Overview of the Constitutional Convention Process

Provisions generally began as Committee Proposals and were then brought to the convention floor for first reading. The majority of debate on the substance of provisions occurred during the first and second readings. There were two third readings; the first on an article-by-article basis and the second reviewing the Constitution as a whole. Following the third readings the entire Constitution was voted on by the delegates. The delegates then created the Notice of Address to the People, summarizing the Constitution on a provision-by-provision basis, which was distributed so that the people could be informed when making their ratification votes.

The convention used ALL CAPS to denote added material and [brackets] to denote removed material.

It was my understanding that our purpose was that this material be left out of the body of the proposal but continued in the title so that it would be identified up there to tell where the language is now found in the existing constitution, but that it would not be carried forward in the body of the proposal.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The Chairman would like to know whether Mr. Woolfenden would like to say something. The Chair noticed that he was up and was not recognized.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Mr. Chairman, the amendment proposed is acceptable to the committee on miscellaneous provisions and schedule.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Erickson.

MR. ERICKSON: Mr. Chairman, I was simply going to say the same thing.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is now on the amendment offered by Mr. Austin.

Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, will the secretary please read that amendment again?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Austin has offered the following amendment to Committee Proposal 5:

1. Amend line 7 by striking out "Sec. 9."; so that the language will then read, "No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes . . .", and so forth.

The secretary should make it clear that when he refers to lines in a proposal, they will be the lines as you find them in the official copy of the committee proposal that you have in your file.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Thank you. That is clear.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is on the adoption of the amendment. Those in favor signify by saying aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted.

Are there any further amendments to Committee Proposal 5? If not it will pass.

Committee Proposal 5 is passed.

Proposal 6. The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on finance and taxation, by Mr. Brake, chairman, Committee Proposal 6, A proposal to preserve the state's responsibility under sections 20a, 23a, 24, 25 and 26 of article X of the 1908 constitution.

Following is Committee Proposal 6 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

NOTHING IN THIS CONSTITUTION SHALL BE CONSTRUED AS IN ANY WAY IMPAIRING THE OBLIGATION OF THE STATE IN CONNECTION WITH ANY BENEFITS CONFERRED BY OR ISSUE OF BONDS AUTHORIZED BY THE PROVISIONS OF ARTICLE X, SECTIONS 20A, 23A, 24, 25 AND 26 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF 1908, AND THE OBLIGATION OF THE STATE IN CONNECTION WITH SAID SECTIONS IS SPECIFICALLY RECOGNIZED.

FOR THE RETIREMENT OF SUCH NOTES AND BONDS AS MAY HAVE BEEN ISSUED UNDER SECTION 26 OF THE 1908 CONSTITUTION, THERE IS HEREBY APPROPRIATED FROM THE GENERAL FUND EACH YEAR DURING THEIR LIFE A SUM EQUAL TO THE AMOUNT OF PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYMENTS DUE AND PAYABLE IN EACH SUCH YEAR.

Mr. Brake, chairman of the committee on finance and taxation, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 6:

The committee reports that section 20a of article X providing for the borrowing of money for a bonus for veterans of world war I, has completely performed its service. The last of the bonds issued under that section were retired in the early forties.

As to section 23a under which money was borrowed to pay the bonus for service in world war II, the only liability that remains with the state is that of liability due a surviving dependent where the veteran dies for service connected causes, and act 171 of the public acts of 1951 has accepted that liability as a general fund responsibility.

As to section 24 for borrowing for mental hospitals and T. B. hospitals, the money has been borrowed and expended and there is no obligation remaining under this section.

The same is true as to section 25 which is supplementary to section 23a. There is nothing remaining to be done thereunder.

Under section 26 authorizing the borrowing for the bonus for veterans of the Korean war there remains an obligation for the continuing appropriations of sufficient funds to meet the payment for both principal and interest. The legislature assumed the responsibility for any claims under this section by making them a general fund liability under act 11 of the public acts of 1958.

All of the remaining responsibility of the state under these provisions is covered by the proposal reported herewith. The committee has decided not to report any of the sections mentioned above as they appear in the present constitution.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, and ladies and gentlemen of the committee, under the 1908 constitution the state can borrow no money of any consequence at all except through amendment to the constitution, and we have in that constitution several amendments authorizing that power for bonuses and other purposes.

The purpose of this proposal is to retain in the state what little liability there is left under these borrowing proposals and to eliminate all the unnecessary language—and there is a lot of it.

Now, section 20a authorizes the borrowing of $30 million with which to pay the bonus to the veterans of world war I, and the matter is completely dead.

The last of the bonds issued under that authority were retired during my first term as treasurer in the early '40s, so there is nothing left in the way of liability whatsoever under that provision.

Incidentally, we paid through the nose in connection with that borrowing. The interest rates were high—5 and 5½ per cent, as I remember it. The bonds were not serials but long term bonds. There was a sinking fund in connection with it. Many of the investments made in the '20s and '30s went sour. It was an extremely expensive bit of financing.

Section 23a contains the authority to borrow $270 million with which to pay the bonus to the veterans of world war II. It was not found necessary to borrow that much money.

We did borrow $230 million and, incidentally, it had an average interest rate of 1.44 per cent.

Practically all of the liability under that borrowing is gone, but there is still a small possibility, and I guess a probability, of the need for payment to dependents of veterans who died of a service connected cause. You will find that near the end of the amendment. The legislature, by act 171 of 1957, dissolved this special fund and assumed whatever liability remained as a general fund liability.

Probably as a matter of legal need we could get along without putting this saving clause we are proposing into the new constitution at all because of the fact that the legislature has made that a general fund liability, and likewise with the later provision that I will mention, but to avoid any question and to make doubly certain, we are proposing this saving clause.

Section 24 authorized the borrowing of $65 million with which to build mental hospitals and tuberculosis hospitals. That has been carried out. There is nothing yet remaining to be done and no liability remains.

Section 25 is supplementary to 23a and contains only the same kind of liability as section 23a, a liability to the survivors of veterans who died from service connected causes.

Section 26 authorized the borrowing of $80 million for the bonus for the veterans in connection with the Korean war. That also has been dissolved as a special fund and the liability assumed under act 11 of 1958.

That particular constitutional amendment has a feature none of the others did in that it provided for a continuous appropriation of sufficient funds each year to meet those bonds, and the last of them will not be due until 1970.

That language is carried forward in our proposal in the exact words that you find in the amendment itself which was adopted in 1954. Here again, probably it is unnecessary to have the saving clause, but it can do no harm and we are using very few words.

Now, in the proposal there should have been, for clarity, the words "of article X" inserted after the words "section 26" in the second paragraph. While probably that figure 26 would refer back sufficiently to the first paragraph which does say "article X", there is no use leaving it at loose ends, and I therefore offer an amendment to that effect.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Brake offers the following amendment to Committee Proposal 6:

1. Amend the second paragraph, line 13, after "section 26" by inserting "of article X"; so the language will then read: and so forth.

For the retirement of such notes and bonds as may have been issued under section 26 of article X of the 1908 constitution, there is hereby appropriated from the general fund each year . . .

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Brake.

Mr. Hodges.

MR. HODGES: Mr. Chairman, I should like to direct a couple of questions to Mr. Brake, if I may. Would it be possible to have more general language than this referring to all other general bonds?

While this undoubtedly takes care of a lot of the language contained in the present constitution, would it not be better if we just had a general clause of this nature, and maybe at the end of the constitution, and maybe one that had a time limit to it so that we would not have this type of carryover material actually found in the body of the constitution?

MR. BRAKE: If I might reply to that question, Mr. Chairman, I would say this. There are no other general obligation bonds outstanding except under these issues. I think anybody who was interested in this particular subject matter would expect to find these issues referred to specifically here.

Very likely there will be at the end of the constitution somewhere a saving clause for everything, but for these particular bond issues, which are specific, I think there should be a specific provision so that no one will need to search beyond that.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Dr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. Chairman, I should like, if I may, to ask Mr. Brake this question. Mr. Nisbet and I are puzzled in trying to find section 23a in the copy we have of the Michigan Statutes Annotated. Is that a new section that is later than the date of publication of our book?

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, Dr. Nord, the reference is to 23a which was adopted on November 2, 1954. I refer to the constitutional amendment. Are you looking at the amendments or the statute, Dr. Nord?

MR. NORD: We looked in each of the 3 parts. Apparently it exists, but it is not in our book. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Woolfenden.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Mr. Brake, according to the Michigan Statutes Annotated there are 2 amendments numbered 23.

MR. BRAKE: There is one 23 and one 23a. This one is 23a.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Was it in fact adopted as 23a or is that some editorial notation?

MR. BRAKE: Section 23 is the sales tax amendment.

MR. WOOLFENDEN: Michigan Statutes Annotated says there were 2 adopted and both were numbered 23, apparently by inadvertence, including the one you are referring to. I am just wondering whether you are historically correct in calling this one 23a.

MR. BRAKE: I think so. This is the senate's handbook, and so it couldn't be wrong. (laughter)

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Stevens.

MR. STEVENS: Mr. Chairman, I am quite sure if it was done by mistake originally, the "a" was inserted later to take care of it. It was a mechanical error in the beginning.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, just so there will not be any feeling of partisanship here, let me say this. Mr. Brake referred to the senate's handbook. I refer to the constitution as compiled by the secretary of state and the secretary of state also refers to section 23a. (laughter)

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is on the adoption of the amendment of Mr. Brake. Those in favor of the amendment shall so signify by saying aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is adopted.

Are there any further amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. Hubbs offers the following amendment to Committee Proposal 6:

1. Amend page 1, after line 16, by inserting a new paragraph to read as follows:

"When all bonds outstanding complete with interest due thereon have been redeemed and paid in full, this section of the constitution shall be automatically removed from the constitution."

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hubbs.

MR. HUBBS: Mr. Chairman, during the campaign we heard a lot of conversation about making this constitution just as short as we possibly could.

Therefore, in the interests of keeping it from getting "fat" over the years, I should like to make provision for having it automatically pruned, and this is my method.

This will apply only for a limited length of time, will become operative and then it will not be printed in future constitutions, after these bonds have been redeemed and paid in full.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Upon whom do you place the responsibility of deciding that the obligation is over?

I cannot stress too strongly the difficulty of determining when the liability will expire. There is the possibility of some person dying and leaving dependents—dying from a service connected cause to which I referred earlier.

Nobody knows how many years in the future the obligation will continue, unless you are going to rely completely on what the legislature did in assuming the liability. I should like to know who can determine when everything is all over.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hubbs.

MR. HUBBS: Well, Mr. Brake, that is a very good question, and not being a former treasurer of the state I would not be able to say when, exactly, all the state's obligations would be fully met.

However, I would say that if no one came forward within a period of 15 or 20 years, let us take it out then, because we are going to write a constitution which, I hope, will last 100 years. Thank you.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: The question is on the amendment offered by Mr. Hubbs. Those in favor so signify by saying aye. Those opposed, no.

The amendment is not adopted.

Mr. Prettie.

MR. PRETTIE: Mr. Chairman, following up the discussion that has just taken place, I should like to address a question to Delegate Brake. I understood him to say that all obligations under section 20a of the Constitution of 1908 had been fully satisfied.

On that basis, why should we continue at least that one section in the new constitution that we are writing?

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: If our proposal is adopted, we are not going to carry any of these forward in the constitution.

MR. PRETTIE: Mr. Chairman, perhaps I did not state my question quite clearly. The proposal refers to article X, section 20a, and I wondered whether that might not, with wisdom, be eliminated.

MR. BRAKE: That again brings us back to the question of someone wondering what has become of it. There it is—you have the record.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Are there any further amendments to the proposal?

Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I should like to direct a question to Mr. Brake. I should like to refer Mr. Brake to section 10 of article X, and call attention to that statement that was put in there in 1919, where it says:

... The state may borrow not to exceed $50,000,000 for the improvement of highways and pledge its credit, and issue bonds therefor on such terms as shall be provided by law.

I wonder whether any reference should be made to that bond issue in this committee proposal, and if not, why not.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. Chairman, Senator Hutchinson, section 10 of article X is not confined to the matter of highway borrowing.

That is the section that gives us a $250,000 limitation that we can borrow without amending the constitution under certain circumstances.

It has been the feeling of the committee that when we deal with that section and report back here what we think ought to be done in the way of state borrowing, that the whole matter should be taken care of at that time instead of including it with these other proposals.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, Mr. Brake, is there some anticipated liability with regard to the world war I bonus still outstanding?

MR. BRAKE: Not a thing. There couldn't be.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Then I do not suppose there could be with regard to the $50 million bond issue, either?

MR. BRAKE: That is right.

MR. HUTCHINSON: So I do not understand why we do not treat them the same. If you are going to refer to section 20a in this committee proposal, why do you not refer to the bond issue referred to in section 10?

MR. BRAKE: We could have, and it could be done here in committee of the whole. We did not, however, because there are other things in that section, and we thought we would take care of everything in that section at one time.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Then you would save and reserve and preserve any possible liability as to the $50 million bond issue at another time?

MR. BRAKE: No. There isn't any. The bonds have all been paid and there is nothing to be done.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Then I want to ask Mr. Brake why we cannot strike from the committee proposal any reference to 20a?

MR. BRAKE: There will be certainly in the committee report on the subject matter of section 10 a reference to this to show what has become of it.

It could have been done with these others, but we thought we ought to handle everything under section 10 at one time instead of carrying it over into this other field.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Well, Mr. Brake, somehow or other, apparently, I do not seem to get the distinction in treatment between the bond issue in section 10 and the bond issue in section 20a.

MR. BRAKE: Section 20a has nothing else in it. It is just that bond issue, and that is that. Here we have something that is going to have serious attention and quite a lot of action in connection with state borrowing which is part of that same section.

Perhaps we were in error in thinking we ought to take care of this $50 million at the same time we are taking care of the rest of section 10, but that is nevertheless the reason we did it that way as I have attempted to make clear.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Well, then, Mr. Brake, I should like to ask why it is necessary to make any reference at all to section 20a in the new constitution if there is no possible liability under that section. Why do we try to save it?

MR. BRAKE: I just answered that to someone on the other side of the hall. Someone will be looking to see what became of that section. This tells you, and it only requires about 2 words to do it.

MR. HUTCHINSON: And you propose, Mr. Brake, that as to the $50 million referred to in section 10 that if anybody wanted to find out what became of that matter they would have to find out in another manner; but as to section 20a they could find it out by looking at the section within the text of the constitution which refers to section 20a of article X; but there is nothing, apparently, going to be there in the new constitution, no reference as to the $50 million in section 10 and we have to look for that in one of the committee reports?

MR. BRAKE: We think we should take care of that in the same company that it is now in.

MR. HUTCHINSON: All right. Maybe we can take care of it in style and drafting. (laughter)

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: I think that Mr. Hutchinson has anticipated my point. I raised the same question in finance and taxation that he has raised here, and I think because of the possibility of dealing with it in finance and taxation at a later point, it seemed that when we got to dealing with section 10, if the $50 million bond issue was the same as that in this provision here, we were relying on style and drafting to put the reference to section 10 into this provision.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Bentley.

MR. BENTLEY: Mr. Chairman, I should like to ask Mr. Brake a question about section 26 as it now reads:

The state shall borrow not to exceed $80,000,000.00, pledge its faith and credit and issue its serial notes or serial bonds therefor, with maturities of not to exceed $1,000,000.00 in each of the years 1956 to 1965, both inclusive, and $13,000,000.00 in each of the years 1966 to 1968, both inclusive, and $14,000,000.00 in each of the years thereafter, . . . et cetera.

Now, do I understand that all the notes and bonds issued or authorized by section 26 have been issued?

MR. BRAKE: I think not, Mr. Bentley. I think they borrowed $60 million.

MR. BENTLEY: Then I am wondering if the language of the second paragraph of the committee proposal should not read: "... for the retirement of such notes and bonds as may have been or are hereafter issued . . .?"

MR. BRAKE: There will not be any more bonds issued. The legislature has closed the account and assumed the liability in a general fund obligation.

MR. BENTLEY: Do I understand correctly that section 26 does not authorize any more notes or bonds to be issued?

MR. BRAKE: It is all over.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Higgs.

MR. HIGGS: Mr. Chairman, I suggest to Mr. Brake, and for the convenience of the style and drafting committee, if section 20a is referred to and covered in the accompanying reports and schedules, in accordance with Resolution 41, section 4, I think that can be handled very nicely in the manner in which Mr. Hutchinson suggested.

In the accompanying reports, of course, you can explain why it was left out, and the information then would be preserved, but it would be left out of the body of the constitution.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hodges.

MR. HODGES: Mr. Chairman, I was just going to state the same thing, that we have an address to the people to explain why we are going to delete certain things. If we have to explain in the constitution everything we do, we will have in the new constitution just about everything we have in the present constitution.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hatch.

MR. HATCH: Mr. Chairman, earlier Delegate Nord referred to some question concerning the numbering of section 23a. I should like to call to the attention of the delegates page 189 of the cumulative supplement of our Michigan Statutes Annotated where it states that 2 amendments to article X, both numbered 23, were submitted to the voters at the general election of November 5, 1946 and both were adopted.

It goes on to explain what actually happened. I would suggest that, after the committee proposal is referred to style and drafting, they give serious consideration to the numbering of these sections and determine whether any language change is necessary.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Any further amendments to Committee Proposal 6? If not, it will pass.

Committee Proposal 6 is passed.

The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on executive branch, by Mr. Martin, chairman, Committee Proposal 7, A proposal to provide that the governor shall issue writs of election to fill vacancies in the legislature. Amends article VI, section 6.

Following is Committee Proposal 7 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

[He] THE GOVERNOR shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as occur in the senate or house of representatives IN A MANNER PRESCRIBED BY LAW.

Mr. Martin, chairman of the committee on executive branch, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 7:

The committee on executive branch recommends that section 6, article VI be included in the constitution in substantially its present form except to recognize the right of the legislature to prescribe procedure for the filling of vacancies in the senate or house of representatives when the governor has determined, as he is required to do, whether a special election shall be held or that the vacancy shall be filled at the next general election. The present provision of the constitution has worked well in conjunction with the provisions of the present Michigan election law and the committee sees no reason for change other than to recognize the need for legislative action to establish procedure upon the determination of the governor as to when the election shall be held.

It is, therefore, recommended that this section with the proposed committee amendment be adopted by the convention.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, the committee on executive branch unanimously recommends the proposal be adopted in its form here presented.

The requirement on the governor is a mandatory one that he shall decide whether a special election be held or will permit it to be held at the next general election.

The only effect of the proposed new language is to permit the legislature to do what it has already done, and that is to provide a manner in which such elections shall be held.

Therefore, the committee recommends the language proposed here.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Are there any amendments to Committee Proposal 7? If not, it will pass.

Committee Proposal 7 is passed.

The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: From the committee on executive branch, by Mr. Martin, chairman, Committee Proposal 8, A proposal to provide that the governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions. Amends article VI, section 7.

Following is Committee Proposal 8 as read by the secretary, and the reasons submitted in support thereof:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

[He] THE GOVERNOR may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions.

Mr. Martin, chairman of the committee on executive branch, submits the following reasons in support of Committee Proposal 8:

The committee on executive branch recommends the adoption of section 7, article VI, without substantial change. The present provision has become less needed today in view of the fact that the legislature now holds annual sessions, but it is still necessary from time to time to hold extraordinary sessions and the committee feels that the need for such sessions is a determination which should be made by the governor in the light of all the facts existing at any particular time.

The committee, therefore, recommends that section 7, article VI of the present constitution be adopted with the proposed committee amendment.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Martin.

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman and members of the committee, the committee on executive branch unanimously recommends the adoption of this section in its present form except for the minor change indicated.

The question was raised as to whether there should be other methods of calling extraordinary sessions. The committee felt that if an extraordinary session were necessary it should be called by the governor.

The calling of extraordinary sessions is somewhat less necessary today than it was in the past, perhaps because we now have annual sessions, but there may be times occasionally when it is necessary, and the committee feels that the provision should remain in the constitution.

CHAIRMAN BAGINSKI: Mr. Hutchinson.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I should like to ask Mr. Martin to tell me what an extraordinary occasion is. (laughter)

MR. MARTIN: Well, Mr. Chairman and Mr. Hutchinson, I do not know that we can say what an extraordinary occasion is, but the language has been used for a long time, and it seems to imply something other than the basis on which the general session usually came together; that is, some form of emergency or some provision, some action, which the legislature either did not take because it did not think it was necessary or which it did not take because at the time it came together in general session it was not necessary to consider it—something of an emergency nature.

MR. HUTCHINSON: Mr. Chairman, I wonder why, as a matter of common parlance, we do not refer to these as special sessions? I wonder why we do not forthrightly empower the governor to convene the legislature in special session rather than on extraordinary occasions?

I ask that because, as I understand it on the basis of Mr. Martin's exposition of the point, an extraordinary occasion is any time that the governor wants to convene the legislature in special session.

He has that power and under another section of the constitution, as it now stands at least, the legislature in special session convened on such extraordinary occasions can consider only such matters as the governor submits.

I do not wish to be unduly technical, pedantic, or fly speck things here, but I was just wondering whether the committee had given any consideration at all to a change in that phraseology as it appears there.

That phrase "extraordinary occasions" has always puzzled me. Did you give any consideration to it?

MR. MARTIN: Mr. Chairman, I should say that the committee did not consider the idea of changing this wording "extraordinary occasions" to the wording "special session."

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

Following is Committee Proposal 5 as amended and referred to the committee on style and drafting:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

No general law providing for the incorporation of trust companies or corporations for banking purposes, or regulating the business thereof, shall be adopted, amended or repealed except by a vote of 2/3 of the members elected to each house of the legislature.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee of the whole has also had under consideration Committee Proposal 6, A proposal to preserve the state's responsibility under sections 20a, 23a, 24, 25 and 26 of article X of the 1908 constitution; reports this proposal back to the convention with an amendment and the recommendation that the proposal, as thus amended, do pass.

[The following is the amendment recommended by the committee of the whole:

1. Amend the second paragraph, line 13, after "section 26" by inserting "of article X".]

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment. Any discussion? If not, those in favor say aye. Opposed, no.

The amendment is agreed to and without objection, Committee Proposal 6, as amended, is referred to the committee on style and drafting.

Following is Committee Proposal 6 as amended and referred to the committee on style and drafting:

The committee recommends that the following be included in the constitution:

Nothing in this constitution shall be construed as in any way impairing the obligation of the state in connection with any benefits conferred by or issue of bonds authorized by the provisions of article X, sections 20a, 23a, 24, 25 and 26 of the Constitution of 1908, and the obligation of the state in connection with said sections is specifically recognized.

For the retirement of such notes and bonds as may have been issued under section 26 of article X of the 1908 constitution, there is hereby appropriated from the general fund each year during their life a sum equal to the amount of principal and interest payments due and payable in each such year.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, the committee of the whole has also had under consideration Committee Proposal 8, A proposal to provide that the governor may convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions; reports this proposal back to the convention with the recommendation that it be referred to the committee on legislative powers.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question now is on concurring in the recommendation of the committee of the whole. Those in favor, say aye. Those opposed, no.

The recommendation is concurred in and Committee Proposal 8, together with the amendment thereto adopted by the committee of the whole, is referred to the committee on legislative powers.

[Mason's Manual, sec. 388, par. 3, provides that "Reference of a measure to committee when amendments are pending, carries the amendments to the committee with it. . . ."]

For Committee Proposal 8 as referred to the committee on legislative powers, see above, page 375; for the amendment, see above, page 376.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, that completes the report of the committee of the whole.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Announcements.

SECRETARY CHASE: The following announcements have been filed with the secretary:

The president's office has a group of letters which were returned. There is no return address or signature inside, making it impossible to return them to the correct delegate.

The contents are a newsletter on con con, volume I; and Journal 38 under date of December 5. Those who are interested can obtain these from the president's office.

Mr. Danhof has requested that the following correction be made in Delegate Proposal 1601 which was offered by him. Delegate Proposal 1601, A proposal to provide for a house of representatives based upon districts, which districts shall be entitled to increased representation in accordance with population growth. There was an error in the drafting of this proposal. In line 15 of the proposal strike out the figure "2" after the word "and".

May the secretary suggest that he has been importuned by several delegates that inasmuch as you each have on your desks a composite calendar of committee meetings and a composite notice of public hearings which is prepared every day and placed there, that the reading of all of these notices of committee meetings and notices of public hearings be dispensed with except in cases where there may be changes, and if that is agreeable we will follow that practice.

The committee on public information will be meeting in room E this evening after the session. The committee designation does not appear on the calendar. Ink White is chairman.

The subcommittee on budget and fiscal management of the committee on executive branch will be meeting this evening following the adjournment. Mr. Dan E. Karn, chairman.

The committee on administration will be meeting in the conference room Tuesday, tomorrow, at 1:00 o'clock. Walter DeVries, chairman.

The committee on declaration of rights, suffrage and elections, which has on your composite calendar a notice of a committee meeting for tomorrow morning at 9:00 o'clock in room F, wishes it to be emphasized that this will be the last opportunity for the delegates to be heard on their delegate proposals before that committee.

Otherwise, the announcements are as they appear on the calendar.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase, may I announce that Messrs. Joiner, Combs and Kelly have informed me today that almost all of the delegate proposals are now typed, with very few exceptions. The proposals have been put in the mailboxes of the delegates. Will the delegates please get them and see to it that they get to the secretary's office. If, for some reason, a proposal which you put in is not there, will you please see the directors of research because there is some question in their minds as to the drafting of a few of the proposals. In other words, the proposals are practically all finished that have been put in, and should be presented to the convention tomorrow.

SECRETARY CHASE: I have the following requests for leave of absence from the session:

Mr. Romney requests to be excused from tomorrow's session due to a preconvention speaking engagement at the national convention of the American farm bureau association.

Mr. Bentley requests leave of absence from the session of Wednesday afternoon, December 13.

Mr. Karn wishes to be excused from Thursday's session, December 14, because of a speaking engagement before the Jackson exchange club.

Mr. Sablich wishes to be excused from the session of Friday, December 15.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection they will be excused.

SECRETARY CHASE: That is all of the requests for leave, Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Dade.

MR. DADE: Mr. President, I move that this convention adjourn.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion for adjournment. Those in favor say aye. Opposed, no.

The convention stands adjourned until 2:00 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

[Whereupon, at 9:45 o'clock p.m., the convention adjourned until 2:00 o'clock p.m., Tuesday, December 12, 1961.]

agencies, perhaps we could move that over until tomorrow morning, and come back tonight on a recess until 8:00 o'clock, and finish up these others. Mr. Downs doesn't seem to think this is a bad idea. We would keep the Monday time at 6:30.

People have made plans based on the hours that this convention has set, and every time you get some plan worked out the thing is changed again. We are going to have prolonged sessions next week. If that schedule is any indication, you are going to stay in session each and every night until that particular second reading section is finished. And with this long time, it would seem to me that 6:30 on Monday is not an unreasonable time.

I offer this as a suggestion: that we agree to move Committee Proposal 123 over until tomorrow morning and that we come in on 6:30 on Monday.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Marshall.

MR. MARSHALL: Mr. President, I don't know who is speaking for Delegate Downs at this point — himself, myself, or Delegate Yeager, but apparently I'm not. But let me say this: we will have no problem working this out. I think it's more sensible to come back early on Monday. We will accomplish the same thing.

It is impossible for the minority party, if it is to fulfill its previous engagement planned 3 weeks ago, to return tonight. I ask the delegates to give consideration to this between now and tomorrow, and at this time, Mr. President, I move we adjourn.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The motion will be accepted. We have an announcement to make first.

SECRETARY CHASE: We have the following notices of committee meetings:

The committee on judicial branch will meet in room B tomorrow morning at 8:00 o'clock. Robert J. Danhof, chairman.

The committee on local government will meet tomorrow morning at 8:00 o'clock in room A. Delegates who wish to discuss local government articles are requested to meet with the committee at that time tomorrow morning.

We have the following requests for leave: Mr. Page asks to be excused from tomorrow's session and Monday's session; Mr. Bentley asks to be excused from the latter part of tomorrow morning's session; Mr. Norris asks to be excused from tomorrow morning's session; Mr. Kirk, Mr. Binkowski, Mr. Kelsey, Mr. T. S. PROCEEDINGS

PRESIDENT NISBET: The convention will please come to order.

Our invocation this morning will be given by one of our own delegates, Mr. Karn. Will you please rise.

MR. KARN: Let us pray. O God, our heavenly Father, we thank thee for the heritage that is ours and for bringing us safely through another night to the responsibilities of a new day.

Give us the courage and the vision, O God, to carry on the discussions of this day with tolerance and understanding of man's needs. Inspire our efforts that we may bring forth a document that will be just, reasonable and acceptable in Thy sight.

As we approach this Easter season, may we be mindful of Thy promise to mankind and may we exemplify Thy teachings in our deliberations for the advancement and welfare of the people of this state.

Hear our prayer, O God, and fill us ever with Thy knowledge and Thy wisdom, as we pray through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on style and drafting, by Mr. Cudlip, chairman, submits Report 59 of that committee, reporting back to the convention Committee Proposal 6, A proposal to preserve the state's responsibility under sections 20a, 23a, 24, 25 and 26 of article X of the 1908 constitution; with the recommendation that the style and form be approved.

William B. Cudlip, chairman.

For Committee Proposal 6 as reported by the committee on style and drafting, see below under date of April 19.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Referred to the order of second reading of proposals.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on style and drafting, by Mr. Cudlip, chairman, submits Report 60 of that committee, reporting back to the convention Committee Proposal 36, A proposal with reference to the use to be made of the primary school interest fund, covering the subject matter now found in article X, section 1 of the 1908 constitution; with the recommendation that the style and form be approved.

William B. Cudlip, chairman.

For Committee Proposal 36 as reported by the committee on style and drafting, see below under date of April 19.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Brake. Those in favor say aye. Those opposed, no.

The motion prevails.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President, I was on the floor before you called for that. I wanted to ask about Committee Proposal 51 which relates also to the assessment of property and the graduated income tax. I felt that that ought to be included. I move that Committee Proposal 51 follow the ones that Mr. Brake has listed.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Austin that Committee Proposal 51 follow those that were listed. All those in favor say aye. Those opposed, no.

The motion prevails. The secretary will read the first item.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 1 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 6, A proposal to preserve the state's responsibility under sections 20a, 23a, 24, 25 and 26 of article X of the 1908 constitution.

Following is Committee Proposal 6 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 379.):

Sec. a. [Nothing in this constitution shall be construed as in any way impairing the obligation of the state in connection with any benefits conferred by or issue of bonds authorized by the provisions of article X, sections 20a, 23a, 24, 25 and 26 of the Constitution of 1908, and the obligation of the state in connection with said sections is specifically recognized.] CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS OF THE STATE INCURRED PURSUANT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF 1908 AS AMENDED SHALL CONTINUE TO BE OBLIGATIONS OF THE STATE.

For the retirement of such notes and bonds as may have been issued under Section 26 of Article X of the 1908 constitution, there is hereby appropriated from the general fund each year during their life a sum equal to the amount of principal and interest payments due and payable in each such year.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, before starting on this specific section, perhaps a little preview of what we have ahead of us will not be a waste of time. You have noticed, undoubtedly, that there are some very sizeable changes made by style and drafting. We think there is nothing that changes what the finance and taxation committee intended. We think the style and drafting committee has done a very excellent job. On a couple of the proposals we thought they had made substantive changes. That was taken up with the style and drafting committee and the matter adjusted.

At the time of committee of the whole we were charged—criticized for not having been sufficiently imaginative. We are still not imaginative. I think the principal test that we have applied to these various proposals has been: first, whether they provide—so far as the constitution can and should—something that will be workable in the every day business of running state government and, so far as applicable, running local units of government; and second, the matter of public acceptance. We have been mindful that there will be no constitution unless and until our product is approved by the voters, and we have not ignored what we believe to be their wishes. They are boss.

There are 16 proposals in this list. Many of them are what you may call housekeeping, financial proposals, having to do with accounting, handling of money, and all that kind of thing. We are not going to take any time now as to those items. I would like to mention a few of the major items that are going to come before you. The expansion of borrowing on the state level to include some short term borrowing is still with us as you approved it in committee of the whole. The matter of the state's credit and school borrowing has remained unchanged in purpose, although with some change in wording.

Now, on the matter of earmarking the committee is recommending at this time that we drop the primary school interest fund and that we drop all earmarking for school purposes. I think the committee is relying very largely on the wishes of the MEA. I think I should say that I haven't heard anything from them this morning, but as of day before yesterday they were willing to discontinue any earmarking for school purposes. That is not noncontroversial. There are delegates here who disagree with that position, and we will expect that there will be some amendments offered to those particular provisions. The earmarking of sales tax for local units of government will, under the recommendation of the committee, be continued, but that will be all the earmarking there will be of sales tax money if the recommendation of the committee is followed. On road taxes there will be a continuation of the nondiversion amendment with the provision in, that we have had from the beginning, that the term "highway use" shall be as defined by law.

The doing away with the primary fund, if you agree with the committee on that, will be followed by the striking of the section which calls for it. And the section, which is Committee Proposal 52, which calls for the state assessment of certain utility property, that again is controversial. The 2 things are not necessarily tied together, although they have been tied together in the constitution. The improvement that we think we made in connection with public retirement systems will be continued as you have it before you. The uniformity rule of taxation likewise, whether it is 50 per cent maximum assessment and a prohibition against a graduated income tax. The 15 mill limitation in a revamped form will be offered as a substitute for what the committee of the whole approved. You will remember that was the only finance and taxation proposal that was thrown out in the committee of the whole. It will be reoffered. The new provision that we put in for budget hearings before the adoption of all local government budgets will be presented to you again.

Now, specifically on Committee Proposal 6: the large type language there is aimed to take the place of several provisions in the old constitution with reference to carrying forward any obligations the state has already incurred under any of the borrowing provisions. One of those, section 26 of article X of the 1908 constitution, carried a continuing appropriation for the purpose of meeting the debt service obligations. That is the reason for the last paragraph in this proposal.

Now, I shall make but a very brief statement concerning most of these proposals, and not go into detail at all unless by your comments or your questions or your amendments it makes that necessary. The committee recommends the adoption of Committee Proposal 6.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of Committee Proposal 6. Are there any amendments?

SECRETARY CHASE: None.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Those in favor of Committee Proposal 6—Mr. Austin.

MR. AUSTIN: Mr. President and members of the committee—it is not the committee anymore, we are now in the convention, so I will say fellow delegates—I would certainly like to concur in Mr. Brake's remarks that these bond issues which we have recognized as having been paid off, need to be cleared up with a saving clause and I would therefore recommend that we vote unanimously for this proposal.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the adoption of Committee Proposal 6. Those in favor will vote aye. Those opposed will vote nay. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

Nays—0

SECRETARY CHASE: On the passage of Committee Proposal 6, the yeas are 121; the nays, none.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Committee Proposal 6 is passed and referred to the committee on style and drafting.

For Committee Proposal 6, as rereferred to the committee on style and drafting, see above, page 2621.

The secretary will read Committee Proposal 23.

SECRETARY CHASE: Item 2 on the calendar, Committee Proposal 23, A proposal to prohibit the issuance of evidences of state indebtedness, except as authorized by the constitution, to authorize state borrowing and prescribe the method therefor, to limit the use of state credit and to permit the loaning of state funds to school districts under certain conditions, and covering the general subject matter found in sections 11, 10, 12 and 28 of article X of the 1908 constitution.

Following is Committee Proposal 23 as reported by the committee on style and drafting and read by the secretary. (For full text as referred to said committee, see above, page 632.):

Sec. a. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued[,] except for [such] debts [as are expressly] authorized [in or] pursuant to [the provisions of] this constitution.

Sec. b. [The legislature, for the purpose of meeting its] TO MEET OBLIGATIONS INCURRED PURSUANT TO appropriations for any fiscal year, THE LEGISLATURE may by law authorize the state to issue its FULL FAITH AND CREDIT notes [pledging its] IN WHICH CASE [faith and credit for the purpose of borrowing money in anticipation of the] IT SHALL PLEDGE [receipt of any] undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year [which shall be pledged] for the [payment of such borrowings] REPAYMENT THEREOF. Such [borrowing] INDEBTEDNESS in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 per cent of [all] undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and SUCH DEBTS shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

The state may borrow money for [such other] specific purposes [and] in [such] amounts as may be [proposed] PROVIDED by [an act] ACTS of the legislature [requiring the affirmative] ADOPTED BY A vote of 2/3 of the members elected to AND SERVING IN [both] EACH [houses] HOUSE, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount [proposed] to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. c. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed [so as] to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements [in such manner] as may be provided by [general] law.

Sec. d. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which it would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as last equalized by the state, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall loan the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall loan to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28, Article X, of the Constitution of 1908[,] or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used [towards] TOWARD the repayment of state loans. In any year when such a levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe [and/or] AND TO limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28, Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under [said] THESE sections, shall remain unimpaired.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Brake.

MR. BRAKE: Mr. President, ladies and gentlemen of the convention, it will be all right with me if you lock that voting machine right where it has been on this first one and leave it there all day.

Article IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members[,] to be elected from single member districts at the same [time] ELECTION as the governor for [4] FOUR-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent multiplied by [4] FOUR and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest [1/100] ONE-ONE HUNDREDTH of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties [are] IS entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment FACTORS of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there [shall be] IS a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to [2] TWO or more senate districts shall be [further sub]divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for [2] TWO-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as [hereinafter] provided IN THIS ARTICLE. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than [7/10] SEVEN-TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than [7/10] SEVEN-

Explanation—Matter within [] is stricken, matter in capitals is new.

TENTHS of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as [herein] provided IN THIS SECTION shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to [2] TWO or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of [each] SUCH districtS shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined upon the effective date of the annexation or merger[.]. THE DISTRICTS WITH WHICH THE TERRITORY SHALL BE COMBINED SHALL BE [as] determined by ordinance of the city certified to the secretary of state.

[No legislator shall be deemed to have vacated his office by virtue of the above section.] NO SUCH CHANGE IN THE BOUNDARIES OF A REPRESENTATIVE OR SENATORIAL DISTRICT SHALL HAVE THE EFFECT OF REMOVING A LEGISLATOR FROM OFFICE DURING HIS TERM.

Sec. 5. ISLAND AREAS ARE CONSIDERED TO BE CONTIGUOUS BY LAND TO THE COUNTY OF WHICH THEY ARE A PART.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of [8] EIGHT persons, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the [2] TWO political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election AT WHICH A GOVERNOR WAS ELECTED preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, [4] FOUR of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following [4] FOUR regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

you to look at, I believe if everyone will look closely at the wall you will find the handwriting on the wall. I cannot accept this amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Garry Brown.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Mr. President and members of the convention, I think that Dr. Nord has answered his own suggestion. That is that the handwriting is on the wall. It is clear. It is unequivocal. I think it should be supported. It takes care of a situation that none of us can contemplate at this time, but it certainly is language that will permit the legislature to implement the provisions that we have written into this constitution.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time is up.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Thank you.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Time for debate upon this amendment has expired. The question is upon the adoption of the amendment. All those in favor of the amendment —

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I —

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Downs, time for debate has expired. The Chair thought you were going to make a motion.

MR. DOWNS: Oh, I am sorry.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: All those in favor of the amendment will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The amendment is adopted. Are there any further amendments? The question is upon the adoption of the schedule. Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President, I was over eager and I apologize to the convention.

I rise on this one to point out that in section 16 and 17 we are mandating that this document be presented in one package to the people and that it be presented in November, although the attorney general has ruled that it must be presented in April. Some of us have put in a resolution to ask that the document be divided. I do not want to impose on the time of the convention to reargue those points but simply point out that I am concerned that the opposition to some of the bad parts may jeopardize the passage of what I believe most voters would consider good parts. I think the November instead of the April date, when the attorney general has so ruled, raises some other questions. For those reasons, along with some of the others on the matter of the transition, I do urge a no vote.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move to limit further debate on the schedule to 5 minutes.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: On the motion to limit debate to 5 minutes upon the schedule, all those in favor will say aye. Opposed will say no.

The motion prevails. Debate is limited. The Chair will recognize Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. President, in listening to the principal objection voiced by Mr. Downs, namely, that in section 16 of this article which refers to the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962 — that that is an objectionable date. First of all I would like to elaborate on that. But, in addition to that, I will have 2 further statements to make as to objections.

As to the November, 1962, ballot date, that has already been ruled by the attorney general to be unconstitutional. It appears to me that once more we are putting into our own constitution something that is unconstitutional. But the odd thing about this one is that this is the only provision I know of that could be put into our constitution that would violate the Michigan constitution. The other violation has to do with the federal constitution. I object to section 16 having the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962, on the ground that it is unconstitutional. The other 2 objections, I believe, are more important, however.

One of them is the one I referred to a minute ago, to section 6. Section 6 would delay the apportionment, such as it is, until 1970 and gives the legislature the power to do something which they have failed to do in the past for almost 40 years in the senate. That is to reapportion. That fails to cure the unconstitutionality of that section. What is required is apportionment now and not power to somebody without mandate to do so. I believe that that was unconstitutional a few minutes ago before the amendment and that it remains unconstitutional at the present time. My conclusion about section 6 is this: in my opinion, it is simply a half baked effort to deal with the problem of unconstitutionality under the federal constitution. So, as to sections 16 and 6, we have an unconstitutionality as to the Michigan constitution and another one as to the federal constitution.

Finally, as to section 5: section 5, which lists the ad board — the elected ad board — there you will find only half of the ad board as we know it. And I suggest to the delegates that that is objectionable because it is what I would term a half ad board. And a half ad board is not as good as a complete ad board. (laughter)

Therefore, Mr. President, those are the 3 objections: we have a half ad board, we have a half baked effort to cure unconstitutionality, and we have a third section which clearly is unconstitutional under the Michigan constitution. Therefore, I cannot accept this schedule.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Walker.

MR. WALKER: No, I pass.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Garry Brown.

MR. G. E. BROWN: Mr. President and members of the convention, I shall be very brief. I will only say that with respect to what Dr. Nord has said — and it answers all of his propositions and his objections and what have you — is that the attorney general does not determine the constitutionality of matters such as the one before us. Neither does Dr. Nord.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the adoption of the schedule. All those in favor of the adoption of the schedule, as amended, will vote aye. Those opposed will vote no. Have you all voted? If so, the secretary will lock the machine and record the vote.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Before we take reports of standing committees, I would like to move that the constitution as now adopted be referred to the committee on style and drafting, so that it may have an opportunity to review it tomorrow.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: That is under the rules, isn't it?

MR. VAN DUSEN: I don't think there is anything in the rules that provides for it. It is one of the omissions of the rules.

MR. DOWNS: Point of order, Mr. President.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: What's the point, Mr. Downs?

MR. DOWNS: I believe the point would be the articles are adopted and not the constitution is adopted; since we have not voted on the entire package.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I will accept Mr. Downs' amendment, Mr. President.

MR. DOWNS: Mine is not an amendment, but if you wish to restate the motion, it would be in order; (laughter) or I will make it as an amendment.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the motion of Mr. Van Dusen to refer to the committee on style and drafting the several articles which have been adopted. All those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails and the preamble, the articles and the schedule and temporary provisions, as amended, are referred to the committee on style and drafting.

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON (continuing): Without objection, we will return to the order of reports of standing committees.

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on rules and resolutions, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report—

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. Secretary, could you read Resolution 96 first?

SECRETARY CHASE: The committee on rules and resolutions, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, reports back to the convention Resolution 96, A resolution authorizing and directing the commencement of an action against the secretary of state seeking a declaration of the right of the convention to require the submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors in November, 1962; without amendment and with the recommendation that the resolution be adopted.

R. C. Van Dusen, chairman.

The resolution is as follows:

VICE PRESIDENT HUTCHINSON: The question is upon the adoption of the resolution. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, the convention has just adopted a provision of the schedule of the constitution directing the submission of the new constitution to the voters at the election to be held November 6, 1962. The secretary of state has advised the president of this convention in writing that he will not comply with the direction of the convention, that he is bound by the opinion of the attorney general that the appropriate time for submission is April, 1963. Consequently, we are confronted with a collision between the action of this convention and the opinion of the attorney general which the secretary of state says he must follow.

If this matter is to be resolved, it must be resolved by the courts of this state. The select committee appointed by the president to consider this matter, as you know, took no position on the policy question of when the proposed constitution should be submitted but has, in anticipation of the action which the convention has now taken, adopted and recommended to the convention the resolution which the secretary has just read, which will implement that decision insofar as it is legally possible to do so.

The course of action contemplated by the resolution is the commencement of an action in the circuit court for Ingham county

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

Article I

Declaration of Rights

Sec. 1. All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for their equal benefit, security and protection.

Sec. 2. No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof because of religion, race, color or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 3. The people have the right peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition the government for redress of grievances.

Sec. 4. Every person shall be at liberty to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, or, against his consent, to contribute to the erection or support of any place of religious worship, or to pay tithes, taxes or other rates for the support of any minister of the gospel or teacher of religion. No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the state be appropriated for any such purpose. Sec. 12. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Sec. 15. No person shall be subject for the same offense to be twice put in jeopardy. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for murder and treason when the proof is evident or the presumption great.

Sec. 16. Excessive bail shall not be required; excessive fines shall not be imposed; cruel or unusual punishment shall not be inflicted; nor shall witnesses be unreasonably detained.

Sec. 17. No person shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, without due process of law. Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Sec. 21. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on contract, express or implied, except in cases of fraud or breach of trust.

Sec. 22. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Sec. 23. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

Article II Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors which involves the increase of any ad valorem tax rate limitation for a period of more than five years, or the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors or three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

Article III

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

Article IV Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight persons, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following four regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the apportionment commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and officers of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this

1 state from the governor, except notaries public,
2 from the legislature, or from any other state
3 authority, during the term for which he is elected.

4 Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any 5 state officer shall be interested directly or in-6 directly in any contract with the state or any 7 political subdivision thereof which shall cause a
8 substantial conflict of interest. The legislature
9 shall further implement this provision by appro-
10 priate legislation.

11 Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be 12 privileged from civil arrest and civil process dur-
13 ing sessions of the legislature and for five days
14 next before the commencement and after the 15 termination thereof. They shall not be ques-
16 tioned in any other place for any speech in either
17 house.

18 Sec. 12. The compensation and expense al-
19 lowances of the members of the legislature shall 20 be determined by law. Changes in compensation
21 or expense allowances shall become effective only 22 when legislators commence their terms of office
23 after a general election.

24 Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat
25 of government on the second Wednesday in Janu-
26 ary of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each
27 regular session shall adjourn without day, on a 28 day determined by concurrent resolution, at 29 twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint 30 resolution pending at the final adjournment of 31 a regular session held in an odd numbered year
32 shall carry over with the same status to the 33 next regular session.

34 Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected
35 to and serving in each house shall constitute a 36 quorum to do business. A smaller number in 37 each house may adjourn from day to day, and 38 may compel the attendance of absent members in 39 the manner and with penalties as each house may 40 prescribe.

41 Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legisla-
42 tive council consisting of legislators appointed in 43 the manner prescribed by law. The legislature
44 shall appropriate funds for the council's opera-
45 tions and provide for its staff which shall main-
46 tain bill drafting, research and other services
47 for the members of the legislature. The council 48 shall periodically examine and recommend to the 49 legislature revision of the various laws of the 50 state.

51 Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise pro-
52 vided in this constitution, shall choose its own
53 officers and determine the rules of its proceedings,
54 but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a 55 majority of the members elected thereto and 56 serving therein from discharging a committee
57 from the further consideration of any measure.
58 Each house shall be the sole judge of the quali-
59 fications, elections and returns of its members, 60 and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of

1 all the members elected thereto and serving
2 therein, expel a member. The reasons for such 3 expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with 4 the votes and names of the members voting upon
5 the question. No member shall be expelled a
6 second time for the same cause.

7 Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may 8 establish the committees necessary for the effi-
9 cient conduct of its business and the legislature
10 may create joint committees. Each committee
11 shall by roll call vote record the vote and name 12 of all action on bills and resolutions taken in 13 the committee. Such vote shall be available for 14 public inspection. Notice of all committee hear-15 ings and a clear statement of all subjects to be 16 considered at each hearing shall be published in 17 the journal in advance of the hearing.

18 Sec. 18. Each house shall keep a journal of 19 its proceedings, and publish the same unless the 20 public security otherwise requires. The record
21 of the vote and name of the members of either
22 house voting on any question shall be entered 23 in the journal at the request of one-fifth of the 24 members present. Any member of either house
25 may dissent from and protest against any act,
26 proceeding or resolution which he deems injuri-
27 ous to any person or the public, and have the 28 reason for his dissent entered in the journal.

29 Sec. 19. All elections in either house or in 30 joint convention and all votes on appointments
31 submitted to the senate for advice and consent
32 shall be published by vote and name in the journal.

33 Sec. 20. The doors of each house shall be open
34 unless the public security otherwise requires.

35 Sec. 21. Neither house shall, without the con-

Subsequent to the initial allocation, the governor may make changes in the organization of the executive branch or in the assignment of functions among its units which he considers necessary for efficient administration. Where these changes require the force of law, they shall be set forth in executive orders and submitted to the legislature. Thereafter the legislature shall have 60 calendar days of a regular session, or a full session if of shorter duration, to disapprove each executive order. Unless disapproved in both houses by a resolution concurred in by a majority of the members elected to and serving in each house, each order shall become effective at a date thereafter to be designated by the governor.

The inability of the governor or person acting as governor shall be determined by a majority of the supreme court on joint request of the president pro tempore of the senate and the speaker of the house of representatives. Finance and Taxation

13 Sec. 1. The legislature shall impose taxes suf-

15 state government.

16 Sec. 2. The power of taxation shall never be 17 surrendered, suspended or contracted away.

18 Sec. 3. The legislature shall provide for the 19 uniform general ad valorem taxation of real and 20 tangible personal property not exempt by law. The 21 legislature shall provide for the determination of 22 true cash value of such property; the proportion 23 of true cash value at which such property shall 24 be uniformly assessed, which shall not, after 25 January 1, 1966, exceed 50 percent; and for a sys-
26 tem of equalization of assessments. The legislature 27 may provide for alternative means of taxation of 28 designated real and tangible personal property in 29 lieu of general ad valorem taxation. Every tax
30 other than the general ad valorem property tax 31 shall be uniform upon the class or classes on 32 which it operates.

33 Sec. 4. Property owned and occupied by non-34 profit religious or educational organizations and 35 used exclusively for religious or educational pur-
36 poses, as defined by law, shall be exempt from 37 real and personal property taxes.

38 Sec. 5. The legislature shall provide for the 39 assessment by the state of the property of those 40 public service businesses assessed by the state
41 at the date this constitution becomes effective, and 42 of other property as designated by the legislature,
43 and for the imposition and collection of taxes
44 thereon. Property assessed by the state shall be 45 assessed at the same proportion of its true
46 cash value as the legislature shall specify for 47 property subject to general ad valorem taxation.
48 The rate of taxation on such property shall be 49 the average rate levied upon other property in this 50 state under the general ad valorem tax law, or,
51 if the legislature provides, the rate of tax applicable
52 to the property of each business enterprise assessed
53 by the state shall be the average rate of ad valorem
54 taxation levied upon other property in all counties
55 in which any of such property is situated.

56 Sec. 6. Except as otherwise provided in this 57 constitution, the total amount of general ad valo-
58 rem taxes imposed upon real and tangible per-59 sonal property for all purposes in any one year
60 shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the

1 assessed valuation of property as finally equalized.
2 Under procedures provided by law, which shall
3 guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax
4 limitations for any county and for the townships
5 and for school districts therein, the aggregate of 6 which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of 7 such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter
8 altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified
9 electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu 10 of the limitation hereinbefore established. These 11 limitations may be increased to an aggregate of 12 not to exceed 50 mills on each dollar of valuation,
13 for a period of not to exceed 20 years at any one
14 time, if approved by a majority of the electors,
15 qualified under Section 6 of Article II of this 16 constitution, voting on the question.

17 The foregoing limitations shall not apply to 18 taxes imposed for the payment of principal and 19 interest on bonds or other evidences of indebted-20 ness or for the payment of assessments or con-
21 tract obligations in anticipation of which bonds
22 are issued, which taxes may be imposed without 23 limitation as to rate or amount; or to taxes im-
24 posed for any other purpose by any city, vil-
25 lage, charter county, charter township, charter
26 authority or other authority, the tax limitations
27 of which are provided by charter or by general
28 law.

29 In any school district which extends into two 30 or more counties, property taxes at the highest 31 rate available in the county which contains the 32 greatest part of the area of the district may be 33 imposed and collected for school purposes through-34 out the district.

35 Sec. 7. No income tax graduated as to rate
36 or base shall be imposed by the state or any of 37 its subdivisions.

38 Sec. 8. The legislature shall not impose a 39 sales tax on retailers at a rate of more than 40 four percent of their gross taxable sales of 41 tangible personal property.

42 Sec. 9. All specific taxes, except general sales
43 and use taxes and regulatory fees, imposed di-
44 rectly or indirectly on fuels sold or used 45 to propel motor vehicles upon highways and on 46 registered motor vehicles shall, after the payment
47 of necessary collection expenses, be used exclusi-
48 vely for highway purposes as defined by law.

49 Sec. 10. One-eighth of all taxes imposed on 50 retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible 51 personal property shall be used exclusively for 52 assistance to townships, cities and villages, on 53 a population basis as provided by law. In de-
54 termining population the legislature may exclude 55 any portion of the total number of persons who 56 are wards, patients or convicts in any tax sup-
57 ported institution.

58 Sec. 11. There shall be established a state
59 school aid fund which shall be used exclusively
60 for the support of public education and school

One-half of all taxes imposed on retailers on taxable sales at retail of tangible personal property, and other tax revenues provided by law, shall be dedicated to this fund. Payments from this fund shall be made in full on a scheduled basis, as provided by law.

Sec. 12. No evidence of state indebtedness shall be issued except for debts authorized pursuant to this constitution.

Sec. 13. Public bodies corporate shall have power to borrow money and to issue their securities evidencing debt, subject to this constitution and law.

Sec. 14. To meet obligations incurred pursuant to appropriations for any fiscal year, the legislature may by law authorize the state to issue its full faith and credit notes in which case it shall pledge undedicated revenues to be received within the same fiscal year for the repayment thereof. Such indebtedness in any fiscal year shall not exceed 15 percent of undedicated revenues received by the state during the preceding fiscal year and such debts shall be repaid at the time the revenues so pledged are received, but not later than the end of the same fiscal year.

Sec. 15. The state may borrow money for specific purposes in amounts as may be provided by acts of the legislature adopted by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house, and approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at any general election. The question submitted to the electors shall state the amount to be borrowed, the specific purpose to which the funds shall be devoted, and the method of repayment.

Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

Sec. 17. No money shall be paid out of the state treasury except in pursuance of appropriations made by law.

Sec. 18. The credit of the state shall not be granted to, nor in aid of any person, association or corporation, public or private, except as authorized in this constitution.

This section shall not be construed to prohibit the investment of public funds until needed for current requirements or the investment of funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees, as provided by law.

Sec. 19. The state shall not subscribe to, nor be interested in the stock of any company, association or corporation, except that funds accumulated to provide retirement or pension benefits for public officials and employees may be invested as provided by law; and endowment funds created for charitable or educational purposes may be invested as provided by law governing the investment of funds held in trust by trustees.

Sec. 20. No state money shall be deposited in banks other than those organized under the national or state banking laws. No state money

1 shall be deposited in any bank in excess of 50
2 percent of the capital and surplus of such bank.
3 Any bank receiving deposits of state money shall 4 show the amount of state money so deposited as 5 a separate item in all published statements.

6 Sec. 21. The legislature shall provide by law
7 for the annual accounting for all public moneys,
8 state and local, and may provide by law for interim
9 accounting.

10 The legislature shall provide by law for the 11 maintenance of uniform accounting systems by 12 units of local government and the auditing of 13 county accounts by competent state authority
14 and other units of government as provided by law.

15 Sec. 22. Procedures for the examination and 16 adjustment of claims against the state shall be 17 prescribed by law.

18 Sec. 23. All financial records, accountings,
19 audit reports and other reports of public moneys
20 shall be public records and open to inspection. A 21 statement of all revenues and expenditures of pub-
22 lic moneys shall be published and distributed
23 annually, as provided by law.

24 Sec. 24. The accrued financial benefits of each
25 pension plan and retirement system of the state
26 and its political subdivisions shall be a contractual
27 obligation thereof which shall not be diminished
28 or impaired thereby.

29 Financial benefits arising on account of service
30 rendered in each fiscal year shall be funded during 31 that year and such funding shall not be used for 32 financing unfunded accrued liabilities.

76 Sec. 1. All officers, legislative, executive and 77 judicial, before entering upon the duties of their 78 respective offices, shall take and subscribe the 79 following oath or affirmation: I do solemnly swear
80 (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution
81 of the United States and the constitution of this 82 state, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties
83 of the office of according to the best of 84 my ability. No other oath, affirmation, or any 85 religious test shall be required as a qualification
86 for any office or public trust.

87 Sec. 2. The terms of office of elective state
88 officers, members of the legislature and justices
89 and judges of courts of record shall begin at twelve
90 o'clock noon on the first day of January next suc-
91 ceeding their election, except as otherwise provided
92 in this constitution. The terms of office of county
93 officers shall begin on the first day of January
94 next succeeding their election, except as otherwise
95 provided by law.

96 Sec. 3. Neither the legislature nor any poli-
97 tical subdivision of this state shall grant or author-
98 ize extra compensation to any public officer, agent
99 or contractor after the service has been rendered 100 or the contract entered into.

101 Sec. 4. No person having custody or control of 102 public moneys shall be a member of the legislature, 103 or be eligible to any office of trust or profit under 104 this state, until he shall have made an accounting,
105 as provided by law, of all sums for which he may 106 be liable.

107 Sec. 5. The classified state civil service shall 108 consist of all positions in the state service except 109 those filled by popular election, heads of principal
110 departments, members of boards and commis-
111 sions, the principal executive officer of boards and 112 commissions heading principal departments, em-
113 ployees of courts of record, employees of the legislature, employees of the state institutions of higher education, all persons in the armed forces of the state, eight exempt positions in the office of the governor, and within each principal department, when requested by the department head, two other exempt positions, one of which shall be policy-making. The civil service commission may exempt three additional positions of a policy-making nature within each principal department.

The civil service commission shall be non-salaried and shall consist of four persons, not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party, appointed by the governor for terms of eight years, no two of which shall expire in the same year.

The administration of the commission's powers shall be vested in a state personnel director who shall be a member of the classified service and who shall be responsible to and selected by the commission after open competitive examination.

The commission shall classify all positions in the classified service according to their respective duties and responsibilities, fix rates of compensation for all classes of positions, approve or disapprove disbursements for all personal services, determine by competitive examination and performance exclusively on the basis of merit, efficiency and fitness the qualifications of all candidates for positions in the classified service, make rules and regulations covering all personnel transactions, and regulate all conditions of employment in the classified service.

No person shall be appointed to or promoted in the classified service who has not been certified by the commission as qualified for such appointment or promotion. No appointments, promotions, demotions or removals in the classified service shall be made for religious, racial or partisan considerations.

Increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission may be effective only at the start of a fiscal year and shall require prior notice to the governor, who shall transmit such increases to the legislature as part of his budget. The legislature may, by a majority vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, waive the notice and permit increases in rates of compensation to be effective at a time other than the start of a fiscal year. Within 60 calendar days following such transmission, the legislature may, by a two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house, reject or reduce increases in rates of compensation authorized by the commission. Any reduction ordered by the legislature shall apply uniformly to all classes of employees affected by the increases and shall not adjust pay differentials already established by the civil service commission. The legislature may not reduce rates of compensation below those in effect at the time of the transmission of increases authorized by the commission.

The appointing authorities may create or abolish positions for reasons of administrative efficiency without the approval of the commission. Positions shall not be created nor abolished except for reasons of administrative efficiency. Any employee considering himself aggrieved by the abolition of a position shall have a right of appeal to the commission through established grievance procedures.

The civil service commission shall recommend to the governor and to the legislature rates of compensation for all appointed positions within the executive department not a part of the classified service.

To enable the commission to exercise its powers, the legislature shall appropriate to the commission for the ensuing fiscal year a sum not less than one percent of the aggregate payroll of the classified service for the preceding fiscal year, as certified by the commission. Within six months after the conclusion of each fiscal year the commission shall return to the state treasury all moneys unexpended for that fiscal year.

The commission shall furnish reports of expenditures, at least annually, to the governor and the legislature and shall be subject to annual audit as provided by law.

No payment for personal services shall be made or authorized until the provisions of this constitution pertaining to civil service have been complied with in every particular. Violation of any of the provisions hereof may be restrained or observance compelled by injunctive or mandamus proceedings brought by any citizen of the state.

Sec. 6. By ordinance or resolution of its governing body which shall not take effect until approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon, unless otherwise provided by charter, each county, township, city, village, school district and other governmental unit or authority may establish, modify or discontinue a merit system for its employees other than teachers under contract or tenure. The state civil service commission may on request furnish technical services to any such unit on a reimbursable basis.

Sec. 7. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeaching civil officers for corrupt conduct in office or for crimes or misdemeanors, but a majority of the members elected and serving shall be necessary to direct an impeachment.

When an impeachment is directed, the house of representatives shall elect three of its members to prosecute the impeachment.

Every impeachment shall be tried by the senate immediately after the final adjournment of the legislature. The senators shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try and determine the impeachment according to the evi-

1 dence. When the governor or lieutenant governor
2 is tried, the chief justice of the supreme court
3 shall preside.

4 No person shall be convicted without the con-
5 currence of two-thirds of the senators elected and 6 serving. Judgment in case of conviction shall not 7 extend further than removal from office, but the 8 person convicted shall be liable to punishment
9 according to law.

10 No judicial officer shall exercise any of the 11 functions of his office after an impeachment is 12 directed until he is acquitted.

Article XII

Amendment & Revision

13 Sec. 1. Amendments to this constitution may 14 be proposed in the senate or house of representa-
15 tives. Proposed amendments agreed to by two-16 thirds of the members elected to and serving in 17 each house on a vote with the names and vote of 18 those voting entered in the respective journals
19 shall be submitted, not less than 60 days there-
20 after, to the electors at the next general election
21 or special election as the legislature shall direct.
22 If a majority of electors voting on a proposed 23 amendment approve the same, it shall become 24 part of the constitution and shall abrogate or 25 amend existing provisions of the constitution at 26 the end of 45 days after the date of the election
27 at which it was approved.

28 Sec. 2. Amendments may be proposed to this 29 constitution by petition of the registered electors
30 of this state. Every petition shall include the full 31 text of the proposed amendment, and be signed by 32 registered electors of the state equal in number to 33 at least 10 percent of the total vote cast for 34 all candidates for governor at the last preceding 35 general election at which a governor was elected.
36 Such petitions shall be filed with the person au-
37 thorized by law to receive the same at least 120
38 days before the election at which the proposed 39 amendment is to be voted upon. Any such petition 40 shall be in the form, and shall be signed and 41 circulated in such manner, as prescribed by law.
42 The person authorized by law to receive such peti-
43 tion shall upon its receipt determine, as provided
44 by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signa-
45 tures on the petition, and make an official an-46 nouncement thereof at least 60 days prior to the 47 election at which the proposed amendment is to be 48 voted upon.

49 Any amendment proposed by such petition shall 50 be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was 51 filed, to the electors at the next general election.
52 Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of 53 the constitution which would be altered or abro-
54 gated thereby, and the question as it shall appear
55 on the ballot shall be published in full as provided
56 by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted 57 in each polling place and furnished to news media

as provided by law.

58 The ballot to be used in such election shall con-
59 tain a statement of the purpose of the proposed 60 amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

61 If the proposed amendment is approved by a
62 majority of the electors voting on the question, 63 it shall become part of the constitution, and 64 shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of 65 the constitution at the end of 45 days after 66 the date of the election at which it was ap-67 proved. If two or more amendments approved by 68 the electors at the same election conflict, that 69 amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote
70 shall prevail.

71 Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in 72 the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter 73 and at such times as may be provided by law, the 74 question of a general revision of the constitution
75 shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If 76 a majority of the electors voting on the question
77 decide in favor of a convention for such purpose,
78 at an election to be held not later than six months
79 after the proposal was certified as approved, the 80 electors of each representative district as then 81 organized shall elect one delegate and the elec-
82 tors of each senatorial district as then organized
83 shall elect one delegate at a partisan election.
84 The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat
85 of government on the first Tuesday in October
86 next succeeding such election or at an earlier date
87 if provided by law.

88 The convention shall choose its own officers,
89 determine the rules of its proceedings and judge
90 the qualifications, elections and returns of its mem-
91 bers. The governor shall appoint a qualified
92 resident of the same district to fill a vacancy
93 in the office of any delegate who shall be a mem-
94 ber of the same party as the delegate vacating
95 the office. The convention shall have power to ap-
96 point such officers, employees and assistants as 97 it deems necessary and to fix their compensation;
98 to provide for the printing and distribution of its 99 documents, journals and proceedings; to explain 100 and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

101 No proposed constitution or amendment adopted
102 by such convention shall be submitted to the 103 electors for approval as hereinafter provided un-
104 less by the assent of a majority of all the delegates 105 elected to and serving in the convention, with the 106 names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

If the revised constitution so submitted receives more votes in its favor than were cast against it, it shall be the supreme law of the state on and after the first day of January of the year following its adoption.

consideration of the deletion of section 6 of the schedule in its entirety.

I think because of the length of the roll calls, which we have to conduct by voice today, it might make sense to determine whether there is going to be a section 6 of the schedule before putting the secretary to the work of calling the roll on an amendment thereto. I would therefore move that item 8 on the order of business be taken up now so that we can dispose of that question before considering further the possible amendment to section 6.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that item 8 on the order of business, consideration of deletion of section 6 of schedule, be advanced on the calendar. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. The Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, now I move that the rules be suspended for the sole purpose of considering an amendment to the schedule to delete section 6 and renumber the remaining sections.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the suspension of the rules. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails, 2/3 of the delegates having voted therefor. The rules are suspended. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: I yield to Dr. John Hannah.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Dr. Hannah.

MR. J. A. HANNAH: Mr. President, I move that the temporary provisions of the schedule of the proposed constitution be amended by striking out all of section 6 and renumbering the remaining sections.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Dr. Hannah which the secretary will read again.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. J. A. Hannah offers the following amendment:

1. Amend the schedule, section 6 (column 2) line 5, by striking out all of section 6 which reads as follows:

Sec. 6. The state shall be districted for the purpose of electing senators in accordance with the provisions of Section 2 of Article IV of this constitution, after the official publication of the total population count of the 1970 decennial federal census. Until the apportionment of the senate following the 1970 census, the senatorial districts under the 1908 constitution shall remain intact except that upon the adoption of this constitution each of the counties of Kent, Genesee, Macomb and Oakland shall be divided by the apportionment commission into two senatorial districts and Wayne county into eight senatorial districts in accordance with this constitution. The legislature may give prior effect to Section 2 of Article IV of this constitution, which action shall not be subject to veto by the governor.

and renumbering the balance of the sections.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President, I wonder if I could ask Delegate Hannah the intent of his amendment and what the effect will be on the document in its submission.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Dr. Hannah.

MR. J. A. HANNAH: Mr. President and delegates, the effect of this amendment, if it is adopted, will be that in the event the proposed constitution is approved by the voters of this state, the apportionment of the senate will be immediately effective in the same way as the reapportionment of the house. It will mean that if this section 6 is taken out of the schedule and the constitution is adopted, immediately the apportionment commission will be set up and they will proceed to draw new districts both for the senate and the house, with the senate, of course, following the formula that is included as a part of the constitution.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President, we're being put in a very strange and illogical position. The provision for the proposed senate has, by the attorney general, been declared unconstitutional. The only question is the timing. As I understand it, to vote for this deletion would simply mean that an unconstitutional provision would be made effective sooner; to vote against it simply means that the 1952 amendment which is now unconstitutional, pending review by the United States supreme court, would not be law and what we would have is the 1908 constitution which the Michigan state supreme court has said is the law. I am therefore—and I want the logic of this made very clear—voting against deleting this section, not because I want this section to go into effect later, but because I believe this section and what it applies to are both unconstitutional. We now have the law of the state of Michigan, the 1908 constitution, which has a senate based on population. I am voting no on this question for the reason that I am voting for the 1908 constitution without the 1952 amendment, which has been declared by the Michigan supreme court to be the law of this state.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mrs. Cushman.

MRS. CUSHMAN: I rise to support this amendment for the deletion. It seems to me that it's become evident to most of us by this time that the final body that will decide the question of its constitutionality is not in the state of Michigan but is the United States supreme court; and for that reason I am unwilling to surrender any possibility of achieving what I consider to be a fairer and more equitable reapportionment provision for the state of Michigan. If this new constitution is adopted—which I feel confident it will be—the deletion of this would give us several more senators in Wayne county immediately. We would end up with 10 state senators and it would give people of Oakland county, who are very under represented, 3 senators. The other counties would also have fairer representation under this provision, provided we delete this section 6.

It seems to me that those of us who are from the metropolitan area are put in the very peculiar position indeed if we vote to keep section 6 and find that this constitution is adopted and that we thereby have taken away from us several senators to which we would otherwise become entitled. For this reason I rise to support the amendment to delete section 6.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, may I state in response to Mr. Downs' remarks that I'm a little tired of having the attorney general of this state make pronouncements about what is constitutional and what is not.

I think any lawyer who gives careful review to the opinions of the Michigan supreme court rendered 2 weeks ago in Scholle vs. Hare, and to the opinions of the justices of the United States supreme court in Baker vs. Carr, and to the remarks of Mr. Justice Potter Stewart last Friday, would recognize that the formula for senate apportionment which we provide in the new constitution meets every standard yet announced by the United States supreme court for validity under the fourteenth amendment of the United States constitution. I think that our formula, if presented to the Michigan supreme court, would very likely be upheld by the Michigan supreme court and I rely, in stating that, not only on the opinion of the 3 justices who dissented, but on the opinions of Mr. Justice Souris and Mr. Justice Smith, who concurred and who did not subscribe to the very limited opinion of Mr. Justice Kavanagh.

There is nothing in the opinion of the United States supreme court which would make the senate apportionment formula which we have provided in the new constitution in any way violative of the federal constitution. The problem is before that court at this time and I think it's extremely unfortunate that we are confronted this morning with an opinion which is, in my judgment, politically inspired and professionally valueless. (applause)

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: Mr. President, that's the first time I've been applauded before I spoke. (laughter) Thank you very much.

Mr. President, Mr. Van Dusen has opened the floor to a flood of comments. I hope we won't have a flood, but I would like to make this point: first of all, the attorney general's opinion cannot be dismissed as hogwash. But further—

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Nord, would you move back just a little bit further from the microphone? Your voice would come through better.

MR. NORD: Would you make a suggestion of 20 or 30 feet?

PRESIDENT NISBET: This is no discourtesy. It's due to the operation of the mike. Mr. Nord.

MR. NORD: As Mr. Cudlip said, I didn't know we had a microphone here. Mr. President, there are 2 experts, or at least 2 people who have worked harder on apportionment in this convention than any other people. One of them is Mr. Hanna; the other is myself. Both of us have announced to the press previous to the holding of this meeting today that we believe that this 80-20 provision—which was drafted by Mr. Hanna over my opposition—is unconstitutional. He is a lawyer; I am a lawyer. We have had close contact with the subject. We both believe—unless he tells me to the contrary now—we both believe it is unconstitutional. The only court decision is the Michigan supreme court decision. They have stated that, in their opinion, when it reaches them it will be unconstitutional.

I am not advised, as Mr. Van Dusen says, that there is pending in the United States supreme court any review of the Scholle case. If that is so, I would like to be advised. I understand that somebody is thinking of filing a petition for certiorari, but I am not advised that there has been any such petition. As it stands right now the law has been announced by the supreme court of Michigan, and then as to the future we have the opinion of the attorney general. Then you have before you the opinions of both the people who worked the hardest—the lawyers—on this subject. All of them are on the same side of the issue. They all say that it's unconstitutional. If you wish to ignore that, you can do so. But I think that you should have that before you.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: Mr. President and fellow delegates, I just wanted to make one comment at this time because I've been hearing so much around the state that we ought to take what we're given. And it reminds me an awful lot of the man who had $150 stolen from him, who then was told by the burglar that he'd be willing to give him 50 bucks and he ought to go home and be satisfied. I might say too, to Mrs. Cushman, that when I first decided to run for this office of delegate, I remember very distinctly that the league of women voters and others said that one of the very most important things that we were coming up here to decide was reapportionment. And they didn't say that they wanted half measures. They said they wanted reapportionment as it should be: by population. Now I might say to Mrs. Cushman and others who always bring this subject up—rather, they keep making the comment that we ought to take what we can get—that it's no different, her making that remark, than a judge saying, after a man has been ordered hung, that he'll only be dropped 10 feet instead of 30.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment of Dr. Hannah. This is a record roll call vote. Mr. Downs.

MR. DOWNS: Mr. President, I would like to point out to the delegates, in as calm and as reasoned a fashion as I can, that the senate we now have in the state of Michigan is that under the 1908 constitution. The courts way back, before any present member of the state supreme court was even on the court—and that's how far back that goes—ruled that under the 1908 constitution there could not be a difference of more than 2 to 1 in population and did not approve a difference of more than 2 to 1. That's what we have now—it's temporarily stayed by one justice of the United States supreme court—that's what we have. The provision in this section would provide a population difference of $4\frac{1}{2}$ to 1 and would take from the urban areas senatorial representation that we are entitled to under the 1908 constitution and that the Michigan state supreme court has ordered and, I will predict, will be in effect as soon as the United States supreme court acts. It's regrettable that the motion to recess was rejected because that would have given Delegate Van Dusen and me the opportunity to discuss what the highest court said rather than what he and I are predicting it will say. And therefore, I urge we vote against this and keep the 1908 language which has one house—the senate—on population, and the second house, for those who make such a fetish of area, on an area factor.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Dr. Hannah.

MR. J. A. HANNAH: Mr. President, in view of the tone of the discussion, I should like to submit a letter from the director of research and drafting of this convention and ask that the secretary read it into the record at this time.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: Letter from Charles W. Joiner, the associate dean of the University of Michigan law school, addressed to John Hannah, president, Michigan State University, under date of July 27, "Dear Dr. Hannah: I write as"—

MR. MADAR: Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Madar.

MR. MADAR: Shouldn't this only be done when there are no objections—

PRESIDENT NISBET: It is part of Dr. Hannah's remarks.

MR. MADAR: —and I am objecting.

PRESIDENT NISBET: This is a part of Dr. Hannah's remarks, Mr. Madar. They may be made. Mr. Chase will read.

SECRETARY CHASE: The letter reads:

Dear Dr. Hannah:

I write as the director of research and drafting for the constitutional convention although I am not now on the staff of the convention for my interest continues in the success and well being of that body. Perhaps I can contribute something to the solution of the problem facing you as a result of the recent decision in Scholle v. Hare. I shall not be present at the time you convene on August 1. It is important that you have an objective analysis of the constitutionality of the con con proposal to apportion the house and senate made after the Scholle case.

1. The problem is one of the constitutionality under the federal constitution. The supreme court of the United States is the final arbiter of this, not the supreme court of Michigan.

2. Contrary to anything in one of the opinions handed down by the supreme court of Michigan, the decisions in the 2 Michigan cases cited, Giddings v. Secretary of State, 93 Michigan 1, and Williams v. Secretary of State, 145 Michigan 447, which are the bases for the court's use of a 2 for 1 population standard do not stem from federal constitutional language but are merely stating a standard that was applicable to the language of the 1850 constitution requiring specific apportionment on the basis of population.

3. The supreme court of the United States has as yet given no indication that any standard based solely upon population will be required.

4. In fact, the contrary has been indicated by the supreme court for the thrust of Baker v. Carr, if any standards can be read into that case, is that any scheme of apportionment based on reason and rationality will be sustained. The same idea is expressed by Mr. Justice Stewart in his decision to stay Scholle v. Hare when he said that new issues were presented in the Scholle case that were not decided in Baker v. Carr.

5. Most of the litigation and judicial decisions in the various states in federal and state courts since Baker v. Carr has been based on the failure of the legislatures to carry out a state constitutional mandate to reapportion.

6. Decisions are being handed down by lower federal courts and state courts indicating that it is not necessary (unless required by a state constitution) to apportion on the basis of population in both houses (see the Maryland decision on this point).

7. The proposed constitutional provision has one house pretty largely based on population and the other house predicated upon a rational idea of ability to represent constituents effectively. This provision would in all probability be sustained by the supreme court of the United States if given a chance.

8. In the Scholle case the Michigan court does not squarely hold that the constitutional convention proposal is bad. Two judges do indicate in dictum that this would be true but this dictum contains a bad fallacy for it stems from interpretation of language appearing in the 1908 constitution requirement of apportionment on the basis of population and is not a fair statement of the requirements of the equal protection clause of the federal constitution, the clause against which your proposal must be tested.

Two other judges concurred in the result but did not say that as a minimum, the standard test will be 2 for 1 population. These judges merely talked about the requirement of a rational scheme of apportionment. The 3 dissenting judges clearly would sustain the plan.

Thus it is not unlikely that even in the Michigan supreme court the con con plan, if approved by the people as a part of the constitution, would be sustained by the Michigan court. It seems clear, however, as clear as anything can be in this muddled area that even if it were not sustained by the Michigan supreme court, the supreme court of the United States would uphold it. There is nothing in your plan that violates the equal protection clause of the United States constitution or any other relevant provision, as interpreted by the supreme court of the United States. Only if you permit in some way a vote on your plan and it is adopted can it ever be tested. It can only be tested fairly as a part of a constitution.

Sincerely yours,
Charles W. Joiner.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The Chair recognizes Mr. Wanger.

MR. WANGER: Mr. President, fellow delegates, because of the limitation of time, which we are all operating under in this one day session, but more important, because I believe that the issue has now been fully discussed, I move the previous question.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Wanger for the previous question. Is the demand seconded?

MR. NORRIS: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Sufficient number up.

MR. NORRIS: I'd like to move, Mr. President, to limit debate to 10 minutes.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Norris that debate be limited to 10 minutes. Those in favor of the motion say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. Mr. Norris.

MR. NORRIS: Mr. President, I would like at this time to express the observation—

PRESIDENT NISBET: The convention will be in order.

MR. NORRIS: —that the opinion of the attorney general be incorporated in the record without being read, in light of the Chair's ruling on Mr. Madar's point of objection to the reading of Mr. Joiner's letter into the record. I'd like to have that included as part of my remarks as well and ask that that be done, sir.

PRESIDENT NISBET: It will be so included.

Following is the opinion:

State of Michigan

Frank J. Kelley, Attorney General

Constitutional law: equal protection of the laws under the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

Senate: apportionment of Michigan senate under proposed constitution.

Article IV, section 2 and section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution perpetuate invidious discrimination in Michigan senatorial districts now practiced under article V, section 2 of the constitution of 1908, as amended by the people in 1952 and condemned by the Michigan supreme court in Scholle v. Hare (July 18, 1962), 367 Michigan 176, and are unconstitutional as violative of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

In the event the provisions of article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution are effective upon approval of the revised constitution by the people, article IV, section 2 is unconstitutional as in violation of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

Opinion 4093

Mr. Tom Downs

Vice President

Michigan Constitutional Convention

Constitution Hall

Lansing, Michigan

I am in receipt of your letter of July 23 in which you indicate that the Michigan constitutional convention of 1961-1962 has proposed article IV, sections 2 and 6 as they relate to the apportionment of the Michigan legislature.

Article IV, section 2 provides as follows:

The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned an apportionment factor equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senate districts shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible. The constitutional convention proposes a commission on legislative apportionment as set forth in article IV, section 6, which reads in pertinent part as follows:

A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight persons, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One member of the commission shall be selected by each political party organization from each of the following four regions: (1) The upper peninsula; (2) The northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) Southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) Southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

Based upon these facts you ask the following questions:

1. Is article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution constitutional?

2. Is article IV, section 6 of the proposed constitution constitutional?

In response to your first question, not only is it necessary for me to consider section 2 of article IV, but also section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions which has been made a part of the proposed constitution as approved on the third reading by the constitutional convention on May 11, 1962. This portion of the schedule and temporary provisions states:

The state shall be districted for the purpose of electing senators in accordance with the provisions of Section 2 of Article IV of this constitution, after the official publication of the total population count of the 1970 decennial federal census. Until the apportionment of the senate following the 1970 census, the senatorial districts under the 1908 constitution shall remain intact except that upon the adoption of this constitution each of the counties of Kent, Genesee, Macomb and Oakland shall be divided by the apportionment commission into two senatorial districts and Wayne county into eight senatorial districts in accordance with this constitution. The legislature may give prior effect to Section 2 of Article IV of this constitution, which action shall not be subject to veto by the governor.

A plain reading of section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions indicates that the present apportionment of the Michigan senate as provided by article V, section 2 of the Michigan constitution of 1908 as amended by the people in 1952, shall remain intact with the exception that the counties of Kent, Genesee, Macomb and Oakland shall be divided by the apportionment commission into 2 senatorial districts, and Wayne county into 8 senatorial districts in accordance with this constitution in the event the proposed constitution is approved by the people. However, the legislature is given authority to give prior effect to section 2 of article IV of the constitution, which action shall not be subject to veto by the governor.

Assuming that the proposed constitution is adopted, presumably in April of 1963, the constitution shall not become effective until January 1, 1964. Upon such contingency the senate would be increased from 34 members to 38 with the 3 additional seats to be divided among the counties of Genesee, Macomb and Oakland and an additional seat given to Wayne.

It should be observed that this portion of the schedule and temporary provisions has no effect upon Kent county, already possessed of 2 senators under the constitution of 1908, as amended.

Unless the legislature were to act to give earlier implementation to article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution, Michigan senatorial districts are provided by article V, section 2 of the constitution of 1908 and would prevail until the year 1970 with the exception of the 4 additional senatorial seats to be divided among Genesee, Macomb, Oakland and Wayne counties respectively.

The Michigan supreme court in Scholle v. Hare (July 18, 1962), 367 Mich. 176, has struck down the senate apportionment provided by article V, section 2 of the Michigan constitution of 1908, as amended. On July 27, 1962, the Honorable Potter Stewart, associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, stayed the judgment of the Michigan supreme court pending the timely filing of a petition for a writ of certiorari with the stay to continue pending the final disposition of the case upon timely filing of the petition for the writ of certiorari.

While it is true that Mr. Justice Stewart stayed the judgment of the Michigan supreme court, nevertheless the decision of the Michigan supreme court in Scholle v. Hare, supra, establishes the law in the state of Michigan and unless the United States supreme court assumes jurisdiction of Scholle v. Hare and reverses the decision of the Michigan supreme court, the decision in Scholle v. Hare, supra, will represent the leading case on apportionment in the state of Michigan.

Under its decision, Scholle v. Hare holds that article V, section 2 of the Michigan constitution, as amended by the people in 1952, violates the equal protection clause of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States in that senatorial districts provided in the Michigan constitution are invidiously discriminatory.

Under article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution and section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions, Michigan senatorial districts are to be substantially continued in their present form until 1970 with the exception of 4 additional seats to be awarded upon the effective date of the constitution, subject to earlier implementation by the legislature.

The conclusion is imperative that the delegates to the Michigan constitutional convention, if they retain article IV, section 2 and section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions in their present form, will be continuing the senatorial districts that our court has struck down as invidiously discriminatory. It is patent that the additional 4 seats do not correct the disparity in population between Michigan senatorial districts. At best the addition of 1 senatorial seat to Oakland county, Genesee county, Macomb county and Wayne county, reduces the disparity from the extreme 12½ to 1 to about 6 to 1. In any event, it is my opinion that the majority holding in Scholle v. Hare, supra, would demand that such provisions fall under the sweep of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

Under the concurring opinion of Mr. Justice Souris, it must be concluded that such disparity would be neither minor nor unavoidable so that the constitutional provisions in question would be discriminatory and in violation of the equal protection clause to the fourteenth amendment. Nor does the fact that the schedule authorizes the legislature to implement article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution at an earlier time than 1970 supply constitutional validity.

The Michigan supreme court in Rassner v. Federal Collateral Society, 299 Mich. 206, in passing upon the constitutionality of a statute which provided a summary proceeding for recovery of property pawned without the owner's consent although actual notice was given, held that due process of law cannot depend upon the grace or favor of the court to give notice and opportunity for hearing. The constitutionality of an act must depend upon the provisions of the act itself.

Similarly in Ridenour v. County of Bay, 366 Mich. 225, the court struck down a bond validation statute for failure to afford due process of law to persons affected under it even though the court had provided notice on its own order. The court said that the due process of law had to be afforded by the statute itself rather than by the whim and caprice of the court. By analogy, the test of article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution and section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions, must be made by the language of the constitution itself and not by the possibility that the legislature may choose to implement article IV, section 2 at some earlier time than 1970. Equal protection of the laws cannot be premised upon the favor of a majority vote of the legislature to give earlier implementation. Therefore it is my opinion that article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution of the 1961-1962 constitutional convention violates the equal protection clause of the constitution of the United States.

I am, of course, aware of the fact that under the rules of the constitutional convention the delegates to the constitutional convention by 2/3 vote may suspend the rules and make changes to the document adopted on May 11, 1962. It has been suggested that section 6 of the schedule and temporary provisions be changed to make article IV, section 2 immediately effective upon the adoption of the constitution. Consequently it is necessary for me to consider the constitutional validity of article IV, section 2 in light of this possibility.

At the outset it is necessary to state briefly the proposed scheme of operation of the particular portion of the constitution. The framers would apportion the senate on 2 bases:

1. Upon a formula for each county unit based upon percentage of land area and a percentage of population based upon the last federal decennial census, multiplied by the factor 4.

2. After arriving at an apportionment factor for each county to treat counties with 13 or more apportionment factors one way and those with less than 13 apportionment factors in another.

Significantly the last sentence of subsection (2) of section 2 of the article reveals the true intent of the framers when it states, "Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards."

The conclusion is inescapable that the delegates to the constitutional convention have labored to preserve the present system of apportionment found constitutionally invalid in Scholle v. Hare, supra, and to sustain the present districting under a formula that practices discrimination twice against population not only through dilution by area but also through dilution by county depending upon apportionment factors attributed to the county under the formula.

The Michigan supreme court has said in Attorney General, ex rel Eaves, v. State Bridge Commission, 277 Mich. 373, that the state may not do indirectly that which it is forbidden to do directly. It is apparent that the provisions of article IV, section 2 of the proposed constitution present a patent effort to preserve the invidious discrimination in senatorial districts condemned in Scholle v. Hare, supra, by indirection.

Historically in Michigan the senate has been apportioned on a population basis as near as may be but along county lines. Giddings v. Secretary of State, 93 Mich. 1, Williams v. Secretary of State, 145 Mich. 447. See excellent discussion of the history of the apportionment of the Michigan senate in the dissenting opinion of Mr. Justice Smith in Scholle v. Hare, 360 Mich. 1.

The history of the house of representatives reveals that it has not been apportioned upon a strict population basis because the people have provided that certain governmental units, such as townships or cities, shall not be divided in the formation of a representative district and each county shall be entitled to a separate representative when it has attained a population equal to a moiety of the ratio of representation. See article IV, section 4 of the constitution of 1835; article IV, section 3 of the constitution of 1850, and article V, section 3 of the constitution as amended by the people in 1952.

While article IV, section 3 of the proposed constitution requires house of representative districts to be apportioned on a population basis, nevertheless this portion of the proposed constitution imposes requirements that each county which has a population of not less than 7/10 of 1 percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative district, subject to other limitations as well.

It must be concluded, therefore, that under the proposed constitution neither house of the Michigan legislature is apportioned upon a strict population basis without any other factor.

While the United States supreme court has not implemented Baker v. Carr, 369 US 186, with a final definition as to what factors may be considered in the apportionment of state legislatures in order to satisfy the equal protection clause to the constitution of the United States, nevertheless since Baker v. Carr, supra, there has been an unmistakable flow of opinions of 3 judge federal district courts which have enumerated a rule that in my judgment is probably controlling.

Guidance may be obtained from the 3 judge federal district court that reconsidered Baker v. Carr, (June 22, 1962), on remand from 369 US 186, 179 Fed. Supp. 824 (Tennessee), and rendered an unanimous opinion that required the state of Tennessee to reapportion at least one house of the Tennessee legislature on a strict population basis without regard to any other factor. In Baker v. Carr, supra, on remand, the court tested the reapportionment of the Tennessee house and senate by the test of rationality based upon population, area and governmental units. The court recognized that one house could by reasonable classification take into consideration the protection and recognition to its less populous governmental units so that apportionment upon the 2/3 population—governmental unit basis—was permissible provided that the other house was on a strict population basis.

To the same effect is Toombs v. Fortson (May 25, 1962), 205 Fed. Supp. 248 (Georgia), where the 3 judge federal district court held that one of the houses of the Georgia legislature had to be on a strict population basis recognizing that it may be necessary for both houses to be on a strict population basis, but the court was hesitant to order this in the absence of a definitive decision of the United States supreme court.

Likewise in Sims v. Frink (April 14, 1962) 205 Fed. Supp. 245 (Alabama), a 3 judge federal district court required that at least one of the houses of the Alabama state legislature be apportioned upon a strict population basis without any other factor.

I am persuaded that the aforesaid decisions of the various federal district courts represent the very minimum that will serve as the basis of final definition of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States as may be laid down by the supreme court of the United States, although it is my considered judgment that a rational plan to give constitutional validity to the other house must recognize population as an important factor.

Under these authorities it must be concluded that since neither section 3 nor 4 of article IV of the proposed constitution provides for apportionment of either house of the Michigan legislature upon a strict population basis, article IV, section 2, as it relates to the senate, must fall as violative of the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States.

While we recognize that the aforesaid authorities are those of lower federal district courts, nevertheless they offer sufficient guidance to inform the Michigan constitutional convention of 1961-1962 that article IV, section 2, in my opinion, violates the equal protection clause of the fourteenth amendment to the United States constitution.

Due to the limitation in time it will be necessary for my office to consider the second question separately and the opinion will be submitted to you as soon as it is ready.

Frank J. Kelley, attorney general.

MR. NORRIS: Now, with regard to an observation that I should like to make on my own on the matter now before us, Mr. President, I think that what we ought to recognize is the issue involved in the matter before us and the matter before the people of the state of Michigan. As I understand it, the Michigan supreme court stated that the freezing and other aspects of the 1952 amendment and so called balanced legislature in relation to the senate was unconstitutional, and in so doing stated also that the standard in the 1908 constitution thereby becomes the law of the state of Michigan. As against that proposition you have a formula in the proposed document before us. And it seems to me the issue is clear: if you want a population standard, then you support the defeat of the constitution and the recognition that 1908, according to the inhabitants thereof, then becomes the standard of apportionment; if you want a standard other than that, then you support the proposed document standard. It seems to me that is the issue involved in the question on approval of section 6 or on approval of the constitution as a whole.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the amendment of Dr. Hannah. It is a record roll call vote. Those in favor of the amendment of Dr. Hannah to delete section 6 will vote aye as their names are called. Those opposed will vote no. The secretary will call the roll.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the amendment to strike out section 6, the yeas are 94; the nays are 47.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The amendment is adopted.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mr. McAllister:

My reason for voting no on the deletion of section 6 of the schedule is that the apportionment section of the constitution in my opinion is unconstitutional.

Following is explanation of vote submitted by Mr. Leibrand:

Section 6 of the constitutional schedule continues an extra senate seat to Kent county and allots an extra seat each to Genesee, Macomb and Oakland counties immediately. Reapportionment of the senatorial districts of the rest of the state would follow the 1970 census.

The amendment to delete section 6, made August 1, 1962, would advance the general senatorial reapportionment date to as soon as possible after the adoption of the new constitution.

I voted against the amendment for several reasons:

1. The change is a very important one. Many of the delegates never heard of the proposed amendment until about 9:00 p.m. on the evening of July 31. Most of the delegates never heard of it until it was offered on the floor of the convention at 11:00 a.m. on August 1. I believe such an important change deserves much more extended consideration.

2. Many things, particularly decisions of the United States supreme court and the Michigan supreme court, have occurred since this convention adjourned on May 11. The body most affected by the change is the Michigan state senate itself. The senate has been studying and working on this problem for the past 2 weeks or more, and undoubtedly has more information on the problem than do the delegates of this convention. I am opposed to deleting section 6 until such time as a special committee of this convention has conferred at length with the proper committee or committees of the state senate regarding the course to take.

3. I realize that what I suggest will require further adjournment of this convention. I have no desire to return to Lansing again, but I would prefer to do this rather than make an irremediable error. It must be remembered that once the convention adjourns sine die, its powers are exhausted and, however bad an error may be, that error cannot be corrected.

MR. FORD: Mr. President.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Ford.

MR. FORD: I'd like to make a parliamentary inquiry. It was my understanding that the specific language of the rules by which we were to play today was such that no substantive change will be made in the document as it was voted upon by a majority of the delegates when last we were assembled. I find difficulty with myself examining this thing, trying to find that this is not substantive. We have now taken an entire section out of the language. And I ask whether this now means that as a matter of fact, the rules that we are playing under today permit amendments from this floor from people such as Dr. Hannah during the consideration of a committee report to the substance of the constitution itself.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Ford, the rules were suspended by this convention for consideration of this special amendment. It does not open up the rest of the document.

The next order of business is the report of the select committee on action against the secretary of state. The chairman of the committee, Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, the select committee charged with the responsibility for the action against the secretary of state dealing with the date of submission of the document has delivered its report to the secretary and I'll ask that he read it. It proposes and recommends an amendment changing the date of submission from November to April and, to anticipate Mr. Ford's question, this is a specific exception to the rule under which we're operating provided for in that rule.

SECRETARY CHASE: The select committee on action against the secretary of state, by Mr. Van Dusen, chairman, submits the following report:

In accordance with Resolution 96, the committee on action against secretary of state on May 14, 1962, filed with the circuit court for the county of Ingham, a petition for declaration of rights in an action entitled, Stephen S. Nisbet, President of the Michigan Constitutional Convention of 1961-1962 v. James M. Hare, Secretary of State. The relief sought was a declaration that the convention has the right to provide for submission of the proposed new constitution to the electors at the general election to be held November 6, 1962. The summons and petition were served on the secretary of state on the same day.

On May 22, having had no response from the attorney general, petitioner filed a motion for the entry of a decree. On May 25, the secretary of state appeared specially by the attorney general and moved to dismiss the petition on the ground that the case did not present an actual controversy. The trial court heard argument on the attorney general's motion on June 1 and on June 6 rendered an opinion denying the motion to dismiss. An order to that effect was entered on June 11.

Instead of proceeding to file an answer, the attorney general then filed an application to the supreme court for leave to appeal. This application was granted by the supreme court and the attorney general, on July 2, filed a claim of appeal.

The attorney general has not yet filed a brief and he states that he does not intend to do so until after August 7.

It is obvious that no judicial determination of the right of the constitutional convention to require submission of the proposed constitution to the electors on November 6 will be made in time to be useful to the convention. Accordingly, the committee recommends:

1) That section 15 [formerly section 16] of the schedule and temporary provisions of the proposed constitution be amended by striking from the first sentence the words "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962" and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

2) That the committee be authorized to discontinue the action entitled, Nisbet v. Hare.

Richard C. Van Dusen, chairman.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, I move the adoption of the report.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that the report be adopted. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The report is adopted. Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VAN DUSEN: Mr. President, in compliance with our rules, I think it would now be necessary to take a roll call vote on the amendment to the constitution changing the date.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Mr. Chase will read the amendment.

SECRETARY CHASE: The amendment recommended in the report is as follows:

1. Amend the schedule, section 15 [formerly section 16] (column 2) line 11, after "held on the" by striking out "Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1962.", and inserting "first Monday in April, 1963."

PRESIDENT NISBET: The secretary will call the roll. Those in favor of the amendment will vote aye as your name is called. Those opposed will vote no.

The roll was called and the delegates voted as follows:

SECRETARY CHASE: On the adoption of the constitution as amended, the yeas are 98; the nays are 43. (applause)
PRESIDENT NISBET: The constitution is adopted.

For the constitution as adopted, see below, page 3317.

Because of the hour, it being almost noon, the Chair recognizes Mr. Van Dusen.

MR. VANDUSEN: Mr. President, I move that the convention now stand in recess until 2:00 p.m.

PRESIDENT NISBET: The question is on the motion of Mr. Van Dusen that we recess until 2:00 p.m. Those in favor will say aye. Opposed, no.

The motion prevails. We are recessed until 2:00 o'clock.

[Whereupon, at 11:50 o'clock a.m., the convention recessed; and, at 2:00 o'clock p.m., reconvened.]

Will the delegates please take their seats. The convention will please come to order.

SECRETARY CHASE: Mr. President, a quorum of the convention is present.

PRESIDENT NISBET: I think we should recognize the fact that many of our employees are voluntarily back with us today, meeting with the delegates. I'm sure all of us are very happy to have them here. It brings about a happy result to see them and I think we ought to give them a good hand. (applause) Mr. Chase has an announcement.

SECRETARY CHASE: There are 3 announcements that possibly should have been made before we recessed for lunch.

First, there is mail for all of the delegates in the mail room downstairs.

Just prior to the May 11 adjournment, several of the delegates took out, on loan, sets of convention slides which have not been returned. Missing from our files are 12 complete sets of slides. Since we frequently have call from other delegates for the use of these slides, we would appreciate their return as soon as possible. Ink White, chairman of the committee on public information.

I am sure the delegates recall the lady on the civic center staff who took such good care of keeping the windows clean and the place well slicked up, who had to go to the hospital for a very critical operation. A number of the delegates contributed to a fund to help her over her financial difficulties. I have the following card:

It is very difficult to express my appreciation to all the wonderful people of con con. Let me say, with my heart, your kindness and generosity will always be remembered.

Sincerely,
Freda Adams.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Since the adjournment on May 11, we have added 2 new associate members to the delegation: Mrs. Charles Follo and Mrs. Gil Wanger.

I asked Charlie if Mrs. Follo was present so that he might present her, but he said she isn't. We are sorry, Charlie, she couldn't be with us.

Mr. Wanger, is your associate delegate present? Would you present her?

[Whereupon, the delegates accorded Mrs. Wanger a standing ovation.]

At the final session before the long recess the president was authorized to name a reunion committee for the constitutional convention. Accordingly, the president appoints, as members of the reunion committee: Mr. Erickson, Mrs. Koeze, Messrs. Jones, Bowens, Brake, Mrs. Conklin, Mr. Dean Doty, Mrs. Daisy Elliott, Messrs. Faxon, Kelsey, Kuhn, Powell, Sharpe, Wanger, White and Norris.

Without objection, the appointments are approved. You will notice that most of these delegates are within the area of Lansing, Detroit or Grand Rapids for their ease in getting together when they have to meet. Mr. Claud Erickson is chairman of the committee.

Returning to the order of business, approval of address to people. We will take up the report of the committee on public information. Mr. White, chairman.

MR. WHITE: Mr. President, under date of June 26, 1962, each delegate was mailed proof copies of the proposed address to the people. Since that time our committee has received numerous suggestions for corrections, additions, deletions and so on. Our committee has met and gone over these suggestions and they have been, for the most part, agreed to. I might say, parenthetically, the address in its present corrected form represents the writing and editing of upwards of 50 of our delegates.

Under date of July 27, 1962, each of you was mailed a 16 page multilith report which outlined in detail some 108 corrections. This communication also carried the recommendation that we be authorized to correct the text of the constitution as it appears in the address to conform with the style and drafting changes adopted at today's session, and to offer comments accordingly, if necessary. All of this material has been delivered again to each delegate's desk today. Additionally, you have a single white multilith sheet from our committee containing brief addenda to this 16 page report.

It seems to me, Mr. President, the delegates have had ample time to consider these matters, and to expedite our final deliberations, I move that the report of the public information committee, with the recommended addenda, be considered read.

PRESIDENT NISBET: Without objection, it is so ordered.

Following is the report as submitted and considered read:

After careful consideration of suggestions from delegates, your committee on public information recommends the adoption of the following changes in the proof copy of the address to the people:

1. Amend page 2, second full paragraph, line 3, after "that one" by striking out "must" and inserting "should"; to improve phraseology.

2. Amend page 2, third full paragraph, line 1, by striking out "Ordered by popular vote, its delegates selected by the people on the basis of one from each senatorial and representative district, the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62 met in Lansing on October 3, 1961.", and inserting "The convention was ordered by popular vote in April of 1961. There were 144 delegates, representing Michigan's 34 State Senatorial districts and 110 State Representative seats. They were elected in statewide voting on September 12, 1961, and convened at Lansing on October 3, 1961."; to improve awkward sentence construction and correct error by indicating "seats" rather than representative "districts."

3. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 2, after "overlapped" by striking out "each other"; to improve phraseology.

4. Amend page 2, fifth full paragraph, line 6, after

CONSTITUTION OF THE

as finally adopted by the Convention
August 1, 1962

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of Michigan, grateful to Almighty God for the blessings of freedom, and earnestly desiring to secure these blessings undiminished to ourselves and our posterity, do ordain and establish this constitution.

ARTICLE I

Declaration of Rights

Sec. 2. No person shall be denied the equal protection of the laws; nor shall any person be denied the enjoyment of his civil or political rights or be discriminated against in the exercise thereof because of religion, race, color or national origin. The legislature shall implement this section by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 3. The people have the right peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, to instruct their representatives and to petition the government for redress of grievances.

Sec. 4. Every person shall be at liberty to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience. No person shall be compelled to attend, or, against his consent, to contribute to the erection or support of any place of religious worship, or to pay tithes, taxes or other rates for the support of any minister of the gospel or teacher of religion. No money shall be appropriated or drawn from the treasury for the benefit of any religious sect or society, theological or religious seminary; nor shall property belonging to the state be appropriated for any such purpose. The civil and political rights, privileges and capacities of no person shall be diminished or enlarged on account of his religious belief.

Sec. 10. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law or law impairing the obligation of contract shall be enacted.

Sec. 11. The person, houses, papers and possessions of every person shall be secure from unreasonable searches and seizures. No warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things shall issue without describing them, nor without probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation. Sec. 12. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless in case of rebellion or invasion the public safety may require it.

Sec. 13. A suitor in any court of this state has the right to prosecute or defend his suit, either in his own proper person or by an attorney.

Sec. 20. In every criminal prosecution, the accused shall have the right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury, which may consist of less than 12 jurors in all courts not of record; to be informed of the nature of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; to have the assistance of counsel for his defense; to have an appeal as a matter of right; and in courts of record, when the trial court so orders, to have such reasonable assistance as may be necessary to perfect and prosecute an appeal.

Sec. 21. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on contract, express or implied, except in cases of fraud or breach of trust.

Sec. 22. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against it or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless upon the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act or on confession in open court.

Sec. 23. The enumeration in this constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE II

Elections

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States who has attained the age of 21 years, who has resided in this state six months, and who meets the requirements of local residence provided by law, shall be an elector and qualified to vote in any election except as otherwise provided in this constitution. The legislature shall define residence for voting purposes.

Sec. 2. The legislature may by law exclude persons from voting because of mental incompetence or commitment to a jail or penal institution.

Sec. 3. For purposes of voting in the election for president and vice-president of the United States only, the legislature may by law establish lesser residence requirements for citizens who have resided in this state for less than six months and may waive residence requirements for former citizens of this state who have removed herefrom. The legislature shall not permit voting by any person who meets the voting residence requirements of the state to which he has removed.

Sec. 4. The legislature shall enact laws to regulate the time, place and manner of all nominations and elections, except as otherwise provided in this constitution or in the constitution and laws of the United States. The legislature shall enact laws to preserve the purity of elections, to preserve the secrecy of the ballot, to guard against abuses of the elective franchise, and to provide for a system of voter registration and absentee voting. No law shall be enacted which permits a candidate in any partisan primary or partisan election to have a ballot designation except when required for identification of candidates for the same office who have the same or similar surnames.

Sec. 5. Except for special elections to fill vacancies, or as otherwise provided in this constitution, all elections for national, state, county and township offices shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November in each even-numbered year or on such other date as members of the congress of the United States are regularly elected.

Sec. 6. Whenever any question is required to be submitted by a political subdivision to the electors for the increase of the ad valorem tax rate limitation imposed by Section 6 of Article IX for a period of more than five years, or for the issue of bonds, only electors in, and who have property assessed for any ad valorem taxes in, any part of the district or territory to be affected by the result of such election or electors who are the lawful husbands or wives of such persons shall be entitled to vote thereon. All electors in the district or territory affected may vote on all other questions.

Sec. 7. A board of state canvassers of four members shall be established by law. No candidate for an office to be canvassed nor any inspector of elections shall be eligible to serve as a member of a board of canvassers. A majority of any board of canvassers shall not be composed of members of the same political party.

Sec. 8. Laws shall be enacted to provide for the recall of all elective officers except judges of courts of record upon petition of electors equal in number to 25 percent of the number of persons voting in the last preceding election for the office of governor in the electoral district of the officer sought to be recalled. The sufficiency of any statement of reasons or grounds procedurally required shall be a political rather than a judicial question.

Sec. 9. The people reserve to themselves the power to propose laws and to enact and reject laws, called the initiative, and the power to approve or reject laws enacted by the legislature, called the referendum. The power of initiative extends only to laws which the legislature may enact under this constitution. The power of referendum does not extend to acts making appropriations for state institutions or to meet deficiencies in state funds and must be invoked in the manner prescribed by law within 90 days following the final adjournment of the legislative session at which the law was enacted. To invoke the initiative or referendum, petitions signed by a number of registered electors, not less than eight percent for initiative and five percent for referendum of the total vote cast for all candidates for governor at the last preceding general election at which a governor was elected shall be required.

No law as to which the power of referendum properly has been invoked shall be effective thereafter unless approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon at the next general election.

Any law proposed by initiative petition shall be either enacted or rejected by the legislature without change or amendment within 40 session days from the time such petition is received by the legislature. If any law proposed by such petition shall be enacted by the legislature it shall be subject to referendum, as hereinafter provided.

If the law so proposed is not enacted by the legislature within the 40 days, the state officer authorized by law shall submit such proposed law to the people for approval or rejection at the next general election. The legislature may reject any measure so proposed by initiative petition and propose a different measure upon the same subject by a yea and nay vote upon separate roll calls, and in such event both measures shall be submitted by such state officer to the electors for approval or rejection at the next general election.

Any law submitted to the people by either initiative or referendum petition and approved by a majority of the votes cast thereon at any election shall take effect 10 days after the date of the official declaration of the vote. No law initiated or adopted by the people shall be subject to the veto power of the governor, and no law adopted by the people at the polls under the initiative provisions of this section shall be amended or repealed, except by a vote of the electors unless otherwise provided in the initiative measure or by three-fourths of the members elected to and serving in each house of the legislature. Laws approved by the people under the referendum provision of this section may be amended by the legislature at any subsequent session thereof. If two or more measures approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

The legislature shall implement the provisions of this section.

General Government

Sec. 1. The seat of government shall be at Lansing.

Sec. 2. The powers of government are divided into three branches: legislative, executive and judicial. No person exercising powers of one branch shall exercise powers properly belonging to another branch except as expressly provided in this constitution.

Sec. 3. There shall be a great seal of the State of Michigan and its use shall be provided by law.

Sec. 4. The militia shall be organized, equipped and disciplined as provided by law.

Sec. 5. Subject to provisions of general law, this state or any political subdivision thereof, any governmental authority or any combination thereof may enter into agreements for the performance, financing or execution of their respective functions, with any one or more of the other states, the United States, the Dominion of Canada, or any political subdivision thereof unless otherwise provided in this constitution. Any other provision of this constitution notwithstanding, an officer or employee of the state or of any such unit of government or subdivision or agency thereof may serve on or with any governmental body established for the purposes set forth in this section and shall not be required to relinquish his office or employment by reason of such service. The legislature may impose such restrictions, limitations or conditions on such service as it may deem appropriate.

Sec. 6. The state shall not be a party to, nor be financially interested in, any work of internal improvement, nor engage in carrying on any such work, except for public internal improvements provided by law.

Sec. 7. The common law and the statute laws now in force, not repugnant to this constitution, shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitations, or are changed, amended or repealed.

Sec. 8. Either house of the legislature or the governor may request the opinion of the supreme court on important questions of law upon solemn occasions as to the constitutionality of legislation after it has been enacted into law but before its effective date.

ARTICLE IV

Legislative Branch

Sec. 1. The legislative power of the State of Michigan is vested in a senate and a house of representatives.

Sec. 2. The senate shall consist of 38 members to be elected from single member districts at the same election as the governor for four-year terms concurrent with the term of office of the governor.

In districting the state for the purpose of electing senators after the official publication of the total population count of each federal decennial census, each county shall be assigned apportionment factors equal to the sum of its percentage of the state's population as shown by the last regular federal decennial census computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent multiplied by four and its percentage of the state's land area computed to the nearest one-one hundredth of one percent.

In arranging the state into senatorial districts, the apportionment commission shall be governed by the following rules:

(1) Counties with 13 or more apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. After each such county has been allocated one senator, the remaining senators to which this class of counties is entitled shall be distributed among such counties by the method of equal proportions applied to the apportionment factors.

(2) Counties having less than 13 apportionment factors shall be entitled as a class to senators in the proportion that the total apportionment factors of such counties bear to the total apportionment factors of the state computed to the nearest whole number. Such counties shall thereafter be arranged into senatorial districts that are compact, convenient, and contiguous by land, as rectangular in shape as possible, and having as nearly as possible 13 apportionment factors, but in no event less than 10 or more than 16. Insofar as possible, existing senatorial districts at the time of reapportionment shall not be altered unless there is a failure to comply with the above standards.

(3) Counties entitled to two or more senators shall be divided into single member districts. The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the county by the number of senators to which it is entitled. Each such district shall follow incorporated city or township boundary lines to the extent possible and shall be compact, contiguous, and as nearly uniform in shape as possible.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of 110 members elected for two-year terms from single member districts apportioned on a basis of population as provided in this article. The districts shall consist of compact and convenient territory contiguous by land.

Each county which has a population of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall constitute a separate representative area. Each county having less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state shall be combined with another county or counties to form a representative area of not less than seven-tenths of one percent of the population of the state. Any county which is isolated under the initial allocation as provided in this section shall be joined with that contiguous representative area having the smallest percentage of the state's population. Each such representative area shall be entitled initially to one representative.

After the assignment of one representative to each of the representative areas, the remaining house seats shall be apportioned among the representative areas on the basis of population by the method of equal proportions.

Any county comprising a representative area entitled to two or more representatives shall be divided into single member representative districts as follows:

(1) The population of such districts shall be as nearly equal as possible but shall not be less than 75 percent nor more than 125 percent of a number determined by dividing the population of the representative area by the number of representatives to which it is entitled.

(2) Such single member districts shall follow city and township boundaries where applicable and shall be composed of compact and contiguous territory as nearly square in shape as possible.

Any representative area consisting of more than one county, entitled to more than one representative, shall be divided into single member districts as equal as possible in population, adhering to county lines.

Sec. 4. In counties having more than one representative or senatorial district, the territory in the same county annexed to or merged with a city between apportionments shall become a part of a contiguous representative or senatorial district in the city with which it is combined, if provided by ordinance of the city. The district or districts with which the territory shall be combined shall be determined by such ordinance certified to the secretary of state. No such change in the boundaries of a representative or senatorial district shall have the effect of removing a legislator from office during his term.

Sec. 5. Island areas are considered to be contiguous by land to the county of which they are a part.

Sec. 6. A commission on legislative apportionment is hereby established consisting of eight electors, four of whom shall be selected by the state organizations of each of the two political parties whose candidates for governor received the highest vote at the last general election at which a governor was elected preceding each apportionment. If a candidate for governor of a third political party has received at such election more than 25 percent of such gubernatorial vote, the commission shall consist of 12 members, four of whom shall be selected by the state organization of the third political party. One resident of each of the following four regions shall be selected by each political party organization: (1) the upper peninsula; (2) the northern part of the lower peninsula, north of a line drawn along the northern boundaries of the counties of Bay, Midland, Isabella, Mecosta, Newaygo and Oceana; (3) southwestern Michigan, those counties south of region (2) and west of a line drawn along the western boundaries of the counties of Bay, Saginaw, Shiawassee, Ingham, Jackson and Hillsdale; (4) southeastern Michigan, the remaining counties of the state.

No officers or employees of the federal, state or local governments, excepting notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, shall be eligible for membership on the commission. Members of the commission shall not be eligible for election to the legislature until two years after the apportionment in which they participated becomes effective.

The commission shall be appointed immediately after the adoption of this constitution and whenever apportionment or districting of the legislature is required by the provisions of this constitution. Members of the commission shall hold office until each apportionment or districting plan becomes effective. Vacancies shall be filled in the same manner as for original appointment.

The secretary of state shall be secretary of the commission without vote, and in that capacity shall furnish, under the direction of the commission, all necessary technical services. The commission shall elect its own chairman, shall make its own rules of procedure, and shall receive compensation provided by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds to enable the commission to carry out its activities.

Within 30 days after the adoption of this constitution, and after the official total population count of each federal decennial census of the state and its political subdivisions is available, the secretary of state shall issue a call convening the commission not less than 30 nor more than 45 days thereafter. The commission shall complete its work within 180 days after all necessary census information is available. The commission shall proceed to district and apportion the senate and house of representatives according to the provisions of this constitution. All final decisions shall require the concurrence of a majority of the members of the commission. The commission shall hold public hearings as may be provided by law.

Each final apportionment and districting plan shall be published as provided by law within 30 days from the date of its adoption and shall become law 60 days after publication. The secretary of state shall keep a public record of all the proceedings of the commission and shall be responsible for the publication and distribution of each plan.

If a majority of the commission cannot agree on a plan, each member of the commission, individually or jointly with other members, may submit a proposed plan to the supreme court. The supreme court shall determine which plan complies most accurately with the constitutional requirements and shall direct that it be adopted by the commission and published as provided in this section.

Upon the application of any elector filed not later than 60 days after final publication of the plan, the supreme court, in the exercise of original jurisdiction, shall direct the secretary of state or the commission to perform their duties, may review any final plan adopted by the commission, and shall remand such plan to the commission for further action if it fails to comply with the requirements of this constitution.

Sec. 7. Each senator and representative must be a citizen of the United States, at least 21 years of age, and an elector of the district he represents. The removal of his domicile from the district shall be deemed a vacation of the office. No person who has been convicted of subversion or who has within the preceding 20 years been convicted of a felony involving a breach of public trust shall be eligible for either house of the legislature.

Sec. 8. No person holding any office, employment or position under the United States or this state or a political subdivision thereof, except notaries public and members of the armed forces reserve, may be a member of either house of the legislature.

Sec. 9. No person elected to the legislature shall receive any civil appointment within this state from the governor, except notaries public, from the legislature, or from any other state authority, during the term for which he is elected.

Sec. 10. No member of the legislature nor any state officer shall be interested directly or indirectly in any contract with the state or any political subdivision thereof which shall cause a substantial conflict of interest. The legislature shall further implement this provision by appropriate legislation.

Sec. 11. Senators and representatives shall be privileged from civil arrest and civil process during sessions of the legislature and for five days next before the commencement and after the termination thereof. They shall not be questioned in any other place for any speech in either house.

Sec. 12. The compensation and expense allowances of the members of the legislature shall be determined by law. Changes in compensation or expense allowances shall become effective only when legislators commence their terms of office after a general election.

Sec. 13. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government on the second Wednesday in January of each year at twelve o'clock noon. Each regular session shall adjourn without day, on a day determined by concurrent resolution, at twelve o'clock noon. Any business, bill or joint resolution pending at the final adjournment of a regular session held in an odd numbered year shall carry over with the same status to the next regular session.

Sec. 14. A majority of the members elected to and serving in each house shall constitute a quorum to do business. A smaller number in each house may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in the manner and with penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 15. There shall be a bi-partisan legislative council consisting of legislators appointed in the manner prescribed by law. The legislature shall appropriate funds for the council's operations and provide for its staff which shall maintain bill drafting, research and other services for the members of the legislature. The council shall periodically examine and recommend to the legislature revision of the various laws of the state.

Sec. 16. Each house, except as otherwise provided in this constitution, shall choose its own officers and determine the rules of its proceedings, but shall not adopt any rule that will prevent a majority of the members elected thereto and serving therein from discharging a committee from the further consideration of any measure. Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections and returns of its members, and may, with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected thereto and serving therein, expel a member. The reasons for such expulsion shall be entered in the journal, with the votes and names of the members voting upon the question. No member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Sec. 17. Each house of the legislature may establish the committees necessary for the efficient conduct of its business and the legislature may create joint committees. On all actions on bills and resolutions in each committee, names and votes of members shall be recorded. Such vote shall be available for public inspection. Notice of all committee hearings and a clear statement of all subjects to be considered at each hearing shall be published in the journal in advance of the hearing.

Except as otherwise provided in this constitution, the total amount of general ad valorem taxes imposed upon real and tangible personal property for all purposes in any one year shall not exceed 15 mills on each dollar of the assessed valuation of property as finally equalized. Under procedures provided by law, which shall guarantee the right of initiative, separate tax limitations for any county and for the townships and for school districts therein, the aggregate of which shall not exceed 18 mills on each dollar of such valuation, may be adopted and thereafter altered by the vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such county voting thereon, in lieu of the limitation hereinbefore established. Sec. 16. The state, in addition to any other borrowing power, may borrow from time to time such amounts as shall be required, pledge its faith and credit and issue its notes or bonds therefor, for the purpose of making loans to school districts as provided in this section.

If the minimum amount which would otherwise be necessary for a school district to levy in any year to pay principal and interest on its qualified bonds, including any necessary allowances for estimated tax delinquencies, exceeds 13 mills on each dollar of its assessed valuation as finally equalized, or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, then the school district may elect to borrow all or any part of the excess from the state. In that event the state shall lend the excess amount to the school district for the payment of principal and interest. If for any reason any school district will be or is unable to pay the principal and interest on its qualified bonds when due, then the school district shall borrow and the state shall lend to it an amount sufficient to enable the school district to make the payment.

The term "qualified bonds" means general obligation bonds of school districts issued for capital expenditures, including refunding bonds, issued prior to May 4, 1955, or issued thereafter and qualified as provided by law pursuant to Section 27 or Section 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908 or pursuant to this section.

After a school district has received loans from the state, each year thereafter it shall levy for debt service, exclusive of levies for nonqualified bonds, not less than 13 mills or such lower millage as the legislature may prescribe, until the amount loaned has been repaid, and any tax collections therefrom in any year over and above the minimum requirements for principal and interest on qualified bonds shall be used toward the repayment of state loans. In any year when such levy would produce an amount in excess of the requirements and the amount due to the state, the levy may be reduced by the amount of the excess.

Subject to the foregoing provisions, the legislature shall have the power to prescribe and to limit the procedure, terms and conditions for the qualification of bonds, for obtaining and making state loans, and for the repayment of loans.

The power to tax for the payment of principal and interest on bonds hereafter issued which are the general obligations of any school district, including refunding bonds, and for repayment of any state loans made to school districts, shall be without limitation as to rate or amount.

All rights acquired under Sections 27 and 28 of Article X of the Constitution of 1908, by holders of bonds heretofore issued, and all obligations assumed by the state or any school district under these sections, shall remain unimpaired.

The person authorized by law to receive such petition shall upon its receipt determine, as provided by law, the validity and sufficiency of the signatures on the petition, and make an official announcement thereof at least 60 days prior to the election at which the proposed amendment is to be voted upon.

Any amendment proposed by such petition shall be submitted, not less than 120 days after it was filed, to the electors at the next general election. Such proposed amendment, existing provisions of the constitution which would be altered or abrogated thereby, and the question as it shall appear on the ballot shall be published in full as provided by law. Copies of such publication shall be posted in each polling place and furnished to news media as provided by law.

The ballot to be used in such election shall contain a statement of the purpose of the proposed amendment, expressed in not more than 100 words, exclusive of caption. Such statement of purpose and caption shall be prepared by the person authorized by law, and shall consist of a true and impartial statement of the purpose of the amendment in such language as shall create no prejudice for or against the proposed amendment.

If the proposed amendment is approved by a majority of the electors voting on the question, it shall become part of the constitution, and shall abrogate or amend existing provisions of the constitution at the end of 45 days after the date of the election at which it was approved. If two or more amendments approved by the electors at the same election conflict, that amendment receiving the highest affirmative vote shall prevail.

Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in the year 1978, and in each 16th year thereafter and at such times as may be provided by law, the question of a general revision of the constitution shall be submitted to the electors of the state. If a majority of the electors voting on the question decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, at an election to be held not later than six months after the proposal was certified as approved, the electors of each representative district as then organized shall elect one delegate and the electors of each senatorial district as then organized shall elect one delegate at a partisan election. The delegates so elected shall convene at the seat of government on the first Tuesday in October next succeeding such election or at an earlier date if provided by law.

The convention shall choose its own officers, determine the rules of its proceedings and judge the qualifications, elections and returns of its members. To fill a vacancy in the office of any delegate, the governor shall appoint a qualified resident of the same district who shall be a member of the same party as the delegate vacating the office. The convention shall have power to appoint such officers, employees and assistants as it deems necessary and to fix their compensation; to provide for the printing and distribution of its documents, journals and proceedings; to explain and disseminate information about the proposed constitution and to complete the business of the convention in an orderly manner. Each delegate shall receive for his services compensation provided by law.

No proposed constitution or amendment adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the electors for approval as hereinafter provided unless by the assent of a majority of all the delegates elected to and serving in the convention, with the names and vote of those voting entered in the journal. Any proposed constitution or amendments adopted by such convention shall be submitted to the qualified electors in the manner and at the time provided by such convention not less than 90 days after final adjournment of the convention. Upon the approval of such constitution or amendments by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon the constitution or amendments shall take effect as provided by the convention.

[ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE]

What the Proposed
New State Constitution Means to You

- A report to the people of Michigan by their elected delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1961-62.

Lansing, Michigan

August 1, 1962

State board of education.

Sec. 9. The members of the state board of education provided for in Section 3 of Article VIII of this constitution shall first be elected at the first general election after the effective date of this constitution for the following terms: two shall be elected for two years, two for four years, two for six years, and two for eight years as prescribed by law.

The state board of education provided for in the constitution of 1908 is abolished at twelve o'clock noon January 1 of the year following the first general election under this constitution and the terms of members thereof shall then expire.

This is a new section providing for election of members of the state board of education to overlapping terms. It abolishes the present state board of education as of January 1 of the year following the first general election under the revised constitution.

Boards of control.

Sec. 10. The provisions of this constitution providing for members of boards of control of institutions of higher education and the state board of public community and junior colleges shall be implemented by law. The law may provide that the term of each member in office on the date of the vote on this constitution may be extended, and may further provide that the initial terms of office of members may be less than eight years.

This is a new section authorizing the legislature to arrange the procedures necessary for the overlapping terms specified for members of boards of control of institutions of higher education and the state board of public community and junior colleges.

Educational boards.

Sec. 11. The provisions of this constitution increasing the number of members of the Board of Trustees of Michigan State University and of the Board of Governors of Wayne State University to eight, and of their term of office to eight years, shall be implemented by law. The law may provide that the term of each member in office on the date of the vote on this constitution may be extended one year, and may further provide that the initial terms of office of the additional members may be less than eight years.

This is a new section directing the legislature to implement provisions of the revised constitution, if adopted, to assure increases in numbers of members and years of their terms for boards governing Michigan State University and Wayne State University.

Initial allocation.

Sec. 12. The initial allocation of departments by law pursuant to Section 2 of Article V of this constitution, shall be completed within two years after the effective date of this constitution. If such allocation shall not have been completed within such period, the governor, within one year thereafter, by executive order, shall make the initial allocation.

This is a new section providing that the initial allocation of departments specified in the Executive Branch article shall be completed within two years. If not accomplished within that period, the governor is given authority to make the allocation within one year thereafter.

Contractual obligations remain in force.

Sec. 13. Contractual obligations of the state incurred pursuant to the constitution of 1908 shall continue to be obligations of the state.

For the retirement of notes and bonds issued under Section 26 of Article X of the 1908 constitution, there is hereby appropriated from the general fund each year during their life a sum equal to the amount of principal and interest payments due and payable in each year.

This is a new section recognizing and continuing any contractual obligations incurred by the state under the present constitution. Specifically, the section has reference to bond issues authorized by Sections 20a, 23a, 24, 25 and 26, Article X, of the present constitution which have been eliminated from this document.

It appears that there are no constitutional obligations remaining in connection with the first four sections (World War I bonus, World War II bonus and T.B. hospital construction bonds). Under Sec. 26 authorizing the borrowing for the bonus for veterans of the Korean war there remains an obligation for continuing appropriations of sufficient funds to meet the payment of both principal and interest. The legislature has assumed the responsibility for any claims under this section by making them a general fund liability (Act No. 11, P.A. 1958).

Mackinac Bridge refunding.

Sec. 14. The legislature by a vote of two-thirds of the members elected to and serving in each house may provide that the state may borrow money and may pledge its full faith and credit for refunding any bonds issued by the Mackinac Bridge Authority and at the time of refunding the Mackinac Bridge Authority shall be abolished and the operation of the bridge shall be assumed by the state highway department. The legislature may implement this section by law.

This is a new section permitting the legislature to borrow money for refunding of bonds issued by the Mackinac Bridge Authority. Approval of such a proposal must be by two-thirds vote of the members elected to and serving in each house. Placing the full faith and credit of the state behind these bonds might result in interest savings of about $1 million annually, according to reliable estimates.

The section further provides that if the legislature should authorize refunding of the bonds the Mackinac Bridge Authority will be dissolved and operation of the bridge will be assumed by the state highway department.
