
19 | portionment. If a candidate for governor of a third
20 | political party has received at such election more
21 | than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the
22 | commission shall consist of 12 members, four of
23 | whom shall be selected by the state organization of
24 | the third political party. One member of the com-
25 | mission shall be selected by each political party or-
26 | ganization from each of the following four regions:
27 | (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of
28 | the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along
29 | the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay,
30 | Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana;
31 | (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south
32 | of region (2) and west of a line drawn along
33 | the western boundaries of the counties of Bay,
34 | Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hills-
35 | dale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining
36 | counties of the state.

37 | No officers or employees of the federal, state
38 | or local governments, excepting notaries public
39 | and members of the armed forces reserve, shall
40 | be eligible for membership on the commission.
41 | Members of the commission shall not be eligible
42 | for election to the legislature until two years after
43 | the apportionment in which they participated
44 | becomes effective.

45 | The commission shall be appointed immediately
46 | after the adoption of this constitution and when-
47 | ever apportionment or districting of the legislature
48 | is required by the provisions of this constitution.
49 | Members of the commission shall hold office until
50 | each apportionment or districting plan becomes
51 | effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same
52 | manner as for original appointment.

53 | The secretary of state shall be secretary of
54 | the commission without vote, and in that capacity
55 | shall furnish, under the direction of the commis-
56 | sion, all necessary technical services. The com-
57 | mission shall elect its own chairman, shall make
58 | its own rules of procedure, and shall receive com-
59 | pensation provided by law. The legislature shall
60 | appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

1 | Within 30 days after the adoption of this con-
2 | stitution, and after the official total population
3 | count of each federal decennial census of the state
4 | and its political subdivisions is available, the se-
5 | cretary of state shall issue a call convening the
6 | commission not less than 30 nor more than 45
7 | days thereafter. The commission shall complete
8 | its work within 180 days after all necessary census
9 | information is available. The commission shall
10 | proceed to district and apportion the senate and
11 | house of representatives according to the provi-
12 | sions of this constitution. All final decisions shall
13 | require the concurrence of a majority of the mem-
14 | bers of the commission. The commission shall hold
15 | public hearings as may be provided by law.

16 | Each final apportionment and districting plan
17 | shall be published as provided by law within 30
18 | days from the date of its adoption and shall be-
19 | come law 60 days after publication. The secre-
20 | tary of state shall keep a public record of all the
21 | proceedings of the commission and shall be re-
22 | sponsible for the publication and distribution of
23 | each plan.

24 | If a majority of the commission cannot agree
25 | on a plan, each member of the commission, indi-
26 | vidualy or jointly with other members, may sub-
27 | mit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The
28 | supreme court shall determine which plan com-
29 | plies most accurately with the constitutional re-
30 | quirements and shall direct that it be adopted
31 | by the commission and published as provided
32 | in this section.

33 | Upon the application of any elector filed not
34 | later than 60 days after final publication of the
35 | plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of origi-
36 | nal jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of
37 | state or the apportionment commission to per-
38 | form their duties, may review any final plan
39 | adopted by the commission, and shall remand
40 | such plan to the commission for further action
41 | if it fails to comply with the requirements of
42 | this constitution.

43 | Sec. 7. Each senator and representative
44 | must be a citizen of the United States, at least
45 | 21 years of age, and an elector of the district
46 | he represents. The removal of his domicile from
47 | the district shall be deemed a vacation of the
48 | office. No person who has been convicted of sub-
49 | version or who has within the preceding 20 years
50 | been convicted of a felony involving a breach
51 | of public trust shall be eligible for either house
52 | of the legislature.

53 | Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the
54 | United States or this state or a political subdivi-
55 | sion thereof, except notaries public and officers
56 | of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of
57 | either house of the legislature.

58 | Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature
59 | shall receive any civil appointment within this

1 state from the governor, except notaries public,
2 from the legislature, or from any other state
3 authority, during the term for which he is elected.

4 Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any 5 state officer shall be interested directly or in-6 directly in any contract with the state or any 7 political subdivision thereof which shall cause a
8 substantial conflict of interest. The legislature
9 shall further implement this provision by appro-
10 priate legislation.

11 Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be 12 privileged from civil arrest and civil process dur-
13 ing sessions of the legislature and for five days
14 next before the commencement and after the 15 termination thereof. They shall not be ques-
16 tioned in any other place for any speech in either
17 house.

18 Sec. 12. The compensation and expense al-
19 lowances of the members of the legislature shall 20 be determined by law. Changes in compensation
21 or expense allowances shall become effective only
22 when legislators commence their terms of office
23 after a general election.

24 Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat
25 of government on the second Wednesday in Janu-
26 ary of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each
27 regular session shall adjourn without day, on a 28 day determined by concurrent resolution, at 29 twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint 30 resolution pending at the final adjournment of 31 a regular session held in an odd numbered year
32 shall carry over with the same status to the 33 next regular session.

34 Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected
35 to and serving in each house shall constitute a 36 quorum to do business. A smaller number in 37 each house may adjourn from day to day, and 38 may compel the attendance of absent members in 39 the manner and with penalties as each house may 40 prescribe.

41 Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legisla-
42 tive council consisting of legislators appointed in 43 the manner prescribed by law. The legislature
44 shall appropriate funds for the council's opera-
45 tions and provide for its staff which shall main-
46 tain bill drafting, research and other services
47 for the members of the legislature. The council 48 shall periodically examine and recommend to the 49 legislature revision of the various laws of the 50 state.

51 Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise pro-
52 vided in this constitution, shall choose its own
53 officers and determine the rules of its proceedings,
54 but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a 55 majority of the members elected thereto and 56 serving therein from discharging a committee
57 from the further consideration of any measure.
58 Each house shall be the sole judge of the quali-
59 fications, elections and returns of its members, 60 and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of

1 all the members elected thereto and serving
2 therein, expel a member. The reasons for such 3 expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with 4 the votes and names of the members voting upon
5 the question. No member shall be expelled a
6 second time for the same cause.

7 Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may 8 establish the committees necessary for the effi-
9 cient conduct of its business and the legislature
10 may create joint committees. Each committee
11 shall by roll call vote record the vote and name
12 of all action on bills and resolutions taken in 13 the committee. Such vote shall be available for 14 public inspection. Notice of all committee hear-
15 ings and a clear statement of all subjects to be 16 considered at each hearing shall be published in 17 the journal in advance of the hearing.

18 Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of 19 its proceedings, and publish the same unless the 20 public security otherwise requires. The record
21 of the vote and name of the members of either
22 house voting on any question shall be entered 23 in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the 24 members present. Any member of either house
25 may dissent from and protest against any act,
26 proceeding or resolution which he deems injuri-
27 ous to any person or the public, and have the 28 reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

29 Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in 30 joint convention and all votes on appointments
31 submitted to the senate for advice and consent
32 shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

33 Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open
34 unless the public security otherwise requires.

35 Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the con-
36 sent of the other, adjourn for more than two 37 intervening calendar days, nor to any place other 38 than where the legislature may then be in session.

39 Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and 40 may originate in either house.

41 Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The 42 People of the State of Michigan enact.

43 Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one
44 object, which shall be expressed in its title. No
45 bill shall be altered or amended on its passage
46 through either house so as to change its original 47 purpose as determined by its total content and 48 not alone by its title.

49 Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or 50 amended by reference to its title only. The section
51 or sections of the act altered or amended shall 52 be re-enacted and published at length.

53 Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a 54 law at any regular session of the legislature until 55 it has been printed or reproduced and in the pos-
56 session of each house for at least five days. Every 57 bill shall be read three times in each house be-58 fore the final passage thereof. No bill shall be-
59 come a law without the concurrence of a majority 60 of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

17 surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

18 Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the 19 uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and 20 tangible personal property not exempt by law. The 21 legislature shall provide for the determination of 22 true cash value of such property; the proportion

24 be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after 25 January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a sys-

28 designated real and tangible personal property in 29 lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax
30 other than the general ad valorem property tax 31 shall be uniform upon the class or classes on 32 which it operates.

33 Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-

37 real and personal property taxes.

38 Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the 39 assessment by the state of the property of those 40 public service businesses assessed by the state
41 at the date this constitution becomes effective, and 42 of other property as designated by the legislature,
43 and for the imposition and collection of taxes
44 thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be 45 assessed at the same proportion of its true
46 cash value as the legislature shall specify for 47 property subject to general ad valorem taxation.
48 The rate of taxation on such property shall be 49 the average rate levied upon other property in this 50 state under the general ad valorem tax law, or,
51 if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable
52 to the property of each business enterprise assessed
53 by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem
54 taxation levied upon other property in all counties
55 in which any of such property is situated.

56 Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this 57 constitution, the total amount of general ad valo-
58 rem taxes imposed upon real and tangible per-59 sonal property for all purposes in any one year
60 shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the

1 assessed valuation of property as finally equalized.
2 Under procedures provided by law, which shall
3 guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax
4 limitations for any county and for the townships
5 and for school districts therein, the aggregate of 6 which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of 7 such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter
8 altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified
9 electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu 10 of the limitation hereinbefore established. These 11 limitations may be increased to an aggregate of 12 not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation,
13 for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one
14 time, if approved by a majority of the electors,
15 qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this 16 constitution, voting on the question.

17 The foregoing limitations shall not apply to 18 taxes imposed for the payment of principal and 19 interest on bonds or other evidences of indebted-20 ness or for the payment of assessments or con-
21 tract obligations in anticipation of which bonds
22 are issued, which taxes may be imposed without 23 limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes im-
24 posed for any other purpose by any city, vil-
25 lage, charter county, charter township, charter
26 authority or other authority, the tax limitations
27 of which are provided by charter or by general
28 law.

29 In any school district which extends into two 30 or more counties, property taxes at the highest 31 rate available in the county which contains the 32 greatest part of the area of the district may be 33 imposed and collected for school purposes through-34 out the district.

35 Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate
36 or base shall be imposed by the state or any of 37 its subdivisions.

38 Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a 39 sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than 40 four percent of their gross taxable sales of 41 tangible personal property.

42 Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales
43 and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed di-
44 rectly or indirectly on fuels sold or used 45 to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on 46 registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment
47 of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusi-
48 vely for highway purposes as defined by law.

49 Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on 50 retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible 51 personal property shall be used exclusively for 52 assistance to townships, cities and villages, on 53 a population basis as provided by law. In de-
54 termining population the legislature may exclude 55 any portion of the total number of persons who 56 are wards, patients or convicts in any tax sup-
57 ported institution.

58 Sec. 11. There shall be established a state
59 school aid fund which shall be used exclusively
60 for the support of public education and school

One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money

1 shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50
2 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank.
3 Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall 4 show the amount of state money so deposited as 5 a separate item in all published statements.

6 Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law
7 for the annual accounting for all public moneys,
8 state and local, and may provide by law for interim
9 accounting.

10 The legislature shall provide by law for the 11 maintenance of uniform accounting systems by 12 units of local government and the auditing of 13 county accounts by competent state authority
14 and other units of government as provided by law.

15 Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and 16 adjustment of claims against the state shall be 17 prescribed by law.

18 Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings,
19 audit reports and other reports of public moneys
20 shall be public records and open to inspection. A
21 statement of all revenues and expenditures of pub-
22 lic moneys shall be published and distributed
23 annually, as provided by law.

24 Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each
25 pension plan and retirement system of the state
26 and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual
27 obligation thereof which shall not be diminished
28 or impaired thereby.

29 Financial benefits arising on account of service
30 rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during 31 that year and such funding shall not be used for 32 financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

To enable the commission to exercise its powers, the legislature shall appropriate to the commission for the ensuing fiscal year a sum not less than one percent of the aggregate payroll of the classified service for the preceding fiscal year, as certified by the commission. Within six months after the conclusion of each fiscal year the commission shall return to the state treasury all moneys unexpended for that fiscal year.

The commission shall furnish reports of expenditures, at least annually, to the governor and the legislature and shall be subject to annual audit as provided by law.

No payment for personal services shall be made or authorized until the provisions of this constitution pertaining to civil service have been complied with in every particular. 3 shall preside.

4 No person shall be convicted without the con-

11 functions of his office after an impeachment is 12 directed until he is acquitted.

13 Sec. 1. Amendments to this constitution may 14 be proposed in the senate or house of representa-
15 tives. Proposed amendments agreed to by two-16 thirds of the members elected to and serving in 17 each house on a vote with the names and vote of 18 those voting entered in the respective journals
19 shall be submitted, not less than 60 days there-
20 after, to the electors at the next general election
21 or special election as the legislature shall direct.
22 If a majority of electors voting on a proposed 23 amendment approve the same, it shall become 24 part of the constitution and shall abrogate or 25 amend existing provisions of the constitution at 26 the end of 45 days after the date of the election
27 at which it was approved.

28 Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this 29 constitution by petition of the registered electors
30 of this state. Every petition shall include the full 31 text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by 32 registered electors of the state equal in number to 33 at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for 34 all candidates for governor at the last preceding 35 general election at which a governor was elected.
36 Such petitions shall be filed with the person au-
37 thorized by law to receive the same at least 120
38 days before the election at which the proposed 39 amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition
40 shall be in the form, and shall be signed and 41 circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law.
42 The person authorized by law to receive such peti-
43 tion shall upon its receipt determine, as provided
44 by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signa-
45 tures on the petition, and make an official an-46 nouncement thereof at least 60 days prior to the 47 election at which the proposed amendment is to be 48 voted upon.

49 Any amendment proposed by such petition shall 50 be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was 51 filed, to the electors at the next general election.
52 Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of 53 the constitution which would be altered or abro-
54 gated thereby, and the question as it shall appear
55 on the ballot shall be published in full as provided
56 by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted 57 in each polling place and furnished to news media

as provided by law.

58 The ballot to be used in such election shall con-
59 tain a statement of the purpose of the proposed 60 amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

61 If the proposed amendment is approved by a
62 majority of the electors voting on the question, 63 it shall become part of the constitution, and 64 shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of 65 the constitution at the end of 45 days after 66 the date of the election at which it was ap-67 proved. If two or more amendments approved by 68 the electors at the same election conflict, that 69 amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote
70 shall prevail.

71 Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in 72 the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter
73 and at such times as may be provided by law, the 74 question of a general revision of the constitution
75 shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If 76 a majority of the electors voting on the question
77 decide in favor of a convention for such purpose,
78 at an election to be held not later than six months
79 after the proposal was certified as approved, the 80 electors of each representative district as then
81 organized shall elect one delegate and the elec-
82 tors of each senatorial district as then organized
83 shall elect one delegate at a partisan election.
84 The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat
85 of government on the first Tuesday in October
86 next succeeding such election or at an earlier date
87 if provided by law.

88 The convention shall choose its own officers,
89 determine the rules of its proceedings and judge
90 the qualifications, elections and returns of its mem-
91 bers. The governor shall appoint a qualified
92 resident of the same district to fill a vacancy
93 in the office of any delegate who shall be a mem-
94 ber of the same party as the delegate vacating
95 the office. The convention shall have power to ap-
96 point such officers, employees and assistants as 97 it deems necessary and to fix their compensation;
98 to provide for the printing and distribution of its 99 documents, journals and proceedings; to explain 100 and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

101 No proposed constitution or amendment adopted
102 by such convention shall be submitted to the 103 electors for approval as hereinafter provided un-
104 less by the assent of a majority of all the delegates 105 elected to and serving in the convention, with the 106 names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that the report be adopted. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The report is adopted. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, in compliance with our rules, I think it would now be necessary to take a roll call vote on the amendment to the constitution changing the date.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment recommended in the report is as follows:

1. Amend the schedule, section 15 [formerly section 16] (column 2) line 11, after "held on the" by striking out "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962.", and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will call the roll. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye as your name is called. Those opposed will vote no.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause)
PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

Sincerely,
Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger, White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.

2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."

3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.

4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

CONSTITUTION

August 1, 1962

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Sec. 16. Excessive bail shall not be required; excessive fines shall not be imposed; cruel or unusual punishment shall not be inflicted; nor shall witnesses be unreasonably detained.

Sec. 17. No person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law. The right of all individuals, firms, corporations and voluntary associations to fair and just treatment in the course of legislative and executive investigations and hearings shall not be infringed.

Sec. 18. No person shall be rendered incompetent to be a witness on account of his opinions on matters of religious belief.

Sec. 19. In all prosecutions for libels the truth may be given in evidence to the jury; and, if it appears to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the accused shall be acquitted.

Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Sec. 21. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on contract, express or implied, except in cases of fraud or breach of trust.

Sec. 22. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Sec. 23. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE II

Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision thereof, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office, employment or position under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.

Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. On all actions on bills and resolutions in each committee, names and votes of members shall be recorded. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.

Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same unless the public security otherwise requires. The record of the vote and name of the members of either house voting on any question shall be entered in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he deems injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in joint convention and all votes on appointments submitted to the senate for advice and consent shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open unless the public security otherwise requires.

Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than two intervening calendar days, nor to any place other than where the legislature may then be in session.

Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and may originate in either house.

Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The People of the State of Michigan enact.

Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title. No bill shall be altered or amended on its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose as determined by its total content and not alone by its title.

Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or amended by reference to its title only. The section or sections of the act altered or amended shall be re-enacted and published at length.

Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a law at any regular session of the legislature until it has been printed or reproduced and in the possession of each house for at least five days. Every bill shall be read three times in each house before the final passage thereof. No bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he disapproves, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Sec. 36. No general revision of the laws shall be made. The legislature may provide for a compilation of the laws in force, arranged without alteration, under appropriate heads and titles.

Sec. 37. The legislature may by concurrent resolution empower a joint committee of the legislature, acting between sessions, to suspend any rule or regulation promulgated by an administrative agency subsequent to the adjournment of the last preceding regular legislative session. Such suspension shall continue no longer than the end of the next regular legislative session.

Sec. 38. The legislature may provide by law the cases in which any office shall be vacant and the manner of filling vacancies where no provision is made in this constitution.

Sec. 39. In order to insure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency only, resulting from disasters occurring in this state caused by enemy attack on the United States, the legislature may provide by law for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices; and enact other laws necessary and proper for insuring the continuity of governmental operations. Notwithstanding the power conferred by this section, elections shall always be called as soon as possible to fill any vacancies in elective offices temporarily occupied by operation of any legislation enacted pursuant to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 40. The legislature may by law establish a liquor control commission which, subject to statutory limitations, shall exercise complete control of the alcoholic beverage traffic within this state, including the retail sales thereof. The legislature may provide for an excise tax on such sales. Neither the legislature nor the commission may authorize the manufacture or sale of alcoholic beverages in any county in which a majority of the electors voting thereon shall prohibit the same.

Sec. 41. The legislature shall not authorize any lottery nor permit the sale of lottery tickets.

Sec. 42. The legislature may provide for the incorporation of ports and port districts, and confer power and authority upon them to engage in work of internal improvements in connection therewith.

Sec. 43. No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes, or regulating the business thereof, shall be enacted, amended or repealed except by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 44. The legislature may authorize a trial by a jury of less than 12 jurors in civil cases.

Sec. 45. The legislature may provide for indeterminate sentences as punishment for crime and for the detention and release of persons imprisoned or detained under such sentences.

Sec. 46. No law shall be enacted providing for the penalty of death.

Sec. 47. The legislature may authorize the employment of chaplains in state institutions of detention or confinement.

Sec. 48. The legislature may enact laws providing for the resolution of disputes concerning public employees, except those in the state classified civil service.

Sec. 49. The legislature may enact laws relative to the hours and conditions of employment.

Sec. 50. The legislature may provide safety measures and regulate the use of atomic energy and forms of energy developed in the future, having in view the general welfare of the people of this state.

Sec. 51. The public health and general welfare of the people of the state are hereby declared to be matters of primary public concern. The legislature shall pass suitable laws for the protection and promotion of the public health.

Sec. 52. The conservation and development of the natural resources of the state are hereby declared to be of paramount public concern in the interest of the health, safety and general welfare of the people. The legislature shall provide for the protection of the air, water and other natural resources of the state from pollution, impairment and destruction.

Sec. 53. The legislature by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, shall appoint an auditor general, who shall be a certified public accountant licensed to practice in this state, to serve for a term of eight years. He shall be ineligible for appointment or election to any other public office in this state from which compensation is derived while serving as auditor general and for two years following the termination of his service. He may be removed for cause at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. The auditor general shall conduct post audits of financial transactions and accounts of the state and of all branches, departments, offices, boards, commissions, agencies, authorities and institutions of the state established by this constitution or by law, and performance post audits thereof.

The auditor general upon direction by the legislature may employ independent accounting firms or legal counsel and may make investigations pertinent to the conduct of audits. He shall report annually to the legislature and to the governor and at such other times as he deems necessary or as required by the legislature. He shall be assigned no duties other than those specified in this section.

Nothing in this section shall be construed in any way to infringe the responsibility and constitutional authority of the governing boards of the institutions of higher education to be solely responsible for the control and direction of all expenditures from the institutions' funds.

The auditor general, his deputy and one other member of his staff shall be exempt from classified civil service. All other members of his staff shall have classified civil service status.

ARTICLE V

Executive Branch

Sec. 1. The executive power is vested in the governor.

Sec. 2. All executive and administrative offices, agencies and instrumentalities of the executive branch of state government and their respective functions, powers and duties, except for the office of governor and lieutenant governor and the governing bodies of institutions of higher education provided for in this constitution, shall be allocated by law among and within not more than 20 principal departments. They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full regular session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. When a single executive is the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, he shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate and he shall serve at the pleasure of the governor.

When a board or commission is at the head of a principal department, unless elected or appointed as otherwise provided in this constitution, the members thereof shall be appointed by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. The term of office and procedure for removal of such members shall be as prescribed in this constitution or by law.

Terms of office of any board or commission created or enlarged after the effective date of this constitution shall not exceed four years except as otherwise authorized in this constitution. The terms of office of existing boards and commissions which are longer than four years shall not be further extended except as provided in this constitution.

Sec. 4. Temporary commissions or agencies for special purposes with a life of no more than two years may be established by law and need not be allocated within a principal department.

Sec. 5. A majority of the members of an appointed examining or licensing board of a profession shall be members of that profession.

Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

ARTICLE IX

Finance and Taxation

Sec. 1. The legislature shall impose taxes sufficient with other resources to pay the expenses of state government.

Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and tangible personal property not exempt by law. The legislature shall provide for the determination of true cash value of such property; the proportion of true cash value at which such property shall be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a system of equalization of assessments. The legislature may provide for alternative means of taxation of designated real and tangible personal property in lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax other than the general ad valorem property tax shall be uniform upon the class or classes on which it operates.

Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-profit religious or educational organizations and used exclusively for religious or educational purposes, as defined by law, shall be exempt from real and personal property taxes.

Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the assessment by the state of the property of those public service businesses assessed by the state at the date this constitution becomes effective, and of other property as designated by the legislature, and for the imposition and collection of taxes thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be assessed at the same proportion of its true cash value as the legislature shall specify for property subject to general ad valorem taxation. The rate of taxation on such property shall be the average rate levied upon other property in this state under the general ad valorem tax law, or, if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable to the property of each business enterprise assessed by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem taxation levied upon other property in all counties in which any of such property is situated.

Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. These limitations may be increased to an aggregate of not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation, for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one time, if approved by a majority of the electors, qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this constitution, voting on the question.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township, charter authority or other authority, the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

In any school district which extends into two or more counties, property taxes at the highest rate available in the county which contains the greatest part of the area of the district may be imposed and collected for school purposes throughout the district.

Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate or base shall be imposed by the state or any of its subdivisions.

Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than four percent of their gross taxable sales of tangible personal property.

Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed directly or indirectly on fuels sold or used to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusively for highway purposes as defined by law.

Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property shall be used exclusively for assistance to townships, cities and villages, on a population basis as provided by law. In determining population the legislature may exclude any portion of the total number of persons who are wards, patients or convicts in any tax supported institution.

Sec. 11. There shall be established a state school aid fund which shall be used exclusively for aid to school districts, higher education and school employees' retirement systems, as provided by law. One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank. Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall show the amount of state money so deposited as a separate item in all published statements.

Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law for the annual accounting for all public moneys, state and local, and may provide by law for interim accounting.

The legislature shall provide by law for the maintenance of uniform accounting systems by units of local government and the auditing of county accounts by competent state authority and other units of government as provided by law.

Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and adjustment of claims against the state shall be prescribed by law.

Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings, audit reports and other reports of public moneys shall be public records and open to inspection. A statement of all revenues and expenditures of public moneys shall be published and distributed annually, as provided by law.

Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby.

Financial benefits arising on account of service rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during that year and such funding shall not be used for financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

Sec. 5. The legislature shall have general supervisory jurisdiction over all state owned lands useful for forest preserves, game areas and recreational purposes; shall require annual reports as to such lands from all departments having supervision or control thereof; and shall by general law provide for the sale, lease or other disposition of such lands.

The legislature by an act adopted by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house may designate any part of such lands as a state land reserve. No lands in the state land reserve may be removed from the reserve, sold, leased or otherwise disposed of except by an act of the legislature.

Sec. 6. Aliens who are residents of this state shall enjoy the same rights and privileges in property as citizens of this state.

ARTICLE XI

Proposed amendments agreed to by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house on a vote with the names and vote of those voting entered in the respective journals shall be submitted, not less than 60 days thereafter, to the electors at the next general election or special election as the legislature shall direct. If a majority of electors voting on a proposed amendment approve the same, it shall become part of the constitution and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved.

Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this constitution by petition of the registered electors of this state. Every petition shall include the full text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by registered electors of the state equal in number to at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected. Such petitions shall be filed with the person authorized by law to receive the same at least 120 days before the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition shall be in the form, and shall be signed and circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law. The person authorized by law to receive such petition shall upon its receipt determine, as provided by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signatures on the petition, and make an official announcement thereof at least 60 days prior to the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon.

Copies of such publication shall be posted in each polling place and furnished to news media as provided by law.

Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

If the proposed amendment is approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question, it shall become part of the constitution, and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved. If two or more amendments approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter and at such times as may be provided by law, the question of a general revision of the constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If a majority of the electors voting on the question decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, at an election to be held not later than six months after the proposal was certified as approved, the electors of each representative district as then organized shall elect one delegate and the electors of each senatorial district as then organized shall elect one delegate at a partisan election. The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat of government on the first Tuesday in October next succeeding such election or at an earlier date if provided by law.

The convention shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings and judge the qualifications, elections and returns of its members. To fill a vacancy in the office of any delegate, the governor shall appoint a qualified resident of the same district who shall be a member of the same party as the delegate vacating the office. The convention shall have power to appoint such officers, employees and assistants as it deems necessary and to fix their compensation; to provide for the printing and distribution of its documents, journals and proceedings; to explain and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

No proposed constitution or amendment adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the electors for approval as hereinafter provided unless by the assent of a majority of all the delegates elected to and serving in the convention, with the names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

[ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE]

What the Proposed
New State Constitution Means to You

- A report to the people of Michigan by their elected delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62.

Lansing, Michigan

August 1, 1962

by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

This is a new section dealing with long-term borrowing such as we used when we paid bonuses to the veterans of three wars; when we borrowed for hospital construction; and when in the decade of the twenties, we borrowed on full faith and credit for highway construction. The legislature is not empowered to authorize any such borrowing without the approval of the voters of the state, but this section provides a method that can be used without cluttering up the constitution with amendments authorizing the borrowing, as we have had to do in the past.

The voting will be the same, a two-thirds vote in both houses of the legislature on a bill, but the bill will not be effective unless and until approved by a majority of the people who vote on the proposition. The voting is, therefore, the same as that under the present constitution for a constitutional amendment, but it avoids the necessity of amending the constitution.

School bonds.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued * prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such * levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

This is a revision which continues the provisions relating to school bond financing which are contained in Sections 27 and 28, Article X, of the present constitution. Sec. 28, which was voted by the electors as recently as November, 1960, did not take effect until July 1, 1962, when Sec. 27 expired. Minor language changes have been necessary to bring the provisions into conformity with this document.

Payments from treasury.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

No change from Sec. 16, Article X, of the present constitution.

Prohibition on credit to private concerns.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

The first sentence is a revision of Sec. 12, Article X, of the present constitution adding these words, "except as authorized in this constitution." This exception is needed to put the section having to do with school borrowing and this section in harmony.

The second sentence adds new language designed to avoid any possible interpretation as precluding the investment of idle funds of the state and its political subdivisions until needed for current requirements. Attorneys for public bodies in this state have been reluctant to authorize any investments except in federal securities in the face of the language of the present constitution. This section lets the legislature authorize such investments under appropriate safeguards.

Stock; interest of state in.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds ac- cumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

This is a revision of Sec. 13, Article X, of the present constitution which has the desirable object of preventing state ownership of private business. Language has been added to permit, under appropriate restrictions, investment of public employee retirement funds and university endowment funds in such things as share accounts in savings and loan associations and high grade corporate securities.

State depositories.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank. Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall show the amount of state money so deposited as a separate item in all published statements.

No change from Sec. 15, Article X, of the present constitution.

Annual accounting of public moneys.

Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law for the annual accounting for all public moneys, state and local, and may provide by law for interim accounting.

The legislature shall provide by law for the maintenance of uniform accounting systems by units of local government and the auditing of county accounts by competent state authority and other units of government as provided by law.

This is a revision of Sec. 18, Article X, of the present constitution, providing adequately for accounting for public moneys. The only changes proposed give the legislature authority to provide for interim accounting where desirable, and broader authority to provide for the audit of public accounts.

Adjustment of claims.

Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and adjustment of claims against the state shall be prescribed by law.

This is a revision of Sec. 20, Article VI, of the present constitution leaving to the determination of the legislature the matter of adjustment of claims against the state.

Financial records; open and public.

Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings, audit reports and other reports of public moneys shall be public records and open to inspection. A statement of all revenues and expenditures of public moneys shall be published and distributed annually, as provided by law.

This is a revision of Sec. 17, Article X, of the present constitution and is a more comprehensive and modern declaration of the public right to know details of state finance.

Pensions; state obligations.

Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual obligation thereof which shall not be diminished or impaired thereby.

Financial benefits arising on account of service rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during that year and such funding shall not be used for financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

This is a new section which requires that accrued financial benefits of each pension plan and retirement system of the state and its political subdivisions be a contractual obligation which cannot be diminished or impaired by the action of its officials or governing body. It provides further protection for those covered by such pension and retirement plans by requiring that benefits arising on account of service rendered in each year be funded during that year. Such funding shall not be used for financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

The section is an attempt to rectify, in part, policies which have permitted sizeable deficiencies to pile up in retirement systems in this state. Under this section, accruing liability in each fiscal year must be funded during that year, thus keeping any of these systems from getting farther behind than they are now.
