Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

SIXTY-SEVENTH DAY

Monday, January 29, 1962, 8:00 o'clock p.m.

PROCEEDINGS

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: The convention will come to order.

The invocation this evening will be offered by Delegate Charles Anspach.

MR. ANSPACH: Our Father, who art the origin of all that is good and fair and true, unto Thee we lift up our souls. Let Thy spirit enter our hearts. We pray we may not separate ourselves from Thee through selfish thoughts and deeds. Aid us in so directing our lives that we do not deprecate or injure others. Help us to understand that we are all children of Thine; may we govern ourselves accordingly. May we judge not or overlook the beam in our own eye before looking for the mote in our brother's eye. May Thy thoughts be our thoughts. May Thy spirit fill us so that others through us may see Thee.

Bless those who direct the affairs of our nation; may they include Thee in their deliberations so that wisdom may be theirs. Bless our state. Accept our gratitude for the blessings Thou hast showered upon us.

We pray that the work of this convention may meet Thy approval and be a blessing to the citizens of this state. Forgive our mistakes, grant us wisdom and bless our deliberations. Amen.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Van Dusen offers Resolution 68, A resolution establishing the time of daily sessions.

Following is Resolution 68 as offered:

Resolved, That beginning February 1 the convention shall meet at 2:00 o'clock p.m. on Monday, and at 9:00 o'clock a.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, such schedule to continue until changed by the convention.

VICE PRESIDENT ROMNEY: Referred to the committee on rules and resolutions.

Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, just one comment, first, about this resolution. As you know, on Wednesday of this week we will complete the reporting by committees and thereafter it will not be necessary for the committees to meet on their regular schedules. We will have, however, beginning on Thursday of this week, a very full calendar on general orders which we must complete by February 21. Accordingly, the resolution which has just been offered recommends a change in the time of our daily general convention sessions.

to the legislature itself the power of recount as to members of the legislature, in consonance with the constitutional provision that each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications and elections of its members.

This material is, in the opinion of the committee, purely legislative in character. The matter of breaking tie votes and determining contested elections can be governed adequately by statute. As a matter of fact the present statutory law makes such provision in great detail. The power of the legislature to enact laws upon this subject matter is indisputable and we need not direct legislative action in this field.

The above referred to statute can be found in vol. 5, MSA, sec. 6.1851, being public act 351, 1925, part IV, chap. 17, or Callaghan's Michigan Digest, elections, sec. 63 and sec. 67.

The above statute provides the procedures and methods to be used in the event of a tie vote being determined after votes for certain offices are canvassed. In the event of a tie vote, this statute sets forth the procedures to be used to determine who shall fill the office by casting lots, and who shall supervise the determination by lot among the persons who have the right to the office.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Fennville, Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, this provision has to do with that section of the constitution which says presently:

In all cases of tie vote or contested election for any state office, except a member of the legislature, any recount or other determination thereof may be conducted by the board of state canvassers under such laws as the legislature may prescribe.

In our opinion, this is a matter better left to the legislature and unnecessary to be stated in the constitution. This material is all covered in the election laws at the present time. It will continue to be so covered and is unnecessary to have a constitutional reference in order to make it work. Therefore, we think that this can be excluded from the constitution very appropriately.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Detroit, Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: I would simply like to ask Mr. Hutchinson this question: am I correct in assuming that the board of canvassers is provided for elsewhere in the constitution and it will still continue to exist? Is that so?

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I understand that the board of state canvassers is provided for in the article having to do with the general elections—I think it is article III—and I understand that the committee report would continue that board, although you and I may argue about the necessity for creating a constitutional status for the board of state canvassers.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there any amendments to the exclusion report? If not, it will be passed.

Exclusion Report 2016 is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 8, from the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, by Mr. Erickson, chairman, Exclusion Report 2017, A report recommending the exclusion of article XVI, section 10.

Following is Exclusion Report 2017 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule recommends that article XVI, section 10 of the present constitution be excluded from the new constitution.

Mr. Erickson, chairman of the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, submits the following reasons in support of Exclusion Report 2017:

The committee recommends that the substance of section 10 of article XVI of the Constitution of 1908 be deleted from the new constitution. This section limited the lease of land for agricultural purposes to a term of 12 years. The committee believes that the provision serves no useful purpose at this time. The provision applies only to agricultural lands. There seems to be no compelling reason why the lease of agricultural lands should be treated differently than other lands. The subject matter appears to be of legislative rather than constitutional import. If at any time in the future, the state should believe it necessary to limit in any way the power of alienation, it could do so by statute, which statute would be applicable to all conveyances thereafter made.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Fennville, Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, this section is the old one having to do with agricultural land leases. It reads like this:

No lease or grant of agricultural land for agricultural purposes for a longer period than 12 years, reserving any rent or service of any kind, shall be valid.

This provision seems entirely unnecessary in the middle twentieth century. We don't understand the necessity or the advisability any more of treating leases of agricultural land in any different manner than other leases of real estate, and inquiry of farm organizations in the state led us to believe that they are not concerned with this any longer. I would say again that any restriction on the right to lease property or to convey it and so on is a matter better left to statutory law, and this doesn't appear to be necessary in the constitution at all, so we recommend that it be excluded.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there amendments to the exclusion report? If not, it will be passed.

Exclusion Report 2017 is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 9 on the calendar, from the committee on finance and taxation, by Mr. Brake, chairman, Exclusion Report 2018, A report recommending the exclusion of article X, sections 17 and 18 of the 1908 constitution.

Following is Exclusion Report 2018 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee on finance and taxation recommends that article X, sections 17 and 18 of the present constitution, be excluded from the new constitution.

Mr. Brake, chairman of the committee on finance and taxation, submits the following reasons in support of Exclusion Report 2018:

The substance of sections 17 and 18 of article X has been included in section c of Committee Proposal 37.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Stanton, the chairman of the committee, Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, sections 17 and 18 of article X cover the matter of accounting, record keeping, auditing and so forth. That material has been covered and, we believe, improved in the proposal that you approved in committee of the whole last week.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there amendments to the exclusion report? If not, it will be passed.

Exclusion Report 2018 is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 10 on the calendar, from the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, by Mr. Erickson, chairman, Committee Proposal 44, A proposal pertaining to the schedule. Amends sections 1 and 8 of the schedule and adds 2 sections.

Following is Committee Proposal 44 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the constitution of this state, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that:

Sec. a. [The common law and the statute laws now in force,] ALL LAWS not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are altered or repealed.

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

Sec. b. ALL WRITS, ACTIONS, SUITS, PROCEEDINGS, CIVIL OR CRIMINAL LIABILITIES, PROSECUTIONS, JUDGMENTS, SENTENCES, ORDERS, DECREES, APPEALS, CAUSES OF ACTION, CONTRACTS, CLAIMS, DEMANDS, TITLES AND RIGHTS OF INDIVIDUALS, BODIES CORPORATE, AND OF THIS STATE OR ANY SUBDIVISION OR AGENCY THEREOF, EXISTING ON THE EFFECTIVE DATE HEREOF SHALL CONTINUE UNAFFECTED EXCEPT AS MODIFIED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE PROVISIONS OF THIS CONSTITUTION.

Sec. c. ALL OFFICERS FILLING ANY OFFICE BY ELECTION OR APPOINTMENT SHALL CONTINUE TO EXERCISE THE DUTIES THEREOF, ACCORDING TO THEIR RESPECTIVE COMMISSIONS OR APPOINTMENTS, UNTIL THEIR OFFICES SHALL HAVE BEEN ABOLISHED OR THEIR SUCCESSORS SELECTED AND QUALIFIED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THIS CONSTITUTION OR THE LAWS ENACTED PURSUANT THERETO.

Sec. d. The attorney general of the state shall [prepare and report] RECOMMEND to the legislature at the commencement of the next session such changes in existing laws as may be deemed necessary to adapt the same to this constitution.

Mr. Erickson, chairman of the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 44:

Committee comment on section a: The committee has substituted the term "ALL LAWS" in place of the previous language which read, "The common law and the statute laws now in force". In so doing the committee has eliminated specific references to the "common law". It seemed to the committee that the general idea expressed in this section has a peculiar relevancy to statutory laws and that the notion of expiration by their own limitation or alteration or repeal is really not apt language to describe the common law of the state. In the absence of an express provision dealing with it, the law represented by the common law of the state will continue in force until repealed by statute or until modified or otherwise changed by the usual process of judicial decision. It seemed desirable to the committee to leave this to implication rather than to attempt to embrace the idea by a specific reference to the common law in this schedule.

Committee comment on section b: In this proposed section the committee has consolidated the language and the ideas previously contained in sections 2, 3 and 4 of the schedule of the Constitution of 1908. We have added to the generic terms included in section 2 the words "civil or criminal liabilities, contracts, claims, demands, titles and rights" which, in the opinion of the committee, adequately embrace all the specifics detailed in the old sections 3 and 4.

It is also to be noted here that this section allows a modification in accordance with the provisions of this constitution. This allows procedural changes to take place with respect to interests accrued or vested before the adoption of the revised constitution. This will allow, for instance, for the establishment at an early date of a new court system or for changes in the jurisdiction of courts or for procedural law changes. The committee feels there need be no fear that existing rights or liabilities would be modified in any substantial way because flexibility is written into this saving clause. It is clear that vested property and contract rights and other types of interest cannot substantially be impaired because of restrictions in the federal constitution, either under the contract clause or under the due process clause of the fourteenth amendment. Likewise, any changes in procedure and punishment with respect to crimes committed before the adoption of the revised constitution would be subject to ex post facto limitations under the federal constitution. In other words, permitting some modification in accordance with the provisions of this constitution would not open the door to retrospective impairment of substantive rights and liabilities but would preserve the opportunity for giving immediate effect to procedural and remedial changes consistent with the protection and continuation of accrued or vested rights and liabilities.

Committee comment on section c: The committee has consolidated into this section the concepts contained in the existing sections 5 and 7 of the 1908 constitution. The language, "ACCORDING TO THEIR RESPECTIVE COMMISSIONS OR APPOINTMENTS," includes necessarily the concept contained in the old section 7 concerning the compensation of public officers.

Committee comment on section d: The only change made by the committee in this particular section is to substitute the word "RECOMMEND" for the previous language "prepare and report". In recommending legislative changes the attorney general may submit drafts he has prepared but the committee did not feel it was necessary to spell this out. The committee felt that the previous language might be interpreted as suggesting that legislative changes must originate with and be prepared by the attorney general. It is the committee's feeling that the revised wording adequately achieves the general purposes intended.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee, the gentleman from Lansing, Mr. Erickson.

MR. ERICKSON: I will yield to Delegate Durst who, along with his subcommittee, prepared this and the next 2 sections.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Lansing yields to the gentleman from Adrian, Mr. Durst.

MR. DURST: Mr. Chairman, section a is merely what is called a "saving clause;" that is, it continues in force all the presently operative statutes in the state of Michigan until they are either changed by the legislature or expire. In fact, it just continues it pretty much as it was in the previous constitution.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there any amendments to the first clause? Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask Mr. Durst this question, I'm a little bit disturbed by his explanation, because I understood him to say that this would continue in force all the statutes for the state of Michigan. I will ask the gentleman if, in his opinion, this also will continue in force the common law.

MR. DURST: I think, Mr. Hutchinson, the common law continues in force in and of itself by definition. The common law is a law which exists where there is no statute or any other law which defines—it takes place where there is nothing formally promulgated.

I would point out here this was a considerable point of discussion in committee whether or not the words "the common law" should be removed. The problem is this: what we have done is adopt the language used in the model code, and the problem arises in that the common law is considered by the courts to be a living law; that is, it is a law that can change as conditions change without any formal action being taken, and the language as it reads in the 1908 constitution would require that either it expire by its own limitations or that it be altered or repealed; that is, that there be a statute passed. This has caused quite a problem in the courts. I have the annotations here of this section. It is the only section of the schedule that there have ever been any court cases on. There have been quite a few in recent years, the claim being made that the courts cannot by interpretation change the common law, because this section continues it in force until it is altered or repealed.

Now, we had this discussion, so we turned it over to the research department, and we received Professor Joiner's concurrence that this was the proper way to change this thing; that it had caused problems and this was a proper correction. We went further than that and submitted the question to Professor Kauper of the University of Michigan law school who is a professor of constitutional law and, I think it is safe to say, one of the finest experts on this subject in the United States. He gave us a very definitive discussion of the subject. I will just read his opening statement:

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

I think the committee's action in drafting this section in this way so as to eliminate the specific reference to the common law as it appears in the 1908 constitution is wise and desirable.

He goes on to give a detailed analysis of his reasons. Most of these are set forth in the committee's report in the journal.

I do not think we are abrogating the common law, Mr. Hutchinson, in any way.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I think it desirable that there be no question at all about the fact that it is our intent that the common law continue in effect except as it is altered and so on by statute, and I say that I think it is necessary that we make this clear because I don't agree with Mr. Durst that the common law simply exists. I know in my limited knowledge my recollection is that at least 1 state in the 50 is not a common law state, that being the state of Louisiana. Down in the state of Louisiana the common law doesn't exist. It exists in Michigan. I think it is our intent that it shall continue to exist in Michigan, and I think that Mr. Durst and I perhaps take different views as to the wisdom of using those words "the common law" in this particular point. If by the meaning of the phrase "all laws" it is universally understood that that includes the common law, then I wouldn't press this point any further. I wouldn't have raised the point except, as I say, in his explanation Mr. Durst simply indicated that, in his opinion, the words "all laws" referred only to statute law.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Does the gentleman from Adrian yield to the gentleman from Lansing, Mr. Wanger, for a question?

MR. DURST: Yes, I will.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Durst, I merely wish to ask about these cases which you say raise the question as to whether or not the common law could be modified in the traditional manner. How did these cases decide the issue? Did the cases not resolve the problem favorably?

MR. DURST: Yes, the cases do resolve the problem, Mr. Wanger. They, in effect, interpret the constitution as not including the words "the common law" here. I mean they don't say so specifically, but they go on to say that this provision does not prevent the common law from changing in a normally accepted manner; that is, through customary practice and so forth.

MR. WANGER: One further question then. Would the change in language which you propose work any practical change whatsoever in the law as it stands at this time?

MR. DURST: It is not our understanding that it does. We would think that the section that we are continuing here is continued just as it has been interpreted in this state ever since the Constitution of 1908.

MR. WANGER: Would it be fair to say, then, it is the definite intention of the committee and the belief of the committee that this does not work any practical change on this matter whatsoever?

MR. DURST: That is correct.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Detroit, Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Well, briefly, in response to Mr. Wanger's last question, this was not the unanimous opinion of the committee. There are those of us in the committee who feel otherwise, and the secretary has an amendment on his desk.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Mahinske and Miss Donnelly offer the following amendment to section a:

1. Amend page 1, line 8, after "Sec. a.", by reinserting "The common law and the statute laws now in force,"; and by striking out "All laws" in line 9; so that the section will read:

Sec. a. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are altered or repealed.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Detroit is recognized in support of his amendment.

MR. MAHINSKE: Without repeating any of the statements made by Mr. Hutchinson and some of the thoughts alluded to by others, I think that we are in a highly technical area here. In the future someone is liable to look at the old constitution and the new constitution and see that we have definitely stricken the words "common law" and put in "all laws." It may raise some doubt in someone's mind. And I think for the value of striking 6 or 8 words here, the hardship that may be created in the future could be avoided by leaving the old language in. And secondly, the most important area that I feel that this language comes into play is the criminal law area where there is definite reversion back to common law in areas where we don't have statutes or we don't have fines or penalties set up for certain crimes.

And just to repeat one point, I think that we are taking a dangerous step here that could be implied or applied exactly the opposite of what Mr. Durst states here. He states himself that he feels that this proposal will produce absolutely no change over and above what we have now, but I think by interpretation it may in the future, and I would like to avoid this. And I think that the amendment would preclude any misinterpretation because we would be keeping the existing language as the 1908 constitution sets it forth now.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The Chair recognizes the lady from Highland Park, cosponsor of the amendment, Miss Donnelly.

MISS DONNELLY: I would like to add to that to change this language and then to put forth in the report that "when we changed this language we didn't mean anything; we want it all to continue by implication" is an unnecessary act. If we mean what we say and what they said in 1908, in my opinion we should say it now, instead of saying "we don't mean anything by striking it, and by implication we mean the same thing." If we mean the same thing, we should say the same thing.

I definitely oppose the majority report in this instance, and move the adoption of the amendment.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Adrian, Mr. Durst.

MR. DURST: I don't feel, Mr. Chairman, that this subject is one that requires a great amount of extensive debate, as the amendment itself would put us right back where we are now and the court interpretation would clear up the problem. The change has been made to make it conform to the way the courts have interpreted this section to read.

Now, as Mr. Mahinske said, this is a technical problem. Members of the subcommittee made their own decision. It was raised in the whole committee as to whether it was wise or not. We submitted it to research. We received the very confident opinion of Mr. Joiner. We went further and received the opinion of a man who spent many years in this particular field, Professor Kauper. You have their opinions.

If the committee wishes to replace the language as it was formerly, no great damage is going to be done, and I don't think we should spend an excessive amount of time on this.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The Chair recognizes the gentleman from St. Clair Shores, Mr. Snyder.

MR. SNYDER: Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I am speaking in behalf of the 88 delegates who may have some difficulty in following the technical aspects of this thing. I will say that I am not in favor of the amendment, because when we worked the thing out in committee, we felt that we should reduce the language as much as possible in a manner that would permit all to understand. In fact, this led to a comment by Mr. Durst at the time that we have the language clarified to such a point that possibly all the laymen in the convention could understand it but the attorneys may have some difficulty, and I feel this is where we are now.

So I will say, as a self elected spokesman for the 88 people who do not have the problem, that this is something that is going to have to be decided by the 56 people who are more qualified on the thing. We feel that the intent of our discussion was that we did not want to change the content of the language as far as the spirit or the motives are concerned. We did want to reduce the language, the scope of the language, and take away from the length of the thing and simply put it in terms that we could all understand.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Battle Creek, Mr. Everett.

MR. EVERETT: Mr. Chairman, fellow delegates, I rise to oppose the amendment and support the committee report. I would remind those who are lawyers among the group and also many that are nonlawyers of a very recent case which upset the doctrine of governmental immunity. The court itself divided on the question of whether this language in the 1908 constitution prevented the court from changing the common law, many of the members of the court saying that the language which is being eliminated did prevent that change.

Now, traditionally, lawyers and courts have always felt that the common law, as Mr. Durst has suggested, is a living law and does change. The committee report plus the explanation in the report itself clearly indicates that the common law remains but that it follows the traditional course it always has and can be changed either by statute or by court interpretation. I think it is a more accurate statement of what at least this lawyer has always believed that the law was, and I think it should be retained.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Detroit, Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. Chairman, I oppose the amendment and support the committee report. I would like to point out, as has been mentioned, that the language in the constitution has caused trouble. I realize the trouble has been resolved by the court, but I believe that if we readopt the language, then the court will have to reconfirm its previous position. We are going to invite more lawsuits. It seems to me if we know that the language did cause trouble, the best thing is to make the language in such a form that it does not cause trouble.

As far as the common law is concerned, it seems to me there is no reason for using the words "common law" in the constitution at all. The common law does not arise because the constitution says so; it arises because of the necessities of the case when courts are required to make decisions. When they are required to make decisions, they use the common law because they invented it themselves. The constitution did not invent it. Therefore, I believe the committee is correct and that the advice it got from eminent professors is correct, and we ought to adhere to the committee report.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Is there further discussion on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Detroit and the lady from Highland Park? If not, the Chair will put the question. All those in favor of the amendment will respond by saying aye. Those opposed?

A DELEGATE: Division.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Division is demanded. Is it supported? A sufficient number up. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye. Those opposed, no.

SECRETARY CHASE: Has everyone voted? The machine is locked and the totals will be recorded. On the vote on the Mahinske-Donnelly amendment, the yeas are 40; the nays are 75.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The amendment is not adopted. If there are no further amendments to section a, it will pass.

Section a is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section b:

[Section b was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 847.]

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Adrian, Mr. Durst.

MR. DURST: Mr. Chairman, this also is a saving clause for matters other than laws. It embraces all the generic terms that are listed there. What the committee has done is to consolidate the concepts previously contained in the old sections 2, 3 and 4 of the previous schedule of 1908. We have added to the generic terms which were previously in section 2 the words "civil or criminal liabilities, contracts, claims, demands, titles and rights." And it was the opinion of the committee — and I believe this was a unanimous conclusion — that the section as presented adequately embraces all the specifics detailed in the old sections 3 and 4. I don't need to get into these if there is no question.

The last sentence on lines 19 and 20 says, "... shall continue unaffected except as modified in accordance with the provisions of this constitution." It is the opinion of the committee that all this does is allow changes of a procedural nature. The federal constitution under the due process clause and the contracts clause prevents any infringement upon substantive rights that are existing at the time the new constitution is adopted, but this would allow any changes that we may make of a procedural nature such as the court system or so forth to take effect as soon as the new constitution provides.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Bay City, Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. Chairman and delegates, I have a proposed amendment on the secretary's desk which I would ask him to read.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Higgs offers the following amendment to section b:

1. Amend page 1, line 16, after "individuals," by inserting "partnerships,".

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Bay City is recognized in support of his amendment.

MR. HIGGS: In reading the committee reasons and the proposal and in discussing this just before the session, it seems to me that this is a necessary inclusion. Certainly if we exclude it, we raise certain questions, inasmuch as today partnerships may hold title to real estate, and there may be certain rights derivative out of this relationship which are not, in my opinion, rights of individuals or rights of bodies corporate.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Adrian.

MR. DURST: Mr. Chairman, members of the committee, I would point out that these words that we have put in here are the same as in the 1908 constitution, "... rights of individuals, bodies corporate, and of this state. . . ." I don't wish to engage in a legal argument with Mr. Higgs, but it would seem to me that under our law, a partnership does not exist as a separate person, as a corporation, so there are grounds for putting in bodies corporate as something separate. The rights of an individual and the rights of a partnership, as I see it — and I am sure as the committee saw it — are one and the same thing. I would oppose the amendment on that ground.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Bay City.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. Chairman and fellow delegates, I do wish to engage in some argument at this point. Inasmuch as we have had a changing growth in the body of partnership law since 1908, the fact that it does not appear in the 1908 constitution doesn't impress me at this particular moment. I do not see any reason for excluding it. I haven't been able to do a great deal of research in this particular matter or study it thoroughly, but I do know that today — and I don't know whether it was true in 1908 — partnerships do have a status as a legal entity beyond that of individuals. Certainly when you file an income tax return, you are taxed as an individual. The partnership is not an entity for federal tax purposes, but under the law of the state of Michigan, a partnership is an entity that may hold legal title, and there are certain rights that are derivative by creditors through this relationship. The exclusion of one word, I think, might cause some trouble. I would like to hear from some of the other lawyers on this.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Is there further discussion on the Higgs amendment? If not, the Chair will put the question. All those in favor will respond by saying aye. Those opposed? The amendment is not adopted.

A DELEGATE: Division.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Division is called for. Is the demand supported? A sufficient number. Those in favor of the Higgs amendment will vote aye. Those opposed, no.

SECRETARY CHASE: Has everyone voted? The machine is locked and the totals will be recorded. On the amendment offered by Mr. Higgs, the yeas are 38; the nays are 60.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The amendment is not adopted. If there are no further amendments to section b, it will be passed.

Section b is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section c:

[Section c was read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 847.]

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Adrian.

MR. DURST: Mr. Chairman, this again is a saving clause. It would continue in office all members presently serving in state governments until such time as their terms naturally expire or they are replaced by terms of this constitution. This would be people like civil service commissioners. All members of the present boards and commissions would continue to fill their terms and their offices.

Now, we have added and consolidated here the previous sections 5 and 7 of the schedule. In the opinion of the committee, the words "according to their respective commissions or appointments" which is the language used in the model code, would be sufficient to continue the concept of compensation which is presently included in the old section 7.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there any amendments to section c? If not, it will be passed.

Section c is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Section d:

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Adrian.

MR. DURST: We intend no substantive change here, Mr. Chairman. The deletion of the words "prepare and report" and the insertion of the word "recommend" is just thought to be perhaps more proper language. There was some thought that perhaps the words "prepare and report" would mean that the attorney general would be preparing statutes and the legislature would be obligated to consider them or something of that sort. The word "recommend" is more what we have in mind, I believe, and we ask him to report on these matters.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there any amendments to section d? If not, it will pass.

Section d is passed.

Are there any amendments to the body of the proposal? If not, it will pass.

Committee Proposal 44 is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 11 on the calendar, from the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, by Mr. Erickson, chairman, Exclusion Report 2019, A report recommending the exclusion of sections 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7 of the schedule.

Following is Exclusion Report 2019 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule recommends that sections 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7 of the schedule of the present constitution be excluded from the new constitution.

Mr. Erickson, chairman of the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, submits the following reasons in support of Exclusion Report 2019:

The committee recommends that sections 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7 of the schedule be excluded because they are being consolidated into new language in Committee Proposal 44, sections b and c.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Does the gentleman from Lansing wish recognition?

MR. ERICKSON: I have already yielded, for the next 2 reports, to Mr. Durst.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Mr. Erickson yields to Mr. Durst.

MR. DURST: This exclusion report merely covers exclusion of the sections we have just passed. It excludes the old sections that we have replaced here.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there any amendments to the exclusion report? If not, it will pass.

Exclusion Report 2019 is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 12 on the calendar, from the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, by Mr. Erickson, chairman, Exclusion Report 2020, A report recommending the exclusion of section 9 of the schedule.

Following is Exclusion Report 2020 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule recommends that section 9 of the schedule of the present constitution be excluded from the new constitution.

Mr. Erickson, chairman of the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, submits the following reasons in support of Exclusion Report 2020:

The committee recommends that section 9 of the schedule be excluded. This provision was included in the 1850 constitution to cover those parts of the state land areas which had not been formally organized into a county. Apparently there were still parts of the state undeveloped in this regard in 1908, so the provision was carried over into the 1908 constitution. Now, all the land area of the state is included within the boundary of an organized county, eliminating any necessity for the provision.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from Adrian.

MR. DURST: Mr. Chairman, do we need to vote on these exclusion reports or should they just pass?

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: They are passed.

MR. DURST: Without a vote?

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Yes.

MR. DURST: I yield to Mr. Snyder on this exclusion report.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The gentleman from St. Clair Shores, Mr. Snyder.

MR. SNYDER: Mr. Chairman, this is in reference to Exclusion Report 2020, and the committee report as reported out is in the journal at page 395. We had meetings with Mr. Apol and Mr. Robert Montgomery of the elections division, and it was the unanimous conclusion that this provision was included in the 1850 constitution to cover those parts of the state land areas which had not been formally organized into a county. Apparently at that time there were still parts of the state undeveloped in this regard in 1908 so the provision was carried over in the 1908 constitution. Now all the land area of the state is included within the boundary of the organized counties, eliminating the necessity for this provision. In view of that, the committee felt that it was no longer necessary in the constitution, and they recommended the exclusion of that portion.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Are there any amendments to the exclusion report? If not, it will pass.

Exclusion Report 2020 is passed and the secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 13 on the calendar, from the committee on declaration of rights, suffrage and elections, by Mr. Pollock, chairman, Committee Proposal 45, A proposal to guarantee the right of disposition to the owner of real property. Amends article II by adding a new section.

[Committee Proposal 45 was read by the secretary. For text, see below, under date of April 10.]

is not the issue. I stated that, in my opinion, discrimination had been raised as an issue but it has been removed. Flexibility remains the issue. What is not the issue? What is not the issue is what type of classification would be a nifty idea. Nobody knows what type of classification at this point would be a good idea, and as far as I know, no one has suggested a scheme for classification. That is not the issue.

The issue is whether the legislature within the next 50 years should have the opportunity to investigate that question and determine the answer for itself. I would also like to point out that we have to make certain calculations and deductions and guesses as to the future, the next 50 years, in order to be certain that the majority proposal is correct. We have to assume that there never can be a proper scheme of classification. We have to be sure that we know all the different kinds of property that will exist within the next 50 years, and that none of them will require separate classification. How are we going to be sure what kinds of properties, even, to say nothing of what kind of classification schemes might exist?

I noted that several delegates pointed out that certain kinds of property already ought to be thought of in different terms than other kinds. It was pointed out by some people that real property is not exactly to be treated the same as personal property. It was also pointed out by another delegate that tangible personal property ought not to be necessarily treated the same as intangible personal property.

I suggest that there are reasons to suspect that there may be these kinds of possible distinctions between one kind of property and another, and there might even be other kinds of property that we know nothing about which could exist within the next 50 years. When in doubt, and when there is no history to show a reason why we should fear giving the legislature the power, I think we should give it.

I think further that what we are faced with now is not a logical reason for the majority proposal. I know of no reason that has been advanced in favor of it except discrimination, but that has been removed, in my opinion, as an issue. What reason is left over after that? It seems to me only one reason is left over, and that is just plain fear. I don't believe that we should glorify fear for fear's sake. If there is a reason for fear, we should be fearful, but if not, let's not raise fear to a constitutional principle. I support the minority report amendment.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The Chair recognizes the chairman of the committee, Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: I move the committee rise.

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: Before the Chair puts that motion, Mr. Brake, he would like to state that the following are on the list as having requested recognition: the gentleman from Hillsdale, Mr. Prettie; the gentleman from St. Clair Shores, Mr. Snyder; the gentleman from Detroit, Mr. Ostrow; the gentleman from Detroit, Mr. Ford; the gentleman from Ypsilanti, Mr. Lawrence; the gentleman from Ridgeway, Mr. Upton; the lady from Dearborn, Mrs. Cushman.

The motion is that the committee do now rise. All those in favor vote aye. Those opposed?

The motion prevails and the committee will rise.

[Whereupon, the committee of the whole having risen, President Nisbet resumed the Chair.]

PRESIDENT NISBEST: The Chair recognizes Mr. Bentley.

Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. President, did we vote on Committee Proposal 44? It seemed to me that was referred to style and drafting without any vote in the convention. I have an amendment. I was seeking recognition at that time.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, we will return to the reference of Committee Proposal 44 to committee and Mr. Higgs can offer his amendment.

MR. HIGGS: It is the same amendment which I made in the committee of the whole. I have another copy of it.

SECRETARY CHASE: This is a proposal from the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule, Committee Proposal 44, A proposal pertaining to the schedule.

Mr. Higgs offers the following amendment to the proposal:

1. Amend page 1, line 16, after "individuals," by inserting "partnerships."

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. President, I move that we recess until 2:00 o'clock this afternoon.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion to recess until 2:00 o'clock. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I'd just like to remind the rules committee we have a meeting at 1:00 o'clock.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. DeVries?

MR. DEVRIES: Mr. President, the committee on administration will meet at 1:30; not 1:15.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Thank you. The question is on the motion to recess until 2:00 o'clock. Those in favor say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails and we are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 12:05 o'clock p.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. President, at the time we recessed, we were considering an amendment to Committee Proposal 44, which the secretary has at the desk. Would you like to read that?

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Higgs has offered:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above, page 863.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Well, Mr. President and fellow delegates, I think at the time we voted on this this morning, there were only 115 delegates present, and I would like to offer this amendment again at this time because I feel that it does go to substance and that it is quite important. And the premise upon which it is based is that the rights of individuals and corporations does not necessarily include the rights that may be involved in a partnership under the uniform partnership act. As you may or may not know, title to real estate acquired in the partnership name must be conveyed in the partnership name. There are also provisions in the uniform partnership act which provide for the assignment of assets of the partnership for benefit of creditors.

Now, if you can envisage the situation where an assignee may be in the position of suing for rents or profits in the use of real estate, he would have to do that in a derivative action. In other words, the action would be in the name of the partnership because it is a legal entity for certain purposes under the Michigan law. And without belaboring that point, I would like to have it considered further.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment of Mr. Higgs. All those in favor of the amendment please say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted.

A DELEGATE: Division.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Division has been asked for. Is the demand supported? Those in favor rise. A sufficient number up. Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Higgs has offered the following:

The language will then read:

All writs, actions, suits, proceedings, civil or criminal liabilities, prosecutions, judgments, sentences, orders, decrees, appeals, causes of action, contracts, claims, demands, titles and rights of individuals, partnerships, bodies corporate, and of this state or any subdivision or agency thereof existing on the effective date hereof shall continue unaffected except as modified in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no.

SECRETARY CHASE: Has everyone voted? The machine is locked and the totals will be recorded. On the adoption of the amendment proposed by Mr. Higgs, the yeas are 88; the nays are 26.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is adopted.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Mahinske and Miss Donnelly offer the following amendment to Committee Proposal 44:

1. Amend page 1, line 8, after "Sec. a.", by reinserting "The common law and the statute laws now in force,"; and in line 9 by striking out "All laws"; so that the language will read:

The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are altered or repealed.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Mahinske.

MR. MAHINSKE: Mr. President, one of the reasons why I reinstated this amendment at this time was for the basic reason we reinstated the other; that there were some 25 or 30 people who did not cast a vote in committee of the whole on this. And based on the argument by which the committee proposal is substantiated, by inserting the new words that are inserted here, the committee report says that they are in no way intending to change what we had in the old constitution. Now, if this is the basis of the reinsertion of the new words, and they do not intend to change anything, then I say we should say exactly what we mean, and if we mean the common law, we should spell it out.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Durst.

MR. DURST: Mr. President, I would just remind the delegates that the committee recommends that this amendment not be adopted. I would also point out that we presented to you this morning the opinions of our research staff and of Professor Kauper of the University of Michigan law school that the amendment or the section as submitted to the convention was the proper way to do so.

We were attempting to correct a legal problem that has existed in this state for some time which has been taken care of by court interpretation, but we are making the constitution conform to the way the court has interpreted it to mean. We ask that the amendment be defeated.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. President, first I would like to have the amendment reread. Then I would like to comment on it, please.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment is:

[The amendment was again read by the secretary. For text, see above.]

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Boothby.

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. President and members of the convention, I rise to support the Mahinske-Donnelly amendment. I would like to make a few comments in that regard. When words are used in statutes or in constitutions, the courts make certain interpretations of these words and they then receive a certain specific meaning, because the courts have stated that they mean certain things. When phrases are used by certain legislative bodies or by constitutional bodies, when they are interpreted by the courts, they receive a certain specific meaning. And the same with regard to constitutional provisions: when they have been interpreted by the courts, they receive certain specific meanings.

Now, the present committee report, which would delete the reference to the common law, was what was in the 1835 constitution, but the 1850 and the 1908 constitutions added the words which the Donnelly-Mahinske amendment seeks to put back in, the reference to the common law.

Now, the reason why I am concerned is because the courts have adopted a certain rule of construction of statutory and constitutional language, and this rule of construction is, if a legislature has reincorporated certain words or if a constitutional convention body has reincorporated certain words that were there prior thereto, and if these words had been reviewed by the courts and had been given certain specific meanings, when they reincorporate these words, it is indicated that they mean to reincorporate not only the words but also the meanings which the courts have given to them. Now, whenever you change the language which has been interpreted by the courts, then there is also a suspicion raised as to what the intent of the legislative or constitutional body is. I do not feel that we wish to raise any suspicion. This has been a part of our constitutional provisions since 1850. Incidentally, even the northwest ordinance made some reference to the common law and indicated that the people of Michigan would operate under the common law.

And for those people that are not lawyers, I would like to make this comment: the common law is a very important part of our law of the state. Many of our criminal provisions are not statutory law but common law, and many of our procedures are common law procedures and not statutory procedures.

If we make any deviation from this, it will seriously hamper the progress of criminal prosecution, I am quite sure, and many other phases of law. I hope that you will give detailed and considered consideration to this particular amendment and not dismiss this very lightly, because I feel that we may get into more litigation than we would like by adopting the committee report. I would like to ask some of the former members of the bench for their opinion, and I would like to call upon Judge Dehnke and ask his opinion.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: Well, Mr. President and delegates, I have to remind you once again as I have before that curbstone opinions are usually worth about what they cost. But on this proposition, as far as my opinion goes, I agree with Mr. Boothby.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. King.

MR. KING: Mr. President, I would like to direct a question to Mr. Boothby or Judge Dehnke. As I read this language, forgetting for a moment the words "statute laws now in force," it says that "The common law . . . not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are altered or repealed." I don't know how a common law expires by its own limitation, and I don't know how it can be altered or repealed except by judicial interpretation.

Is it the intent of the sponsors of this amendment that the judicial shall not be entitled to interpret the common law so that we have a living common law, which is what I think we have now and what I think we ought to have in the future?

PRESIDENT NISBET: Judge Dehnke.

MR. DEHNKE: I think the conclusion is obvious. The legislature can change any rule of the common law whenever it reaches the conclusion that the rule ought to be changed.

MR. KING: I am aware of that, Judge. How about the Supreme Court of the state of Michigan?

MR. DEHNKE: Well, I think there are some limitations on that.

MR. KING: I oppose these implied limitations.

MR. DEHNKE: The law is, of course, a living organism. It must grow. I can conceive of individual situations in which the court, by reason of the complete change of circumstances and a completely different fact situation, might be justified in holding that the old common law rule ought not to be considered in force in this state any longer. But the other extreme is to use the method of an amendment by judicial decree to an extreme that I personally cannot justify.

MR. KING: I apologize for the personal exchange. I am aware that some people think that this is the way it ought to be. I just hope that by this brief exchange, the issue here has been perhaps somewhat clarified, because I think some people may not be aware of the complete implications of what they are trying to do by this amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Iverson.

MR. IVERSON: Mr. President, I rise to support this amendment. I dislike to vote against the committee recommendation on this but, as I understood Mr. Durst, the only reason actually given for the change of this language was that research had come up with fewer words which they said meant the same thing. I don't think we had better take any chance on this, and I would judge that the committee is not too seriously opposed to the original language.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Durst.

MR. DURST: The reason, Mr. Iverson and Mr. President, is not for fewer words. All that have been eliminated are 2 or 3. It is to make this section conform to the way the supreme court of this state has interpreted this section to mean.

Now, if we put the same language back, they may continue with the same interpretation, but we raised here this morning that if we reinsert it the same way, it can be logically argued that we do not wish to adopt the interpretation which the supreme court has placed upon this language which does allow this common law to be a living law and to change as needs of the times require.

I think Judge Dehnke has adequately stated the issue. There are some people, lawyers and otherwise, who do not believe the supreme court should have the right to change the common law; this should be done by statute. This is an honest belief on their part. We have operated in this state under a common law that does change by judicial interpretation as the needs of the state require. This is what the committee thinks is a proper interpretation, and we have changed the language to conform to this interpretation.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. President, I rise to support the committee proposal and to oppose the amendment for several reasons: it has been pointed out that the court decisions have settled the question and therefore there is no question. Therefore, it is better to leave the language alone. Normally I would think so, but in this case it seems to me that the language itself is ambiguous. The language we have at the present time, which we are trying to get rid of, is ambiguous. It has caused trouble in the past, and I suggest that if we readopted the same language, somebody will think that we mean exactly what we say and not what the supreme court has said before that we mean. We ought to say what we mean and not what somebody else has construed us to mean.

I call to your attention it is not unknown that supreme courts can change their decisions too. They may say it means a certain thing today; tomorrow they may say it means the opposite. We shouldn't give them the opportunity to do so. We should say what we mean, and what we mean is what is embodied in the committee proposal.

This question has been analyzed by the committee. They made a decision. It was analyzed by eminent professors. They made a decision. It was analyzed by the committee of the whole this morning. We made a decision. Now, I wonder if we are going to rehash the entire question over and over again. It seems to me that once the committee of the whole has made a decision, there is no need to rehash the entire subject matter. I understood the reason for raising the amendment here was that there was some question about whether there had been a large degree of support or a small degree of support. That can be determined by voting. There is no need to introduce new ideas, new arguments.

I think that the convention should sustain the committee of the whole and it should sustain the people who have analyzed this. We won't be sure that we are right if we change our opinion between this morning and this afternoon.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen, I suppose one of the reasons they call me a conservative is that I don't like to change just for the fun of it. I like changes that mean improvement. I can't see any improvement that can come from this change of language proposed by the committee. What the supreme court has said, from the reading of the clause in the past, to me is entirely satisfactory, and I would like to have it left that way.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Faxon.

MR. FAXON: I move the previous question, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on ordering the previous question. A division has been demanded. Is the demand supported? A sufficient number up.

The question now is: shall the previous question now be put? Those in favor say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. The question is now on the amendment. Those in favor will vote—

MR. BOOTHBY: Mr. President, I call for a record roll call vote.

PRESIDENT NISBET: A record roll call vote has been demanded. Is there a sufficient number up for that? A sufficient number up.

Now the question is on the amendment. Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: Pending is the amendment:

PRESIDENT NISBET: Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no.

SECRETARY CHASE: Has everyone voted? The machine is locked and the votes will be recorded.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is not adopted.

Committee Proposal 44, as amended, is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 44 as amended and referred to the committee on style and drafting:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the constitution of this state, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that:

Sec. a. All laws not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are altered or repealed.

Sec. b. All writs, actions, suits, proceedings, civil or criminal liabilities, prosecutions, judgments, sentences, orders, decrees, appeals, causes of action, contracts, claims, demands, titles and rights of individuals, partnerships, bodies corporate, and of this state or any subdivision or agency thereof existing on the effective date hereof shall continue unaffected except as modified in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

Sec. c. All officers filling any office by election or appointment shall continue to exercise the duties thereof, according to their respective commissions or appointments, until their offices shall have been abolished or their successors selected and qualified in accordance with this constitution or the laws enacted pursuant thereto.

Sec. d. The attorney general of the state shall recommend to the legislature at the commencement of the next session such changes in existing laws as may be deemed necessary to adapt the same to this constitution.

Mr. Chase will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee of the whole, Mr. President, has also had under consideration Committee Proposal 51, and has come to no final resolution thereon. This completes the report of the committee of the whole.

PRESIDENT NISBET: It has been suggested that during the afternoon session, at approximately 3:20 or 3:30, in order to have a little relaxation and rest, the chairman of the committee of the whole will suggest that the committee stand at ease for 5 or 10 minutes. That will be his prerogative.

Mr. Bentley.

MR. BENTLEY: Mr. President, I move that the convention resolve itself into committee of the whole for consideration of items on the general orders calendar.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Bentley. Those in favor say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Mr. Bentley.

[Whereupon, Mr. Bentley assumed the Chair to preside as chairman of the committee of the whole.]

CHAIRMAN BENTLEY: The committee will be in order. The pending business before the committee is Committee Proposal 51, the minority report c amendment of Mr. Austin and others to the committee proposal.

For minority report c, see above, page 856.

The Chair has several individuals who have been seeking recognition, but there has been a request from the sponsor of the pending amendment to clarify 1 or 2 items and, without objection, the gentleman from Detroit, Mr. Austin, will be recognized out of order at this time.

MR. AUSTIN: Thank you. Mr. Chairman, ladies and gentlemen of the committee, I would like you to refer to Journal 73, page 523, and Journal 69, page 404. The minority report is on page 523, and the minority proposal is that "The legislature may by law authorize or impose ad valorem and other taxes which shall be uniform within the classes of persons or property to which they are applied." A question has been raised by the inclusion of the language "and other taxes" at this point in the committee's proposal, and if you will refer back to page 404, the first sentence of the committee's proposal

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Mr. President, copies are available and will be distributed to the delegates during the day.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Miss Hart.

MISS HART: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I'm usually associated with battling for women's rights. But today I want to speak a word for the men. I heard the weather report this morning and I sincerely hope that during the day as the temperature rises, that the men in this convention will feel that they may remove their coats and be as comfortable as the women. (applause)

PRESIDENT NISBET: Thank you, Miss Hart.

Reports of standing committees.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on style and drafting, by Mr. Cudlip, chairman, submits Report 108 of that committee, reporting back to the convention Committee Proposal 44, A proposal pertaining to the schedule; with the recommendation that the style and form be approved.
 William B. Cudlip, chairman.

For Committee Proposal 44 as reported by the committee on style and drafting, see below, page 3027.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Referred to the order of second reading of proposals.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on style and drafting, by Mr. Cudlip, chairman, submits Report 109 of that committee, reporting back to the convention Committee Proposal 61, A proposal pertaining to terms of public officers; with the recommendation that the style and form be approved.
 William B. Cudlip, chairman.

1. Amend page 1, second paragraph, last sentence, after "legislators" by striking out "eligible to receive these benefits" and inserting "as provided by law"; so the language will then read, "This section shall not be construed to deny retirement benefits to those legislators as provided by law at the time—"

MR. AUSTIN: The word "those" should also be struck, Mr. Secretary.

SECRETARY CHASE: Bear with me a moment, please.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President—I am sorry. The secretary wants to clarify.

SECRETARY CHASE: Without objection, the amendment as revised by Mr. Austin, reads as follows:

1. Amend page 1, second paragraph, last sentence, after "benefits to" by striking out "those legislators eligible to receive these benefits" and inserting "legislators as provided by law"; so that the last sentence will read, "This section shall not be construed to deny retirement benefits to legislators as provided by law at the time this constitution becomes effective."

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President and fellow delegates, the purpose of this amendment is simply to leave the door open to the legislature to provide for retirement benefits. It does not in itself provide benefits, but it does leave it to the legislature to do so if it feels that such benefits are necessary. Most of us here, I am sure, believe that we would get a little better grade of legislator if he could feel somewhat secure, and I certainly urge that we adopt this amendment, which does not of itself provide additional expense but does give the legislature some freedom which we think they ought to have.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, this pulls the rug right out from under what we have just done. It not only would make it possible—and it is reasonable to assume that the legislature would take advantage of it—to continue the retirement system, but if they did continue it the cost would be higher because it is a percentage of salary and the salary is higher. What we have just done would be completely knocked out by this amendment.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Delegates, please clear the board. The question is on the amendment offered by Messrs. Austin, Faxon and Downs. Those in favor—

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President, I demand the yeas and nays.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The yeas and nays have been demanded. Is the demand supported? Not a sufficient number up. Those in favor of the amendment offered by Messrs. Downs, Austin and Faxon will say aye.

DELEGATES: Division.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Division has been demanded. Is the demand seconded? A sufficient number up. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye. Opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and tally the vote.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the amendment offered by Messrs. Faxon, Downs and Austin, the yeas are 28; the nays, 82.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is not adopted. The question now is on the committee proposal, as amended. Will the delegates please clear the board? Those in favor of Committee Proposal 28, as amended, will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

plause)

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 28, as amended, is passed and referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 28 as amended and rereferred to the committee on style and drafting:

Sec. a. The annual salary of the members of the legislature shall be not less than $9,000. Members of the legislature shall be entitled to 2 round trips home per month while the legislature is in session, and expenses in connection with the work of interim committees. No change in salary or expenses shall be effective during the term of office for which the legislature making the change was elected except and only to the extent of a general salary reduction in all other branches of government.

No person serving in the legislature shall receive at any time for his services as a member of the legislature any additional fees, compensation or financial benefits from the state or its political subdivisions. This section shall not be construed to deny retirement benefits to those legislators eligible to receive these benefits at the time this constitution becomes effective.

PRESIDENT NISBET (continuing): The secretary will read the next proposal.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 15 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 44, A proposal pertaining to the schedule. Amends sections 1 and 8 of the schedule and adds 2 sections.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Hanna.

MR. W. F. HANNA: Mr. President, I move that it be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it will be considered read.

Following is Committee Proposal 44 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and considered read. (For text as referred to said committee, see above, page 866.):

That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the constitution of this state, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that:

Sec. a. All [laws] LAW not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until CHANGED, REPEALED OR IN THE CASE OF STATUTES THEY HAVE EXPIRED BECAUSE OF LIMITATIONS CONTAINED THEREIN [they expire by their own limitations, or are altered or repealed].

Sec. b. All writs, actions, suits, proceedings, civil or criminal liabilities, prosecutions, judgments, sentences, orders, decrees, appeals, causes of action, contracts, claims, demands, titles and rights of individuals, partnerships, bodies corporate, and of this state or any subdivision or agency thereof existing on the effective date hereof shall continue unaffected except as modified in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

Sec. c. EXCEPT AS OTHERWISE PROVIDED IN THIS CONSTITUTION, all officers filling any office by election or appointment shall continue to exercise the duties thereof, according to their respective commissions or appointments, until their offices shall have been abolished or their successors selected and qualified in accordance with this constitution or the laws enacted pursuant thereto.

Sec. d. The attorney general of the state shall recommend to the legislature at the commencement of the next session such changes in existing laws as may be deemed necessary to adapt the same to this constitution.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Erickson.

MR. ERICKSON: Mr. President, fellow delegates, Committee Proposals 44 and 68 both have to do with the schedule.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Will the delegates please clear the board? Mr. Erickson.

MR. ERICKSON: This first committee proposal just makes sure that all actions and anybody's rights that they had under the old are carried over into the new if it is intended that way, and it is really a housekeeping job. The committee recommends the adoption of this proposal.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of Committee Proposal 44. Those in favor of the adoption of Committee Proposal 44 will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

Nays—0

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of Committee Proposal 44, the yeas are 108; the nays, none.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 44 is passed and referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 44 as rereferred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 3027.

Without objection, we will return to reports of standing committees.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on rules and resolutions, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, reports back to the convention Resolution 34, A resolution regarding submission of the constitution to the people for ratification; with an amendment, recommending that the amendment be agreed to and the resolution, as thus amended, be adopted.

The following is the amendment recommended by the committee:

1. Amend the resolution by striking out the resolving clause and inserting the following:

"Whereas, The convention has not prepared a series of amendments to the present constitution, but has drafted an entirely new document; and

Whereas, The provisions of the proposed new constitution adopted to date are interrelated and decisions made have been interdependent; and

Whereas, The submission of the new constitution to the people in pieces rather than as a whole could result in confusion at the polls and in a patchwork document; now therefore be it

Resolved, That the new constitution proposed by this convention shall be submitted to the people for acceptance or rejection as a single document."

R. C. Van Dusen, chairman.

For Resolution 34 as offered, see above, page 286.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: This report is submitted at this time because the next order of business on second reading is the provision of the schedule relating to the manner of submission of the new constitution for acceptance or rejection by the people.

The committee on rules and resolutions found, when it came to consider this matter, that 2 of its members had exercised rather prophetic judgment, for back in November, in the early part of November of 1961, Mr. McCauley and Miss McGowan had offered Resolution 34 providing that the constitution be submitted to the people in its entirety, rather than in sections.

The committee is of the opinion, by a substantial bipartisan majority, that submission of the new constitution as a single document is by far the most desirable method. We have expressed our reasons in the recitals contained in the amendment made by the committee to the resolution offered by Mr. McCauley and Miss McGowan, pointing out that for some months we have been engaged in the drafting of an entirely new document. This has been the theory on which we have proceeded since early January. We have not been drafting amendments to the existing constitution, but rather we have prepared an integrated whole new document. The provisions of the several proposals are interrelated. The decisions which we have made are interdependent. Quite obviously not every provision of the new document on which we have agreed is acceptable to every member of the convention but, as a whole, everything that we have adopted is acceptable to a large majority of the members.

We further recognize that if the document were to be submitted as a series of amendments, the result would be confusion to the voters, and if they were to accept some and to reject others the result might be a patchwork document which

Article IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[.]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. 5. ISLAND AREAS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE CONTIGUOUS BY LAND TO THE COUNTY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of [8] EIGHT persons, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the [2] TWO political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election AT WHICH A GOVERNOR WAS ELECTED preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following [4] FOUR regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted BY THE COMMISSION and published as provided in this section.

you to look at, I believe if everyone will look closely at the wall you will find the handwriting on the wall. I cannot accept this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Garry Brown.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Mr. President and members of the convention, I think that Dr. Nord has answered his own suggestion. That is that the handwriting is on the wall. It is clear. It is unequivocal. I think it should be supported. It takes care of a situation that none of us can contemplate at this time, but it certainly is language that will permit the legislature to implement the provisions that we have written into this constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time is up.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time for debate upon this amendment has expired. The question is upon the adoption of the amendment. All those in favor of the amendment —

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I —

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Downs, time for debate has expired. The Chair thought you were going to make a motion.

MR. DOWNS: Oh, I am sorry.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: All those in favor of the amendment will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The amendment is adopted. Are there any further amendments? The question is upon the adoption of the schedule. Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President, I was over eager and I apologize to the convention.

I rise on this one to point out that in section 16 and 17 we are mandating that this document be presented in one package to the people and that it be presented in November, although the attorney general has ruled that it must be presented in April. Some of us have put in a resolution to ask that the document be divided. I do not want to impose on the time of the convention to reargue those points but simply point out that I am concerned that the opposition to some of the bad parts may jeopardize the passage of what I believe most voters would consider good parts. I think the November instead of the April date, when the attorney general has so ruled, raises some other questions. For those reasons, along with some of the others on the matter of the transition, I do urge a no vote.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move to limit further debate on the schedule to 5 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On the motion to limit debate to 5 minutes upon the schedule, all those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. Debate is limited. The Chair will recognize Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. President, in listening to the principal objection voiced by Mr. Downs, namely, that in section 16 of this article which refers to the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962 — that that is an objectionable date. First of all I would like to elaborate on that. But, in addition to that, I will have 2 further statements to make as to objections.

As to the November, 1962, ballot date, that has already been ruled by the attorney general to be unconstitutional. It appears to me that once more we are putting into our own constitution something that is unconstitutional. But the odd thing about this one is that this is the only provision I know of that could be put into our constitution that would violate the Michigan constitution. The other violation has to do with the federal constitution. I object to section 16 having the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962, on the ground that it is unconstitutional. The other 2 objections, I believe, are more important, however.

One of them is the one I referred to a minute ago, to section 6. Section 6 would delay the apportionment, such as it is, until 1970 and gives the legislature the power to do something which they have failed to do in the past for almost 40 years in the senate. That is to reapportion. That fails to cure the unconstitutionality of that section. What is required is apportionment now and not power to somebody without mandate to do so. I believe that that was unconstitutional a few minutes ago before the amendment and that it remains unconstitutional at the present time. My conclusion about section 6 is this: in my opinion, it is simply a half baked effort to deal with the problem of unconstitutionality under the federal constitution. So, as to sections 16 and 6, we have an unconstitutionality as to the Michigan constitution and another one as to the federal constitution.

Finally, as to section 5: section 5, which lists the ad board — the elected ad board — there you will find only half of the ad board as we know it. And I suggest to the delegates that that is objectionable because it is what I would term a half ad board. And a half ad board is not as good as a complete ad board. (laughter)

Therefore, Mr. President, those are the 3 objections: we have a half ad board, we have a half baked effort to cure unconstitutionality, and we have a third section which clearly is unconstitutional under the Michigan constitution. Therefore, I cannot accept this schedule.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: No, I pass.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Garry Brown.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Mr. President and members of the convention, I shall be very brief. I will only say that with respect to what Dr. Nord has said — and it answers all of his propositions and his objections and what have you — is that the attorney general does not determine the constitutionality of matters such as the one before us. Neither does Dr. Nord.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the adoption of the schedule. All those in favor of the adoption of the schedule, as amended, will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the schedule and temporary provisions, as amended, the yeas are 90; the nays are 28.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: A majority of the delegates elect having voted therefor, the schedule and temporary provisions, as amended, are adopted and passed.

For sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 7 through 17 of the schedule and temporary provisions as passed, see above, page 3073.

Following is section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions as amended and passed:

Sec. 6. The state shall be districted for the purpose of electing senators in accordance with the provisions of Article IV, Section 2 after the official publication of the total population count of the 1970 decennial federal census. Until the apportionment of the senate following the 1970 census, unless the legislature by joint resolution shall give prior effect to said Article IV, Section 2, the senatorial districts under the 1908 constitution shall remain intact except that upon the adoption of this constitution each of the counties of Kent, Genesee, Macomb and Oakland shall be divided by the apportionment commission into two senatorial districts and Wayne county into eight senatorial districts in accordance with this constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): Reports of standing committees.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Before we take reports of standing committees, I would like to move that the constitution as now adopted be referred to the committee on style and drafting, so that it may have an opportunity to review it tomorrow.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: That is under the rules, isn't it?

MR. VAN DUSEN: I don't think there is anything in the rules that provides for it. It is one of the omissions of the rules.

MR. DOWNS: Point of order, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: What's the point, Mr. Downs?

MR. DOWNS: I believe the point would be the articles are adopted and not the constitution is adopted; since we have not voted on the entire package.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I will accept Mr. Downs' amendment, Mr. President.

MR. DOWNS: Mine is not an amendment, but if you wish to restate the motion, it would be in order; (laughter) or I will make it as an amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the motion of Mr. Van Dusen to refer to the committee on style and drafting the several articles which have been adopted. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails and the preamble, the articles and the schedule and temporary provisions, as amended, are referred to the committee on style and drafting.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): Without objection, we will return to the order of reports of standing committees.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on rules and resolutions, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report—

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Secretary, could you read Resolution 96 first?

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on rules and resolutions, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, reports back to the convention Resolution 96, A resolution authorizing and directing the commencement of an action against the secretary of state seeking a declaration of the right of the convention to require the submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors in November, 1962; without amendment and with the recommendation that the resolution be adopted.

R. C. Van Dusen, chairman.

The resolution is as follows:

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the adoption of the resolution. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, the convention has just adopted a provision of the schedule of the constitution directing the submission of the new constitution to the voters at the election to be held November 6, 1962. The secretary of state has advised the president of this convention in writing that he will not comply with the direction of the convention, that he is bound by the opinion of the attorney general that the appropriate time for submission is April, 1963. Consequently, we are confronted with a collision between the action of this convention and the opinion of the attorney general which the secretary of state says he must follow.

If this matter is to be resolved, it must be resolved by the courts of this state. The select committee appointed by the president to consider this matter, as you know, took no position on the policy question of when the proposed constitution should be submitted but has, in anticipation of the action which the convention has now taken, adopted and recommended to the convention the resolution which the secretary has just read, which will implement that decision insofar as it is legally possible to do so.

The course of action contemplated by the resolution is the commencement of an action in the circuit court for Ingham county

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Article I

Declaration of Rights

Sec. 1. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for their equal benefit, security and protection.

Sec. 2. No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof because of religion, race, color or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 3. The people have the right peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition the government for redress of grievances.

Sec. 4. Every person shall be at liberty to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, or, against his consent, to contribute to the erection or support of any place of religious worship, or to pay tithes, taxes or other rates for the support of any minister of the gospel or teacher of religion. No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the state be appropriated for any such purpose. Sec. 12. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Sec. 18. No person shall be rendered incompetent to be a witness on account of his opinions on matters of religious belief.

Sec. 19. In all prosecutions for libels the truth may be given in evidence to the jury; and, if it appears to the jury that the matter charged as libelous is true and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the accused shall be acquitted.

Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Sec. 21. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on contract, express or implied, except in cases of fraud or breach of trust.

Sec. 22. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Sec. 23. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Article II Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors which involves the increase of any ad valorem tax rate limitation for a period of more than five years, or the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors or three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

Article III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight persons, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following four regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the apportionment commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and officers of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this

1 state from the governor, except notaries public,
2 from the legislature, or from any other state
3 authority, during the term for which he is elected.

4 Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any 5 state officer shall be interested directly or in-
6 directly in any contract with the state or any 7 political subdivision thereof which shall cause a
8 substantial conflict of interest. The legislature
9 shall further implement this provision by appro-
10 priate legislation.

11 Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be 12 privileged from civil arrest and civil process dur-
13 ing sessions of the legislature and for five days
14 next before the commencement and after the 15 termination thereof. They shall not be ques-
16 tioned in any other place for any speech in either
17 house.

18 Sec. 12. The compensation and expense al-
19 lowances of the members of the legislature shall 20 be determined by law. Changes in compensation
21 or expense allowances shall become effective only
22 when legislators commence their terms of office
23 after a general election.

24 Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat
25 of government on the second Wednesday in Janu-
26 ary of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each
27 regular session shall adjourn without day, on a
28 day determined by concurrent resolution, at 29 twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint 30 resolution pending at the final adjournment of 31 a regular session held in an odd numbered year
32 shall carry over with the same status to the 33 next regular session.

34 Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected
35 to and serving in each house shall constitute a 36 quorum to do business. A smaller number in 37 each house may adjourn from day to day, and 38 may compel the attendance of absent members in 39 the manner and with penalties as each house may 40 prescribe.

41 Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legisla-
42 tive council consisting of legislators appointed in 43 the manner prescribed by law. The legislature
44 shall appropriate funds for the council's opera-
45 tions and provide for its staff which shall main-
46 tain bill drafting, research and other services
47 for the members of the legislature. The council
48 shall periodically examine and recommend to the 49 legislature revision of the various laws of the 50 state.

51 Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise pro-
52 vided in this constitution, shall choose its own
53 officers and determine the rules of its proceedings,
54 but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a 55 majority of the members elected thereto and 56 serving therein from discharging a committee
57 from the further consideration of any measure.
58 Each house shall be the sole judge of the quali-
59 fications, elections and returns of its members,
60 and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of

1 all the members elected thereto and serving
2 therein, expel a member. The reasons for such 3 expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with 4 the votes and names of the members voting upon
5 the question. No member shall be expelled a
6 second time for the same cause.

7 Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may 8 establish the committees necessary for the effi-
9 cient conduct of its business and the legislature
10 may create joint committees. Each committee
11 shall by roll call vote record the vote and name
12 of all action on bills and resolutions taken in 13 the committee. Such vote shall be available for 14 public inspection. Notice of all committee hear-

They shall be grouped as far as practicable according to major purposes.

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

Sec. 3. The head of each principal department shall be a single executive unless otherwise provided in this constitution or by law. The single executives heading principal departments shall include a secretary of state, a state treasurer and an attorney general. Sec. 6. Appointment by and with the advice and consent of the senate when used in this constitution or laws in effect or hereafter enacted means appointment subject to disapproval by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in the senate if such action is taken within 60 session days after the date of such appointment. Any appointment not disapproved within such period shall stand confirmed.

Sec. 7. Vacancies in any office, appointment to which requires advice and consent of the senate, shall be filled by the governor by and with the advice and consent of the senate. A person whose appointment has been disapproved by the senate shall not be eligible for an interim appointment to the same office.

Sec. 8. Each principal department shall be under the supervision of the governor unless otherwise provided by this constitution. The governor shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of government and may require information in writing from all executive and administrative state officers, elective and appointive, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

The governor may initiate court proceedings in the name of the state to enforce compliance with any constitutional or legislative mandate, or to restrain violations of any constitutional or legislative power, duty or right by any officer, department or agency of the state or any of its political subdivisions. Sec. 20. No appropriation shall be a mandate to spend. The governor, with the approval of the appropriating committees of the house and senate, shall reduce expenditures authorized by appropriations whenever it appears that actual revenues for a fiscal period will fall below the revenue estimates on which appropriations for that period were based. Reductions in expenditures shall be made in accordance with procedures prescribed by law. If the governor or the person in line of succession to serve as governor is absent from the state, or suffering under an inability, the powers and duties of the office of governor shall devolve in order of precedence until the absence or inability giving rise to the devolution of powers ceases.

The inability of the governor or person acting as governor shall be determined by a majority of the supreme court on joint request of the president pro tempore of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives. Finance and Taxation

13 Sec. 1. The legislature shall impose taxes suf-
14 ficient with other resources to pay the expenses of 15 state government.

16 Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be 17 surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

18 Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the 19 uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and 20 tangible personal property not exempt by law. The 21 legislature shall provide for the determination of 22 true cash value of such property; the proportion 23 of true cash value at which such property shall 24 be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after 25 January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a sys-
26 tem of equalization of assessments. The legislature
27 may provide for alternative means of taxation of 28 designated real and tangible personal property in 29 lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax
30 other than the general ad valorem property tax 31 shall be uniform upon the class or classes on 32 which it operates.

33 Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-34 profit religious or educational organizations and 35 used exclusively for religious or educational pur-
36 poses, as defined by law, shall be exempt from 37 real and personal property taxes.

38 Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the 39 assessment by the state of the property of those
40 public service businesses assessed by the state
41 at the date this constitution becomes effective, and 42 of other property as designated by the legislature,
43 and for the imposition and collection of taxes
44 thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be
45 assessed at the same proportion of its true
46 cash value as the legislature shall specify for 47 property subject to general ad valorem taxation.
48 The rate of taxation on such property shall be 49 the average rate levied upon other property in this 50 state under the general ad valorem tax law, or,
51 if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable
52 to the property of each business enterprise assessed
53 by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem
54 taxation levied upon other property in all counties
55 in which any of such property is situated.

56 Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this 57 constitution, the total amount of general ad valo-
58 rem taxes imposed upon real and tangible per-
59 sonal property for all purposes in any one year
60 shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the

1 assessed valuation of property as finally equalized.
2 Under procedures provided by law, which shall
3 guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax
4 limitations for any county and for the townships
5 and for school districts therein, the aggregate of 6 which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of 7 such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter
8 altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified
9 electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu 10 of the limitation hereinbefore established. These 11 limitations may be increased to an aggregate of 12 not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation,
13 for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one
14 time, if approved by a majority of the electors,
15 qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this 16 constitution, voting on the question.

17 The foregoing limitations shall not apply to 18 taxes imposed for the payment of principal and 19 interest on bonds or other evidences of indebted-
20 ness or for the payment of assessments or con-
21 tract obligations in anticipation of which bonds
22 are issued, which taxes may be imposed without 23 limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes im-
24 posed for any other purpose by any city, vil-
25 lage, charter county, charter township, charter
26 authority or other authority, the tax limitations
27 of which are provided by charter or by general
28 law.

29 In any school district which extends into two 30 or more counties, property taxes at the highest 31 rate available in the county which contains the 32 greatest part of the area of the district may be 33 imposed and collected for school purposes through-34 out the district.

35 Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate
36 or base shall be imposed by the state or any of 37 its subdivisions.

38 Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a 39 sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than 40 four percent of their gross taxable sales of 41 tangible personal property.

42 Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales
43 and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed di-
44 rectly or indirectly on fuels sold or used 45 to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on 46 registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment
47 of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusi-
48 vely for highway purposes as defined by law.

49 Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on 50 retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible 51 personal property shall be used exclusively for 52 assistance to townships, cities and villages, on 53 a population basis as provided by law. In de-
54 termining population the legislature may exclude 55 any portion of the total number of persons who 56 are wards, patients or convicts in any tax sup-
57 ported institution.

58 Sec. 11. There shall be established a state
59 school aid fund which shall be used exclusively
60 for the support of public education and school employees' retirement systems, as provided by law. One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money

1 shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50
2 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank.
3 Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall 4 show the amount of state money so deposited as 5 a separate item in all published statements.

6 Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law
7 for the annual accounting for all public moneys,
8 state and local, and may provide by law for interim
9 accounting.

10 The legislature shall provide by law for the 11 maintenance of uniform accounting systems by 12 units of local government and the auditing of 13 county accounts by competent state authority
14 and other units of government as provided by law.

15 Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and 16 adjustment of claims against the state shall be 17 prescribed by law.

18 Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings,
19 audit reports and other reports of public moneys

18 those voting entered in the respective journals

26 the end of 45 days after the date of the election
27 at which it was approved.

28 Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this
29 constitution by petition of the registered electors
30 of this state. Every petition shall include the full 31 text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by 32 registered electors of the state equal in number to

36 Such petitions shall be filed with the person au-
37 thorized by law to receive the same at least 120
38 days before the election at which the proposed
39 amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition
40 shall be in the form, and shall be signed and 41 circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law.
42 The person authorized by law to receive such peti-

44 by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signa-
45 tures on the petition, and make an official an-46 nouncement thereof at least 60 days prior to the 47 election at which the proposed amendment is to be 48 voted upon.

49 Any amendment proposed by such petition shall 50 be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was 51 filed, to the electors at the next general election.
52 Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of 53 the constitution which would be altered or abro-
54 gated thereby, and the question as it shall appear
55 on the ballot shall be published in full as provided
56 by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted
57 in each polling place and furnished to news media

as provided by law.

58 The ballot to be used in such election shall con-
59 tain a statement of the purpose of the proposed 60 amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

61 If the proposed amendment is approved by a
62 majority of the electors voting on the question,
63 it shall become part of the constitution, and 64 shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of 65 the constitution at the end of 45 days after 66 the date of the election at which it was ap-
67 proved. If two or more amendments approved by 68 the electors at the same election conflict, that
69 amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote
70 shall prevail.

71 Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in 72 the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter
73 and at such times as may be provided by law, the 74 question of a general revision of the constitution
75 shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If 76 a majority of the electors voting on the question
77 decide in favor of a convention for such purpose,
78 at an election to be held not later than six months
79 after the proposal was certified as approved, the 80 electors of each representative district as then
81 organized shall elect one delegate and the elec-
82 tors of each senatorial district as then organized
83 shall elect one delegate at a partisan election.
84 The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat
85 of government on the first Tuesday in October
86 next succeeding such election or at an earlier date
87 if provided by law.

88 The convention shall choose its own officers,
89 determine the rules of its proceedings and judge
90 the qualifications, elections and returns of its mem-
91 bers. The governor shall appoint a qualified
92 resident of the same district to fill a vacancy
93 in the office of any delegate who shall be a mem-
94 ber of the same party as the delegate vacating
95 the office. The convention shall have power to ap-
96 point such officers, employees and assistants as 97 it deems necessary and to fix their compensation;
98 to provide for the printing and distribution of its
99 documents, journals and proceedings; to explain
100 and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

101 No proposed constitution or amendment adopted
102 by such convention shall be submitted to the 103 electors for approval as hereinafter provided un-
104 less by the assent of a majority of all the delegates
105 elected to and serving in the convention, with the 106 names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that the report be adopted. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The report is adopted. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, in compliance with our rules, I think it would now be necessary to take a roll call vote on the amendment to the constitution changing the date.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment recommended in the report is as follows:

1. Amend the schedule, section 15 [formerly section 16] (column 2) line 11, after "held on the" by striking out "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962.", and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will call the roll. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye as your name is called. Those opposed will vote no.

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause)
PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

Sincerely,
Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger, White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

For document incorporating following changes, see below, page 3355. Page numbers in report refer to document pages.

1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.

2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."

3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.

4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

CONSTITUTION
OF THE
STATE OF MICHIGAN

as finally adopted by the Convention
August 1, 1962

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE I

Sec. 2. No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof because of religion, race, color or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 3. The people have the right peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition the government for redress of grievances.

No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the state be appropriated for any such purpose. The civil and political rights, privileges and capacities of no person shall be diminished or enlarged on account of his religious belief.

No warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things shall issue without describing them, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to bar from evidence in any criminal proceeding any narcotic drug, firearm, bomb, explosive or any other dangerous weapon, seized by a peace officer outside the curtilage of any dwelling house in this state.

Sec. 12. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Sec. 13. A suitor in any court of this state has the right to prosecute or defend his suit, either in his own proper person or by an attorney.

Sec. 16. Excessive bail shall not be required; excessive fines shall not be imposed; cruel or unusual punishment shall not be inflicted; nor shall witnesses be unreasonably detained.

Sec. 17. No person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law. Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Sec. 21. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on contract, express or implied, except in cases of fraud or breach of trust.

Sec. 22. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Sec. 23. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE II

Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

ARTICLE III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision thereof, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office, employment or position under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.

Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. On all actions on bills and resolutions in each committee, names and votes of members shall be recorded. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.

Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same unless the public security otherwise requires. The record of the vote and name of the members of either house voting on any question shall be entered in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the members present. Any member of either house may dissent from and protest against any act, proceeding or resolution which he deems injurious to any person or the public, and have the reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in joint convention and all votes on appointments submitted to the senate for advice and consent shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open unless the public security otherwise requires.

Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than two intervening calendar days, nor to any place other than where the legislature may then be in session.

Sec. 22. All legislation shall be by bill and may originate in either house.

Sec. 23. The style of the laws shall be: The People of the State of Michigan enact.

Sec. 24. No law shall embrace more than one object, which shall be expressed in its title. No bill shall be altered or amended on its passage through either house so as to change its original purpose as determined by its total content and not alone by its title.

Sec. 25. No law shall be revised, altered or amended by reference to its title only. The section or sections of the act altered or amended shall be re-enacted and published at length.

Sec. 26. No bill shall be passed or become a law at any regular session of the legislature until it has been printed or reproduced and in the possession of each house for at least five days. Every bill shall be read three times in each house before the final passage thereof. No bill shall become a law without the concurrence of a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house. On the final passage of bills, the votes and names of the members voting thereon shall be entered in the journal.

Sec. 27. No act shall take effect until the expiration of 90 days from the end of the session at which it was passed, but the legislature may give immediate effect to acts by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house.

Sec. 28. When the legislature is convened on extraordinary occasions in special session no bill shall be passed on any subjects other than those expressly stated in the governor's proclamation or submitted by special message.

Sec. 29. The legislature shall pass no local or special act in any case where a general act can be made applicable, and whether a general act can be made applicable shall be a judicial question. No local or special act shall take effect until approved by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house and by a majority of the electors voting thereon in the district affected. Any act repealing local or special acts shall require only a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house and shall not require submission to the electors of such district.

Sec. 30. The assent of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature shall be required for the appropriation of public money or property for local or private purposes.

Sec. 31. The general appropriation bills for the succeeding fiscal period covering items set forth in the budget shall be passed or rejected in either house of the legislature before that house passes any appropriation bill for items not in the budget except bills supplementing appropriations for the current fiscal year's operation. Any bill requiring an appropriation to carry out its purpose shall be considered an appropriation bill. One of the general appropriation bills as passed by the legislature shall contain an itemized statement of estimated revenue by major source in each operating fund for the ensuing fiscal period, the total of which shall not be less than the total of all appropriations made from each fund in the general appropriation bills as passed.

Sec. 32. Every law which imposes, continues or revives a tax shall distinctly state the tax.

Sec. 33. Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor before it becomes law, and the governor shall have 14 days measured in hours and minutes from the time of presentation in which to consider it. If he approves, he shall within that time sign and file it with the secretary of state and it shall become law. If he does not approve, and the legislature has within that time finally adjourned the session at which the bill was passed, it shall not become law. If he disapproves, and the legislature continues the session at which the bill was passed, he shall return it within such 14-day period with his objections, to the house in which it originated. That house shall enter such objections in full in its journal and reconsider the bill. If two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house pass the bill notwithstanding the objections of the governor, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house for reconsideration. The bill shall become law if passed by two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in that house. The vote of each house shall be entered in the journal with the votes and names of the members voting thereon. If any bill is not returned by the governor within such 14-day period, the legislature continuing in session, it shall become law as if he had signed it.

Sec. 34. Any bill passed by the legislature and approved by the governor, except a bill appropriating money, may provide that it will not become law unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon.

Sec. 35. All laws enacted at any session of the legislature shall be published in book form within 60 days after final adjournment of the session, and shall be distributed in the manner provided by law. The prompt publication of judicial decisions shall be provided by law. All laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Sec. 36. No general revision of the laws shall be made. The legislature may provide for a compilation of the laws in force, arranged without alteration, under appropriate heads and titles.

Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and tangible personal property not exempt by law. The legislature shall provide for the determination of true cash value of such property; the proportion of true cash value at which such property shall be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a system of equalization of assessments. Every tax other than the general ad valorem property tax shall be uniform upon the class or classes on which it operates.

Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-profit religious or educational organizations and used exclusively for religious or educational purposes, as defined by law, shall be exempt from real and personal property taxes.

and for the imposition and collection of taxes thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be assessed at the same proportion of its true cash value as the legislature shall specify for property subject to general ad valorem taxation. The rate of taxation on such property shall be the average rate levied upon other property in this state under the general ad valorem tax law, or, if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable to the property of each business enterprise assessed by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem taxation levied upon other property in all counties in which any of such property is situated.

Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. These limitations may be increased to an aggregate of not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation, for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one time, if approved by a majority of the electors, qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this constitution, voting on the question.

The foregoing limitations shall not apply to taxes imposed for the payment of principal and interest on bonds or other evidences of indebtedness or for the payment of assessments or contract obligations in anticipation of which bonds are issued, which taxes may be imposed without limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes imposed for any other purpose by any city, village, charter county, charter township, charter authority or other authority, the tax limitations of which are provided by charter or by general law.

Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property shall be used exclusively for assistance to townships, cities and villages, on a population basis as provided by law. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Schedule and Temporary Provisions

To insure the orderly transition from the constitution of 1908 to this constitution the following schedule and temporary provisions are set forth to be effective for such period as are thereby required.

Attorney General to recommend necessary laws.

Sec. 1. The attorney general  shall recommend to the legislature as soon as practicable such changes as may be * necessary to adapt existing laws to this constitution.

This is a revision of Sec. 8 of the Schedule of the present constitution. It authorizes the attorney general to recommend to the legislature necessary changes in existing laws if the revised constitution is adopted.

Writs, actions, claims, etc., remain effective.

Sec. 2. All writs, actions, suits, proceedings, civil or criminal liabilities, prosecutions, judgments, sentences, orders, decrees, appeals, causes of action, contracts, claims, demands, titles and rights existing on the effective date of this constitution shall continue unaffected except as modified in accordance with the provisions of this constitution.

This is a revision of Sec. 2 of the Schedule of the present constitution. It specifies that existing writs, actions, claims, etc. remain effective if the revised constitution is adopted, except as modified in accordance with the provisions of the document.

Officers continue their duties.

Sec. 3. Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, all officers filling any office by election or appointment shall continue to exercise their powers and duties until their offices shall have been abolished or their successors selected and qualified in accordance with this constitution or the laws enacted pursuant thereto.

No provision of this constitution, or of law or of executive order authorized by this constitution shall shorten the term of any person elected to state office at a statewide election on or prior to the date on which this constitution is submitted to a vote. In the event the duties of any such officers shall not have been abolished or incorporated into one or more of the principal departments at the expiration of his term, such officer shall continue to serve until his duties are so incorporated or abolished.

This is a revision of Sec. 5 of the Schedule of the present constitution. It insures the tenure of present elective and appointive officers, under the conditions specified, if the revised constitution is adopted.

Terms of officers elected November, 1962.

Sec. 4. All officers elected at the same election that this constitution is submitted to the people for adoption shall take office and complete the term to which they were elected under the 1908 constitution and existing laws and continue to serve until their successors are elected and qualified pursuant to this constitution or law.

This is a new section specifying that officers elected at the same election at which this revised constitution is submitted to the people shall take office and continue to serve until their successors are elected and qualified.

Terms of governor, etc. elected 1964; when four-year terms begin.

Sec. 5. Notwithstanding any other provision in this constitution, the governor, the lieutenant governor, the secretary of state, the attorney general and state senators shall be elected at the general election in 1964 to serve for two-year terms beginning on the first day of January next succeeding their election. The first election of such officers for four-year terms under this constitution shall be held at the general election in 1966.

This is a new section providing for transition from two-year to four-year terms for elected state officials and senators. It specifies that the first election of such officers for four-year terms will be held in November, 1966, thus separating gubernatorial from presidential elections.

Supreme court; reduction to seven justices.

Sec. 6. Notwithstanding the provisions of this constitution that the supreme court shall consist of seven justices it shall consist of eight justices until the time that a vacancy occurs as a result of death, retirement or resignation of a justice. The first such vacancy shall not be filled.

This is a new section providing that the present supreme court will continue to consist of eight justices if this revised constitution is adopted. A vacancy in the court due to death, retirement or resignation will not be filled, thus reducing the court to the seven members specified in the Judicial Article.

Judges of probate; eligible for reelection.

Sec. 7. Any judge of probate serving on the effective date of this constitution may serve the remainder of the term and be eligible to succeed himself for election regardless of other provisions in this constitution requiring him to be licensed to practice law in this state.

This is a new section providing that non-lawyer probate judges may continue to serve and be candidates for reelection to their posts if this revised constitution is adopted.

Overlapping terms for judiciary.

Sec. 8. The provisions of Article VI providing that terms of judicial offices shall not all expire at the same time, shall be implemented by law providing that at the next election for such offices judges shall be elected for terms of varying length, none of which shall be shorter than the regular term provided for the office.

This is a new section directing the legislature to design judicial election procedure to provide for the overlapping terms specified in the judicial article.
